TODAY we start off with some big news that offers a challenge to Beach Combing readers and will bring cash to some of them.

What has been said in this dept. about Long Beach's need for a central passenger terminal for transportation facilities has provoked the interest of one of our readers to the point where he is offering $100 in cash prizes for the best letters submitted to this column on the subject.

Santa Claus in this instance is Tom Gregory, president of the Long Beach Federal Savings and Loan Association. Tom has sent me a check from the association to cover the contest prizes. Here's how they'll be divided:

$50 for the first prize; $25 second prize, and five other prizes of $5 each.

That's mighty swell of Bro. Gregory, and I know we'll get a batch of fine letters.

SO GET OUT paper and pen, or the old typewriter, and produce a letter of not more than 300 words on this subject.

The deadline is May 15, so there'll be plenty of time for City College and State College students as well as others to get their entries in.

Don Drury, English instructor at City College, is chairman of our judging committee, and others will be named in a few days.

If you agree that a city the size of Long Beach, and growing as it is, should have a central terminal for all ground transportation facilities — busses, inter-urban cars, etc.—you won't have any trouble telling about it on paper.

Do it as expertly as you can and shoot it along to Beach Combing, care of Press-Telegram. Make it in the form of a letter to this column.

WHAT'S a genuine hot-rodder?

The tendency to call every juvenile delinquent who gets into an automobile a hot-rodder has aroused some protests from responsible hot-rodders and their friends. And out of fairness to mechanically-inclined youngsters who are not hell-raisers, but like cars and like to drive, some explanations are in order.

They've given quite adequately in a letter from G. E. D., who was prompted to write by newspaper stories which told of a group of young people tipping a flaming car over a near-by cliff and called them "hot-rodders."

G. E. D. says that a genuine hot-rod car is a machine from an American production engine, with a body of a cut-down American make car or a car of the builder's own design and manufacture.

REAL hot-rodders of the country have organized into car clubs, whose members are not allowed to drink while driving and are expected to live up to a strict code of safety and responsibility. Racing on public streets and highways is a direct disobedience of club statutes and the offender may be punished by discharge from the organization.

We have several car clubs here and their activities were described in this column about a year ago. Their aim is to provide a wholesome outlet for the enthusiasm and mechanical interest of young people.

G. E. D. thinks there are fewer "hot-rod" troublemakers on the public highways than there are irresponsible ordinary motorists. And he doubts if any of the fellows who staged that little stunt on the cliff have ever seen, driven or been even close to a true hot-rod.

A COLD WIND howled across the broad acres of Alamitos Naval Air Station when the annual Military Review was held Friday night, making it pretty tough for spectators and tougher yet for the men and women in uniform massed on the big apron in front of the hangar for inspection.

In a spectators' section near the speakers' stand a lot of visiting civilians shivered and shook. Only two of the 50 or 60 people there sat in complete comfort.

They were Al Davis and ye columnist. Davis, the Chamber of Commerce prexy, came wearing under his handsome business suit a set of warm woolen winter underwear which he keeps around for emergency use at football games and like events on cold days.

Epley was wearing a similar garment with a somewhat different history. A year or so ago I was going to some cold outdoor affair and Sid Conklin, the former P-T treasurer and long-time Democratic leader, lent me a fine set of longies. I forgot to return them and Friday night was glad I had forgotten. Those Democratic undies felt mighty good against my Republican hide.

I think I was even a little more comfortable than Al. I had some hair to keep the top of my head warm.

Fast Life — By PETRONIOUS JR.

DESPITE THE ARREST of its owner Thursday night, there is a good possibility the poker joint on Pacific Coast Highway in Seal Beach will win out in the election Tuesday.

It was outlawed by the voters last October in a special election.

APPARENTLY the joint's operators figured they did not get all their vote out so they got petitions signed for a new election.

There is little doubt but that a majority of the people of Seal Beach are opposed to such a place being tied to them.

BUT THERE IS DANGER the so-called decent elements will not get out and vote, whereas you can be sure every poker club employee and habitual gambler will be at the polls.

It is an old saying that people get the kind of government they fight for.

IF THE PEOPLE of Seal Beach are so lazy they will not get out and vote to outlaw such a place as the Airport Club, then they will be responsible for the broken homes, embezzlers and prostitution that are caused by such joints.

Tuesday it will be up to the people of Seal Beach to get out and express themselves.

Special Blood Bank Slated Here Monday

Seventy-two municipal employees will lead Long Beach citizens in giving blood to a special blood bank Monday morning, Mrs. Gus H. Lueking, chairman, Long Beach Red Cross Blood Program, announced Saturday.

This special blood collection will be from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. at the chapter house, 319 West Broadway, according to Mrs. Lueking. It is in addition to the blood bank already scheduled for Tuesday from 3 to 7:30 p. m.

"This is an opportunity for the many hundreds whose schedules prevent participation in most of our banks which are held in the afternoon or evening."

The mass giving by municipal employees results from an appeal by the League of California Cities to former Mayor Burton Chace, who appointed Leo J. Greene to head up the campaign. A second special bank is scheduled for April 27 for the Public Service Department at 16th and San Francisco. "Because recent bitter battles for western front hilltops in Korea brought last week's casualties to 1039," said Mrs. Lueking, "Monday's blood bank is even more important. The blood we give here will reach Korea in a few days, because it is flown by the Air Force."

"Marines reported 554 of the week's casualties. The Army's total was 440, the Navy's 41, and the Air Force's four. With the renewal of peace talks, both sides are trying to get and hold key positions that will determine the new boundary between North and South Korea.

"This will mean even more battle casualties during the next few weeks," concluded Mrs. Lueking, "and our blood will be more precious than ever."

State Group Acts to Aid War Victims

Members of American Ex-Prisoners of War, Inc., wound up their first annual state convention here Saturday night and headed home, satisfied with their progress toward a general goal of aid for Americans who have been, are or may become prisoners of war.

During the two-day meeting in Lafayette Hotel this is what the ex-prisoners accomplished:

Established a state department of the national organization, adopted a constitution, and applied for national recognition.

Dramatized the plight of current American prisoners in Korea by having lunch, prisoner-style, in the street in front of the hotel. Set up a basic operational policy for the State Department calling mainly for support of legislation benefiting American prisoners in Korea and ensuring speedy settlement of claims of World War II ex-prisoners.

Permanent state officers named by the delegates are Bill Garrison, Salinas, commander; Hank Shippey, Los Angeles, vice commander, and Luther B. Young, Berkeley, treasurer. A four-man board of directors includes Sgt. William Hill, USAF, Riverside; William B. Rose, San Diego; Mrs. Katherine Baker, San Francisco, and Mrs. Irde Boren, Santa Rosa.

Lawyer Hits U. N. Charter as Dangerous

WASHINGTON—(UP). Subcommittee hearings ended Saturday on a Senate proposal to limit the government's treaty-making power with testimony attacking the United Nations charter as a "very dangerous treaty."

Frank E. Holman of Seattle, a former president of American Bar Association, told a judiciary subcommittee that, under the U. N. charter, the federal government could force unwanted social reforms on the states.

Holman and Alfred J. Schweppe, another Seattle attorney, were the final witnesses at the subcommittee hearing. Judiciary Chairman Langer (R-N.D.) said the subcommittee will meet Monday to start drafting a report to clear the way for prompt action by the full committee.

The legislation, by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) and 63 other Senators, proposes a constitutional amendment which would void any future treaty conflicting with the Constitution, and make agreements by the President inoperative as internal law without action by Congress.

Meanwhile, President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles may find themselves at odds with Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) if they fail to make peace on a proposed constitutional amendment limiting the President's treaty-making powers.

Taft predicts there will be a compromise.

Jackson to Question 2 California Teachers

LOS ANGELES—(UP). Two Southern California teachers will be questioned Monday by Rep. Jackson (R-Calif.) in an executive session of a House Un-American Activities Subcommittee.

Jackson, who will sit as a one-man subcommittee, said he would return to Washington after questioning Thomas McGrath, a Los Angeles State College poetry teacher, and Mathilda Lewis, a Laguna Beach elementary school teacher.

PW Exchange Apr. 20, U. N., Commies Agree

Saturday, which calls for completion of the exchange 20 days after the start, provides for protection of the prisoner convoys. The Reds must notify the U. N. 24 hours in advance of each movement and plainly marked convoys may travel only in daylight hours.

Communist agreement today on the date for beginning the exchange came somewhat as a surprise. Although the Reds had promised Saturday to tell today when they would be ready to begin exchange, they turned down a U. N. request for a Sunday meeting of liaison officers. Today, however, they agreed to a staff officers' meeting and announced they would be ready to trade prisoners Apr. 20.

Besides the 120 Americans, the Reds have promised freedom for 450 South Koreans, 20 British and 15 other U. N. captured personnel.

The Reds accompanied their signature with a demand for "immediate" resumption of truce talks to be in full swing at the time the prisoner exchange is being carried out, but there was no indication they would balk if the U. N. delays start of the talks.

There was no indication when the United Nations would reply to the Communists' repeated requests for the full-dress talks. But it was expected to do so soon.

Rear Adm. John C. Daniels, the senior Allied liaison officer handling the prisoner exchange talks, said he would have to refer the matter of full talks to his superiors—Gen. Mark W. Clark, the U. N. commander, and Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior Allied armistice delegate.

Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, Daniels' counterpart on the Red team, wasted no time once the exchange agreement was signed to press again for resumption of armistice negotiations.

Clark had replied to an earlier Communist proposal that he would wait to see how the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners progressed—that this would be a test and it would not contribute to the peace of the world. It's only advantage would be that maybe it would be better than killing a lot of people every day."

Taft Warns of Dangers in Split Korea

On the Democratic side, Sen. Hill (Ala.), said the nation would be making "an awful mistake" if it took the Russian peace overtures "too seriously." He told a reporter that "time and time again we've learned that the Russians cannot be trusted, that they make commitments and that there is nothing to those commitments."

Likewise, Hill expressed some differences with Taft on the matter of cuts in military spending. "We cannot permit mere gestures to cause us to relax our preparedness efforts by cutting our military spending, or to undo anything we have done toward rebuilding our military strength," he said.

Taft's doubts about a settlement based on a line drawn across Korea at the narrow "waist," about 80 miles to the north of the 38th parallel, stemmed particularly from belief that the Communists would not accept such a settlement unless properly baited with a Pormosa removed from Chinese Nationalist control and placed under U. N. supervision.

He was much more emphatic in rejecting ideas of a settlement based on the 38th parallel, the prewar dividing line. The former Democratic administration had indicated repeatedly that the fighting could end on a basis of the parallel, and that the United Nations thereafter could negotiate to obtain a united, single Korea through free elections.

Congressmen and the Administration, meanwhile, welcomed the agreement to exchange sick and wounded war prisoners. They viewed the situation as "encouraging," but the there still is a long way to go before a truce is arranged.

Taft's remarks about accepting Soviet peace advances at "face value," were in reference to the recent news conference statement by President Eisenhower, that until the overtures prove phony, he would accept them at their face value. Taft expressed agreement.

But he emphatically rejected any suggestion that either Mr. Eisenhower or the Republican leadership in Congress would regard street words from the Kremlin as any reason to cut back American military spending, below the present Administration target of at least a $4,000,000,000 cutback in Defense Department spending.

Boy Drowns Trying to Save His Friend

PASSAIC, N. J.—(UP). A white boy, on his way to take novice swimming lessons, and a Negro pal he tried to save from rain-swollen Weasel Brook, drowned Saturday.

The only witness to the heroic rescue attempt said both boys went under together.

The boys were Lawrence Wells, 8, a Negro, and John Breznak, 11, a white, using grappling hooks, recovered the bodies.

Hoover Urges Red Teachers 'Dangerous,' Jenner Says

CLEVELAND, Ohio—(UP). Former President Herbert Hoover urged President Eisenhower Saturday night to get the federal government out of the electric power "business" quickly and "rescue free men from this variety of creeping socialism."

Denouncing federal power enterprises as a burden on taxpayers and calling advocates of such projects "false liberals," the former Republican President proposed a three-point program to "de-emphasize" the federal government.

In a speech at the diamond jubilee of the Case Institute of Technology here, Mr. Hoover said socialism threatened a "new oppression of free men greater than the old dog-eat-dog economy" and urged:

1. That Congress stop appropriating funds for any more steam or hydro-electric plants solely for power. Private enterprise should build and pay taxes on any that are justified, he said.

2. That Congress stop granting funds for new multi-purpose projects (navigation, flood control, irrigation, community water, electricity) unless the electric power is first leased on certain standard interest and amortization terms to cities, states, private industry, or state-managed regional authorities.

3. That Congress and the President create a temporary commission to reorganize "this whole federal venture" with funds to employ technical assistance.

He added that his program ultimately could cut the government's investment in power projects "at least $600,000,000" a year.

Sniper Wings Garvey Hunter in Mexico

ENSENADA, Mexico—(UP). A Garvey hunter was shot and seriously wounded Friday night by a sniper, police reported Saturday.

Allan George Yates, 40, of Garvey, was shot twice in a rented cabin. He had been hunting in the area about a month, neighbors said.

Investigators said Yates apparently was shot through a window. Neighbors heard the shots and rushed him to Ensenada Hospital where his condition was reported as fair.

damage, the rioting spread as the day progressed.

While the riot was in full swing, Edwin T. Swenson flew here from Baltimore and took over as warden. Swenson, warden of Maryland State Prison, was offered the job last month.

"The situation looks like that of a spoiled kid, tearing up things, making a lot of noise and trying to make himself heard," the new warden said.

Eighty-nine convicts at the nearby prison farm were transferred to prison cells as a further precaution.

Glaring through broken windows, prisoners cursed guards cleaning up the debris.

"You treat us like pigs," one convict shouted.

"Keep going on those windows," a ringleader exhorted other prisoners. "They cost ten bucks apiece."

The disorders climaxed a tense week in which convicts staged a sit-down strike and for two days refused to work in prison shops.

They complained that Louis Gillis, prison cook, had put raisins in their gravy. The prisoners returned to work Thursday after Gillis was fired.

SIAMESE TWIN SURVIVOR IS WELL, THANKS

CHICAGO—(UP). Rodney Dee Brodie played with a doctor's wrist watch Saturday, ate his baby food and listened to a record player.

The "slight paralysis" left by the operation that separated him from his Siamese twin last Dec. 17 seemed to have left him almost completely.

The paralysis was disclosed this week in a medical report presented at a meeting of the American Academy of Neurology.

But a spokesman for the University of Illinois research hospitals said the condition seems to be disappearing.

Rodney, dressed in dark green rompers, lay in his crib and tugged at his white socks.

When a good-natured nurse's aide brought him his lunch, Rodney smiled and said, "eat."

Not yet 19 months old, Rodney has undergone 19 operations and faces several more. The surgery has left him in a weakened condition, and, unlike normal babies his age he cannot sit up alone nor support his head.

But he is eating well, gaining weight and appears to be growing stronger, doctors said.

Sabrejets Knock Down 6 MIGs; ROKs Get Hill

SEOUL, (Sunday)—(UP). Allied Sabrejets today shot down six Red MIG jet fighters for a two-day score of nine, and plucky South Korean infantrymen again knocked Chinese Reds off body-disputed outpost Texas in savage fighting.

Fifth Air Force said the Sabres also probably destroyed another MIG and damaged one in two thunderous battles in MIG Alley over northwest Korea today. The Sabres knocked down three MIGs yesterday.

The Air Force said today's toll was the biggest bag of Red planes since Mar. 21, when Sabres shot down seven, probably destroyed one and damaged six.

SKIES CLEAR
Sixies were clear this afternoon and the Sabres of the U. S. Fourth and 51st Fighter Interceptor Wings went north again.

The Republic of Korea troops grabbed back 2000-foot outpost Texas in a smashing counterattack between midnight and dawn.

It was the 12th time the Korean Central Front bill has changed hands in bloody combat—much of it hand-to-hand—and down the shell-scarred slopes since the Reds first grabbed it from the Republic of Korea troops Easter Sunday.

The U. N. Command said the ROKs threw back three Red counterattacks by groups of 40 to 175 Chinese storming the hill this morning. The Reds broke contact after each of their attacks failed to stop the oncoming ROKs, the command said.

BOMBS DROPPED
An unidentified light plane, presumed Communist, dropped two small bombs and some leaflets on U. S. 10th Corps headquarters on the Eastern Front.

Contents of the leaflets were not disclosed. A spokesman said no damage or casualties resulted when two 100-pound bombs were dropped about 9:45 p. m. at the corps headquarters.

Night-flying U. S. B-26 bombers caught heavy concentrations of Red supply trucks moving

Half Your Brain Is a Spare!

By Newt Todd

HALF your brain is a spare! This great medical discovery is bringing miraculous relief to persons made speechless by apoplectic strokes and head injuries. The training of the unused areas of the brain is slow, but success with veterans gives hope for thousands walled in by aphasia . . . the medical term for speech loss.

Long Beach's own sprawling, sun-baked Veterans Administration Hospital was the first to establish an Aphasia or Speech Clinic, and at present, still operates the largest facilities of this type in the United States. It has become the center of the most ambitious, intensive battle ever waged against aphasia.

Aphasia has nothing to do with garden-variety stuttering or stammering. After a brain injury a victim of aphasia may be able to talk, or he may be able to read, or he may be able to write. He may fail to understand the words he hears. He may lose the power to add or subtract numbers, or to recollect colors, or to remember a familiar tune. He may have any one of these symptoms, or many of them in combination, or possibly all of them.

One aphasic may be able to speak—at least he can utter words—but they're the wrong words, not the ones he intended to pronounce. He may think, "I am hungry," but he'll say, "I am happy."

There are aphasics who suddenly lose one language, but retain another. A New Mexico Infantryman, for example, could speak both Spanish and English until the moment he was hit in the head by a bullet; thereafter he could speak only English. Many victims can say words, but no sentences.

Salvaging men from the pitiful effects of aphasia is the aim of therapists at the Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital. Here, Therapists Daniel Boone and Marion Ruff are teaching an aphasic patient to tell the time and to read.

Many are unable to utter the simplest words—"cat," or "dog," or "man"—but they can turn out a string of appropriate profanity which would do credit to a mule driver.

There are five major types of aphasia: The motor type in which the nerve fibers of the brain are gone; paraphasia, the mixing of sentences so that they are unintelligible; anomia, inability to name objects; agnosia, inability to understand the spoken language, and agraphia, inability to write or use written symbols.

THE LOCAL CLINIC is under der the direction of Aileen Agranowitz and her staff consisting of Daniel Boone, Marion Ruff, Gloria Seacat and Arthur Terr, speech therapists. Dr. E. V. Edwards, one of the outstanding hospital administrators in the country, manages the hospital.

"When a patient is brought in who has completely lost the powers of speech, we immediately embark upon a campaign to restore these communications," Mrs. Agranowitz points out. "We teach him to speak, first showing him how to move his tongue, lips and jaw; it takes six frustrating months sometimes before he can even pronounce the vowels."

"We teach him to write and to understand spoken words. We teach him to read, beginning with first-and second-grade primary school textbooks. At the same time we strengthen his paralyzed muscles with exercises and massage, and bulwark also his paralyzed self-confidence."

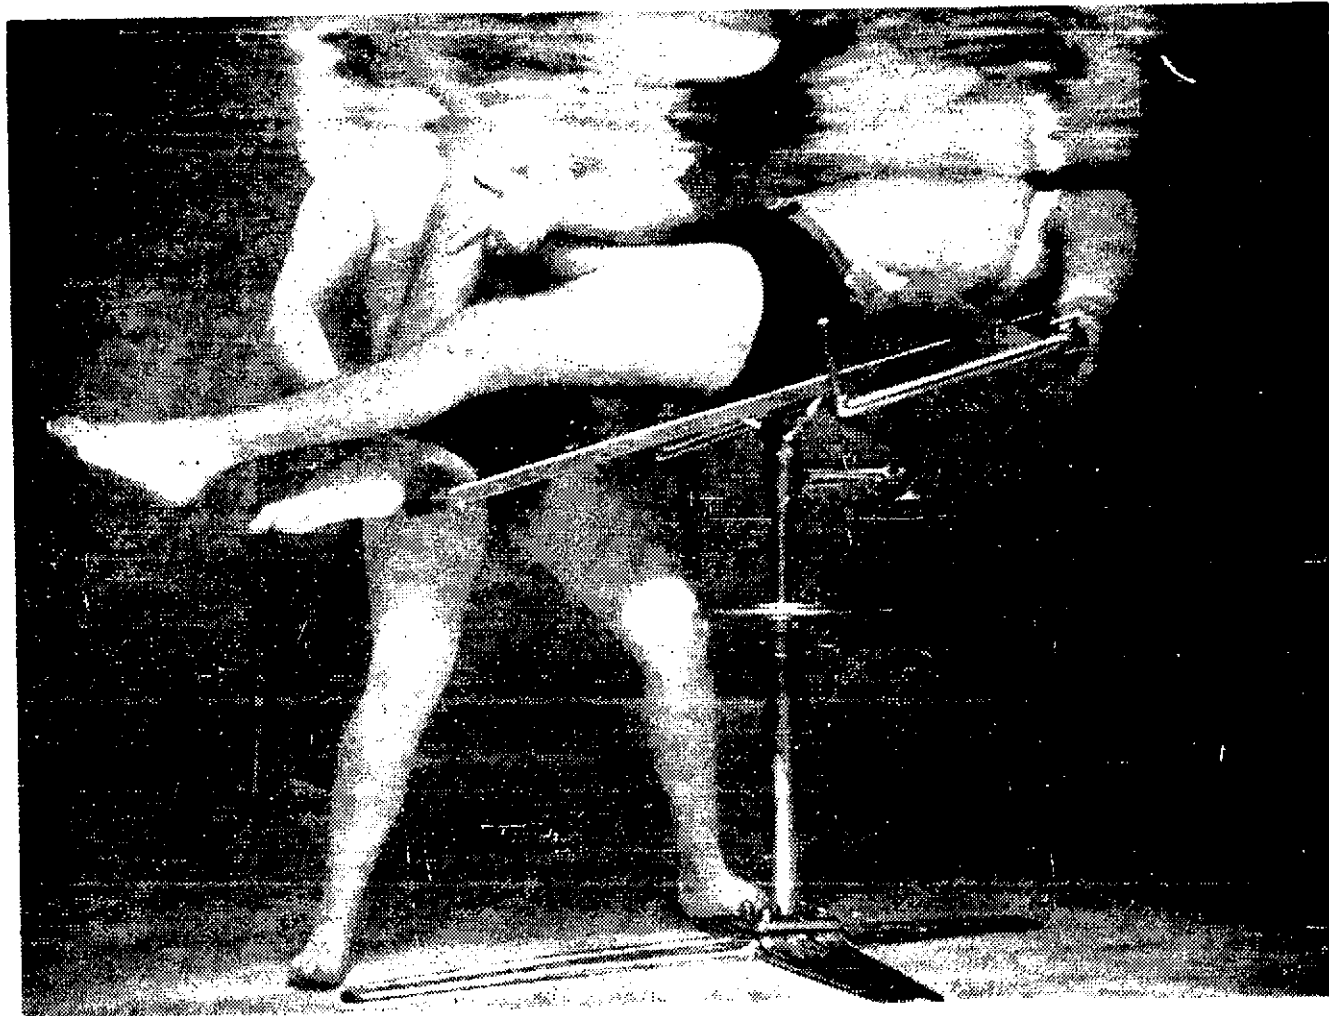

According to Mrs. Agranowitz, the usual minimum time spent on aphasia victims at the VA hospital is six months and the maximum time two years. One-third of the aphasia cases fully recover under treatment and the greater portion of the balance have partial recovery or show a marked improvement.

To doctors, there is nothing particularly new about these cases. One authority says, "Aphasia" has been known as long as man has had a brain which could be damaged by a blood clot, a hemorrhage, an infection, a tumor, an arrow, a bullet or an atomic bomb."

For generations, physicians had been examining victims of aphasia and telling shocked families that a sanatorium would be the logical place to send their loved one for the remainder of his days. Sometimes he was branded as a lunatic and packed off to an insane asylum. More often he was kept at home and became a burden to his family.

AS RECENTLY as World War II, soldiers made speechless by head wounds were given should apply for a major league franchise, or membership in an AAA or AA league, since all of these men fall in the top three classifications of organized baseball. They're the cream of Long Beach's big professional baseball colony, which numbers well over 50 players when you deal in the secondary minor leagues.

There is no spacious grass field ball park here to attract major league clubs in spring exhibitions, only the "skin" diamond of the creaking old Recreation Park enclosure. Yet somewhere along the line this grandstand, vintage 1925 or thereabouts, must have inspired these pros to follow the diamond trail.

Most of them served their period of basic training under Mike Romero and Bob Hughes in local American Legion baseball, and under Lyle Kinnear, Al Johnson, Cliff Meyer and Rocky Kemp in their high school days at Poly, Wilson, Jordan and St. Anthony's. A few wore the uniforms of Long Beach City College before they signed their first contracts.

Four — Wilson, Berberet, Minor and McKeown — are just returning to the trade after completing two years of duty with the armed forces. They're all youngsters strictly on the way up, but may need a year of seasoning to find themselves after soldiering for 730 days.

WILSON SEEMS DESTINED for stardom as a slugging outfielder. Berberet, a $21,000 bonus beauty inked by the New York Yankees, may one day inherit the tools of the catching trade from the fabled Yogi Berra. McKeown and Minor are young men of promise, especially when it comes to taking a toe hold at the plate.

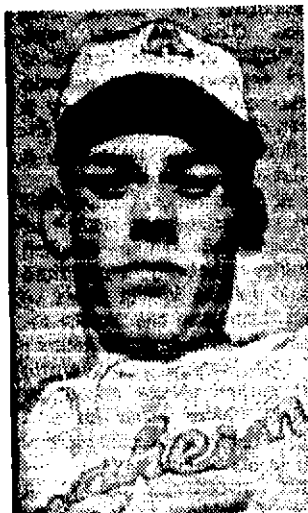

This city's five major leaguers are master craftsmen in their own right. Lemon, the American League's highest salaried pitcher at a reputed $45,000, is an 11-year major leaguer, by a. b. standards. Stephens, one of the American League's finest shortstops for a decade, is moving into his 12th season of duty in the big time. Around the Windy City, 'tis rumored that the pennant hopes of the Pale Hose will ride squarely on the muscular shoulders of Vernon Decatur II. Twice in his long and storied career Stephens has been involved in gigantic baseball deals. And he even had a flirtation with the Mexican League in the dim, dark past. . . . Or is this irrelevant and immaterial?

This is Wilson's first chance to stick up there. For Cole, it's trip No. 2. In the past he has toured the National League with the St. Louis Cardinals and Pi-

SECOND TIME IN 6 MONTHS

Seal Beach Votes on Poker Tuesday

For the second time in six months, Seal Beach voters Tuesday will be asked to decide whether they want to permit gambling by the playing of draw poker in their community.

Last Oct. 2, in a record turnout of voters, an ordinance was passed banning gambling in Seal Beach. It becomes effective May 21.

Almost immediately following the Oct. 2 election, William Robertson, owner of the Airport Club only gambling establishment in Seal Beach—began circulating petitions for a new election.

Robertson was able to obtain the signatures required to force another special election and this will be held Tuesday. He offered to pay $1000 for expense of the election and the Seal Beach city council accepted the money.

'YES' MEANS POKER

A yes vote Tuesday will repeal the ordinance adopted Oct. 2 and also will authorize the City Council to draw up a new ordinance permitting gambling.

Under the new ordinance, the council would be authorized to issue two poker club licenses. Only one is now authorized, and this is Robertson's $800,000 Airport Club.

A no vote would keep the anti-gambling ordinance passed Oct. 2 and would force Robertson to close his plush establishment before the law goes into effect May 21.

Robertson and six other persons were arrested as a result of a raid on the Airport Club Thursday night. All were booked on charges of criminal conspiracy. Sheriff Jim Musick of Orange County said Robertson was offering free rides in taxis and other public transportation to the club. Most of the persons arrested were cab drivers and company officials.

The raid failed to halt club operations, however. Sheriff's officers did not stop the games and did not take the names of players.

The Airport Club first opened June 9, 1950. It was thrust into public spotlight in 1951 when Robertson was closely questioned by the state attorney general's office and by the Kefauver Committee.

"NON-PROFIT"

At that time, the club was licensed as a "non-profit" organization, Robertson and his attorney admitted, however, that the club had grossed well over $1,000,000 and had given only a few thousand to charitable organizations.

Last year, an antigambling group presented an ordinance which would ban gambling in Seal Beach. Robertson, in turn, countered by proposing an ordinance which would permit gambling at the Airport Club.

The vote Oct. 2 was 681 yes, and 222 no, to permit gambling at the Airport Club. On the other ordinance, which would prohibit gambling anywhere in Seal Beach, the vote was 781 yes, and 631 no.

Because the ordinances were contradictory, the one with the highest yes vote became law and the gambling ban was carried, effective May 21.

Lincoln Villager Gets AFL Post

William C. Farley, 2535 E. 219th St., Lincoln Village, was elected to the executive board by the AFL California State Conference of Painters Saturday in Stockton.

The 17th annual conference voted a one cent per capita fund for employing a lobbyist at Sacramento after several speakers warned that bills before Congress and the Legislature threaten the security of labor unions.

Speakers included Tom Randall, 617 N. Fries Ave., Wilmington, representative of the AFL Western Division.

Ex-Patient Kills 2 Benefactors

GRAND HAVEN, Mich. — (AP) Michigan's law moved Saturday against bewildered young Harold Gregory, a former mental patient who killed two of his best friends with a gun and a knife.

The 25-year-old farmhand admitted state police said, that he killed Andrew Kuntz, 22, and his wife, Ethel, 19, in their home near here Friday night.

Kuntz was shot to death with a 12-gauge shotgun. His wife was hacked to death with a knife.

The couple had been among Gregory's benefactors in the two and a half years since his escape from a mental hospital and subsequent listing as "discharged."

5 Helpful Tips to MATTRESS SHOPPERS

1 Mattresses—like books—seldom can be judged by their covers! That's why it's so important to know what's inside the mattress you buy. For instance...

2 In the ordinary inner-spring mattress, the coil springs are all wired together. When one coil is pressed down, others joined to it go down too. This causes uncomfortable sags and hollows.

3 But Beautyrest's unique construction prevents sags and hollows! Beautyrest has 837 individually pocketed coil springs—not wired together! Each coil spring acts as a separate cushioning unit... gives your body "tailor made" comfort!

4 Compare the difference! Above (a), see how joined inner-spring coils often sag down together. But below (b) see how a non-sagging Beautyrest cushions and supports your back firmly and naturally!

5 Based on "third degree" tests by the U. S. Testing Company, Beautyrest is guaranteed against structural defects for 10 years. (With reasonable care, it will outlive this guarantee a long time.)

Happiest Place in Town

—Photos by Joe Risinger

Sunset Club for the Aged, operated by Volunteers of America, is attended by 65 to 95 elderly persons daily who want to forget and cease to be lonely.

By Vera Williams

IT STARTED last November with a Chesterfield, a couple of chairs — and an idea.

It now is about the happiest place in town, where six afternoons a week lonely elder citizens of the city meet to forget for a while that they are lonely. They play cards, they sing, they knit, they visit.

Stopping in at the Sunset

Club for the Aged, operated by the Volunteers of America at 342 E. First St., one first is impressed by the happiness of the place. There is a happy hum of conversation, a comfortable slapping of cards on the table. Soon someone sits at the piano and strikes the chords of "Old Rugged Cross" or "Rock of Ages" and they gather around and sing. Soon the hymns change to "Down by the Old Mill Stream," or "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." Soon the couples are waltzing or dancing the schottische. Some day they think perhaps they will have a square dance, but so far they have not got around to it.

The afternoon closes with coffee or tea and cookies.

And it all is free.

Says Maj. O. P. Strickland, executive director of the Volunteers, "I have been in Volunteers work for 30 years, and this is the happiest, the most satisfying work I ever have done."

Says Mrs. Strickland, assistant director, who also is a major in the Volunteers: "The people here have so much fun. . . . There are so many lonely people in the world."

The Stricklands say between 65 and 95 elderly persons enter the club doors every afternoon. The peak was 130. Hours are 1 to 5 p. m. Mondays through Saturdays, closed, of course, on Sundays.

Walls of the building, which used to be a storeroom, are painted a pleasant shade of green. There are easy chairs, couches, lamps, and pictures on the wall. There are 19 card tables, and usually all are in use.

THE CLUB has a library of 150 books, about 200 National Geographics, and the current magazines. All may be borrowed.

Persons may visit three times, and then they are expected to join the Sunset Club, which has no dues, no obligations and three simple rules: "No smoking, no drinking, no political or religious arguments." Members must be at least 60 years of age, and must be lonely in order to qualify for the club.

Among the most frequent visitors are the William Daughtrys. Mrs. Daughtry, 80, has arthritis, and her husband, 81, pushes her in her wheelchair to the club from their home, 423 W. Seventh St.

"People always are impressed by the fact that everything — including the refreshments — is free," says Mrs. Marcellene Rigdon, hostess.

Contributions may be dropped into a little kettle on the desk. Otherwise, expenses are borne by the Volunteers, the work financed by clothing, shoes, newspapers, furniture and even household fats given the Volunteers for salvage.

S. F. Greets Japan Prince

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Crown Prince Akihito arrived Saturday on the liner President Wilson after a Pacific crossing in which he lived out the role of the new post-war democratic Japan.

The 19-year-old heir to the Japanese throne relaxed so completely that his chamberlains ceased following him; kids pestered him; old ladies mothered him; and he played mah jong and ping pong with the passengers.

The Crown Prince, on a 14-nation tour that will take him to the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in London, issued a statement saying:

"San Francisco is the first stop in my trip across North America. I shall never forget the magnificent sight of the Golden Gate Bridge, the tranquility of San Francisco Bay and the beauty of the city as viewed from the sea. I am leaving this afternoon for London by way of Canada but, after the coronation is over, I shall have the pleasure of making a more leisurely visit to the United States."

Call Moscow Tourists 'Suckers' for Red 'Line'

NEW YORK—(AP)—Seven newspaper and radio executives came back from Moscow Saturday and faced new gibes about their reports of what they saw there.

But the editors, appearing on an ABC television program for questioning by a group of reporters, stuck together throughout the sharp examination.

They insisted one by one that they felt they had to tell and write exactly what they saw there—whether their tour of Moscow was carefully arranged by the Soviet government or not.

They said they would continue writing and telling about it, being

Explosion Perils 200 at Factory

JOPPA, Ill.—(AP)—An explosion inside a furnace jarred the Electric Energy Inc. plant here early Saturday causing an estimated $50,000 damage. No one was injured.

About 200 workmen in the vicinity of the furnace were reported shaken up by the blast.

The steam electric plant is being built to supply power to an atomic energy project across the Ohio River at Paducah, Ky.

A company spokesman said the explosion occurred after one of the coal mills quit working. He said some raw coal worked its way into the furnace and ignited from the intense heat, causing an explosion.

They are making plans now for their first meeting in April when they will expand their program to cover civic affairs, and various projects embracing board activities. There are over 150 women members of the board who are members of this committee. Mrs. Tyo has appointed the following on her executive committee:

Winnie Cross, Bess Colbert, Margaret Braswell, Thelma Chigars, Elsie Schrank, Ruby Fitzgerald, Doris Reed, Ruby Peterson.

Chip Bohlen in Red Capital

MOSCOW—(AP)—Charles F. Bohlen, the new ambassador, arrived in Moscow Saturday night to take over what probably is the most important United States diplomatic post in the world at the present time.

Looking a little tired, he received reporters at Spaso House, his official residence, almost immediately but refused to comment on whether he had any message from President Eisenhower to Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov.

He declined to say whether he will seek an interview with Malenkov. He indicated this was a matter on which he would await instructions from Washington by saying he would not attempt to "anticipate" decisions and instructions of the State Dept.

"As ambassador I will endeavor faithfully and accurately to represent the United States and to carry out the policy of the United States government as determined by the President and the secretary of state," he said.

He indicated he would make no important moves until he has had an opportunity to make his own estimate of the situation in the Soviet Union and report to Washington. He refused to comment on the subject of Korea.

Seaplane Tender Home After Tour in Korea

SAN DIEGO.—(AP) The seaplane tender Floyds Bay arrived here Saturday after eight months in the Far East, her third tour in Korean waters.

party of determined Nationalists and the opposition led by Jacobus Gideon Nel Strauss.

Peace between unhappy races may be at stake in the outcome, not only in the troubled southern land but also in the restless territories to the north where primitive Negro millions are awakening into the 20th century.

Hinging on the outcome is whether the tough ideas of the Dutch-descended Boer, or middle-road British ideas will triumph in the future of this 43-year-old British Commonwealth state.

Malan's government and the United Party, which the late Field Marshal Jan Smuts helped to create, agree that the white man must remain boss in South Africa. They differ on how this is to be done.

By word and deed the Nationalists have made it plain they are ready to cold storage traditional forms of parliamentary rule if this will insure white supremacy.

The opposition argues that the same objectives can be achieved by less drastic means and has pledged to restore basic freedoms which Malan's men threaten.

3 Navy Transports Coming From Orient

SEATTLE.—(AP) Three Navy transports will arrive in Seattle this week with nearly 5000 passengers from the Far East.

The Gen. J. H. McRae is due Sunday with 1749 passengers. Two other transports are scheduled to dock Tuesday. The Gen. Simon B. Buckner, with 1254 returnees, will follow by a few hours the arrival of the Marine Adder, which lists 1622 passengers.

Flames Char Big Burbank Lumber Yard

BURBANK.—(AP) Fire virtually destroyed the half-block-square Blanchard Lumber Company at First St. and Orange Grove Ave. Saturday afternoon.

The fire, reported at 5:02 p. m., was under control though still burning an hour later. Sparks from it touched off a blaze that burned the roof of a hotel three blocks away on Angeleno St.

Four firemen were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital to be treated for smoke inhalation or hand burns.

All eight Burbank fire trucks and a rescue unit fought the fires, and a Glendale company stood by to help if needed.

Gadget May End City Garbage Disposal

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(AP) A kitchen gadget that gulps garbage was viewed Saturday as a possible successor to Kansas City's costly and unsatisfactory disposal system.

The installation of garbage disposal units in single-family residences would be done by bond funds.

Councilman Ius W. Davis said it cost Kansas City $427,000 to get rid of its garbage last year, and it might cost $650,000 next year, or enough to amortize a $9,000,000 bond issue.

For some $8,000,000, quoting manufacturers' estimates, Davis told the city council it could install garbage disposal units in 80,000 single-family residences. That figures approximately $100 a unit.

"I think every housewife would be happy to have a disposal instead of the present collection method," Davis said. "Why the city is spending enough of tax money collecting the garbage to finance the installation in every house in town. It's at least worth looking into."

Housewives were elated. One of them said she would welcome the opportunity to "handle our own garbage problem."

Davis admitted that the present system is "pretty bad." During the summer months, he said, city hall gets about 500 complaint calls a day.

City Manager L. P. Cookingham saw merit in the plan. "If the disposal was out of order," he said, "the housewife could at least walk next door and ask to use her neighbor's."

Davis said the city still would have to maintain collection crews for business districts and fringe areas where adequate sanitation facilities do not exist.

Pope Contributes $800 to Protect Children

VATICAN CITY.—(AP) Pope Pius XII Saturday contributed $800,000 lire (about $800) of his personal money to a campaign to protect Italian children against explosions of forgotten war bombs.

All Italy has been enlisted in the drive to stamp out the threat. More than 1000 children have been killed in Italy each year by explosions of old shells and grenades.

New U. S. Welfare Head Sworn in

WASHINGTON.—(AP) The Department of Health, Education and Welfare came into existence Saturday, the first completely new cabinet department since 1903 and the second ever headed by a woman.

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby of Houston, Tex., was sworn in as the first Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare at a White House ceremony shortly after 10 a. m.

The new department is the successor, through a presidential reorganization plan, to the Federal Security Administration, of which Mrs. Hobby had been the head since the Eisenhower administration took over.

Male Weakness

Born of nostalgia for "the good old days" when gas-lit barber shops were Saturday night settings for informal vocalizing, the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., has revived this male weakness. Long Beach is a hotbed of the society. Here will be held the society's Far Western District regional preliminary contest at 8:15 p. m. Saturday, April 25, in Municipal Auditorium. Long Beach Chapter of the society is the host organization and is bidding for the international contest, an affair always set up three years in advance. In 1956, SPEBSQSA contest always attract a crowd and the Long Beach event will be no exception. Shown are some of the competitors. ## McCarthy's Note Prods Red-Aid End

WASHINGTON — (A.P.). Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) called on Mutual Security Director Stassen Saturday to ask Greek shipowners in London to break off all trade with Red China and between other Communist ports.

In effect, McCarthy blamed statements by Stassen for the failure of the London group to make such an agreement and asked him to state that it would have this government's wholehearted approval.

McCarthy's request, made in a letter to Stassen, was a pointed sequel to the controversy that swelled up in the wake of the senator's original announcement on Mar. 28 that the investigations subcommittee he heads had "negotiated" an agreement with Greek owners in New York of 242 ships to refrain from all trade with Red China and North Korea.

The senator also said the shipowners had agreed to refuse to carry any cargoes from one Communist port to another in any part of the world, although the agreement would not prevent them from hauling goods from free world nations to the Soviet bloc, or vice versa.

Two days later Stassen went before the McCarthy committee at a public hearing and said the senator had undermined the efforts of the State Department and other executive agencies to curb trade between the West and iron-curtain countries.

Subsequently, however, President Eisenhower said he did not believe McCarthy was undermining government policy by obtaining the shipping agreement, although he emphasized that the right to negotiate foreign agreements rested completely with him.

Student Speech Winner Named

Ima Williamson of Huntington Park High School won over two other student speakers in the third annual regional run-off competition sponsored by Lions International at the Marine Room, Wilton Hotel.

AEC Sets Off Russ Lack of Atomic Activity Puzzles Washington Experts

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (U.P.) An earth-jarring blast, accompanied by a brilliant flash visible 600 miles distant, rocked the Yucca flat A-bomb proving grounds shortly before dawn Saturday as scientists detonated the second atomic device there within a week.

The highly-secret experimental nuclear explosion was set off from atop a 100-foot tower at 4:45 a. m. (PST) in a test which eventually may result in the construction of half a dozen nuclear weapons.

Ideal atmospheric conditions made the flash appear as one of the brightest of the five shots held so far in the spring series on the Atomic Energy Commission's Southern Nevada test site, but the size and duration of the fireball indicated it was less violent than earlier tests in the series.

The explosion lighted the surrounding desert with a blinding flash easily seen from Las Vegas, 65 miles away, and visible as far away as Durango, Colo., 600 miles distant. It also was seen in Los Angeles, Northern Nevada, Southern Idaho and Northern Mexico.

Las Vegas residents reported hearing "a faint rumbling sound" about six minutes after the flash. They also reported a "light concussion" which rattled a few windows.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) Officials here just don't know what to make of the fact that it has been 18 months since the Russians last exploded an atomic weapon.

But, as one of them said Saturday, "nobody believes it is because they don't have them to explode. They have them all right—too many of them."

Nor do high officials believe the Russians could have been setting off test atomic blasts without the free world knowing it. Scientific detection methods are believed to be foolproof.

The last Soviet atomic explosion was the two set off in October, 1951. The late Josef Stalin said at that time that the Russians were testing several different sizes of A-bomb. The first Russian test was in September, 1949.

Some sources attribute the 18-

British Predict Rejection of Red Air Corridor Plan

LONDON — (U.P.) British sources plain their reasoned objections to predicted Saturday that a Soviet corridor linking Berlin and West Germany will be rejected by Allied negotiators.

The idea was advanced last Tuesday by Gen. I. D. Podgorny in talks with American, British and French air officials as a means to prevent cold-war plane incidents, such as the shooting down of a British Lincoln bomber by two Russian MIG jet fighters Mar. 12.

Under the Russian plan a funnel-shaped corridor, 56 miles wide at its narrowest point at Berlin, would run west toward Hanover, and would be used by all western air traffic.

British sources said this would sever the direct air link between Germany's former capital and Frankfurt in the American zone.

"I imagine that it would be technically impossible for the Americans to maintain their flying schedules with Berlin under such a system," one source said.

The one corridor, nearly 100 miles wide at its western end, would replace three corridors: 20 miles wide which now fan out from Berlin to the northwest toward Hamburg, west toward Hanover and southwest toward Frankfurt. All cross the Soviet zone.

An informant here said, however, the objections did not "mean that anything like a deadlock has developed."

"The Soviet suggestion was not slammed down as a 'take-it-or-leave-it' condition, but is subject to negotiation. I imagine that the western allies now will ex-

New UN Head Rests Before Week's Battle

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(AP) The U. N. took a week-end recess Saturday and its new secretary-general took a breather.

Aides of DAG Hammarskjöld said the secretary-general was having "a private holiday" out of the city.

Spokesmen for several big delegations said they thought the session might wind up by Thursday or Friday, either as an adjournment or as a recess.

One delegation source said that sentiment was swinging toward declaring a recess, so that the assembly could be quickly called into action if developments at Panmunjom required it. An adjournment would require a specially-called assembly, election of new officers, reconstituting of the entire machinery.

An aide said Hammarskjöld plans to sit in meetings of the U. N. political committee and the economic and social council this week.

Cigaret Tars Checked for Lung Cancer Link

CHICAGO—(UP). American Association for Cancer Research heard a report Saturday on new evidence of a possible connection between lung cancer and cigaret smoking.

Dr. Ernest L. Wynder and two associates at Washington University medical school, St. Louis, improvised a machine which smoked cigarettes—60 at a time—at about the puffs-a-minute with which humans smoke them.

The smoke they condensed into a dark brown, tarry liquid. The cigarets were smoked down to about three-quarters of an inch. A carton yielded about a third of an ounce of the liquid.

This liquid was painted onto 81 mice three times a week. Nothing happened for 12 months. Between then and the 22nd month of painting, 32 of the 81 or 40 per cent, developed skin cancers where they had been painted.

"These data," said Dr. Wynder, "establish cigaret tar as a carcinogen (cancer cause) to mouse epidermis. Such evidence cannot be related per se to human data. However, since clinical evidence has suggested similar findings in man, increasing attention should be paid to the carcinogenicity of tobacco and especially cigaret tars."

Clever tricks are being invented for use against cancer. One scientist reported that he had a guided missile. Another said he was working on a kind of depth bomb.

Doctors David Pressman and Leonard Kornfeld, of Sloan Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, described the guided missiles. They took the tissue of a cancer type peculiar to mice, ground it in a liquid which they injected into rabbits.

The rabbits' bodies began generating antibodies. From the rabbits' blood they separated the gamma globulin containing the anti-bodies.

They injected the gamma globulin into mice which had the cancer whose ground-up tissue had generated the anti-bodies, first "labeling" it with radioactive iodine.

The Geiger counter demonstrated that twice as many antibodies lodged in the cancer than in the cancerous mice who got gamma globulin from untreated rabbits.

Thus, the antibodies were missiles guided to the cancer by affinity. They could be made to carry radioactive substances destructive to tumors.

Much work remains to be done before these guided missiles can be applied to human cancers; and that goes, too, for the depth bomb which was contained in a report presented by Dr. Murray J. Shear of National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Md.

Before man knew bacteria caused disease, some 125 years ago, a physician trying an experiment without knowledge that wouldn't be permitted today, deliberately infected an all-but moribund cancer patient with a bacterial disease and was astonished when a hemorrhage exploded in the tumor that led to its destruction.

That depth bomb phenomenon can be produced in tumor-bearing mice, but it also kills such a high percentage of mice that it is almost as deadly as the cancer. Shear's report was on his studies of the huge family of bacterial polysaccharides, some of which serve as death-dealing depth bombs for tumors—and hosts. He is seeking one or several which would "pop" a hemorrhage in the tumor and then stop right there in response to a chemical compound which he also is seeking.

A woman lawyer who said she was near death until she took krebiozen testified here Saturday at a hearing in which an American Medical Assn. official was accused of seeking control of the controversial "cancer drug."

Claryce M. Moreland, 43, Hayward, Wis., told a state legislative committee that her doctor referred to her recovery as "nothing less than a miracle."

'Alky' Heart Aid Rapped

ATLANTIC CITY—(AP). The medical profession needs to revamp its view that whisky is good stuff for preventing—or softening painful attacks of "angina pectoris" in certain heart disease patients, Dr. Henry I. Russek of New York said Saturday.

Medicinal booze may dull or eliminate the pain of such an attack, but it does not get at the circulatory disorder that produces them, he told American Heart Association, in reporting on some clinical research with rye and Scotch.

"Furthermore," he added, "its employment prophylactically not only may create a false sense of physical fitness but may remove the protection afforded by angina."

The implication was that a person taking only alcohol as a means to prevent such attacks, might feel he was all right and engage in activities too strenuous for him—without having the protection of an alarming pain in the region of his heart.

The doctor said certain other drugs show powers of actually dilating blood vessels, and therefore of modifying the process which actually causes anginal pain.

Booze, on the other hand, he said, appears only to have "sedative" action—and should not be considered a coronary blood vessel dilator, as is commonly believed.

Probe Minister's Charge Athletes' Fete Immoral

FORT PAYNE, Ala.—(AP). This little-northeast Alabama town was rocked Saturday by a controversy over whether eight high school athletes were forced to engage in "immoral acts" at their initiation into a lettermen's club.

The charge was made by a young Baptist minister, Rev. Willis Griffin, who demanded that DeKalb County Board of Education "take action against three athletic coaches and a faculty adviser who attended the initiation."

W. J. Terry, state superintendent of education, ordered an investigation by the county board. County School Supt. Harold Hayes said board members "will meet as soon as we can. We will take whatever action is necessary when the time comes."

Griffin, 29-year-old pastor of the Second Baptist Church, said pictures of the ceremonies had been "circulated through the high school among the students." He said the initiation, by DeKalb County High School Lettermen's Club, was conducted Mar. 23.

The minister, who has been pastor here the past 11 months, said he first was informed of the "immoral acts" by the parents of one of the eight boys.

He made the ceremony the subject of a sermon broadcast last Sunday evening over Radio Station WFFA. And he called for action against the coaches in a letter published Wednesday in the weekly Fort Payne Journal.

The paper printed the letter on page 1, under a headline saying, "The High School 'Nudist' Facts." William Beck, former speaker of Alabama House of Representatives and an unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1950, said he has been retained by the parents of one of the boys initiated to recover pictures of the boy.

The pictures were made by a student, an amateur photographer. Beck sharply criticized Griffin, and said the account was "grossly exaggerated."

Mail Order Auto Buggy

By Marion Seddon

NORWALK
EVER SEE a 1907 Sears, Roebuck auto buggy?
Dr. C. R. Paxman, 11945 Olive St., has one.

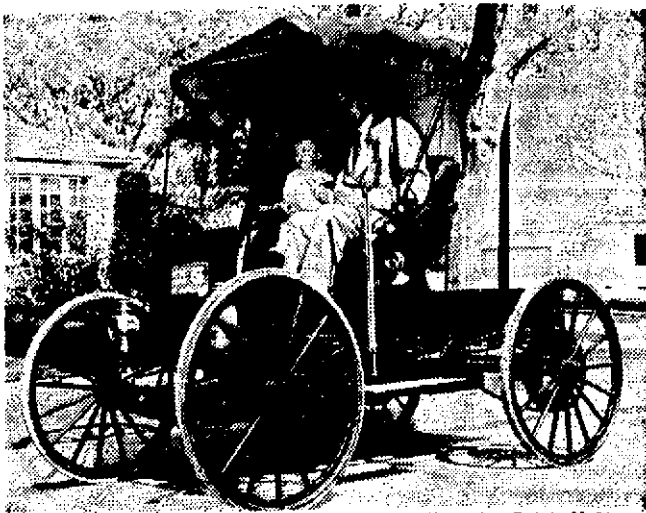

Although he does not use his 46-year-old auto buggy to make professional calls, he sometimes drives it to staff meetings in Downey.

Originally, the 14-horsepower, two-cylinder car was purchased through a Sears, Roebuck catalog. It is steered by a "tiller" and has hard rubber tires. Equipped with a built-in cutout, buggy springs, twin mufflers, kerosene lamps, a chain drive, and using a forced-feed oiling system, the auto is a surprising combination of the obsolete and the very modern.

"The average speed is 15 miles per hour," says Dr. Paxman, "but it can do 24 miles if really turned loose."

The doctor purchased his car last November. Several months later he and his wife joined the Horseless Carriage Club, an international organization whose membership is sprinkled with celebrities such as James Melton and Edgar Bergen. This year, in response to a request from the Horseless Carriage Club, special license plates are being issued to all cars 35 years old or older.

The Paxman daughters, Marlys, 12, and Janice, 9, enjoy "dressing up" for rides in the gas buggy. From their grandmother, Mrs. Eleanor Garwood, who lives next door, they borrow costumes to match or nearly match the age of the car.

"We have lots of fun with our 'nearly half-century-old' car," says Mrs. Paxman enthusiastically. "It looks like a buggy that has been deserted by its horse. And, just like a horse-drawn carriage, it loses speed going up hill, especially when it is carrying several people."

To get the auto into a garage, the top has to be taken down, since modern garage doors are not built for 8-foot-high gas buggies.

rates. Then, because of a fine season with Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League in 1952, he was given another chance to play with the big, big boys. Bridges went to Cincinnati from Brooklyn this spring after riding the Dodger bench for two years. A neat operator with a glove, he is expected to make the grade as a second baseman now that he will have the opportunity to play regularly.

For the rest, it's down hill. Players like Stevens, Mapes, Graham, Salvesson and Bockman have taken their cuts at major league curves in years gone by. Still, they're good enough to go the route in AAA and AA ball, so they're far from over the hill.

IF LEMON can win 20 games for the fourth time in five years, if Stephens can hit 25 home runs and drive home 130 more with a .290 batting average, if Bridges can operate at a .275 b. a. clip, if Cole can hit .265 while handling all the traffic due to come his way off the offerings of the alleged Pirate pitching staff, and if Wilson can answer the call from Paul Richards with a .285 batting average and 10 or more home runs, then Long Beach will have a fine year in the major leagues.

Meanwhile, there will be a cheer for Kansas City, Hollywood, Toronto, Baltimore, San Diego, Ottawa, Sacramento and Charleston if "our boys do their stuff."

And say, if the Yankees and Stengel make things too tough on this all-Long Beach club, we could bring our own umpire even though John (Beans) Reardon is retired. He's Frank (Dink) Gabler, former New York Giant pitcher who will call 'em as he sees 'em in the California League this season!

10 Pounds vs. Hoover Dam

BURNING OF 10 POUNDS of fissionable material daily would equal electrical energy output of Hoover dam, atomic experts at North American Aviation's Downey plant report. The Downey reactor is shown with its shield of concrete blocks two feet thick. Reactor research may point the way to giant electric power plants of the future.

But they would serve the added purpose of relieving unemployment if defense jobs should dwindle.

More jobs also are in sight with the construction of the Alamitos Bay small-craft harbor and Municipal Auditorium annex, which may be financed immediately from the Tideland Oil Fund. The two total $12,750,000. Additional public works amounting to $38,437,000 must await the outcome of litigation involving the Public Improvement Fund.

Commenting on the chamber's industrial development program, Davis said it is not predicated on expectations of heavy cutbacks in aviation jobs here.

"Our airframe manufacturers have huge backlogs and are working on newly-designed planes," he said. "The chamber's purpose is continuous development of a diversified industry adapted to either peace or war."

Long Beach's advantages as a factory center with an expanding market for finished products are being advertised in newspapers, magazines, business journals and trade papers throughout the country, Davis reported. The chamber's staff has arranged meetings with a substantial number of industrial firms that have responded to the campaign, he said.

The program is aimed at such industries as electronics, plastics, chemicals, hardware, glass and textiles.

Raid Siren Test Slated

Don't look for shelter when the air raid sirens sound Monday at noon—just listen.

This is the advice of Lt. William J. Mooney, deputy director of civil defense, in a reminder that the signal is intended to test the effectiveness of the sound equipment, not public reaction.

The all-clear signal, a constant one-minute sound, will be given three times. There will be no air raid alert signal.

Civil defense volunteers will be stationed in various sections of the city to report on the effectiveness of the test, Mooney said. Earlier trials proved that the signal could not be heard in some residential areas, but 10 new sirens have since been added to the 16 previously in use.

AT DOWNEY REACTOR

Day of A-Power Industry Possible Within Generation

By STERLING BEMIS

The day of atomic power in industry, which dawned in the last decade, may reach high noon in our times.

Full-scale electric power production, with 10 pounds of fissionable material each day equaling the output of Hoover Dam, may be sparked within a generation.

Peacetime uses of the atom multiply like a chain reaction. Medical science in an incredibly short span of years has proven the value of the isotope in diagnosis and research. Tomorrow the isotope will bring cures.

The black headlines belong today and will belong for the next few decades to the spectacular war uses of the atom. They include:

1. The mushrooming bomb.
2. The atomic cannon.
3. The globe-ranging submarine powered for its lifetime by a single charge of fuel.
4. The atomic warship.
5. A superdreadnaught of the air, patrolling the far frontiers of the sky without pause to refuel and with only the stars to light its runway in the clouds.

In the United States, working under direction of the Atomic Energy Commission, are more than 1250 factories, laboratories, offices and other installations.

FIRST ON COAST

The west coast's first atomic energy reactor is operating behind 450 tons of concrete blocks two feet thick in the Downey plant of North American Aviation.

Surrounded by the top secret laboratories of the guided missile, Downey's atomic furnace has two prime peacetime missions. One is to make an experimental scale radioactive isotopes—the "tagged atoms" of industry and medicine.

The other is to work out on a small scale the designs for large scale electric power output.

Isotopes are produced when atoms are fractured in the reactor. Because they are radioactive they are betrayed, wherever they hide, by the Geiger counter.

In medicine the isotopes injected into the bloodstream or swallowed in atomic cocktails can be traced as they course through the body.

In cancer research, for example,

DR. CHAUNCEY STARR
No Limit to the Power

by tagging a chemical with radioactive carbon, scientists can follow the course of the chemical through the bodies of rats. More than 100 chemicals have been found to be damaging to cancers in animals. Tests are under way to find out which are effective for human use.

Hundreds of industrial uses of radio-isotopes have been developed. For example, in logging oil-bearing sands in the wells of Signal Hill, isotope bullets are fired into the casings at the levels where reserves of crude are found. When one pool runs out, the Geiger counter traces down the next.

GREAT TRIUMPH SEEN

But Dr. Chauncey Starr, director of atomic energy research at North American-Downey, expects one of the greatest triumphs of the atom will be its development as a giant maker of electricity.

Dr. Starr, a quiet little man who helped in the Manhattan Project to speed the A-bomb on its devastating way, says bluntly that once a chain reaction starts in a nuclear reactor "there exists no theoretical limit to the power that may be developed."

However, there are economic factors which will delay the day of the atomic electric power plant.

For one thing, an atomic power plant would cost $25,000,000 to $50,000,000, compared with $10,000,000 for the conventional coal plant.

It's true the fission of one pound of uranium 235 gives about the same total energy as a million tons of coal. But the present supply of fissionable materials is limited.

"If today's estimated world reserves of uranium were used to substitute for all the coal used in the world," Dr. Starr estimates, "these reserves would last only about 60 years."

"As a substitute for all the oil and gas used by the world, they would last perhaps 200 years, and as a substitute for all the electric generation plants in the United States, about 2000 years."

COST IS BIG FACTOR

Time will change the picture. Dr. Starr points out that the cost of electric power is on a rising curve and atomic costs are on the down curve. At some future point, the cost curves will cross. Then the atom will come into its own.

"In the terms of power," the scientist adds, "the burning of one pound a day of the fissionable material will produce 435,000 kilowatts of heat, or about 130,000 kilowatts of electrical power. Burning 10 pounds of material a day would produce roughly the amount of electric power supplied by Hoover Dam."

Another advantage in atomic power is the fact that it might be produced on a large scale as a by-product of the development of atomic weapons, with costs paid in large part by the military.

For the military, cost is not the controlling factor. "That explains, Dr. Starr declares, why the atomic

Vitamins Parley Scheduled Today

MILAN, Italy.—(AP) Three hundred scientists from 12 nations meet here today to discuss the discovery, development and uses of vitamins.

The symposium—one of the first of its kind—will continue until Apr. 16.

Scientists will come from Australia, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, Great Britain, Portugal, Switzerland, the United States and Italy.

submarine is a reality while the atomic ocean liner must wait until the day it can pay its way.

Although his staff had no direct share in development of the atomic submarine, Dr. Starr is familiar with its staggering possibilities. For several reasons its range is almost limitless.

On the conventional submarine, most of the air drawn from the surface through the snorkel goes to feed the engines. The A-sub needs no betraying snorkel and the oxygen supply can be reserved for the crew. This permits the sub to prowls mile after mile at safe depths.

Fuel supply is no problem. "The original supply of fuel can last the submarine for its lifetime," Dr. Starr observes.

Still another advantage is vastly greater speed. The A-sub can be designed to maintain top speed indefinitely. Conventional engines must be designed to conserve fuel and to run at full speed only in brief spurts.

Dr. Starr believes weight of the atomic submarine may be about the same as that of the conventional submarine, due to the heavy shield of lead and concrete for the power furnace.

Atomic energy experts say the A-sub will not make life any more risky than usual for the crew.

"After all," said one atom-wise scientist, "anything that would hit an atomic submarine hard enough to break its radiation shield would have to be big enough to knock a conventional sub to hell and gone."

Accidents Costly: $1 Million a Day

SACRAMENTO.—(AP) Traffic of wages, medical expenses, auto accidents' cost California nearly a million dollars a day, the State Highway Patrol reported Saturday.

The CHP said this money would have paid for a multi-lane divided highway, excluding bridges, from Oregon to Mexico and the Pacific Ocean to Nevada or Arizona.

GOP Maps Tidelands Battle; Foes Stronger

WASHINGTON—(AP). The Republican leadership geared Saturday for long hours of debate in the Senate next week in a drive to get a vote on the so-called tidelands bill.

No Injury in First Accident, Second Fatal for Woman

WILMINGTON—After she and her brother had escaped injury in one accident, a 24-year-old Huntington Park woman was killed in a second on their way home Saturday.

The dead woman is Mrs. Josephine Morgan. Her body is at Cartwright Mortuary here.

Her brother, Pvt. George K. Greico, 18, was visiting his sister while on leave pending a transfer from New Mexico to Camp Kilmer, N. J. He was seriously injured and is in the Fort MacArthur hospital.

Police said the pair had taken a midnight scenic ride in Palos Verdes Hills and the car rolled over an embankment. Both escaped injury, but it was nearly daylight by the time the car was hauled back onto the road.

On the way home, Pvt. Greico apparently fell asleep at the wheel and the car smashed into a utility pole at Alameda Blvd. and Pacific Coast Hwy.

Unemployed Pay Chiseling Move Pledged

SACRAMENTO—(AP). James G. Bryant, state director of employment, yielded Saturday to demands for quick action against unemployment insurance chiselers.

He proposed to send six teams of special auditors throughout California to track down overpayments.

Bryant, who earlier this year discounted charges of widespread chiseling, testified at the final hearing of a special Assembly probe.

The five-man subcommittee already has agreed many millions of dollars in jobless benefits may be going to people too lazy to work or having other income.

The stubby, grey-haired director said he favors immediate action against these gougers, but the federal government controls investigation funds.

He announced plans for a trip to Washington this month to ask $250,000 for a 40-man special auditing detail and proposed that the Legislature underwrite it if he's turned down.

The committee also heard charges that employment department branch offices permit overpayment cases to "gather dust."

Bryant agreed with Assemblyman Harold K. Levering (R-Los Angeles) that some of his employees work with "gross inefficiency."

James O. Reimel, Bryant's chief fraud investigator, described as a "ridiculous situation" the overruling of his findings by "persons who in my opinion are not competent to evaluate them"—meaning branch offices.

Reimel proposed his section be made into an independent division with full control over audit and investigation funds, as in New York State. "We're in a division now," he said, "and we're asked to investigate activities of that division, which isn't a very pleasant thing."

The bipartisan committee ended its probe with a strong hint by Chairman Gordon Fleury (R-Sacramento) it will ask the Legislature to set up a watchdog group to oversee the unemployment insurance program.

Assemblyman Julien Beck of San Fernando and William Munhall of Los Angeles, the subcommittee's two Democrats, said such a body should air possible chiseling by employers.

That was after a spokesman for the California Industrial Union Council (CIO) handed in a statement charging employer payments into the jobless insurance fund are delinquent almost $5,000,000.

GI Gully in Death
BERLIN—(AP). An Army general court martial Saturday found Cpl. Lamar Simpson Jr., of Ardmore, Pa., guilty of the murder of Sgt. Gerald D. Smith, of Woodville, Tex., and sentenced him to life imprisonment, dishonorable discharge and forfeiture of all pay.

Scientists Ask Probe of Official's Ouster

Compiled from UP and AP

WASHINGTON—The Federation of American Scientists Saturday demanded prompt action by President Eisenhower and Congress on the firing of Dr. Allen V. Astin as head of the Bureau of Standards.

The federation said immediate steps must be taken to protect government scientific work from "political influence" and "to check and repair the spreading damage resulting from Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks' action" in firing Astin Mar. 24.

The federation said that a Senate investigation of the Bureau of Standards' rejection of an auto battery booster, set for next month, is aimed in the wrong direction.

The inquiry should concern itself primarily with "the circumstances, motivation and wisdom" of the dismissal of Dr. Astin as the bureau's $15,000-a-year director, the federation said.

Astin was fired by Weeks after a row over the bureau's insistence that a chemical made by a California firm to pep up batteries is no good. Weeks said other factors were involved but he didn't say what they were.

The federation's executive committee said in a statement that any investigation of the battery additive itself was "unlikely to correct the damage resulting" from Weeks' dismissal of Astin.

This, the federation declared, "has damaged not only science but many important military and industrial activities dependent upon it."

Chairman Thye (R-Minn.) of the Senate Small Business Committee has invited Astin to testify next month but he said the inquiry will not take up the ouster itself.

The federation, which describes itself as a nationwide organization of scientists concerned with the impact of scientific developments on the national and international scene, is one of several scientific bodies that maintains Astin's discharge was an invasion of politics into science.

The federation urged Congress and the Commerce Dept. to make public all information so there can be more of "factual demonstration" of the bureau's operation.

Specifically, the federation said the Commerce Dept. should lift the lid on the bureau's Circular 504.

Weeks ordered the circular impounded last month along with all other circulars and technical reports dealing with battery additives, pending the outcome of the Commerce Dept.'s internal dispute.

Edison Says Union Caused End of Talks

Southern California Edison Co. officials Saturday charged the AFL Electrical Workers Union "alone was responsible" for the breaking off of negotiations just before their strike Mar. 10.

The Edison statement said "the company has been, is now, and will continue to be ready to renew . . . collective bargaining in good faith whenever conditions are restored which make (it) possible."

The statement followed action by the union in which a complaint against the company was filed with the National Labor Relations Board. The complaint charged Edison refused to bargain in good faith with representatives of 3700 striking electrical workers.

NLRB Spokesman George Yeager said the board would set a hearing soon at which the company must answer the union charges. The company was accused of violating two sections of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The union complaint said Edison was guilty of coercion and interference with the rights of employees and refused to bargain in good faith.

Defaults on GI Loans Rare; VA Says; Only .53% Bad

WASHINGTON—(AP). The Veterans Administration said Saturday it has had to pay only 15,605 claims because of defaults out of 2,931,296 home loans it has guaranteed.

The figures, covering loans fully disbursed through Feb. 25, showed only 0.53 per cent of the loans had defaulted.

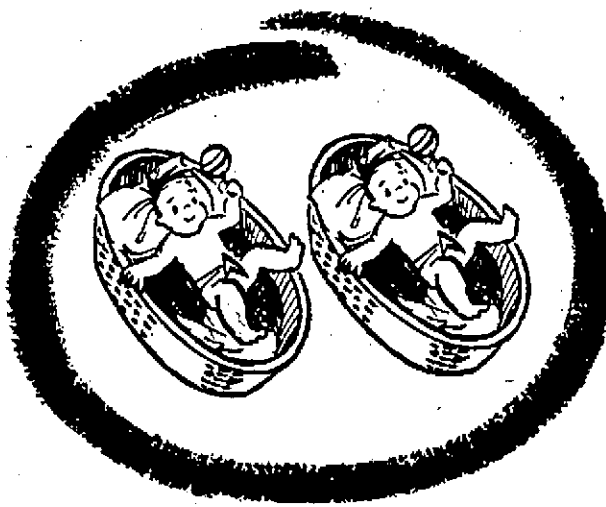

On the other hand, VA statistics showed 353,378 loans had been repaid in full by Feb. 25, which was 11.9 per cent of those issued.

From the dollar standpoint, the VA had guaranteed or insured home loans with principal amount of $18,999,109,272. Repayments in full totaled $1,845,806,550 and the net amount of claims paid, after recoveries, totaled $15,031,182, or less than one-tenth of one per cent.

The initial amount of claims paid since the program was inaugurated in 1944-45 had totaled $37,283,460 up to Feb. 25, but recoveries had amounted to $22,252,278 and more were anticipated.

Up to Feb. 25, VA had received 3,453,900 applications for guarantee or insurance of loans of all three types it guarantees—home, farm and business. The loans are made by private lending institutions.

Half the Brain's a Spare

en permission to beg in government trains.

The theory was that once the brain was wrecked, it stayed that way. When brain cells were destroyed, they stayed destroyed.

However, early pioneers in the study of aphasia, found that everything depends on the undamaged side of the brain. In the typical aphasia victim this hemisphere has been roosting up in his head virtually unused and untrained while the other side has had a lifetime of experience and education.

If the untrained side of the brain is healthy, and if the patient has the determination to work, the auxiliary centers can generally be educated to take over. But if the patient's brain is weakened by infection or disease, or if he is too tired, too depressed or too old, then education often is impossible.

How is the unused portion of the brain educated? Various methods have proved workable. The speech therapy rooms and the ward are equipped with magnetic tape and sound recorder-reproducers of the one-minute recording variety. Magnetic wire sound recorders are used for the longer retraining sessions where an hour or more of recording duration is required. An acetate disc high fidelity recorder is used in making sample recordings of each patient's speech once each month.

Large mirrors mounted on the wall just in front of the patient's therapy desk enable the veteran to view himself and his speech therapist while seated at the desk for writing. This permits the patient who has inco-ordination of movements to imitate visually the articulatory patterns of the therapist.

Blackboards are attached to the walls of each therapy room. This equipment, as elsewhere, expedites group work. It is also a good starting situation for training the large muscles of the left arm of patients training for lefthanded writing, which nearly all of these patients must learn.

ELEMENTARY grade, high school and college textbooks are available for speech, reading and writing practice in both the therapy rooms and in the ward. These books have been selected with special emphasis on numerous colored pictures to illustrate the text. This has been done to enrich the visual imagery associated with the ideas, symbols and words being studied.

Thick rugs, absorbent ceilings, walls and doors, arm boards for writing, and comfortable furniture relax patients, promote co-ordination and conserve their energies because of their tendency to rapid fatigue. Movies, music, all types of puzzles, and various recorded sounds also play a big part in the therapy treatments.

These Long Beach therapists have been able to work their magic on hundreds of young veterans paralyzed from head wounds, primarily because of three men—a Swedish doctor, a Danish-born physician and a patient young Iowa speech expert who didn't like to see such victims go through life as "vegetables."

The Swedish doctor, the late Salomon Eberhard Henschen, began his major research on aphasia in 1917. Then along came Swedish-born Johannes Maagaard Nielsen, who became interested in the subject in 1930. They formed the first aphasia clinic in 1946 at the Veterans Administration's Birmingham Hospital near Los Angeles, which was later moved to its present site adjacent to Long Beach. The clinic was placed under the direction of Dr. Donald Schultz, a 37-year-old psychologist and expert on speech. Dr. Nielsen was named national consultant on aphasia to the VA, as was Dr. Edwin Cole of Harvard.

"Unfortunately, there are no civilian facilities at the present time solely for the care of aphasics," Mrs. Agranowitz said. "The three clinics, which are located in California, Massachusetts and Minnesota are open to veterans only."

"There is a great need for clinics for the nation's 400,000 civilian aphasia sufferers, and it is our hope that the pioneer work being done at Long Beach Va Hospital will point the way to the establishment of such institutions for these sufferers."

WHAT'S YOUR HOBBY?

Let Midas Touch It!

By
Jule Armin

THERE'S something new and easy for those Long Beach folk who seek a modern idea in decorating a home: Let Midas touch it!

King Midas of mythology touched things and they turned to gold. Today's home owner can use an almost equally magical and simple touch to achieve novel effects. With a snip of the scissors, a dash of water and a minimum of skill, Presto! 23-karat gold leaf designs are permanently applied to china, glass, metal or wood. Whether it is a dish, tray or piece of furniture to be decorated or just put a name or address on the front door, the procedure is essentially the same with this new art product.

Old-time methods of using gold leaf requires more skill, knowledge and equipment than the average person has or can afford to acquire. Today's product, gold leaf on a removable backing, is as easily handled as a paper doll. Golden Touch (23-karat gold foil) and Mirror's

With almost magical ease, sparkling designs of gold leaf can be applied with a new product useful in home decor.

Touch (simulated silver) can be purchased inexpensively by the square inch in most art stores.

To use it, trace desired design directly onto the white backing or lay out the foil, gold side up, cover it with pencil carbon, top it with the design and trace onto the gold surface with a medium sharp pencil (a needle-point pencil might cut through). When using initials or numbers the second method is safer since tracing on the back of the gold would automatically reverse the letters and numbers.

Peek under one corner before lifting the design to be sure details have been copied accurately. Then place the gold sheet on a smooth cutting surface and, with a sharp pointed knife or stencil cutter, carefully cut out the design, keeping edges smooth and clean.

SOAK the cut-out gold design in a pan of cold water for about ten seconds. If design is in more than one part, cut and transfer one part at a time. Lay the wet gold foil face down on newspaper for a few moments to let the water penetrate and soften the adhesive which holds the gold to the backing. Test a corner to see when it is fully loosened.

Thoroughly clean the surface where gold is to be applied. A film of soap or detergent would spoil results. Firmly "spot stick" the loosened corner and gently slide out the paper backing. Then fit the rest of the design firmly into place. The gold film will neither tear nor wrinkle when handled with normal care. Small design parts are easily picked up with tweezers.

WHEN design is placed exactly as you wish, cover it with absorbent paper and squeegee off any excess water with a sponge or piece of cardboard. Then weld design edges firmly to the background by pressing them out and down with the bowl of a spoon.

Let the decorated object set over night; then, if desired, the gold can be shaded or highlighted with oils, enamels or lacquers. Umber and sienna mixed with varnish can be used to shade the gold for an antique look. Synthetic lacquers slightly lift the gold, blending it with their own color, creating an effect very like the "floating colors" of Early American tray and chair stencils.

If the article decorated will receive much wear or will need frequent washing it should be given one or more coats of clear varnish. Dishes thus treated can then be fired in a home kitchen oven at 250 degrees for about half an hour.

Gold leaf with adhesive backing has been applied here to a music cabinet.

Not Much Time Left

UNTIL recently it looked as if the issue of Lakewood annexation would remain in the survey-and-report stage indefinitely. Developments, if any, were expected to occur very slowly.

But Lakewood's swift growth suddenly established needs for city-type services and political representation. These needs could not be ignored, and inevitably they have brought the annexation issue to a head.

In fact, during the past few weeks it has become the dominant issue in the Lakewood area. Numerous movements for and against annexation have started rolling.

Every householder in Lakewood now should be giving careful consideration to the questions involved.

Those favoring annexation but feeling in no particular hurry have a vital reason at this time to become active participants in the debate.

Delay in completing circulation of petitions for election on the annexation issue will mean that the Lakewood areas involved won't be able to get membership in the Metropolitan Water District without paying millions of dollars in back taxes. The deadline is June 22. Long Beach is already a member of Metropolitan, which means that areas annexed before the deadline would automatically obtain membership without the burden of back taxes.

However, the decision of whether to annex is Lakewood's to make. We only observe that the Long Beach and Lakewood areas form a natural economic and political unit whose legal joining would have the effect of solving many of the problems which are beginning to disturb Lakewood residents. But our purpose here is merely to emphasize the importance of reaching a timely decision.

We hope that in reaching their decisions Lakewood residents will reject the false propaganda that Long Beach is trying to shove something down Lakewood's throat. This just isn't true. The annexation movements have been initiated within Lakewood by Lakewood residents. Recently the residents of Lakewood Plaza voted approval of annexation; this was solely their decision, based on a careful study of the advantages and disadvantages of such a move.

Incidentally, much of the anti-annexation sentiment in the Lakewood Plaza case came from outside that area from people who gave some pretty misleading and obviously unconvincing arguments. We think the result is good evidence that Lakewood folk are thinking for themselves in this matter.

AN EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

Health and Taxes

By JOHN S. KNIGHT
Publisher, Chicago Daily News

AS EVERYONE KNOWS, the cost of adequate medical care is so high as to impose a heavy financial burden upon the majority of American families.

Several attempts have been made to solve the problem including former President Truman's plan for health insurance and various recommendations similar to Great Britain's socialized medicine scheme.

Most of these suggestions have been vigorously attacked by the American Medical Association on the ground that government subsidized medicine would lower medical standards and produce inferior rather than better medical care.

Still, it is useless to deny that the problem exists. While tremendous advances have been and are being made in medical science, resulting in vastly improved health standards, the question of how to pay the doctor's bill is becoming increasingly acute.

The voluntary health and hospitalization insurance programs, including those sponsored by business and industrial firms, are excellent.

But even the most generous arrangements are not always adequate, especially in the event of a catastrophic illness.

With the foregoing background in mind, I commend to your attention a bill recently introduced into the Congress by Rep. Oliver P. Bolton of Ohio. Mr. Bolton is a freshman Congressman whose mother, the Hon. Frances Bolton, has represented an adjoining northern Ohio district for many years.

Mr. Bolton's proposed legislation seems like a sound and sensible approach to the nation's health needs. It provides that medical and dental expenses, including the cost of participation in voluntary medical insurance and hospital plans, may be deducted from income taxes.

Under existing law, only those over 65 may deduct all medical expenses. For everyone below that age, medical bills may be deducted only to the extent that they exceed 5 per cent of a person's gross income.

Since health problems can not be arranged by age, the discriminatory provisions of the present law are tragically unfair. Here is the way it works now, as reported by the Wall Street Journal:

"Suppose a man with a family has a gross annual income of $3500 (the average factory wage in 1952 was $3540). If that man spends on doctors, dentists, medicine and hospital costs a total of $175, he is out of luck and must pay income taxes on that amount. But if he spends a total of $180 for the same purpose—to make his family well or to keep them healthy or to prepare for future illnesses—the government will let him deduct $5. But he still pays income tax on the other $175 he spent for his family's health."

If all medical expenses were deductible, as provided for in Mr. Bolton's bill, there would be less agitation for the British type of socialized medicine.

Moreover, the taxpayer would have a real inducement to see his doctor and dentist before it was too late to preserve his health and save his teeth.

The Wall Street Journal points out that as the law stands today, "the taxpayer actually pays taxes on his efforts to maintain or improve his health. Even business gets a better break from the tax-writers than this, for business can depreciate a building or a new piece of machinery."

Mr. Bolton's bill may have its flaws. Possibly the plan would result in doctors, dentists and hospitals being deluged by persons with real and fancied illnesses.

It is possible, too, that the loss in taxes to the federal government might be so large as to make the plan impracticable.

However, as between the very real chance that government may one day move into the field of medical care, with resultant inefficiency and tremendous cost to the taxpayer, and a plan which preserves government from taxing the health of the people while preserving the structure of private medicine, the choice seems clear.

So little has been printed about Rep. Bolton's bill that we invite comment in our columns on a subject of vital importance to every citizen.

RANDOM NOTES: Sen. Taft charges that most Washington news writers tend to be "anti-Republican." . . . A group of 27 authors, actors, reporters and commentators says that Sen. Joe McCarthy's journalistic critics are "fact-shy." . . . Adlai Stevenson and the Democrats still talk of a "one-party press." . . . Confusing, isn't it?

The Brecker constitutional amendment safeguarding the exercise of the treaty-making power will become one of the nation's hottest controversial issues.

One Time It'd Be a Pleasure to Go Into Action

DREW PEARSON

Air Chief Warns of Russ Buildup

WASHINGTON—While the diplomats are exchanging peace feelers, Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, solemnly warned Congress that Russia now has more long-range bombers in the Far East than we do and that these Soviet super-fortresses can deliver the atomic bomb to any target in the United States.

"We do know that these bombers can reach us," Vandenberg stressed at a closed-door hearing of the House appropriations committee. "They have the capability of carrying atomic bombs for a distance of 2000 miles and returning to their bases. They can also deliver the atomic bomb through staging bases already prepared in Siberia and northern Russia to any target in the United States on a one-way mission."

Vandenberg added apprehensively that Japan is now within bombing range of lightning-fast Soviet jet bombers that have been showing up "on the coast of China, along the Yalu and on the coast of Siberia."

"The new light jet bombers, now appearing in increasing numbers, have a radius of action that would permit them to operate across the Sea of China and the Sea of Japan," he revealed. "If we knew that World War III were going to break out, I blurted Congressman Wigglesworth of Massachusetts, 'will you state what our readiness is now?'"

"In terms of manpower," the Air Force chief replied, "I would say that we are approximately 90 per cent toward our goal. Those men, however, are not yet capable of taking their place in the combat unit."

"How long on the present basis will it take us to reach 100 per cent?" asked Wigglesworth. "The fiscal year 1956," estimated Vandenberg.

AIR JOYRIDES
Changing the subject, Congressman Mahon of Texas brought up the question of Air Force joyriding at the taxpayer's expense.

"It is a little difficult to explain satisfactorily to the public," Vandenberg admitted. "A man is required to keep up his flying proficiency. Now if a man is going to keep up his flying proficiency, should he go to a place he would prefer to go, or should he turn his back and go to a place where he neither knows anyone nor desires to go? There are standing instructions in the Air Force that no one can land a plane within 50 miles of such things as football games and baseball games. No airport within 50 miles can be used during an occasion like that."

"How about pheasant shooting time?" broke in Congressman Scrivner of Kansas.

"A pilot may take off for an air base to make an inspection and talk to the base commander. But while he is down there, he can and might go quail hunting or pheasant hunting during off-duty hours," explained the Air Force chief.

"Even though it is 50 miles to the hunting grounds?" asked Mahon.

"It is difficult to find an airport that is not within 20 miles of a hunting ground," shot back Vandenberg.

"It is not necessarily a balanced operation if a squadron of fellows should fly down to a field near the Kentucky Derby for training," the Texas Congressman suggested.

"If they were already scheduled for the training," agreed Vandenberg, "except that you cannot explain it to the public. Therefore I have prohibited it."

Mahon then switched the subject, cross-examined the Air Force boss about crashes. "I have been shocked," he declared, "at the number of air crashes on the part of Air Force people."

"The aircraft accident rate has steadily been going down," Vandenberg pointed out. "Last year it was the lowest rate in history."

"But, General," insisted Mahon, "you have not convinced me that at least one or two of those major air crashes could not have been avoided."

"As long as we have flying and we have mechanical gadgets that sometimes fail," Vandenberg declared, "and as long as human beings make errors, we are going to have a certain number of accidents in the Air Force. I think all the precautions are being taken that we can take. As we find other ones to take, we will take them."

D. C. PIPELINE
Democratic politicians believe Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield and Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks are the two Cabinet members most likely to put their feet in their mouths. It's significant that Undersecretary of the Treasury Folsom cleared his position with the White House before he told Congressmen recently that the excess-profits tax is a "bad tax, and we want to get rid of it as soon as possible." . . . President Eisenhower agrees that the excess-profits tax is "bad," though he doesn't want to get rid of it until the budget is balanced. In talking to the Congressmen, Folsom did not mean to imply that any taxes should be cut before the budget is balanced.

At regular municipal elections in Long Beach, people of a district nominate two council candidates at primaries, and these nominees then go on the city-wide ballot at the general election. This is the truly unique feature of Long Beach municipal elections. It is an interesting subject for discussion that will appear in this column at a later time.

Is that your whisper in the wind . . . That shakes my contemplation? . . . Or is it just another sound . . . In my imagination? . . . I thought I heard your loving voice . . . And that you said to me . . . I am the only one on earth . . . In all your memory . . . Is it a little possible . . . That in my lonely hour . . . Such fragrance would imbue again . . . Will We Agree to Divide Korea?
WASHINGTON—A first-class mystery revolving around an off-the-record conference with several newspapermen by a person in the confidence of the Eisenhower administration has stirred up a series of denials and counter-denials as to what the future policy of the United States is going to be toward a divided Korea and the status of Formosa.

First of all, it may be said that, whatever the explorations or discussions inside the administration, no conclusions have been reached. The White House denial of a New York Times story used that very language as follows:

"The administration has never reached any conclusion that a permanent division of Korea is desirable or feasible or consistent with the decisions of the United Nations."

Dispatches from Washington to the New York Times and other newspapers, which came from a responsible source who gave the information but would not allow himself to be quoted or identified, indicated that in a future negotiation the United States might be willing to let the boundary between North and South Korea be fixed at about 30 miles north of the 38th parallel so as to take in a balanced area of economic resources.

But such a division means on its face that the United States would be deserting the objective of the U. N. resolution of October 7, 1950, which called for an independent and unified Korea.

Why, therefore, was the idea brought forward in the discussion with the press? This is not readily explained except on one possible basis—that the man who did the talking didn't make himself clear and was merely explaining possible ways that a negotiation might be approached when the time comes for such a parley.

But even this does not disclose why it was considered necessary to explore the subject with the press at all—unless the man who did it never thought it would appear in print and was just talking out loud, so to speak, as he unfolded his thoughts confidentially to his correspondents.

DISQUIETING NEWS
What is important is not what this news source was speculating about but what the policy toward Korea finally will be. The word from the White House is that no "conclusion" has been reached. This in itself will be disquieting news. It could mean that the group inside the administration which wishes to cut military spending, reduce taxes and end the war by any means possible has been making headway and that the subject matter of such discussions is very much in the minds of administration officials, so that persons informed as to what is going on naturally talk about all possibilities with no indication as to how the discussion finally will turn out.

Another important item mentioned as part of the same information conveyed to the press relates to a U. N. trusteeship for Formosa. This was mentioned as a compromise solution. But it is a fantastic suggestion, for it would mean that Chiang's troops would some day have to be driven out of Formosa by the U. N., and this is hardly something the United States could embark upon. Also, Red China, if in supreme control of the mainland of China, isn't going to consent to an independent status for Formosa, since this territory was promised to China itself by the Cairo Declaration to which the United States was a signatory.

If the two reported moves were really the American policy, it would amount to a Far Eastern Munich. Mere publication of such a possibility is bound to be harmful at this stage of the Russian peace adventure, when it isn't wise to tip our hand no matter what we have in mind. It seems incredible that John Foster Dulles would care to remain as Secretary of State if his views on the Far East were reversed to the extent that the newspaper reports would indicate they might be. The "conclusion" is to adopt policies that mean appeasement of the communists.

It is impossible, for instance, to measure exactly how many square miles of territory would remain in the hands of North Korean Communists as a "buffer" or "puppet" state for the Communists. But it would be a big slice of Korean territory. Does anyone think South Korea could be pacified by such a move? For it would mean that Aggressors would be rewarded by being ceded a large piece of territory and, if the Red Chinese were seated in the U. N., it would all add up to a very remarkable victory for the communists and a defeat for the American viewpoint.

It is gratifying to learn that the White House has not approved any such policy of appeasement as was reported to be under "consideration" or under "discussion," whatever the correct word for it really was.

MALCOLM EPLEY

Two Plans for Filling Vacancies

THE SPECIAL election to be held soon in the Eighth Councilmanic District illustrates one feature of a system for selecting city councilmen that in many respects is so unique it might well be dubbed the "Long Beach System."

The elective method of filling a vacancy is less extraordinary than other features of the system. However, in many places such vacancies are filled by appointment, saving the cost and inconvenience of a special balloting.

It is estimated the Eighth District election will cost about $5000. It will take a great deal of the time of the city clerk's staff and, coming unexpectedly, will be of considerable inconvenience to that office. With this election in prospect, it is timely to consider a few pro and con arguments on the question of changing the method of filling vacancies.

PROS AND CONS

Presumably, if an appointment plan were adopted here, the mayor and council would make the appointment.

Perhaps, an objectionable feature of such a plan is that it would make it possible for a majority of the councilmen to choose a colleague certain to be agreeable to their policies and thinking, whereas in an election the people decide the kind of councilman they want for the vacant post.

Of course, the new councilman would have to stand for election at the next regular municipal voting, which theoretically answers that objection. However, incumbency being such a strong factor in election outcomes here, the appointee ordinarily would have an inside track at the polls.

Despite these possible objections, certainly if we ever overhaul our election system in the municipality, filling council vacancies by appointment should be considered. Perhaps it should be taken up as a separate question, regardless of whether anything else is done.

SMALL TURNOUT

At any rate, the turnout of electors at special elections in the past has not indicated any great interest on the part of the people in the privileges given them under the present system.

Mayor Lyman Sutter first went on the Council as the result of a special election held in August, 1950. Out of 14,000 registered voters in the Seventh District, only about 3450 voted. Other special elections have similarly drawn dismally low voter participation.

Those who feel that the elective system of filling vacancies should be retained should do all they can to encourage bigger voter turnouts at these ballotings.

An interesting angle on the special election of a Councilman, such as that coming up in the Eighth District, is that the councilman in such cases is chosen by the voters of only one district, whereas other councilmen, regularly elected, are the choices of people of the city as a whole.

At regular municipal elections in Long Beach, people of a district nominate two council candidates at primaries, and these nominees then go on the city-wide ballot at the general election. This is the truly unique feature of Long Beach municipal elections. It is an interesting subject for discussion that will appear in this column at a later time.

Or Just the Wind?

Is that your whisper in the wind . . . That shakes my contemplation? . . . Or is it just another sound . . . In my imagination? . . . I thought I heard your loving voice . . . And that you said to me . . . I am the only one on earth . . . In all your memory . . . Is it a little possible . . . That in my lonely hour . . . Such fragrance would imbue again . . . This pressed and faded flower? . . . But, no, the night is dark and cold . . . And there is only space . . . I can not touch your hand or see . . . The outline of your face . . . It must be just my weary mind . . . Or something in the weather . . . And yet the wind keeps whispering . . . As though we were together.

A Friendly Criticism

this policy we have been told that such endorsement is made only after the subject has been thoroughly examined and passed on by delegates from various levels of the organization. It is contended that thereafter it is essential that the organization stand as one in its attitude. For that reason the PTA is restricted to hearing only one side of an issue which it has endorsed.

It is our opinion that this is a very serious departure from true democracy, which is so important to the PTA organization. The state endorsement may be made several months before an election is held. In the intervening months many changes may occur. It just does not seem right that the members of any organization be held to the policy adopted by a top-level board of directors. Democrats vote Republican without being read out of the party. In the United States Senate the right to present both sides right up to the minute of voting is preserved to the point that it allows filibusters. That type of obstruction is deplorable, but it is surely better than having only one side presented.

This situation was brought to our attention by many members of the PTA during the period prior to the last election. We have waited until now to bring the subject out into the open because we hoped it might be corrected. It is also a good time for it to be discussed because there is no issue before the voters.

We would hope that before the organization again endorses some important project, to be presented to the voters, it will make provisions to insure that its members be allowed to hear both sides of any issue in its own meetings. Such a change in policy would, we believe, greatly safeguard the organization from future dangerous criticism. It is too valuable a force to this nation to allow any question to be raised as to the methods it uses in informing its members on issues which the organization endorses.—L. A. C.

Peace Offers

TO THE EDITOR:

The present peace overtures from Red China cannot be ignored; all peace-loving peoples should hold out their hands to such offers. This does not mean that we will not be wary. We have, we hope, learned from the actions of Red Russia and Red China that we must have eyes in the back of our heads, so to speak, in order that we may be able to see and know all that is going on round and about us.

While we find it best to snatch at every opportunity that might bring about the peace we hope and desire with all our hearts, we must not be blinded, we must not become one least little bit unguarded in our resistance to the Red menace either at home or in any dealings we may have regarding them across the seas.

This about-face attitude, this transparent concentration of effort to show a sudden willingness to adopt plans for peace which were set up many months ago, smells to high heaven. It has a smell that surpasses very rotten fish.

We must make and accept all peace offers or opportunities for peace but like a prize fighter we must keep our chins down close to the chest and not for one moment let down our careful guard; and we must ever hold back that closed fist for the deadly knockout punch. For Red Russia does not fight fair in anything.

When Stalin left this mortal world, as all men do in time, it was not hard to believe that his successor might install a new set of policies. We, as a nation, are most happy to view these policies, with the hope that some good might eventually come from them.

Neither Red Russia nor Red China has earned our respect as regards true dealing, so let us watch and be wary; hope for the best and carry out our purpose to the full and to the best of our ability.

Reuther

TO THE EDITOR:

The "Meet the Press" program had Walter Reuther as its guest recently. Perhaps there are few times in his life when he wished more that a program would end. That is because he was asked a few questions about his union which he could not or would not answer.

It was pointed out to him that at its recent convention his union announced an increase of more than 160,000 members. Another big union gained more than 240,000 members. These increases happened under the T-H law. So he was asked how it could be that the T-H law has harmed unions. That is when Reuther gave the same "selfless" statement, typical of so-called benefactors and dictators. He said the T-H law did not harm the big unions such as his, but it made it difficult for the little unions to organize the unorganized workers. It is the same line, "It is not for me that I do this, but for you who need help," etc., etc.

Although Reuther stated emphatically that both parties who sign a contract should live up to it, he would not answer whether or not his union is thinking of calling a strike against General Motors before their five-year contract expires.

He would not answer whether his union believes the T-H law is a "slave-labor" law.

He would not answer whether the T-H law should be amended or repealed, but said that argument was only using a bunch of words. But he left it to be understood that if every change demanded by the unions was made, then total repeal would not be necessary. So true!

TO THE EDITOR:

I think the proposal made recently in Malcolm Epley's Beachcombing column that some of those East Long Beach streets should be made one-way streets is a very good suggestion. Yours for progress.

He's a Know-It-All

When the films want a know-it-all actor for a know-nothing role, Eddie Mayehoff is their boy. Eddie's latest is over-eager MP in "Off Limits." Bob Hope-Mickey Rooney hit.

By Art Wilde

FIND A MAN who makes positive statements on any subject regardless of how sketchy his information might be and you've got the exact prototype of Eddie Mayehoff's screen character.

Mayehoff, an unusual sort of actor fellow who insists he enjoys the way he has been typed in movies, spent the better part of what he calls his "earnest years" searching for the right "type." Since the Mayehoff profile is definitely not suited for handsome leading man roles and yet not sinister enough for villainous parts, it became apparent quite early in his career that he must confine himself to real character portrayals. The character also must be a universal sort of Joe because in this way Mayehoff will be assured a steady income.

Eddie must have hit on the right character for his first screen role in the Hal Wallis production "That's My Boy." As soon as that Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis starrer was released fan mail writers started sharpening their pencils to clog the mails with approbation. A second Hal Wallis production followed called "The Stooge" and now Eddie's alter ego graces the new Bob Hope-Mickey Rooney service comedy for Paramount, "Off Limits."

"ALL THROUGH history," says Mayehoff, "there have been actual people to draw a character study from that fits 'me' to a T. Even in the great Caesar's day a 'Mayehoff' by the name of Cassius surveyed the situation, spoke authoritatively to a group of people and then loused up the Roman Empire."

"There are other examples of 'Mayehoffism' down through the ages," continued the actor. "Take the guy, for instance, who stood up at the court of Ferdinand and Isabella in Spain and delivered an impassioned address centered around the theme that the world was square. He sounded so convincing that everyone thought Columbus was nuts."

"To be a 'Mayehoff' doesn't necessarily require you to be masculine. Marie Antoinette charmed a whole country with her queenly grace until she dropped that unfortunate crack about eating cake. Up to then her courtiers hung on every word that escaped her lips like she was talking horse sense."

EDDIE stresses that most "Mayehoffs" are not great figures of history. There are millions of them in the world today, he says, and asks that we search ourselves for a little of the pompous, the rule memorizer, the self-righteous and the pedantic.

"Most 'Mayehoffs,'" says Eddie, "are basically pretty good people. They just like to hear the sound of their own voice speaking on important issues. If you can take the armchair general with a grain of salt, you actually can get a good laugh out of his pontificating. That's what I'm trying to do on the screen—create that kind of a character and at the same time supply the salt."

What's New in Carpets?

This delightful, casual carpet of all-wool is as attractive with that every-which-way look as when just vacuumed.

By Nancy Welsh

INNOVATIONS in carpet fashions — and there are many—may be seen this week when Long Beach merchants join in participation of Carpet Fashion Bazaar, an event national in scope which continues 10 days to April 23.

Throughout the event, stores will have special displays showing exciting new colors in carpets, longer wearing "miracle" materials, easier to care for weaves and a wide selection of beautiful patterns.

During the entire 10-day period, stores will also stress the important fact that better than ever values are available in carpeting.

The 1953 carpet fashions are double-featured — they have beauty, plus ability to take hard use.

New fibers and combinations of fibers, together with new weaving and manufacturing techniques, insure homemakers of better-than-ever appearance, performance and service from floor coverings.

THE FIBERS may be heavy duty sheep's wool from the world's mountain regions, versatile cotton, or man-made "miracle" fibers engineered especially for use in carpeting. A twist may be given to some yarns, a clip to others, or a loop here and there. Combined with Mother Nature's favorite colors, the result is a 1953 collection of infinite variety — for every taste as well as every budget.

Carpet colors are from nature's palette this year — designed to bring the outdoors indoors. Earth tones from golden sand through coppery tans to warm wood and bark tones and on to deep bitter chocolate hues lead the parade. Moss and olive greens of grass and foliage appear in solid color carpeting as well as in patterns. New and refreshing, too, is a pale shade called sea foam, lettuce leaf, or apple jade.

Gold, once considered a decorator's color, is fast becoming popular, because of its versatility and quieting effect, this year with pale tones such as pearl or cloud and deep hues like charcoal and gunmetal.

ACCENT COLORS have been inspired by this year's coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. English scarlet and ruby, crown emerald and a clear blue that

Sound Dollar Plan Mapped by President

WASHINGTON — (A.P.). The Eisenhower administration is now launched on an economic policy it says will play a major role in battling inflation and producing a "sound dollar."

It consists of long-term instead of short-term financing of the national debt, the world's biggest financial structure.

The treasury took the new administration's first full step in long-term debt financing last week, when it announced the government will borrow one billion dollars between now and May 1 on a 30-year bond paying 3 1/2 per cent interest.

That was the longest term issue announced in 12 years. The response of investors will help determine how fast Secretary of Treasury Humphrey and his aides, Chief Deputy Secretary W. Randolph Burgess, move in raising new money and changing present short-term debt into bonds that will not mature for about a generation.

EVERYONE HIT

The new administration's fiscal advisors say short-term financing is inflationary and long-term is anti-inflationary. The national debt, they add, has grown so large that the way it is handled can be one of the major influences on the nation's economy. Inflation, in the form of price rises, hits every one's pocketbook, so that matter of debt management is everyone's concern.

Virtually all debt issues now outstanding have been put on the market since the late Franklin D. Roosevelt became president in the spring of 1933. The national debt then stood at 22 1/2 billion dollars. It is now 264 1/2 billion.

Plaza Fire Unit Plans to Change

Since completion of Lakewood Plaza annexation to the City of Long Beach is pending, County Fire Chief Cecil Gehr Saturday requested the Board of Supervisors to abandon plans to build a county fire station at 6205 E. Spring St.

He asked that the proposed Lakewood station be built, instead, at 23720 W. Malibu Rd., Malibu Beach.

New Handbags Put in Trash by Error

Rubbish men will get a welcome surprise when they open one of the boxes placed in the trash at the rear of the Jacob's Shoe Store, 5018 E. Second St. in the past four days.

An employee of the establishment threw away the box which contained seven new handbags valued at $28, police were advised Saturday.

Taking 'Voice' From State Dept. Urged

WASHINGTON — (U.P.). President Eisenhower was reported Saturday to be studying a new plan that would strip the State Department of all U. S. overseas information programs and the Point Four technical aid program for underdeveloped countries.

Administration sources said the plan is contained in recommendations made recently by a special presidential committee on government organization headed by Nelson A. Rockefeller.

It calls for creation of a separate Overseas Information Agency, including the Voice of America, to operate U. S. foreign information programs in the cold war. The move would cut approximately 10,000 information employees from the State Department payroll.

Under the plan, informants said the Point Four aid program would be shifted to the Mutual Security Agency. This in turn is expected to be reorganized into a new Foreign Assistance Administration that would administer foreign aid programs now handled by a variety of agencies and departments. The State Department now has more than 700 Point Four employees at home and abroad who would be transferred out of the department.

The Rockefeller committee's recommendations seem certain to gain Mr. Eisenhower's approval. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is known to favor ridding his department of the International Information Administration and the Point Four program.

Meet on Oil Import Curbs Slated by Ike

WASHINGTON — (U.P.). President Eisenhower soon will call a conference of oil importing companies and oil state governors to discuss the question of voluntary import curbs, informed sources said Saturday.

Although James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, denied reports of the pending meeting, an authoritative government source told a newsman that such a conference definitely is in the works. The source said Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams has written the governors, inviting them to meet with Mr. Eisenhower.

A date for the conference has not been set, but it is expected to be announced shortly. The source said Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay plans a preliminary conference with the governors before they meet with Mr. Eisenhower.

Gas Firm, Union Parley Monday

Southern California Gas Co. officials said Saturday they hoped a scheduled meeting Monday with striking CIO Utility Workers Union representatives would end the nine-day walkout.

The get-together will be their second joint meeting since the strike began on April 2. The first meeting ended without concessions being made by either side.

The union is seeking a 10 per cent wage hike and union shop. The company has offered a 5 per cent raise but has rejected the union shop proposal.

Cat Alarms Owner in Fire, Both Escape

A cat saved the life of W. T. Byrd, 59 S. Magnolia Ave., in a fire which virtually destroyed his frame apartment, he told police.

Byrd, a Downey aircraft company employee, said the cat awakened him Saturday and he found the apartment filled with smoke and flames. Firemen, called to the scene by neighbors, managed to save his wallet, which contained $54.

Plane Hits on Beach, Sends Bathers Running

SAN MATEO — (U.P.). The pilot of a crippled, single-engine plane crash-landed in the ocean off Coyote Point beach Saturday sending beach crowds scurrying. The pilot, Anthony Bellu, 27, Oakland, escaped injury.

Free World Defense Cut Shaping Up

By JOHN H. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON — (A.P.). The Eisenhower administration apparently is working out cold war plans designed to resolve the conflicting pressures of the free world's defense needs and the home front drive to balance the budget.

Several recent developments added up Saturday to evidence that a limited slow-down in Western defense preparations is in the making.

The first formal disclosures of the administration's new approach may come out at a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council in Paris in the next two weeks. Sec. of State Dulles and other U.S. representatives intend to take the line that the West is building for the long pull and not to meet a crisis in the next three or four years.

The U.S. approach has been threshed out in the National Security Council of which President Eisenhower is boss. However, it is understood that Eisenhower will have a final look at the overall policy before giving instructions to the U.S. delegation to the Paris meetings.

Meanwhile the NSC, which brings together the State and Defense Depts., the White House and other key government agencies, is reported to be working on the whole range of national policies to deal with the Communist threat.

Plaza No. 6 Move Starts to Join City

First move to annex Lakewood Plaza Unit No. 6 to the city of Long Beach will be launched Monday or Tuesday, Edward C. Weyer, 3097 Iroquois Ave., announced Saturday.

He said a letter bearing signatures of a number of residents of the new tract, located north of Spring St. between Studebaker Rd. and Palo Verde Ave., will be sent to Hal Leavy, administrative assistant to the city manager.

The letter will request permission to circulate formal petitions for annexation.

Weyer explained that the Plaza Unit No. 6 was in the process of being occupied when Units 3, 4 and 5 voted to annex to Long Beach.

He asked that other residents of his tract volunteer for the task of circulating petitions.

Identical vases with that magical Bristol overlay are owned by Mrs. E. J. Wightman of Cooper Arms.

YOUR ANTIQUES

Magical Satin Glass

By Ruth Reece

DURING the 16th Century the art of glass blowing was brought to perfection in European countries. The Venetians especially evolved new and artistic styles, which exemplified the craftsmanship of artisans of that period. Satin glass was one of the loveliest of all. The glass was blown into molds and while still hot, a coating of transparent color was applied. Another additional transparent crystal plating was then spread over the surface, after which the final covering of an acid vapor was added which made a satinlike finish; hence the term, satin glass, which has been used for all acid-finished products but not peach blow.

Mrs. E. J. Wightman of Cooper Arms, whose fine collection of glass and other art objects is much admired, has two of the finest pieces of peach blow anywhere. They are identical vases (illustrated) and have the Bristol overlay. Bristol is a magic word to the collector. Everyone wants his opaque glass to be Bristol, which was made at Bristol, England, as early as 1745. Mrs. Wightman's vases are hand-done enamel, with pontil marks. The basic color is cream, shading into exquisite hues of rose and pink, while the peach blossoms in the decorative pattern are pink with shadings of yellow and gold. Originally brought from England, Mrs. Wightman purchased them in Vancouver, B. C.

WHILE ON A VACATION, Mr. and Mrs. Wightman visited several authentic antique shops in the east, and when in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., they learned that Eric Ryan, a famous and very exclusive antique dealer in Hyde Park had on consignment some rare treasures which had come from the home of the late Mrs. James K. Roosevelt, mother of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt; also a few objects d'art from the home of J. C. Carey Sr., one of the founders of Tuxedo Park, in which the Hyde Park estate is located.

Through influential friends the Wightmans were invited to see the articles and purchased the collector's items. One is a Roudolstadt Cupid flower holder of French bisque and porcelain (illustrated). It stands about nine inches high and is of a delicate pink coloring shading to pale yellow. This was from the Carey collection.

The other item is a Colebrookdale vase of 17th Century hard porcelain with hand-applied flowers. They consist of pink carnations with a single large pink rose. This came from the Roosevelt home. Both have been acclaimed by experts to be very fine and beautiful pieces of 17th Century art. The Carey vase is believed to have been made shortly after 1600 in Germany.

face interest without a definite pattern. There are a range of texture weaves such as a rugged tweedy look or a casual wind-blown air. Ribbed effects that wear well under the heaviest traffic and nubs or staccato dashes of color add a new look. A salt and pepper weave that resembles herringbone is smart in black and white, brown and natural, or moss green and natural.

Different colors have been braided into the long, shaggy tufts of one carpet to create the effect of a field of heather, the colorful desert or a jonquil-dotted meadow. In one new floor-covering, loops of various heights and sizes made of tightly twisted boucle yarns call to mind masses of clouds, but the carpet is sturdy as can be.

FOR THOSE who like patterns, there are many, ranging from fresh-as-spring florals and scrolls and leaf motifs to contemporary versions of the ancient Greek Key design and interesting abstracts. In many of the florals, twist yarns — yarns that are made of strands in different hues — or vinyl plastic yarns have been used to give a look of texture and in some cases even of carving.

Throughout the area, retailers are featuring the dramatic new carpets in colorful window displays and interior exhibits. Awards will be made by the Southern Floor Covering Club to the retailer having the outstanding window display in three classifications: Downtown stores, furniture stores and specialty shops.

Wallace No Leader Now, Just Farmer

HENRY WALLACE

A Lecture for Georgi (Editor's Note: What has happened to Henry A. Wallace, one of the most controversial figures of the New Deal-Fair Deal era, since he left the political wars? AP Newsfeatures Staff Writer Charles Mercer went up to Wallace's New York state farm to find out how the former Vice President is living in busy retirement. Here is his report).

By CHARLES MERCER

SOUTH SALEM, N. Y. — (AP). Throughout the gray afternoon Henry A. Wallace had no ill to say of any man—except Georgi Malenkov.

A farmer now, Wallace is more interested in discussing eggs than politics. He is trying to breed a better hen which will produce a better egg.

Yet the din of the political wars still echoes over his hilltop farm. Wallace watches and listens through newspapers, television and radio. He smiles—and then he goes out to take a look at his chickens. While it appears unlikely that any trumpet will sound recall for the gray-haired Wallace, it appears just as unlikely that he would respond.

At 64, he is a good example of a man who lost a political race and won the longer race against time and discontent. He is doing what probably half the city men in the nation want to do: living on a farm, enjoying the seasons. He has a spacious home, stocked with good books and comfortable chairs, where he lives with a pleasant wife who obviously is as devoted to him and his way of life as he is to her.

WOULDN'T SWAP

Doubtless many a political leader would swap places with him right now. But after a half-day's conversation with him you conclude that Wallace would refuse to swap for any political office in the land. He's plainly happy.

Only once did the sword flash in the serene library of his big white farmhouse. That was at the mention of Stalin's Successor, Malenkov. Then the quiet farmer was gone and there leaned forward the fiery, controversial political leader who always spoke out boldly.

"No person can base a program on hate and force as Malenkov seems to be doing without—if he lives long enough—reaping Hitler's end."

He set down his cup of tea, as if—though a teetotaler—he had drunk of stronger drink.

"I am just as certain now about Malenkov as I was about Hitler in 1941—if he continues what seems to be his present program. If he follows the policy of holding onto the satellites by force and fear, the result eventually will be ATTENDANCE WAS ESTIMATED at 3500 at Municipal Auditorium Saturday night for a dance festival sponsored by Long Beach Folk Dance Co-operative and city recreation department. Hundreds of dancers from all over California participated.

REMEMBERS 1948

Wallace looked out at the rain which shrouded the hills of this rolling country. Perhaps he remembered the days in 1948 when, as the Presidential candidate of the Progressive Party, he keyed his campaign to friendlier relations with Russia. Perhaps he remembered his bleak disillusion with the Soviet government after the outbreak of the Korean war.

"The only possible way Malenkov and his close associates could survive in power," he said, "would be if they worked out some kind of good neighbor policy with their satellite nations instead of their present master-slave relationship. Malenkov has a short time in which he could, without losing face, change Russian policy into the direction of genuine peace."

But if Malenkov continues on what seems to be his present course, said Wallace, "there is a moral law in the universe operating against him. It has been demonstrated again and again that second and third-generation dictators cannot long survive."

SOCIAL REGISTER EASIER

Need References for Trim by Barber to Millionaires

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK—(AP). In many ways it's easier to get into the Union League Club or the Social Register than it is to get into the chair of Robert Hefter, the "millionaire's barber."

It's not just a question of who you are or whom you know. It's also a matter of personality. Your personality, Hefter won't change his.

He won't cut your hair without an appointment one or two days in advance. And you won't get an appointment without references from two old customers.

NEED REFERENCES

You'll need references from men like Benjamin F. Fairless, board chairman of U. S. Steel; T. R. Vreeland, president of the International Bank; Elton Hoyt II, ore and transportation magnate from Cleveland, Ohio; Dan Arnshein, the taxicab tycoon; Albert Spalding, the violinist; Arthur Hays Sulzberger, president and publisher of the New York Times; or Gilbert Miller, the theatrical producer.

If you don't like conversation, don't come in. Hefter, at 74, is an aggressive talker. He permits you your opinions and even allows you to express them. But don't try to change the subject. He is determined that you hear him out—on politics, economics, philosophy, morality or sex.

KIDS CUSTOMERS

"Also, my customers have to take some kidding," says this thin, erect, white-haired master barber. "Now and then, if a man forgets his wallet, I call him a cheap-skate even if I know he has eight million dollars."

"Also, I tell him jokes and I tell them about my love life. Of course, I have to make most of it up, but they don't care."

Now, about shaves. Hefter won't. He'll turn you over to an assistant or tell you to shave yourself at home. This is one of the ground rules. Hefter regards shaving as a waste of his talents.

"The secret of my success," he explains, "is that I cut a man's hair with his wife's taste in mind. She knows more about it than he does. Women don't like to see their husbands looking like they just came out of a barber shop. I never, never use clippers."

Another secret of his success, Hefter says, is his attitude towards his clients.

"The more natural you are, the bigger success you are," he says. "The more you feel yourself their equal, the more they respect you."

All this has paid off handsomely in a rare and lucrative clientele. Among others, Hefter has cut the hair of President Theodore Roosevelt, President William Howard Taft, Andrew Carnegie, F. W. Woolworth, Andrew and Richard Mellon and Henry Top-

Hefter charges $1.50 for a haircut, which is moderate in mid-Manhattan. But his tips average $1 or $2 a head, many are $5 and $10 and once he received $100 for a trim.

SUPER-SECRET AND SUPERSONIC

Edwards Base Testing Many Hush Airplanes

By JACK QUIGG

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif.—(AP). Right next door to Nevada's Yucca Flats—as the jet bombers fly in this atomic age—is the super-secret, supersonic laboratory of the U. S. Air Force.

While the atom scientists in Nevada test the A-bomb again and again, it is at this sprawling base here in the heart of Southern California's barren Mojave Desert that other scientists and military men are testing and retesting a companion weapon, the hush-hush flying laboratories that some day may make possible plane speeds of 20,000 miles per hour or better.

Operations at this, the Air Force's most secret base, necessarily are cloaked under the strictest security. This is the home of the Air Force Flight Test Center. Its mission is to insure that America's planes and equipment not only equal but exceed the effectiveness of any enemy in this time of jets and atoms. Prototype models of every Air Force plane now in operation have been proved here before being mass produced.

WORLD'S LONGEST

Each morning in the clear still hours after sunrise plane after plane soars up from the seven smooth miles of sunbaked clay which makes Rogers Dry Lake the world's longest natural runway. Soon the sky is criss-crossed with chalky vapor trails as the craft, many so high they are invisible, are put through their paces.

Although testing aircraft is the main business, Edwards conducts nearly a score of collateral test projects. It takes some 5000 persons—half military personnel, half civilian—to make the big base hum. Since the war it has become a city, with housing projects, a post office, shops, a bank, theaters and gymnasiums.

A dozen years ago this place was wasteland. The only installation was a small Army Air Corps camp on the edge of Rogers Dry Lake, sometimes called Muroc Dry Lake. The site, used occasionally as a bombing range, came to life on week ends when hot-rod enthusiasts made the 100-mile trek from Los Angeles to conduct speed trials on the matchless lake bed.

BILLION IF BUILT

Col. Fred J. Ascani, deputy for operations at the base, describes the 13-by-5-mile lake bed as a "God-given thing that would take man many years and at least a billion dollars to duplicate."

It is not only the world's longest runway, he says, but its unpaved clay surface is absolutely smooth and capable of bearing aircraft of any gross weight. And that's only half of it. Nature re-surfaces Rogers annually for free —by means of a migrating mud puddle.

There have been 360 emergency landings on the strip in the last five years. Ascani himself has made three of them. He says several lives and $200,000,000 worth of aircraft have been saved in emergency landings which, at tempted on a lesser field, might have ended in tragedy.

There have been fatal crashes, however. The base is named for Capt. Glen W. Edwards of Lincoln, Calif., who was fatally injured in the 1948 crash of a YB-49 Flying Wing.

FIRST JET FLIGHT

Rogers Dry Lake was the scene of the first flights of the nation's early jet aircraft. The F-80 Shooting Star, the F-84 Thunderjet and the F-86 Sabre, bane of MIGs in Korea, all had their trials here. So did the B-36, giant intercontinental bomber, and the B-45 and the B-47, new jet bombers.

Award Given at Luncheon of Company

David Feuer, Long Beach sales manager of Insurance Securities, Inc., played host to Southern California representatives of the company and their wives at a luncheon and luncheon at the Lafayette Hotel Saturday.

Raymond H. Miller, director of agencies, of Oakland spoke on the "Mathematics of Money."

Robert Baxter of San Diego was awarded a leather sales kit for producing the most business of any salesman in California during March.

Feuer stated that the total assets of Insurance Securities, Inc., now exceed $72,000,000. Forty-five salesmen work under direct supervision of the Long Beach office. There are 145 salesmen in the state.

Wins Business Award

Part of His Training

MAN WITH UNMENTIONABLES

Dwayne's Doing Fine in Lingerie Section

WOMEN CUSTOMERS once looked twice when they saw Dwayne Lender, 23, behind the lingerie counter at J. C. Penney store here.

"Now they are accustomed to buying their nightgowns, slips and other dainties from a man," says Lender.

The young salesman is working among the unmentionables as part of the store training program. He started with the firm five years ago as a warehouse helper.

Then he moved progressively to the shoe, yardage and drapery sections.

Lender is "doing fine" in the lingerie section, say his superiors, and has actually outsold the women clerks. The young salesman, who is married and the father of a young son, welcomes his present stint.

"It gives me an opportunity to learn more about merchandise and what the customers want."

"At first, our women customers were embarrassed and surprised to find me behind the counter. They've gotten over that and, in fact, seem to regard me as an authority on merchandise rather than just a salesman. Some of them figure that I'm a buyer."

Lender, who works hard at selling, has one big ambition—to be manager of a store before he's 30.

Desk Does Double Duty

Nineteenth Century classic "lady's desk" is inlaid with gold-tooled leather.

NOWADAYS, one need not confine the using of one's desk to those sporadic periods when one pays the monthly bills, or when one answers the note from Aunt Jenny. A desk can be an often-used article of furniture — and for many more purposes than the conventional ones.

A desk can double as a dining table, designer Edward Wormley proved when he created a slender desk measuring 30 inches in width and 60 inches in length. Two side leaves when raised extend the piece to 88 inches — a perfect length for seating six or eight guests. The back of the desk even boasts a recessed space for books and accessories.

Another desk recently created by the same designer has a section which pulls out from the width to also create a table surface for permitting guests to dine in comfort.

ONE MANUFACTURER who produces fine French reproductions has revamped an old French Provincial desk into a modern piece of many uses. Atop a conventional French Provincial unit with center section desk and side cabinets is a superstructure which has a center section of open bookshelves. At either side of the open bookshelves is a row of four deep drawers which can be pressed into service for even phonograph record storage.

Still another company has reproduced a 19th Century classic secretary with writing bed topped with grilled front doors concealing shelves for small ornaments (illustrated).

One concern shows a modern interpretation of a French Provincial piece that serves many uses in any room in the house. The small piece, actually a vanity-desk, has an open bookcase in front of the unit.

Distinctive is a new plank-top Macassar ebony desk. The ebony is contrasted with brass shields set in the side, and with the brass used for a stretcher.

Wrought iron is increasingly used for distinctive desks that serve many needs. Typical is a wrought iron, glass and marble desk which features trough-type bookends as part of the structure of the desk.

Completely different in appearance is one hanging-frame desk. The desk, which may be used in either living room or bedroom, has a particularly airy look because of the suspension of both the drawer space and the writing unit.

Casa Lois, beautiful Spanish style home of Mr. and Mrs. Miles W. Blaine of Palos Verdes, has undergone change to meet wishes of owners and give it rural Mexican atmosphere.

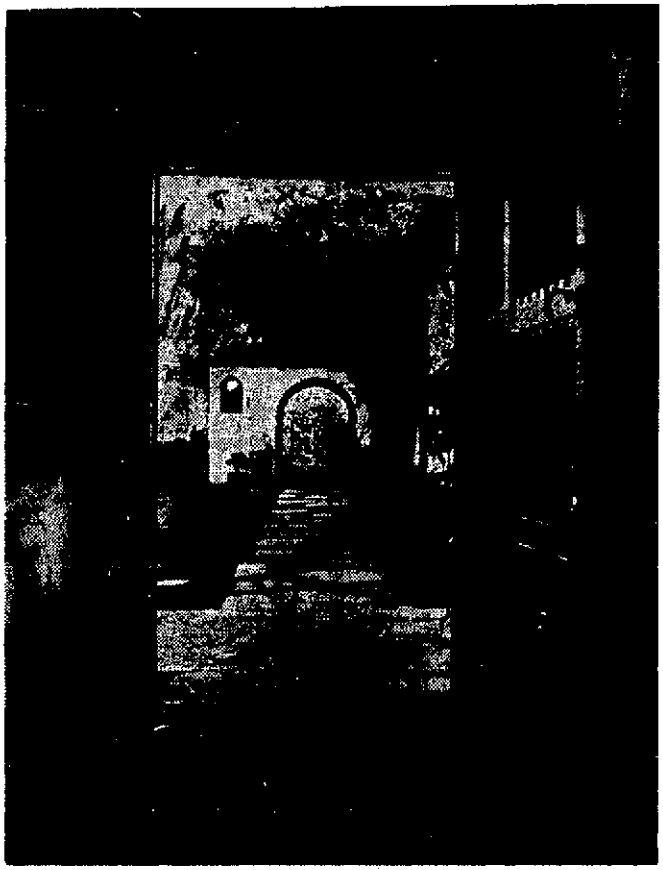

Tile-floored patio is definitely of Mexican flavor and a delightful place to relax. Gardens of the Blaine property hold many items to intrigue the visitor making a tour of the place.

Point of interest in the Blaines' living room is an antique majolica bowl and lavabo on an oak plank, hung above the piano. Flooring is handmade tile with imported tile baseboard.

REDOING their home to achieve as much of a rural Mexican theme as possible, Mr. and Mrs. Miles W. Blaine, 652 Via Del Monte, Palos Verdes Estates, seem to have accomplished almost the paramount in interest, charm and comfort.

The house is of Spanish-style architecture and was built under the direction of Kirtland Cutter, Long Beach architect. It was chosen for the highest award for design and execution of work by the American Institute of Architecture in Southern California in competition with residences of from eight to 15 rooms completed in Southern California in 1928 and 1929.

"The main point of interest in the living room is the antique majolica bowl and lavabo set attached to an oak plank which we have hung over the piano," Mrs. Blaine said. "We are using ewe and walnut only for the woods in the furniture.

The 19 by 35 foot living room has a handmade tile floor and the baseboard is of imported tiles. For draperies Mrs. Blaine selected German reed roller curtains without a valance and interwoven with chenille, as being most appropriate for the windows. The beams in the ceiling are tremendous and all hand-hewn.

The large davenport is upholstered in a material using green, red, blue and gold shades. One love seat is done in blue and two chairs in red with a blue flower design.

ALTHOUGH MRS. BLAINE believes her lavabo set is the center of interest in the room, eyes are also instinctively drawn to the huge painting of "The Beef-Eater" which hangs above the tremendous fireplace. The figure of the old

Red and green is the decorative scheme in the library. A Mexican glass lamp with red shade, copper articles sparkle.

Friends of Ailing Danny Launch Drive for Funds

Medical and hospital bills are piling up to a financial mountain for the parents of Danny Gallipo, the 8-year-old boy who suffered brain injuries when he fell 18 feet from the California Ave. bridge Mar. 29.

The boy underwent brain surgery and for the past two weeks has been in a semi-conscious condition at St. Mary's Hospital. Besides the medical and hospital care, three special nurses attend him.

The mounting expenses prompted friends to start a fund raising campaign in the family's behalf. Contributions may be made in care of R. A. Reed, vice president of the California Bank, it was announced.

Maj. E. K. Tobin of the Salvation Army said he also would re-

REGIONAL POLITICS

Kerr Visit, Council Filings Pep Politics

BY THE LOOKOUT
Political activity will hit a new off-year high in Long Beach the coming week. Sharing front-stage interest will be the Democrats' Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner Monday night when Sen. Robert S. Kerr speaks, and candidacy filings for Eighth District City Councilman to fill the seat formerly held by County Supervisor Burton W. Chace.

The Council is slated to declare Chace's seat vacant on Monday, an action that will set in motion the machinery for selection of his replacement. Candidates will have four days in which to file their declarations, and four days later to complete the petitions which will put their names on the ballot at a special election.

That means decisions must be made in the next few days by numerous Eighth District residents who have been considering making the run for the council job. Those who have said they intend to run include Glenn Hughes, Ted Cruchley, J. Stow Carney, John L. Kelly, Robert Dillard, George Ewell and Frank Fitzgerald. The list of "possibilities" includes Bert Galleher, Asa Fickling, E. T. Sauter and Clarence Layden.

BIG DEMO AFFAIR
Democrats are primed for a big turnout at their first local Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, to be held at the Wilton Hotel Monday at 7 under sponsorship of the Long Beach Co-ordinating Council of Democratic Clubs.

Sen. Kerr of Oklahoma arrives in Long Beach at noon today and will hold a press conference at 1 p. m. at his Wilton Hotel suite. He will attend a coffee hour at the First Baptist Church this evening and will speak at the church at 7:30. Monday he will tour the Long Beach harbor, meet with labor and Democratic Party groups, and conclude his visit with the speech at the Wilton.

In addition to his political activities as a Democratic United States senator, Kerr is the head of large oil operations and his visit will be watched with interest because of reports his firm, Kerr-Magee, may be considering the Long Beach area as a possible field for its operations. Kerr will leave by plane for Washington after Monday night's speech.

Democratic committees pushed ticket sales intensively last week and expect to have 500 at the tables when the senator speaks.

MADDY TO SPEAK
Alvin Maddy, executive secretary of the Long Beach Harbor Commission, will discuss the local harbor development in a speech before Long Beach Young Republicans scheduled at the Officers and Executives Town Club Tuesday evening.

The junior GOP organization is staging a drive for members and is featuring special interest programs as a part of the effort.

EX-COMMIE TO SPEAK
Bart Lytton, who was a friendly witness at the Un-American Activities Committee hearing in Los Angeles, will speak at Houghton Park clubhouse Monday, Apr. 20 under sponsorship of the North Long Beach Council of Republican Women.

The event marks the annual awards program of the essay contest for Jordan High students, sponsored by the council. The meetings start with a legislative session at 11 a. m., coffee hour at 12:30 p. m. and the non-partisan program with Lytton as speaker slated at 1 p. m.

Man Found Dead of Bullet Wound

Robert B. Huddleston, 62, of 5737 E. 13th St., was found dead of a gunshot wound in the head in a downtown hotel Saturday. Police said it was suicide.

The body was discovered by a maid, Lillian Ridendark, who called the hotel manager, L. S. Caldwell.

Caldwell said Huddleston had checked in at the hotel Wednesday. He said he had tried to rouse Huddleston earlier in the day, but had presumed him to be asleep.

Police said Huddleston left a note, but that it gave no reason for suicide. The body was taken to Mottell's Mortuary.

Clubs Favor Program for City Beauty

Thirty-four organizations throughout the city have endorsed the "Long Beach Beautiful" campaign being sponsored by a group of local women, it was announced Saturday.

Two of the women sponsoring the campaign, Mrs. Herbert E. Waite and Mrs. Helen Stanley Forker, now are on a nationwide tour, studying long range beautification programs adopted by other major U. S. cities.

They plan to report their findings to the City Council upon their return.

The following organizations have endorsed the "Long Beach Beautiful" campaign: The Presidents' Club, North Long Beach Republican Club, Music Teachers Assn., Little Club, Women's Organization of the Grace Methodist Church, Junior Philharmonic Assn., Women's City Club (parks and recreation committee), Junior League of Long Beach, Executive Secretaries, North Long Beach Women's Club, Jewish Women's Council, Elders' Club, League of Artists and Students, Alamitos Bay Garden Club, Dianas Club, Long Beach Garden Club, Democratic Women's Study Club, Women's Pan-Hellenic Societies, Alamitos Library Assn., Assistance League.

Long Beach branch of the auxiliary of the Los Angeles County Medical Assn., 18th Congressional District Federation of Republican Women, University Women's Club, Long Beach Children's Theater, Auxiliary to Children's Hospital, Council of Republican Women, Allied Arts, Friday Morning Discussion Club, Sister Kenny Auxiliary, Patrons of City College, Retail Druggists Assn., Auxiliary, Rainbow Girls, Progressive Business Women's Club, Toga.

$100,000,000 VENTURE . . . Lakewood's Huge Business Center Is Still Expanding.

Ike to GOP Fete

WASHINGTON—(UP). President Eisenhower has accepted an invitation to speak at the fifth annual $100-a-plate dinner of the New York State Republican Organization in New York May 7, the White House said Saturday.

Candles Light Red Cross Director's Korea Office

Living conditions with American troops in Korea are just about on a par with a hunting trip in the West, according to Thomas E. Campbell, 1059 E. First St. He is field director for the American Red Cross with the 179th Infantry Regiment, 45th Infantry Division.

"I live in a box tent which is also my office," wrote Campbell to Roland R. Bach, manager of the Long Beach Chapter of Red Cross.

"Candles are the most reliable source of light," said Campbell, "because the generator breaks down in spite of all the military can do to keep it running."

"Although the military sometimes performs miracles to insure the comfort of the servicemen, the elements and the terrain often are too much to cope with."

When the regiment is in the front line, servicemen cannot be called from their positions to go to the Red Cross office. "Then Campbell goes forward to the men."

"To get there," he writes, "we have to cross what is known as 'the mad mile.' It is in full view of the Communies and is 'zeroed in.'"

"The Communies just love to chase jeeps all the way across with mortar fire."

Campbell finds life in Korea is quite a contrast to his service in the U. S. Army in 1942 to 1943.

CENTER STILL EXPANDING

Lakewood's Giant Born in Beanfield

By BUD LEMBEKE

If you're in the exciting position of having 154 acres of bean fields in the middle of other bean fields, soon to be dotted with homes for 100,000 people, and if you have the plans and financing to build a $100,000,000 shopping center, there's a big decision ahead.

Developers of Lakewood Center came to the crossroads three years ago.

They could build stores as fast as contractors and subcontractors could be hired, rent space just as rapidly on a first come, first served basis, and cross their fingers, knowing that 50 per cent of new businesses fail.

Instead, they chose to pursue a policy in strict observance of nature's "survival of the fittest" law, but with less dependence on finger-crossing. They would lease only to merchants who had proved capable of survival at other communities, and they would emphasize balance—balance of retail shops and service shops, balance of placement in the center to attract maximum foot traffic past all stores, and balance of independent with chain operators.

STILL GROWING

With two years to grow on behind it, the center will reach a new high in expansion this summer and fall. The schedule:

Under construction—Lakewood Center Laundromat, Milton's Cleaners and Arlotti Shoe Repair, all three to open in June, and Armstrong's Nursery, to open in midsummer.

Work to start this spring—a 30-lane bowling alley and 24 chain and independent stores and shops for which 60 per cent of the leases have been signed.

Leasing now starting for 40 stores just south of May Co. building, for 40 other small shops and service establishments; some of the 80 to be occupied this fall.

Construction to start next year on a 200-bed hospital.

More than 2000 requests for information have been received from prospective tenants. Developers are looking for a large department store firm to locate on the southwest corner of the center, and for operators in other lines, who will thrive on the center's built-in competition.

"In an investment of this size, we can't afford business failures in the center," explained a spokesman for the developers. "We're partners with all the tenants through our system of percentage leases. The more business the tenants do, the more rent they pay."

THEY KNOW LINGO

Leasing is handled by three men who speak the same net receipts lingo as the merchants they contact. Joseph K. Eichenbaum, managing director of the center, owned a chain of department stores in Illinois, came to California to retire but couldn't bear to sit by a silent telephone all day long. Codirector Abner Parker owned a large chain of women's ready-to-wear stores in the East, while Don Rose, associate to the managing director, was an executive with eastern department stores for 17 years.

Developers spent more than a million dollars for site work and utilities, and $800,000 for a "hole in the ground" before pouring a single foundation at the center. The "hole" is a half-mile tunnel underneath the center's main streets mall. It acts as a horn of plenty for truck deliveries to basements of stores on both sides, eliminates the cluttered warehouse side essential at most stores and permits shoppers to walk along the mall without interference from truck or car traffic.

The investment is paying off handsomely thus far for owners and for the 19 tenants now located in the center.

"Our volume is 20 per cent greater than expected," explains Leon Silverman, partner in Hiram's Market. "We're second in volume among all markets in the state and we expect to be among the first 10 in the nation before long."

BUSINESS BOOMS

"Business is flourishing," says Peter Nitini, manager of the May Co. Lakewood Center store.

"Twenty-five per cent above our expectations," explains Sidney Hoedemaker, owner of Hody's Restaurant. "We plan to add a $25,000 banquet room very soon."

Merchants in the center have an ironclad guarantee against parking worries. Every lease specifies that two and one-half square feet of parking must be provided for every square foot of floor space in the store—adding up to parking for 11,000 cars when the entire project is completed.

To keep up with the growing trend toward shopping in the evening hours, the center is sprinkled with mercury vapor lights that place shoppers in the same league as outlanders at Wrigley Field as far as illumination is concerned. Each parking space is nine feet wide to prevent car door banging. A system of parking lane signals, controlled from the roof of May Co., soon will be installed, with a green light indicating open stalls down the line and a "full" sign eliminating wandering by motorists.

Attention to these "little things" is adding up to big business at Lakewood Center.

Another point of interest is the Blaines' living room in this antique cadenza surmounted by a handsome mirror.

Englishman guarding the Tower of London is striking. . . And the antique credenza with its marble top which stands against one wall, with an antique mirror over it, also is a handsome piece. Upon this Mrs. Blaine has placed a tall French rooster of porcelain. Interesting lamps have been used in the living room—one is an old Venetian lamp of amber and wrought iron. Others are made from rare Tibetan jars of pewter. And a grandfather's clock which came down from the James Buchanan family has its place in this room also. The Mexican theme of the house is as strong outside as it is in. The gardens were originally made in Mexican fashion, with one garden situated within another. Here are more interesting pieces than a visitor could see in one afternoon—an orchard of Mexican fruit trees, replicas of the four seasons done in marble, a bird bath with a lifelike frog, old Mexican pots, giant bird of paradise plants, a formal garden, a flagstone walk, a statue of old Spanish friars in a wall niche, an old Mexican mirror near the entrance, a Della Robbia plaque, an angle in the patio with a tile floor, the stucco walls ornamented by a bolodero and whip with Mexican silver handles (brought from Mexico by Mr. Blaine), a 1934 bull fight picture, an old olla of red clay, an old Mexican table, Navajo rugs—and on and on!

THE BLAINES CALL their home Casa Lois (Lois being Mrs. Blaine's first name) and the name is in wrought-iron at the entrance to the property. There is a gate house and the gate itself was designed and made by hand for the house. A picture of Don Quixote and his donkey is done in tile by the entrance. A pair of turquoise-colored vases from France give a perfect touch of color.

If the flagstone path is followed around the house, the Chinese cocktail room on the lower level is reached. This room is done in black and red, with a black bar and black bar stools. A round coffee table is a set of beautifully carved Chinese tables. A Chinese hand-carved cabinet contains unusual pieces of art work brought from China by Mr. Blaine. Other pieces are about the room—an opium lamp, a water pipe, elephant tusks, a Chinese reed organ.

Furniture from a Chinese bed decorate the room also—these are of gold leaf and are over the doorways, over the mantel and over the hearth. The lamps are from Korea and Chinese actors' masks have been electrified so that the eyes shine.

Also on this lower level of the house there is a recreation room and a large amount of storage space, a maid's room and bath. The house has five bathrooms and five gas furnaces.

THE LIBRARY is another attractive part of the house, with green walls, a green davenport and carpet, built-in bookshelves and many bright

He's Hitting the Ball

By Helen Smith

WHEN Warner Bros.' first three-dimensional feature-length film, "House of Wax," starring Vincent Price and Phyllis Kirk, has its premiere in Los Angeles next Thursday, residents of this area may point with pride to a young man in the cast named Reggie Rymal.

Rymal, who lives at 5513 Castana, Lakewood, with his wife, Freddie, and 2-year-old son, Royal, plays the part of the wax museum "barker" clad in top hat and tails and sporting an elegant mustache of the period of 1900. In enacting his role in this horror thriller, Rymal uses a plain ordinary paddle-ball as a come-on gimmick.

Rymal started what is perhaps one of the most unusual careers in show business as a yo-yo demonstrator in Toronto, Canada, at the age of 15.

Most people are fortunate if they are able to make contact with the paddle once after sending the ball into space. Rymal has such perfect control he can operate several at once and has worked up a headline act that has appeared with Eddie Cantor on the Colgate Comedy Hour, the Spade Cooley Show, Bandstand Review, Art Baker's "You Asked for It," Desi Arnaz and his orchestra and many others.

His act is notable for its quickness of pace—both in the manipulation of the paddles and the glib commentary which accompanies it. The rhythmic pat-pat-pat of the ball as it is sent whooshing past a cafe patron's ear or flicks ashes from his cigaret is done with a superb light comedy touch. He climaxes his novelty routine by operating three paddles at one time, finally plopping three balls into his mouth at once for a laughable bubble-gum effect.

Besides filling engagements, Rymal has made many, many benefit appearances.

Rymal, in evaluating his career in show business, sums it all up with the remark, "It's really a lazy man's job—just hitting a little ball that comes back to you of its own accord."

Swimming Along to Age 70

Rain or Shine at 69 She Swims Each Day

FOR 24 YEARS come hail, sleet, snow, wind, fog, rain, or California's finest weather, Mary Brandenburg has gone swimming every morning. And that means EVERY morning. The only exceptions, she says, have been when she was enroute to Mexico by train—she has made seven such trips. But she always swam after she got to Mexico.

Whether it is an effect or a cause, she enjoys radiant health. No doctors. No medicine. "The only time I ever saw a doctor professionally was when a spider bit me on the nose," she relates, "but at that I kept on swimming."

MRS. BRANDENBURG, 5361 E. Ocean Blvd., will be 70 years old on Christmas Day, and April 1 finished her 24th year of daily swimming. She swims in either the ocean or Alamitos Bay, and prefers the bay. She swims between 6 and 7 a. m. because then there usually is no wind. She uses the Australian crawl exclusively, and her longest swim was a mile and an eighth.

In good weather, she swims across the bay. In bad weather she sometimes turns back at the ropes, a distance of 50 feet or so. She always wears flowers in her hair when she swims.

"I HAVE GONE swimming," she says, "when there was snow on the roofs of buildings and cars, when frost and snow streaked the lawns and flower beds. I have gone swimming when I could pick up sheets of ice on the puddles. It isn't especially colder to swim in winter than in summer. It's all in getting used to it."

Mrs. Brandenburg does not remember when or where she learned to swim. "It was back in Mexico or Texas," she says, "in the ditches, and we didn't have to be bothered with clothes."

FOUR YEARS AGO she retired after 19 years in the Long Beach school system, dividing her time between the Avalon schools and Long Beach City College. She taught Spanish, English, immigrant education and homemaking. She still teaches — gratis — nine naturalization groups in her home. She has accompanied 100 persons to Naturalization Court in Los Angeles when they applied for citizenship. She frequently visits the hospitals and in the past three years has obtained 100 pints of greatly-needed blood for county hospital and local hospital patients.

Tokyo Raiders Plan Reunion in San Diego

Surviving veterans of the first air raid on Tokyo in the dark days of 1942 will gather in San Diego for a three-day reunion beginning Friday.

Among the speakers will be James H. Doolittle, then a lieutenant colonel, who led the flight of 16 B-25 bombers from the Navy Carrier USS Hornet. The unprecedented take-off of medium bombers from a carrier ended disastrously; most of the crews bailed out in foul weather over China. One crew landed in Siberia and was interned by the Soviets.

But the Doolittle raiders gave a sorely needed lift to Allied morale, which had been lowered by a series of reverses in the Pacific. More than a score of the survivors are expected to attend the reunion, commemorating the 11th anniversary of the flight.

Save 23 From Fire WATERLOO, N. Y. (AP) Twenty-three bed-ridden patients, ranging from 80 to 97 years, were rescued Saturday from an explosion and fire that damaged the Seneca Nursing Home.

County Will OK Los Amigos Lung

Acceptance of an iron lung for use at Rancho Los Amigos is expected to be authorized Tuesday by the County Board of Supervisors.

In a letter to the supervisors, City Manager Samuel E. Vickers said the iron lung is being purchased by Long Beach with $2000 being donated by the officers and men of the USS Toledo. Under provisions of the city charter, the city cannot directly give the lung to the county, but can allow the county to use it. The iron lung will be delivered by the manufacturer in about a month.

County to Buy Compton Land

Purchase of two and nine-tenths acres of land in Compton by County Sanitation District No. 2 is expected to be authorized by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday. The property, owned by the County Road Department, is situated on the west side of Petrolia St. south of Olive St.

Plane Talk

By DON BRACKENBURY

NOW THAT THE VOTERS have approved the $3,500,000 airport expansion, much of it for an air freight terminal, the time has come to work for establishment of Long Beach as an international airport.

Traffic between here and Mexico has picked up tremendously in recent months. Bixby Airborne Products, for example, made 49 landings here in March, hauling in 350,000 pounds of produce from Mexico.

Sarge Richards of the airport staff reports that cargo handled at the local field, exclusive of scheduled air lines, totaled 150,800 pounds in January, 241,500 in February and 387,500 in March.

AT AIRCRAFT ASSOCIATES, Ed Perlis has been flying a number of charter trips to Mexico.

AND JIM CONROY of Long Beach Aeromotive reports that Antonio Lombardo, prominent Mexico City businessman, flew up with his converted Catalina PBX to have some work done.

IF THIS WAS Long Beach International Airport, customs and agriculture offices would be established here. Inbound flights no longer would have to make the extra stop at San Diego or Los Angeles for such service.

RICHARDS' REPORT shows a steady increase in passenger and cargo traffic by United and Western Air Lines in the first quarter of 1953. The two lines carried 2986 local passengers in January, 3645 in February and 4316 in March. Air freight was 10,170 pounds in January, 12,326 in February and 17,681 in March, while air express totaled 8537 pounds in January, 10,686 in February and 12,868 in March.

QUITE A CONTINGENT of Southland people will attend the annual Pacific Coast meeting of Piper dealers Tuesday and Wednesday in Sacramento.

John V. Baker, owner of Baker Aircraft Sales, flew the new Tri-Pacer up Saturday. Others from Baker Sales who will attend are Harvey Martin, Gretchen Zeiss, Alverda (Pidgey) Peterson and parts manager Bud Clow.

Leo Yoder of Aircraft Sales and Brokerage will attend if a Honolulu trip doesn't interfere. Johnny Martin, Orange County Airport; Earl Woodley, Compton Airport; and Howard Riley, El Monte, are other Piper dealers who will be present.

SEVERAL LOCAL fliers are taking part in the 12th annual Holiday on Wings, the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce flight to Furnace Creek, Death Valley, this week end.

We may be missing someone, but we understand that Mr. and Mrs. J. Lynn Brown (of Sky-crafters Aviation Radio) are flying up in their Ercoupe; Karl H. Bergey, who works at North American, is piloting his Piper Vagabond; Dr. and Mrs. Dick Toler are going in their Navion; and Dr. and Mrs. Don Truitt are flying their Cessna 195.

HAPPY TO REPORT that Hal Schneider, one of the best and most popular instructors in the Southland, has been designated an aircraft maintenance inspector by the CAA.

YOU'VE HEARD of the fabulous Sands Hotel? Well, one of the men affiliated with its construction, Max Kupperman of Las Vegas, was in town last week. He flew in to have Long Beach Aero do some work on his twin Cessna.

ANOTHER DOCTOR off on a flying trip is Dr. John Davis, who left Monday in his Navion to visit his native Oklahoma and also tour the south. He expects to be gone two or three weeks.

And still another is Dr. Phil Reames who, with his wife, is flying to the Flying E Ranch, Wickenburg, Ariz., via Piper Clipper.

ALREADY A MASTER of the speedway, Troy Ruttman, winner of the 1952 Indianapolis 500-mile race, soon will be a licensed pilot. Troy keeps his Cessna 190 at Scott Flying Service and Randall Scott says the race driver already is soloing. An injured arm, suffered in an auto crash last year, has kept him from passing the physical required for private license, but the arm is mending rapidly.

LOCAL RESTAURATEUR O. G. Carter winged his way to Lake Havasu, near Needles, in his Navion this week end for a spot of fishing.

VIA THE PUBLICATION, Air Force Times, we learn that Herb Lewin, airport manager here in 1940-41, has been promoted to major. He was in the 452nd Light Bomb Wing, recalled here in August, 1950, and sent into the Korean war. He now is an air installation officer at Beale Air Force Base.

DID YOU DETECT a note of pride in the voice of Dale McCullough, controller in the Long Beach tower, this past week? Could be. Mrs. McCullough presented him with a son, Michael, their fourth child.

STAN TRIMBLE, formerly with Air-Oasis Co., now is flying for Macco Construction Co. A Macco executive bought a Cessna 170 from Air-Oasis and hired Stan for good measure.

LAST WEEK we reported that Charles A. Strohacker, Merchant Marine engineer, had bought a Cessna 140. Today we have a postscript: Strohacker now has his private license.

DR. CHAN SAYS: NO LONGER MUST YOU SUFFER FROM ASTHMA-DIABETES HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

928 American Ave.

For the past two generations, the offices of Dr. Chan, D. C., located at 928 American Ave., have had outstanding results in treating chronic ailments such as ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, ARTHRITIS, NEURITIS, RHEUMATISM, HIGH OR LOW BLOOD PRESSURE, HEART TROUBLE, STOMACH OR LIVER DISORDERS, KIDNEY OR BLADDER AILMENTS, OR A GENERAL RUNDOWN CONDITION. Men and women from all walks of life come to take these treatments because other methods of healing have failed to help them. Many have spent a fortune in seeking care before they try this simple, effective natural method of Dr. Chan. Our patients tell us that they wish they had known of our wonderful treatments sooner so that their suffering could have been avoided.

READ THESE AMAZING TESTIMONIALS!

To Whom It May Concern: "The day I came to your office with my mother and brother I was about to give up hope of getting rid of my asthma attacks. I spent hundreds of dollars for shots and pills, but yet found no results. After reading your advertisement, I tried you for my last resort and was thrilled to find that I responded wonderfully. After the first treatment, I was able to breathe normally and could sleep better for the first time in months. Now I am feeling fine and hoping others will benefit from my experience with Dr. Chan's Natural Method."

Signed: Mrs. Virginia Murray.

To Whom It May Concern: "For over 30 years I have been going from one doctor's office to another hoping to find someone to help me with my asthma and stomach condition. No one knows how much I had suffered until I came to Dr. Chan. Night after night I had to sit up because I wasn't able to lie down to sleep. I was coughing and wheezing most of the night. Besides my stomach was full of gas. After taking Dr. Chan's Natural Method for one week, I began to improve. Now, after five months of continuous treatment, my asthma and stomach troubles are just about over. I wish to recommend this treatment to anyone who is anxious to get well. I am sure that Dr. Chan will do all he can to help you as he has helped me."

Signed: Mrs. Tina Smith.

Big Game Hunter

DOWNEY

EQUIPPED with gun and camera, Roy E. Weatherby, big game hunter, who resides at 7549 E. Fourth Pl., is off on another African safari.

After business trips to Norway and Germany, Weatherby headed for Nairobi and will hunt big game in Tanganyika, Kenya Colony, and Uganda. His party included Joseph Shaw of Los Angeles, and Col. Robert L. Scott Jr., author of "God Is My Co-Pilot." Colonel Scott was to meet them in Paris. Stops are scheduled in Athens, Rome and Cairo.

While in Africa, they will visit Zanzibar before Weatherby and Shaw return to Cairo en route to India, where they will hunt tiger and other animals native to the country in Gwallor, several hundred miles south of Delhi. Weatherby also will take motion pictures, including cities, towns and other scenes in the countries visited as well as hunting pictures. The film made on his last African safari four years ago has been shown throughout the country to raise funds for charities. A diary of his travels will be syndicated.

THIS WILL MARK Weatherby's second African safari and he has hunted in British Columbia, Alaska, Yukon Territory and for all types of game over the North American continent. He uses guns of his own manufacture and tests out his theories on these treks.

A native of Kansas, Weatherby's interest in guns dates from the age of 6 years, when he sold garden seeds to acquire his first air rifle, graduating to a .22-calibre gun at the age of 11. When the family moved to Florida in his youth, he hunted alligator in the Everglades.

Weatherby saw military service in World War II and when he left the armed forces in 1945 his hobby was gun making. He had written controversial articles in sports magazines that greater velocity and not larger bullets was responsible for increased killing power. He decided to put his theories to work and started a one-man shop in his garage. Today he has a $200,000 factory and sporting goods store in South Gate with big game hunting maharajas, film stars, and thousands of ordinary sportsmen as customers. He employs more than 40 persons.

WEATHERBY directs operations from an office adorned with trophies of his hunting prowess. A mural scene from the African veldt covers one wall. Of all the trophies—lions, gazelles, Cape buffalo, moose and many others—that may be seen on the walls of his office, show rooms, and his den at home, only the tigers were not brought down by him, and he expects to bring some home this trip. His kills of elephant, lion and buffalo with a single shot from his .300-caliber Weatherby Magnum astonished veteran hunters on his last safari. They were accustomed to double-barreled English .40 and .50-caliber rifles. Weatherby firmly believes that tomorrow's rifle will be one of high velocity.

Weatherby makes his home here with his wife, Camilla, and children, Diane, 9, Connie, 4, and Roy Edward Jr., 15 months.

HOW'S YOUR GARDEN GROWING?

Long Beach's best-known gardeners read Southland's garden pages religiously. They have come to know that experts write this news of planting and culture of plants that grow best in this area. Turn to the garden pages now.

FASHION'S FAVORITES

Hourglass Figure

Black and white plaid forms camisole top of "Brigadoon" by Catalina, with fabulous fit in camouflage bra styling. Charcoal grey heatherstone lastex makes the boyish shorts with turnback cuffs and self-belt. Note camisole may be worn inside or outside shorts.

There's a new kind of suspension in swimwear from California that would make bridge builders blush with envy. It relates to the newest look in beachwear you'll see on the Long Beach strand come summer—the hourglass figure. Shades of grandmother's smelling salts! If there aren't stays to make tomorrow's curves out of today's angles—and what's more, this amazing sorcery is accomplished in silks and satins that were never so aquatic! This rounded, curved look is achieved by "sculpturing" yards of flat fabrics into a three-dimensional mold with the bosom high and rounded, the torso long, and hips slim and willowy—smoothed down or provocatively emphasized. The sleek, lean lines of the sculptured swimsuits are cued by decisive drapery at the bustline and hips.

The hourglass! "Champs Elysee" from Kay Carter's "Queen's Jewels" collection for Caltex. Ballerina dressmaker, maximum flattery for maximum figures. The pinafore is printed cotton.

For sun or sea . . . Caltex glamour suit of Italian hand-crocheted straw banding, its cape a dramatic circle. Another striking Kay Carter design.

A Bird in the Hand Is Worth?

IF YOU ASK the George Cushman of 2086 Oregon Ave., a bird in the hand is . . . work. This scalawag is one of four tiny peepers which fell out of a wind-tossed tree and turned the Cushman into bird-sitters. The baby orioles demand meals every two hours, both a. m. and p. m.

Reburial Rites for Sitting Bull

Name Career Diplomat General's Political Aide

Bird-Sitting Makes Couple Late to Dance

Mr. and Mrs. George Cushman, 2086 Oregon Ave., were late for a church dance Friday night, but at least they had an original excuse—they were baby bird-sitting.

Just as they were about to leave for the dance, 7-year-old Tommy Cushman found a nest in the front yard, evidently blown down by high winds from a tall tree in the yard. Four tiny orioles, a day or so old, were sprawled nearby.

With this discovery, the dance was temporarily forgotten. The Cushman brought the birds inside, then went out in back where the family, including Mrs. Cushman, formal gown and all, scrambled in the dirt for worms.

Tommy finally found one and—don't read on if you're squeamish—chopped it into bird-size bites. Mrs. Cushman earlier had given up the search and scraped meat off the family's Sunday steaks, so the undersized chirpers had dinner.

Raising the birds, which seem to be orioles, is going to be Tommy's job, and with them, his hands will be full.

He already has a cat, four kittens, a dog and a hamster.

Three Boy Cyclists Killed by Automobile

PAINEVILLE, Ohio—(U.P.) Three young boys, sitting on their bicycles along a country road, were mowed down from behind and killed Saturday by a careening automobile.

The Lake County sheriff's office identified the victims as Peter Paul Allen, 12, and his brother, Frederick William, 9, sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Allen; and Daniel Jack Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Jack.

STRANGE BIOLOGICAL FORCE?

Smaller Families May Be Reason for More Cancer

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK—(U.P.) Our smaller families may be a reason why cancer is becoming more common.

Dr. Leonell C. Strong, Yale University geneticist, finds mysterious evidence that this can be so. By having fewer children we seem to be concentrating some human susceptibility to cancer.

Dr. Strong proposes human studies of this question. If some strange biological force is involved, a new approach to control of cancer might be found.

One bit of evidence comes from studies of mice and their susceptibility to a form of cancer induced by chemical treatment. The age of the mother mouse at the time she gives birth affects the susceptibility of her young to this form of cancer, he finds. Mice born when the mother is young have a greater susceptibility.

This susceptibility is increased if first or second-born mice are mated with each other. The force which makes them more likely to get cancer becomes concentrated or cumulative.

This kind of concentration of susceptibility may be occurring in humans. Present-day families usually have only two or three children, rather than four, five six or more as in years ago.

Smaller families mean there's greater chance that you'll marry someone who also comes from a small family and less chance that a fourth-born child with less possible cancer susceptibility will be marrying a fourth-born or sixth-born person from another family.

This would mean that biologically we are becoming more and more uniform, concentrating the cancer susceptibility. What this question. It might be something transmitted by genes, the units of heredity, by chromosomes or something else in germ cells.

There are similar still-mysterious biological forces. One is illustrated in the way the human race maintains a fairly average size, as pointed out by Sir Francis Galton, the great British scientist of the 19th century.

If short people marry one another, their children generally will be taller than the parents, and more average in size. If extremely tall persons marry, their children on the average will be shorter.

FOXES A FOX WITH HAMMER

TRENTON, Mo.—(U.P.) Farmer Carrol Shatto scored with a hammer throw using a plain claw hammer.

While doing some work on a pasture fence, his dog got into a fight with a fox, which later turned on Shatto.

Shatto threw his hammer, hitting the fox squarely on the head to kill the animal.

Scouts Get Ready for Big Jamboree

True to their motto, nearly 50,000 Boy Scouts and leaders from throughout the nation, American possessions and 17 foreign countries already are preparing for the National Jamboree at Corona Del Mar in mid-July.

There is little doubt that they will "be prepared" when July 17 rolls around.

Aboard 104 special trains from every state in the country, the young men and their leaders will begin arriving at Southern California stations on July 13.

Train arrivals will be spread out over a four-day period so that the entire group will not hit the camp site at the same time.

At the site itself—the 3000-acre Irvine Ranch—staff members from Boy Scouts of America headquarters in New York have been working for two months readying the land for the campers.

TENTS GOING UP

Camping areas have been laid out, headquarters tents are under construction and volunteers have even gone over the ground with fumigants and sprays designed to rid the site of fleas, lice and other bugs and vermin.

The Scouts will bring with them all their equipment except cooking gear, dining tables and benches and headquarters buildings.

Boys, who must be at least 12 years old and second class Scouts will be divided into troops of 38 members each. The troop generally consist of Scouts from a particular section of the country.

The event, the third national jamboree in the history of the BSA, will have no set program. There will be three major campfires which will be attended by the entire contingent.

A Sunday convocation for July 20 is also planned. All Scouts will attend after they have taken part in the religious services of their own faith. Speakers at the convocation will represent the Mormon, Jewish, Catholic and Protestant faiths.

But the chief business of the jamboree will be the building up of good will and understanding among the many corners of the globe represented.

And what better method of attaining this goal than trading. Trading their native products for those of another state or land will occupy many hours.

At the last jamboree—held in Valley Forge, Pa. in 1950—the Texas delegates brought a carload of horned toads which, reports indicate, proved first class bait.

Although no touring will be done during the week's run of the jamboree, the four days before and after will be filled with trips to points of interest in this section.

Hollywood, of course, is high on the list of musts to see. Other trips will bring youths to Catalina, Hollywood, Lake Arrowhead, the local Navy yard—and the Long Beach Pike.

Just prior to the jamboree, some 2500 top Scout executives from the national will convene at the Staller Hotel in Los Angeles for their annual meeting.

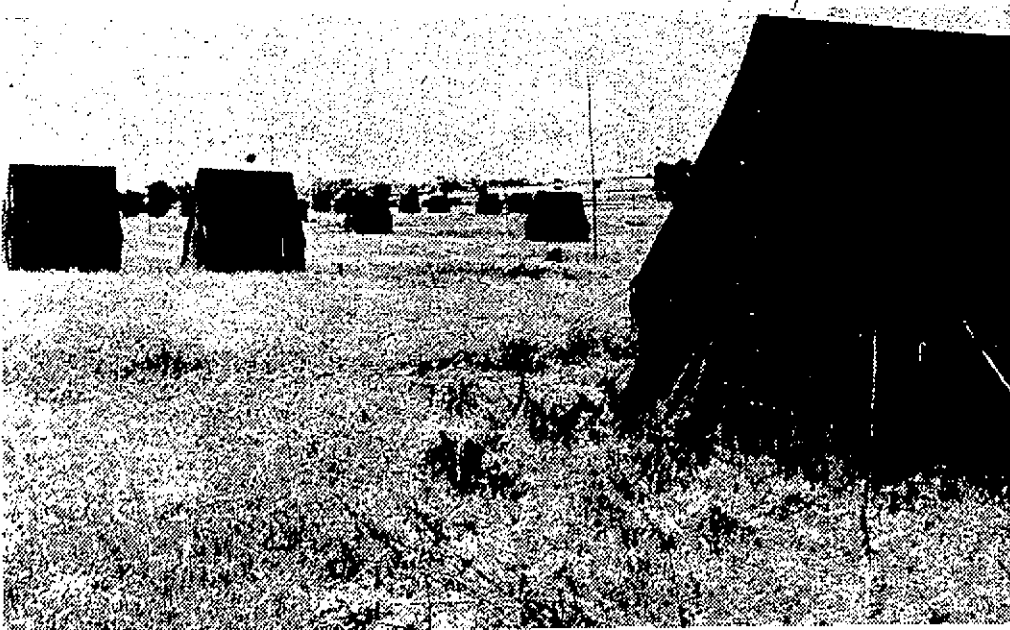

Then, the brass will adjourn to the Corona del Mar—Newport Beach campsite to take part in the jamboree. Scouting top names, headed by Chief Scout Executive Dr. Arthur A. Snuck, will be present.

As the Scouts stress demonstration rather than competition, there will be no organized games. One activity definitely planned will be daily swimming trips to the state beach near Corona Del Mar.

The huge job of supplying 50,000 mouths with their daily bread—and meat, milk and vegetables—is being arranged with area wholesalers.

Food will be sent in daily and apportioned out to the 15 sections of the camp which will be comparable in population to Santa Ana.

But at the jamboree, everyone will live in tents.

LATRINE TENTS at Boy Scout Jamboree site near Newport Beach are one example of tremendous detail involved in preparations for Scout assembly. Total of 1292 latrines will be set up for encampment of 50,000. Forty-five shower buildings and 5000 mess tables will be erected and 100 operators will be on duty at the telephone exchange.—(Staff photo.)

'Ramona' to Open Saturday With Same Leading Actors

DOROTHY BAILEY
Heroine of 'Ramona'

Members of the Roads to Romance Association are the first large party to make reservations to attend the opening performance Saturday of "Ramona," outdoor play in the Ramona Bowl at Hemet. The play will be repeated April 19, April 25 and 26, and May 2 and 3.

Two hundred members of the group will enjoy a barbecue at Gilman Hot Springs before attending the opening performance, starting at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. With schools and other organizations to send large delegations, a near capacity opening audience is anticipated.

Intensive rehearsals of the cast of 350 are being made to insure a perfect opening performance. Dorothy Bailey and Maurice Jara, who won acclaim in the roles last year, will play the hero and heroine.

Tickets for all performances may be had at Humphreys Music Store or by writing the Ramona Pageant Association, Box 218, Hemet.

Womans' Nude Body Discovered

SACRAMENTO—(AP) The nude and mutilated body of Mrs. Marjorie (Natchez) Summers, 37, Redding, was found Saturday in a west end Sacramento hotel room, with portions of both breasts hacked off by a sadist.

Coroner's deputies said the woman died after her neck was broken. Police were questioning a party of half a dozen men and women with whom Mrs. Summers checked into the hotel Friday afternoon. Officers said Mrs. Summers and two of the women arrived here recently from Reno, Nev.

The victim's husband, Lloyd Summers, was arrested Sunday on a drunken driving charge, according to sheriff's deputies. Summers now is serving a 100-day sentence in Sacramento County prison road camp.

With a Chinese Flavor

Mrs. Choy's Shrimp Egg Foo Young:

- ½ lb. fresh shrimp (cut in small pieces)
- ½ cup chopped ham
- ¼ cup fresh peas (cooked)
- 4 large eggs
- 1 green onion (chopped fine)
- Salt, pepper and oil.

Beat eggs slightly in mixing bowl with 2 teaspoons peanut oil and ¼ teaspoon salt.

Heat 2 teaspoons peanut oil in frying pan. Add ham and shrimp, stirring constantly until shrimp are cooked. Add peas, green onion, dash of pepper, and salt to taste. Mix ingredients together in bowl with beaten eggs.

Then heat one tablespoon peanut oil in clean frying pan. Pour in 2 tablespoons at a time of mixed ingredients and egg. Cook over low heat until slightly brown on one side. Turn carefully and cook until brown on the other side. Serves 4 to 5 persons.

By Mildred K. Flanary

Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

SOME LIKE it hot, some like it cold . . . Chinese food that is. Regardless of temperature, everybody applauds the knack the Chinese have for subtly combining colors, textures, and flavor to perfection in cooking. Chinese dishes seem to impart a sense of well-being in the eating, too, perhaps because there is such an aura of health in all those vegetables they use. And they taste wonderful!

But we don't have to stand on the sidelines to admire, for even the most simple of recipes smacks of Chinese ingenuity. And anybody can make them.

Mrs. Frank Choy, 1934 Atlantic Ave., has retained all the gracious charm of her ancestral land and the food blending ability of the Chinese woman, as well. Today we pass along the recipe for Shrimp Egg Foo Young which is presented separately for clipping convenience.

You'll want to try the following, too.

Fried Rice

- 4 cups cooked long grain rice (cold)
- 1 cup chopped ham
- 2 tablespoons peanut oil
- 2 eggs slightly beaten
- 1 green onion chopped fine
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 or 3 teaspoons soybean sauce

Heat oil in frying pan. Add ham and rice, stirring frequently and cook about 5 minutes. Add salt, dash of pepper. Keep stirring constantly until rice is thoroughly heated through. Pour in eggs gradually, add green onion and soybean sauce mixed well. Fry few more minutes. Serves 4 to 5 persons.

Pork and Apple Chop Suey

- 1 lb. boneless pork
- ¼ cup fat
- 3 medium onions, sliced

- 1½ cups water
  - 1 No. 2 can bean sprouts
  - 2 cups slivered celery
  - 2 tart apples, thinly sliced
  - Soy sauce to taste
  - 3 tablespoons cornstarch
- Cut pork in narrow strips about 2 inches long. Brown in hot fat; remove. Add onions; brown lightly. Return pork to frying pan; add water and liquid from bean sprouts. Cover; simmer 30 minutes. Add celery and apples; cook 10 minutes longer. Add soy sauce if desired. Dissolve cornstarch in a little cold water; add; stir constantly until thickened. Add bean sprouts; bring to boiling point. Serve with rice. Makes 6 servings.

Chinese Salad-Bowl

- 1 (1½ cup) package pre-cooked rice
- 2 cups cooked green peas
- 1 can water chestnuts
- 1 can bean sprouts
- 1 head Chinese cabbage or escarole
- ¼ cup mayonnaise
- ¼ cup sour cream
- 1 teaspoon celery seed
- 1 cup roast pork cut in thin strips

Cook rice according to directions on package. Chill; place in salad bowl. Add peas. Drain water chestnuts; slice; add. Drain bean sprouts; add. Tear cabbage or escarole leaves into small pieces; add. Combine mayonnaise, sour cream and celery seed; beat well; pour into salad bowl. Toss until all ingredients are well-mixed. Scatter strips of pork on top. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Here's a quick luncheon or supper dish in the Chinese manner, worth keeping a can of boneless chicken on hand for.

Delicious combination of shrimp, ham, eggs and vegetables in Egg Foo Young, being prepared above by Mrs. F. Choy.

Or use your leftover bits of chicken or turkey.

Oriental Chicken Almond

- 2 medium onions, sliced thin
- 2 stalks celery, cut in 1" pieces
- 1 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 3 tbsps. butter
- 1½ cups diced cooked chicken or turkey
- 1 bouillon cube in 1 cup water
- 2 tbsps. cornstarch
- 1 tsp. soy sauce
- ¼ cup chopped toasted almonds
- ¼ cup rice, cooked

Prepare vegetables and saute in hot butter until almost tender. Add chicken and heat well. Dissolve bouillon cube in water and blend in cornstarch and soy sauce. Add to chicken and cook only until thickened. Stir in almonds and serve over fluffy rice. Serves 4.

Another luncheon or supper dish, this one sweet and simple, is made like this: Poach eggs, allowing two for each hungry mouth. Place on a glass serving dish and cover with chopped creamed onions. Sprinkle with grated cheese and slip under the broiler to brown.

Kitchen Tip:

Mrs. Choy's Kitchen Tip: When using dried garden herbs in your salad, try soaking them in a little vinegar before adding them to your salad.

Bountiful Asters

By A. C. MacLeod

FOR A FLORAL BONANZA that is like getting 1000 per cent interest on your money, set out some aster plants now. These old-time favorites, the Bedding Plant Advisory Board points out, bloom so bountifully they are well worth a little special attention to secure good results.

To reduce aster troubles to a minimum, choose a sunny garden plot where there have been no asters, tomatoes or strawberries grown for the past two years. As a further precaution, fumigate the soil or sterilize it with kettles of boiling-hot water, to destroy any spores of verticillium wilt and aster yellows. Spray the plants regularly with a combination contact and stomach poison insecticide. These basic steps will open the way to full enjoyment of your aster bed.

Asters are grand for bedding, and just as useful for cut flowers. They are one of the top flowers grown commercially for cutting. Some of the little known varieties are Sunshine, a large showy single; Chinese Rainbow, a long-lasting cutting variety that has bright single blossoms of small size; Pompon, a very small button-flowered variety with excellent cutting qualities.

Good companion plants for an aster bed are hollyhocks or delphinium for the background and the tall ageratum Blue Perfection, tall phlox or Tom Thumb zinnia for a high edging. For a low border try lobelia, ageratum or dwarf begonia. But be sure to leave the robust asters ample room to grow and prosper.

Insecticide Has Many Purposes

One of the new liquid multi-purpose insecticides being marketed this spring contains lindane, malathion and DDD (dichloro diphenyl dichloroethane), a mixture which should control most of the garden's worst insects.

Lindane is effective on many problem insects (aphis, flea beetle, cucumber beetle, sod webworm, leaf miner, flies, mosquito, to name a few). Malathion will kill red spider mites, mealy bugs, crawler scale and definitely aids in this control of aphid and white flies. DDD, a close relative of DDT and lindane, complements lindane's action. It is used to control caterpillars and beetles. This three-way combination can be mixed with liquid lime sulphur fungicide to make a combination insect-disease spray.

When you see "well-rotted" manure recommended in articles on gardening, says garden expert Joe Littlefield, that means Red Star Steer Manure. It is thoroughly aged and free from weed seeds. Dig it liberally into flower beds and vegetable gardens. Spread it as a mulch on new and renovated lawns. New dichondra lawns grow together faster when you do this.

FEED DICHONDRA lawns Red Star Dichondra-Gro. Made for dichondra; contains castor bean meal.

Long Beach Philharmonic to Close Season April 30

Long Beach Philharmonic Orchestra will present its final concert of the season in Municipal Auditorium, Thursday evening, April 30.

Robert Resta, conductor, will present as guest soloist, Carol Brice, brilliant young Negro contralto, first of her race to win music's coveted Naumberg Foundation Award.

The daughter of a Congregational minister and a school teacher, Carol Brice was born in Indianapolis and grew up in Sedalia, N. C. Both of her parents were associated with the Palmer Memorial Institute, founded and run by her aunt, Dr. Charlotte Hawkins Brown. She was graduated from Talladega College in Alabama with a degree in music, later she received the Juilliard fellowship award, which was renewed for five years.

Tickets for the dance event will be $1.25 each, tax included.

78 to Take Part in Monday Show

Seventy-eight young dancers from Frances Bowling Dance Studio will present a program of tap, ballet and song-dance numbers on the Community Program, sponsored by the Recreation Department, in Exhibition Hall of the Municipal Auditorium Monday evening at 8.

Numbers will include: "Blues and Boogie" by Nancy Misener, Carol Craft, Suzanne Fulton, Pat Gohel, Bob Goldblatt and Bonnie Jenkins; Oriental cymbal dance by Barbara Wilson; Spanish cape dance Frances Bowling and Ronnie Jenkins; "Stairway to Stardom," song and dance by Shari Stennette; "Deep Purple," modern ballet by Suzanne Fulton; Russian dance by Bob Goldblatt; and the Corps de Ballet in "Tales from the Vienna Woods."

For the fourth consecutive year, Frances Bowling has been selected by the National Association of Dance and Amateurs, Inc., to be a member of the troupe on a tour of Houston, Chicago, Detroit, New York and Boston from July 11 through August 22.

Community singing will open the program at 7:30. George Griffith will lead with Eloise Ferguson, as accompanist. Old-time dancing with William Potter as caller will follow the stage program. Music will be furnished by: Adaline Tye, violin; Eloise Ferguson, piano; Lester LaVerne, drums; and Frederick Schaeffer, bass.

Lovejoy Just Pawn to Game of Chess

BURBANK — Frank Lovejoy is probably Hollywood's most ardent chess player.

Not only does he play it every spare minute while working in a picture, he also conducts games by mail. At times he has as many as eighteen tilts going simultaneously in different parts of the world.

Recently while starring in "The System" at Warner Bros., the actor revealed that one of his chess opponents is a condemned convict.

The man has been awaiting execution for almost three years and during much of that time has played chess with Lovejoy by mail—and has generally won.

Some time ago Lovejoy asked his chess adversary if he considered himself guilty of the crime with which he was charged.

"With so much smoke," wrote back the prisoner, "there must have been some fire."

Will She Rule Legion Meet?

Downey Girl Enters Race to Be Queen

An attractive Long Beach City College sophomore coed and Lakewood Post 496 were "first on the line" in a race to name the queen of the American Legion's state convention starting in Long Beach July 30.

First candidate for convention queen is Sarah Sellers, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Sellers, 11751 Coldbrook Ave., Downey. She is a member of Hahabharata sorority and Kappa, the latter an honorary scholarship and activity group, on the Lakewood campus and is a popular figure among her classmates.

Winner of the queen contest will receive a complete outfit of clothing of her own choice and will be given an honored place in a mammoth Legion parade and at other major convention activities.

Major basis of selection of the queen is a ticket sales campaign for a Memorial Day program and fireworks show on May 31 at Veterans Memorial Stadium. Legion posts throughout the Long Beach area will participate.

Announcement of the first entry in the contest was made today by R. D. (Bob) Cave, co-chairman of the show with Charles Glenn of Signal Hill Legion Post. The queen will be crowned May 27 at 8 p. m. at a Legion "blue cap" reception in the Wilton Hotel. The contest closes May 27. Entries may be made and tickets obtained at the Convention Bureau in Municipal Auditorium.

Meanwhile, in other phases of convention preparations, housing assignments are being made and plans for a more than six-hour parade are shaping up.

make relatively few demands on the caretaker.

Potted subjects may be used to excellent advantage when sunk in the soil in a window box. This is often preferable to planting the subjects because of the ease of handling. Removing a diseased or sick subject from a window box is an awkward job as the neighboring plants are so easily disturbed or uprooted. But a potted specimen is simply lifted from its position and replaced with a new specimen in a matter of seconds.

Unfortunately, the average home owner pays very little attention to decorating his porch or entrance way to the house. Potted plants skillfully placed along the exterior of a home will do wonders to tie together the house and garden. This tactic also adds color and life to what is usually a rather drab appearing scene.

Potted plants may also be used in the garden proper. They are quite valuable when the landscaping consists of several levels usually connected by steps or stepping stones. The necessity for tying together the various levels should be quite obvious. Potted subjects arranged on the steps accomplish this job nicely. Complementary tones should be used so the entire scene will harmonize.

BE CAREFUL when buying the pots or containers. Make sure they will blend nicely with their surroundings. Crockery is now available in many sizes, shapes and colors. You must guard against the colors clashing not only with the garden and home but also with the plants that are to be grown in them.

Keep in mind that potted specimens require a certain amount of care although possibly less than plants being grown in the outdoor garden. They must be fed, watered and sprayed. However, the soil need not be cultivated as frequently as general garden subjects. Too, it will be far easier to control the bug population.

Liquid plant foods are recommended for feeding potted plants. They are clean and easy to use.

What will it cost to fence your home?

• All you have to do is phone us and say, "Please mail me the free booklet that tells how I can fence my home." Select the style of fence you like best—tell us your choice, and tell us approximately how many feet of fence you'll need. We will then send you an estimate without obligation. The booklet also describes in detail the quality features of Cyclone Fence.

FREE!

Prove it to yourself! Bring this announcement promptly and receive absolutely FREE a fine get-acquainted bottle of genuine Widow Farmer's TRIO-CIDE (1 bottle per family, please!)

Convince yourself you can control all THREE out of one bottle.

Mildew is a fungus. Scale and aphids are insects, but vastly unlike.

Formerly these three required two or three kinds of spray. Now Widow Farmer's TRIO-CIDE gets all THREE.

Copper-coat your roses with it at once against ravages of mildew spores floating in the air. Note how it leaves foliage "shiny clean." Works in any spray. Note the acceptable odor, also how "easy" it is on your sprayer. Then in a couple days notice the aphids—DEAD IN THEIR TRACKS, UNABLE TO TURN LOOSE!

Watch worms, weevils, beetles or flies wriggle and die—also this is primarily a copper-oil spray, for fungi like BLIGHT, LEAF CURL, or BROWN ROT on fruit, trees or shrubs, BLIGHT SPOT or MIST on roses, etc. Save time and labor. Keep insects lined up right while you are "OFFERING" against fungus spores! Apply your "round, dormant or during leaf," when dormant use STRONGER. Check on all trees, including APRICOT.

TRIO-CIDE fills a long felt need for the small gardener who SHOULDN'T HAVE TO FUR-GEASE! A DRUG STORE OR CHEMICAL PLANT in order to raise a few things on his place!

OFFER EXPIRES SUNDAY APRIL 19, 2:00 P. M.

New Alyssum Wins Medal

By Walter Finch

BENEFITTING gardeners throughout North America, All-America Selections in the horticultural world bring dependable endorsement to approved flower and vegetable varieties to market after trials in widely dispersed growing areas.

New selections will perform as recommended, in the opinion of seed industry experts because, in the case of flowers, tests have been conducted for two years in 18 climatic and geographic sections of the U. S. and southern Canada.

Here is news of 1953 flower developments.

The easiest grown annual flower comes out for 1953 with its first new variety in 12 years—Royal Carpet alyssum. It is violet or royal purple in color and spreads flat over the ground to win the cherished

Silver Medal of All-America Selections.

For ground covers, low edging to beds and borders, for rock and wall gardens, Royal Carpet alyssum brings us a flat sheet of sweet, refreshing violet bloom. One can hardly see any foliage. The plants are covered with bloom and only two inches tall when full grown. Unless crowded, each plant spreads to 10 or 12 inches across.

Carpet of Snow is another of the same type of plant, except with white flowers. Violet Gem is of the same color, growing six or seven inches tall, but showing more green foliage and not such a solid sheet of color as the new Royal Carpet alyssum. It is striking and effective. Seeds may be sown right in permanent sunny locations at this time of year. Thin plants to six or eight inches apart. Royal Carpet should be in effective bloom within two months. Later plantings may be made until August or grown on through the winter if climate stays mild.

MOST widely grown flower is the petunia. And, now it's red, a rich scarlet red to bloom from spring until killing frosts. It's always in flower, on vigorous, bushy plants. Comanche is its fiery Indian name, a first generation hybrid which always comes true. Comanche petunia wins the Bronze Medal and only other award for new seed introductions of 1953. First comments were that here is a much better red petunia than the Gold Medal winner of 1950, Fire Chief. But Comanche fails to get a gold or platinum medal because Fire Chief was the first red petunia. Comanche petunia grows to about 15 inches tall and as wide unless crowded in the bed. Its hybrid vigor makes it stand erect and to hold its many bold, plain petalled flowers above the foliage in effective display. It is for widest planting use in bedding, low borders, row planting along walks or drives, in clumps for corners and niches, for pots and plant boxes. Comanche makes lasting cut flowers for arrangements. Petunia seeds are very small so should be barely covered or merely pressed into the soil surface, watered from beneath or with a fine spray not to dislocate the tiny seeds until they get a start. Seedlings may be pricked out with a pen knife and set an inch or two apart in another flat or pan, in small pots or in hotbed or coldframe when the first true leaves are formed.

At this time of year they may be transplanted to final location.

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING tips for the week. . . . A light cultivation after watering proves helpful in producing a soil mulch. Do not work the soil when it is wet; wait a few days until it appears friable. A soil mulch aids in conserving moisture.

Bare lawn areas should be re-seeded now. It is advisable to sow grass seeds in spring before the approach of hot weather. High temperatures make it difficult to keep the seed bed uniformly moist and thus seedlings die rapidly during the summer.

As the weather warms up bugs and pests will become more active . . . just like your plants. So step up your pest control program. Spraying about once every 10 or 14 days should provide a good margin of control.

NEW YORK — AP. After six hectic weeks of spring exercise in smoky meeting rooms and sunny ball yards, the major leagues finally are ready to open the baseball season with the Braves sailing in Milwaukee, Bill Veck's Browns still in St. Louis, the Yankees and Dodgers again favored to win the pennants.

Washington and Cincinnati will stage their traditional special openers Monday, preceding Tuesday's full eight-game schedule. The two-day program is expected to attract some 200,000 fans. It won't attract President Eisenhower, however, he will be going in Augusta, Ga., while Vice President Nixon attends to the job of throwing out the first ball at Griffith Stadium.

SELLOUT CROWD

Milwaukee's vest-popping pride in becoming a big league town will help swell the Tuesday total with a sellout crowd of 36,011, with a sellout of $5,000,000 County Stadium. Thousands of disappointed ticket seekers will have pointed their chance later to watch the displaced Braves as the new National League city aims at its goal of 100,000 paid.

One new city, Milwaukee, one new owner, August Busch of the St. Louis Cardinals; and one new manager, Fred Haney of Pittsburgh; add spice to the new season. There will be the usual sprinkling of rookies in the opening day lineups.

Here's the two-day opening schedule.

MONDAY

American League
New York at Washington
National League
Milwaukee at Cincinnati

TUESDAY

American League
Philadelphia at New York; Chicago at Cleveland; Detroit at St. Louis (night); Washington at Boston.

National League
St. Louis at Milwaukee; Pittsburgh at Brooklyn; New York at Philadelphia; Cincinnati at Chicago.

The shift of the Boston Braves to Milwaukee, first change in the major league map in 50 years, caused frantic shuffling of the National League schedule. As a result, Pittsburgh became an "eastern" team, taking over Boston's old schedule, and Milwaukee assumed Pittsburgh's dates in the "western" half. Addition of extra night games in Milwaukee kept the starters busy, bringing the schedule cards up to date.

Similar problems in the American League were avoided when Veck's Browns put in his proposal to move the Browns to Baltimore. As was to be expected, there does not appear to be any howling demand for tickets to Brown games in St. Louis.

NOTE REACTION

The Milwaukee situation and the New York Yankees' bid for an unprecedented fifth straight pennant command top attention at the moment. It also will be interesting to note Boston's reaction to becoming a one-club town.

Rookies like Junior Gilliam of Brooklyn, Bill Bruton of Milwaukee, Billy Hunter of the St. Louis Browns and Bill Wilson of the Chicago White Sox now must meet the real test. Daryl Spencer, the New York Giants' publicized new infielder, will be out of action for two weeks because of a fractured cheekbone.

In fact, several regulars will be sitting out the opening games because of injuries. Hank Sauer of the Chicago Cubs will miss the early weeks because of a broken finger. Washington will have to go without left fielder Gil Coan, Boston without center fielder Don DiMaggio and Brooklyn without Billy Cox, just to name a few.

"SET" CLUB

The Yanks will send a "set" club against Washington Monday with Allie Reynolds, the dependable ace, facing ex-Yank, Bob Porterfield, who shut out Brooklyn in his last exhibition start. Mickey Mantle, recovered from "the itch" is back in center field and Phil Rizzuto's ulcers have not been acting up. Casey Stengel has the same men who won the World Series last fall.

Bucky Harris is enthusiastic about the Washington team, expecting great things from Jackie Jensen, his new cleanup man, shortstop Pete Runnels and third baseman Eddie Yost. Loss of Coan, who was hot in the spring games, was a tough blow even if only for a few weeks. Some 30,000 will see the "Presidential" opener.

Milwaukee actually plays a game before it bows at home, going to Cincinnati Monday where Warren Spahn is due to oppose Bud Poddiehan, one of Rogers Hornsby's prize acquisitions. Hornsby is high on his Reds as the most improved club in the league with Rocky Bridges and Gus Bell acquired in trades plus one like Jim Greengrass, Johnny Temple and Bob Marquis. The usual Cincinnati sellout is assured.

MOST IMPROVED

Charlie Grimm also thinks his Milwaukee club is the most improved with the addition of right-handed power in Andy Panko and Joe Adcock, plus help from center fielder Bill Bruton and ex-GIs, Johnny Antonelli and Del Crandall. The latter, however, has a sore shoulder.

They are rolling out the red carpet almost daily for the Braves in Milwaukee. The big day is Tuesday when the St. Louis Cardinals come in for the official opener with Gerry Staley set to pitch against the Braves' Jim Wilson or Max Surkont. The Cards are pennant minded with Stan Musial apparently ready for another big year.

Brooklyn opens defense of its National League championship at home against the Pittsburgh Pirates, who finished a distant last in 1952. Arrival of Gilliam from Montreal to win the second base job from Jackie Robinson was the big news of the Dodger camp. Robinson has moved to third base, bumping Cox into utility status before he came up with a bad back. With Danny O'Connell back from service, the Pirates show some improvement under Haney.

TALKING FREELY

The Phillies, also freely talking pennant in the clubhouse, open at Connie Mack Stadium with Robin Roberts, their ace, facing the Giants' Larry Jansen. Without Spencer, the Giants will show no new faces. Earl Torgerson, ex-Brave, and Tommy Gavanio, former Card, might break into the Phil lineup.

Sauer's injury was rough on the Cubs, who open at home against Cincinnati. Paul Schramka, an ex-GI, will try to fill Sauer's shoes. Bob Rush will do the pitching against Kenny Raffensberger.

After the game at Washington, the Yankees ride back to the stadium where Vic Raschi is due to face little Bobby Shantz, who traded the Yanks four times last year for the Philadelphia A's. First baseman Eddie Robinson is the important new man with the A's replacing Ferris Fain who was traded to Chicago.

PITCHING STRENGTH

Cleveland probably will have about $5,000 to see the Indians meet the White Sox, the two clubs expected to give the Yankees most trouble. Pitching remains the Indians' chief strength while the White Sox have added Fain and Junior Stephens to bolster their attack.

The Boston Red Sox, with their kid outfield of Gene Stephens, Tom Umpflett and Jim Pierall, play their first game at Fenway Park against Washington with Mel Parnell probably facing Wal Masterson, ex-Red Sox.

St. Louis opens at night again with the Browns unveiling rookie Hunter, their $90,000 shortstop, and the Tigers presenting a host of new faces in an effort to escape from the cellar.

The teams will shift bases Thursday to present a new slate of home openers.

Favorite Zinnia

FEW PLANTS will stand up through burning summer heat waves better than our old garden favorite, the zinnia. Each year sees steady improvements in this grand flower family, which endears itself to us by its diverse color range and multitude of forms.

According to the Bedding Plant Advisory Board, zinnia plant mixtures generally available in flats contain practically all shades of the rainbow with the exception of the true blues. And the sizes offered range from Tom Thumbs up to the Giant Dahlia Flowered type growing three feet high with multitudes of saucer-sized flower heads.

Plant your zinnias in the sun and in a level bed. Irrigation is preferred to overhead sprinkling. Especially in the late afternoon, sprinkling encourages mildew. Fertilize heavily. Pinch out the first bud to encourage lateral growth, and spray regularly for aphids.

Zinnias combine well with many warm weather plants but, due to their striking color range, they seem to show to best advantage in straight mass plantings. The dwarf forms are excellent for edging a bed of taller varieties. Yellow marigolds, blue delphinium and ageratum and such good white petunias as Snowstorm blend in well with zinnias and share the same cultural requirements.

pieces of copper. Red draperies are used and a Mexican lamp of glass with a red shade enlivens interest.

Tile used in the living room also is found in the dining room and entrance hall floors. Mrs. Blaine uses a refectory type of table in the dining room and she has a huge hutch cabinet. Draperies are of gold and the rug is hooked. The chairs are upholstered in rose. Deep casement windows throughout the house look out on the view afforded by the ocean and the Palos Verdes hillsides. The house perches on the side of a cliff.

No matter what spot a visitor might stop to look about, he would find something to attract him in the Blaine home. Perhaps it would be the built-in cabinet in the living room, which was done by an 11-year-old Italian boy from a single piece of wood and which now contains a collection of ivory carvings of the Eight Immortals, daguerreotypes, a Chelsea sugar and creamer, and other interesting pieces. Or perhaps it would be the unusual coffee table in front of the davenport which is made of ewe. Again it might be the blue lavabo set on the wall rural, but it had beautiful things!

THE PET PARADE

Athlete of Dog World

By Bill Conway

PLANNED development of the Doberman Pinscher dates back only about 70 years yet this breed is now regarded by authorities as one of the most intelligent of dogs.

The breed was brought to perfection in Germany and to the Germans must go the credit for bringing this breed to its present high regard. It is very possible that the war-minded Germans purposely developed the dog for the work in which he won his greatest fame; that is, as a war dog.

Normally affectionate the Doberman Pinscher can be trained to pull down a fleeing criminal if necessary. He appears to absorb readily the careful training he gets before he is prepared for guard duty.

The dog is lithe and extremely active and possesses amazing strength for his weight which is 65 to 75 pounds. He is, in fact, the perpetually conditioned athlete of the canine world.

The Doberman Pinscher breed originated from the studied crosses of the black and tan terrier, the Rottweiler, the smooth Doberman and the Pinscher. Selective breeding was carried on in Germany and faithfully followed in the United States after the dog was introduced here shortly after the turn of the century.

ACCORDING to standards approved by the American Kennel Club the male Doberman Pinscher should measure 25 to 28 inches in height at the shoulder. Females are slightly smaller. The dog is compactly built, presenting an appearance of alertness and natural intelligence. His coat should be smooth, lying close to the body. Black, brown or blue are desired colors, with rust colored markings on paws, chest, throat and muzzle, above each eye and below the tail.

BOOK REVIEWS

Shrapnel Plays No Favorites

By Ted Krec

FOR SHEER BRUTALITY, there never has been a book to match "Far From the Customary Skies" (Random House, $3.75) by a literary newcomer, youthful Warren Eyster.

The dust jacket proclaims it to be "a novel of men on a U. S. destroyer — as startling as an alarm at night — as vivid as a dream of home — as real as the murderous sea" and nothing could describe it better. Here is the great war as seen by the crew of the USS Dreher; here is how they lived and died, philosophically and brutally.

Eyster, himself a Navy veteran, has pulled no punches; he slaughters with abandon. But here again a tip of the hat for the author's realism. Bullets and shrapnel have no "favorite characters," either.

The work is episodic and gives each incident from the viewpoint of the various persons involved. The language is salty — but authentic — and there is no fault to find with Eyster's accuracy.

It is unfortunate, to this reader, anyway, that this splendid work had to follow the pace-setting "The Caine Mutiny," for many casual book shoppers may feel that it is just "another of those Navy stories." Nothing could be more unjust. Eyster has done a masterful job and while the plot revolves around the Navy, war and storms at sea, there the similarity to "The Caine Mutiny" ends. This novel goes far deeper into the souls of the crewmen—the officers are just a necessary evil — and presents a shocking composite of wickedness, loyalty, nostalgia, devotion to duty and self-preservation.

This book is not for children and neither is it for the timid. But if you like your stories authentic and "on the line," don't miss it. You'll be glad you're safe at home and not on the battleline with the crew of the USS Dreher.

One of the extremely funny books of the spring, and a thoroughly absorbing biography, is "Dumbells and Carrot Strips: The Story of Bernarr MacLadden" (Holt, $3.95). The author is Mary MacLadden, who divorced "the Father of Physical Culture" after helping him to make millions, and Emile Gauvreau, who was editor of MacLadden's New York newspaper venture, "The Daily Graphic." In photo, Bernarr and Mary are shown on the beach with a daughter.

Joy Lives on a Tenant Farm

By Lew Allison

WARMTH, LOVE, and genuine joy in a living hard-won are elements not often found in a single bundle of fiction. When they are, the result is pure delight. Such is "Home, Ham and Hominy" (Caxton Printers, Ltd., $4), which unfolds the lives of Pappy and boys and Mammy and the girls on their Tennessee tenant farm. Here, indeed, is the grand stuff that takes the reader back to his own home and family, whether he was reared on a rocky farm or in teeming Brooklyn.

Pappy and Mammy are wonderful characters, beautifully portrayed in simple terms, and their family is endowed with the strength, dignity and abundance of those high human qualities found in so many people of their kind.

Subtlety is the keynote of this first novel by Anita Littrell. A wide vein of quiet humor runs throughout; drama is all the more real for the subdued tone of its telling. Pappy's dunking on a night fishing trip, his mad scramble out of a drying well when a fake stick of dynamite is dropped by boys pretending to attempt a "shoot," the way Clyde gets his Pappy and a turtle together in a tender meeting on a turtle hunt—a dozen other incidents produce laughter.

A tragic report of a soldier son, Christmas Eve with only the hope of staving the wolf at the door for Christmas dinner, and other crises heighten the emotional quality.

New Books at the Library

"Prince of Players," by Eleanor Ruggles, a colorful story of a genius of the American stage, Edwin Booth, has arrived at the Public Library. Other arrivals: Another biography: "Peace Through Strength," by Bernard Baruch.

History and travel: "The White House in Picture and Story," by Joseph Leeming, and "English Travellers Abroad, 1664-1667," by John W. Stoye.

Literature: "Out of the Blue," by John Crosby.

Fine arts: "Paper Sculpture," by Tadeusz Lipski; "Leonardo Da Vinci, a Biography," by Elizabeth Ripley, and "Michaelangelo," by Giovanna Papini.

Other nonfiction: "The Book of Kells," "Modern Photoengraving," by Louis Flader; "Successful Prize Contests," by Max Kaufman; "Mr. Wizard's Science," by Don Herbert; "Science Magic," by Kenneth M. Swazey, and "Duck Boats: Blinds: Decoys," by Raymond R. Camp.

Fiction: "Foundation and Empire," by Isaac Asimov; "The

Hopis Still Cling to Age-Old Beliefs

Like a visit to the colorful villages and tiny stone houses of this proud, self-sufficient tribe is a fascinating new book, "The Hopis: Portrait of a Desert People" (University of Oklahoma Press, $5). Author Walter Collins O'Kane has visited the villages on the Three Mesas many times, during which he came to understand the views and customs of the Hopis inherited from their ancestors; and in his "portrait" he deals mostly with the oldest living generation and the age-old ways and beliefs to which they still cling. The many Southern Californians who visit the northern Arizona desert where the Hopis are found will find the book particularly absorbing.

Saroyan Returns

William Saroyan is back, this time with a novel, "The Laughing Matter" (Doubleday, $3.50). But there's little laughter in it, except the title, for it deals with the infidelity of the wife of a California college professor and the impact of her act as she and her husband, for the sake of their children, try to "bring meaning to the mischief of the pathetic matter, soothe or silence the moaning or laughter of it." Here, again, in a story that might happen to the people next door, is demonstrated the power of Saroyan's simple style, the earthiness of his characters, and a situation that becomes terrifyingly tense as it moves along.—F. T. K.

Art Circles

By Vera Williams
Independent-Press-Telegram Art Editor

LONG BEACH today welcomes a new show in the Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., and following a custom of some months, it is not one show but several.

First of a series of advanced technical design exhibitions planned at the Art Center is the current display of recent work by Pereira and Luckman, whose projects are interesting in terms of engineering, design and cost control. In the CBS Television City, for instance, exterior glass walls can be dismounted for expansion. Since the mobile studio lights produce great heat, an air conditioning system was accomplished by means of flexible canvas. In the Los Angeles Music Center a completely mechanized system for vertical handling of scenery reduces operating costs. A device, the helidon, which duplicates solar conditions at any latitude for any hour of any day, is used to orient a building or its site for optimum heat and light.

Brought together by the Museum of Modern Art, another exhibition covers the whole range of activities of the Olivetti Co., the leading Italian producer of business machines and demonstrate the importance of corporate influence on design in an industrial civilization.

With increased travel has come a new interest in the ancient arts of strange lands. Bali, in particular, fires the imagination. The Art Center is happy to present a selection of Balinese sculpture from the collection of Georg Szervet of of Soerabaja, Indonesia. The pieces, representing Hindu dieties and animals, are remarkable for their refined detail and delicate finish. They date from the 17th Century.

These shows will remain in the Art Center through May 17.

PHOTOGRAPHS by Clarence John Laughlin of New Orleans which were shown last year in Municipal Art Center now are displayed in Los Angeles County Museum, Exposition Park, Los Angeles.

DRAWINGS, paintings and textographs by Karl Seethaler of Long Beach are shown in Walter Johnson Contemporaries, 4234 Atlantic Ave.

A BLACK and white exhibition, drawings by Phyllis Bailey, Lillian Miller, Stuart Linton and Leonard Kaplan and views of Rome by Giovanni Piranesi are shown in Arts and Frames Gallery, 217 Cleo St., Laguna Beach.

PAINTINGS by Melva Rue will be shown today from noon until 5 p. m. at 504 Coast Blvd. in Corona del Mar.

LAGUNA BEACH announces its annual Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters July 18 through Aug. 9.

PALOS VERDES Community Arts Association is presenting Francis deErdely in a one-man show as the April exhibit in the Art Gallery of Palos Verdes Library. The affair will be opened with a tea and reception for the artist from 3 to 5 p. m. today. The display consists mainly a pen and ink drawings with watercolor wash and brings out many contrasting moods and feelings. At present professor of painting at USC, deErdely formerly was visiting professor at the Rohal Academy of Fine Arts of the Hague.

ANNOUNCEMENTS are out for the Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters July 18 through Aug. 9 in Irvine Bowl at Laguna Beach. Masterpieces of art from Leonardo to Norman Rockwell will be recreated with living models in the Pageant of the Masters.

For Boys and Girls

Intrigue among the Arabs at ancient Carthage, brought about by the theft of a valuable ring from a museum, leads young readers a highly exciting chase in "The Mystery of the Lion Ring" (Dodd, Mead, $2.75). The author is Eleanor Hoffman, whose juvenile stories are far out in front of the pack. Readers 10 to 14 will find her quite up to standard in this one.

"The Crow Indians: Hunters of the Northern Plains," by Sonia Blecker (Morrow, $2): an intimate profile of the Crows and their way of life, a fine book for youngsters and one which older people will find accurate and interesting.

In This Corner

with DICK ZEHMS

You may whoop and holler all you want for the Dodgers, or Yanks, or Tigers, or Indians, or Cards, or any other major league team your little heart desires. Beginning Monday, I'm confining my sentimental outbursts to three crack old gents who stand on the threshold of baseball immortality—Johnny Mize, 40; Enos (Country) Slaughter, 37; and Bob Elliott, 37.

They aren't going to be hanging around the big tent very much longer. Time, as it does to all men, is whittling away on them, although you must concede that the balding Slaughter conducted himself like anything but an old man for the St. Louis Cardinals last season.

Mize is following the trail for probably the last time with the New York Yankees, chiefly as a pinch hitter and spot reliever at first base. Elliott, released after the '32 season by the New York Giants, caught on with the St. Louis Browns for another go-around, maybe his last. He'll third base for Marty Marion's Browns.

Only Slaughter is considered spry enough to go it regularly in the outer gardens at St. Louis. If he produces in '33 with the same effectiveness of his 1932 effort, Enos will be something of a miracle wrapped up in a Cardinal uniform. He was downright sensational last season.

All three, if they are favored with a smile from fate, will join the select 2000 hit club this season. And that's exactly why I'd be using my influence (?) in their behalf.

There comes with age a sentimental approach to living, an approach not generally found in the ambitious rookie who clamps the spurs to his opposition and rides roughshod to victory. These galloping, leather-lunged youngsters have yet to make their time-tested contributions to the game.

Not so with the Messrs. Mize, Slaughter and Elliott. They have written long, faithful and eminently successful careers into the record books. I know. I just looked. That's how I discovered that they were knocking on the door of membership into this hallowed society.

You follow Mickey Mantle, or some other youthful upstart, on the way to stardom. In the mellow realm of the aging, I'll follow these three down the hill into the limbo of the has-beens. If they succeed, then the 1933 season can be called a whopping success no matter whether Mantle hits 450, or the New York Yankees smash all records with their fifth straight pennant and world series conquest—or the Pittsburgh Pirates play the Detroit Tigers in the world series!

THE HULKING MIZE strides confidently into the twilight of a glowing career needing 15 safe hits for his membership card. He collected 38 last season in 137 trips to plate for a .263 average. Unfortunately, his fine performance in the series doesn't qualify in the 2000 club. Those hits have to be collected in regular league competition, else he'd be there already.

Mize admits that the 2000 mark is his last goal in a professional baseball career begun in 1930. He has played in four world series and nine All-Star games. As he walks into the sunset he carries with him into this last season a lifetime record showing 1985 hits in 6339 times at bat for a .312 average.

Here, indeed, is one of baseball's giants among giants. Here, indeed, is one who merits just 15 little hits to qualify for immortality.

The "Big Cat" spent three years in the military service, else this achievement probably would have been realized long ago.

Maybe Casey should play Big John regularly at the start of the season until he hangs out No. 16, then retire him!

SLAUGHTER'S JOB is a little more demanding, yet at the clip he moved last season he should go over the top before Aug. 15 arrives.

Enos marches into his 13th year of duty with the Cardinals carrying a lifetime average of .306, built on 1921 hits in 6253 times at bat. Seventy-nine hits will start him on the road to 3000 and qualify him for the 2000 club.

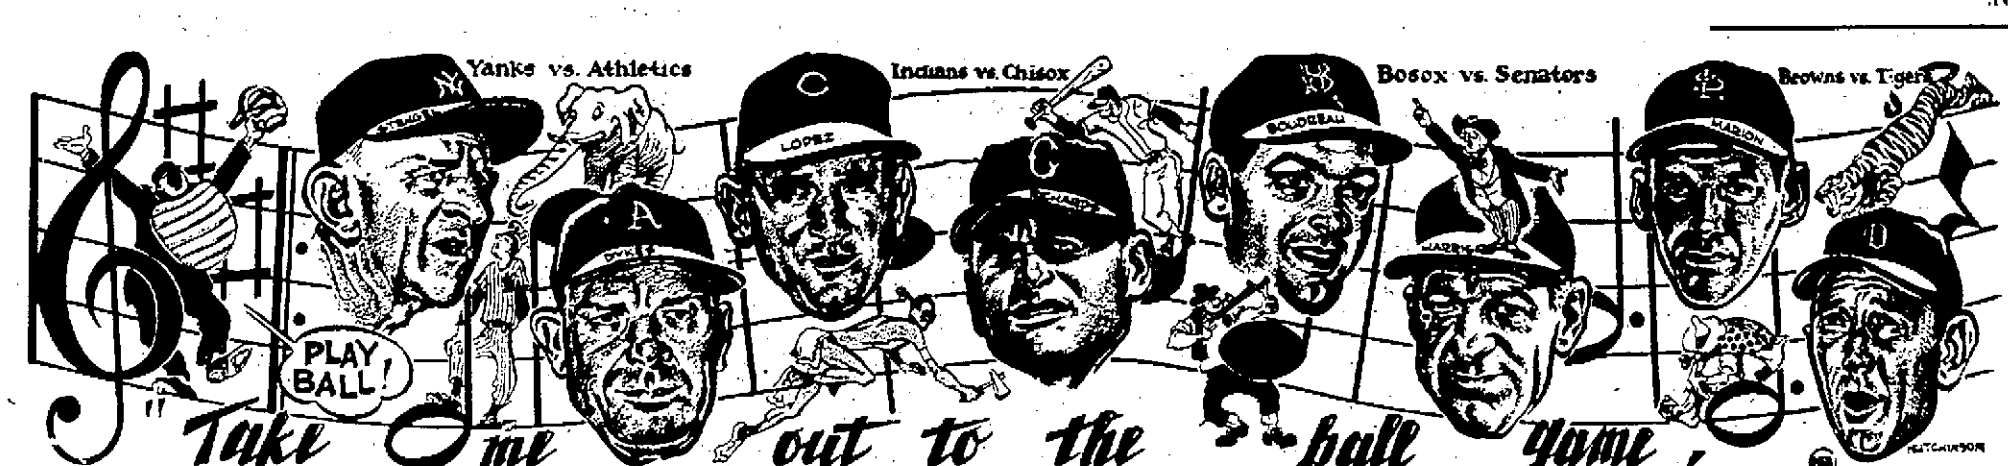

He started his pro baseballing in 1933, took time out for three years of service in the armed forces during World War II, and has spent all of his major league time with the Cardinals. Like Mize, once his teammate, Enos swings from the post side when taking his cuts at National League pitching.

Barring injury, Slaughter is a mortal clutch to make it this year he can come any way near his 1932 standard of play. He went into the '32 season with 1768 hits in 5573 times up, and somehow he discovered the fountain of youth with which to manufacture 153 safeties while parading postward 510 times. This was his big push toward the 2000 mark. The rest for a reliable old hand with his experience should be down hill.

A case of beer the day he makes the grade is the least he deserves from his new owners! Matter of fact, all St. Louis should pay him homage. He's a package of great baseball stuff.

GIVEN THE opportunity to play half the season with the Browns, Elliott likewise will fill out a 2000.

It's a Double Play!

WASHINGTON SENATORS' Carlos Campos was out at second and Wayne Terwilliger was doubled at first as a result of fast teamwork by Pittsburgh infield Saturday. Terwilliger grounded to Dick Cole of Long Beach (right), who relayed to Danny O'Connell to force Campos, and O'Connell completed the throw to first baseman Paul Smith in time to catch Terwilliger. ### Last Year DiMag to Retire

BOSTON — (UP). Do m Di-Maggio watched rookie Tom Umphlett field his position for the Red Sox Saturday and predicted he (DiMaggio) would be permanently on the side lines next year.

"This is my last year," he said. "I retain the right to change my mind, but the way I feel now, this is the end of the baseball trail."

The 33-year-old center fielder was not expected to play in the regular season opener against Washington Tuesday, missing the inaugural for the first time since World War II.

DiMaggio has a lifetime major league batting average of .298.

Yanks Spank Bums; Indians Lose Again

BROOKLYN — (UP). The New York Yankees took up where they left off in the 1932 World Series

Saturday when they defeated the Dodgers again, 5-4, at Ebbets Field where the series ended last October.

The world champions took the lead in the second inning when Gene Woodling hit a two-run homer and Phil Rizzuto brought in two more with a slashing single. What proved to be the deciding run came in the fifth when Hank Bauer walked, moved to third on a double by Mickey Mantle—one of his three hits—and scored on Yogi Berra's fly.

The Dodgers started fast as rookie Junior Gilliam and PeeWee Reese singled and Gilliam walked while Duke Snider was hitting into a force play.

The Dodgers got one back in the sixth when Robinson tripled and Roy Campanella doubled. They added a pair in the next inning on Duke Snider's home run with Reese on base.

The revitalized New York Giants pounded Early Wynn, Mike Garcia and Bob Hooper for 10 safeties in posting a 5-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians in another exhibition feature. Monte Irvin's home run spearheaded the Giant assault.

Veterans Larry Jansen, Dave Koslo and Max Lanier held the Indians to five scattered bingles. Harry Byrd, the American League's 1932 rookie of the year, held the Philadelphia Phils to five hits as the Athletics recorded a 5-1 win.

Curt Simmons blanked the Macks for four frames on two hits, but Karl Drews gave up three runs in the fifth and ace Robin Roberts was tagged for two more in the ninth as Ray Murray doubled. Roberts threw wild by Ridd's punt, a Philly error and Clark singled.

A long fly by Mickey Vernon scored Mel Hoderlein in the ninth as Washington trimmed Pittsburgh, 3-2. Johnny Lindell pitched three scoreless innings and homered in the sixth.

Racing Color

* * * Turns Red, Purple

NEW YORK—(UP). A 19-year-old stable boy's face turned red Saturday after his hands turned purple.

The technician troubles of Eufemio Lopez began when his boss at the track asked Lopez to polish his car.

The youth finished polishing the car and then decided to polish everything else around the stable, including a fire box on the stable wall.

Within a few minutes, several fire engines arrived at the track.

A fireman rounded up everybody standing near the stable and made them place their hands under a special lamp the fire engines carry.

When Lopez' hands showed purple under the light, a fireman explained to him that all fire boxes are coated with a chemical to detect false alarms. Lopez was not held.

Sagittarius Triumphs in Jamaica 'Cap

NEW YORK—(UP). Sagittarius humbled New York's best sprinters in the $20,000 Jamaica Handicap Saturday when he came off a sizzling pace in the stretch to win by a head in a hard drive.

As advertised, the six furlong sprint was a humdinger.

Squared Away, winner of the Paumonok Handicap, and Tuscany, who came back to the races after a year on the shelf to win the Rowe Memorial, battled head and head for the early lead only to have Windy Way's Farm back beauty steal the winner's purse with a relentless drive through the stretch.

Tuscany hung on grimly to take second place while the veteran gelding Delegate was third.

Squared Away and Tuscany broke out of the gate like scared rabbits and took off down the track at full speed. They swept through the first quarter mile in 22 3/5 and hit the half mile marker in a remarkable 45 3/5.

That fast pace carried the front running pair way out in front of the pack. There was a three length gap back of Sagittarius with little Bonnie Green on his back, waiting to get a little closer to the finish line before taking off after the leaders.

The 47,219 fans roared when Green decided the time had come. Down the straightaway Sagittarius pounded slowly gaining on the leaders, while behind him the veteran Delegate made a strong bid for the winner's share of $16,150.

But it was Sagittarius, winning his 21st race in 80 starts, who picked up the purse, raising his total earnings to $112,420. He came within one-fifth of a second of the stake record with a 1:11 performance.

Great Late Bid Nets Royal Bay Gem Win

BOWIE, Md.—(UP). Moving up from last place in a field of 15, Royal Bay Gem ran down a number of Kentucky Derby candidates Saturday in the stretch at Bowie to win the Chesapeake Stakes by two lengths.

The shiny black colt, who was 7 to 1 in the Derby Future Book before the race, indicated his fitness for the Louisville classic next month with one of the greatest stretch runs ever seen at Larry MacPhail's renovated course.

With Jimmy Combest urging him on, Royal Bay Gem started his move midway through the mile-and-a-half event. He still was only ninth at the turn for home, but then uncoiled a blistering run that carried him past the leaders and carried the Bowie fans right out of their seats.

Hueso, the winner of last week's Cherry Blossom Stakes, finished second, while Isasmoothie was a head farther back in third place. Social Outcast, Alfred Vanderbilt's invader from New York who was made a slight favorite over Royal Bay Gem, finished fourth. These three colts also have been nominated for the Derby.

Behind them came Fly Wheel, Buck N' Gee, V-Two, Prince Dare, Better Goods, Beckys Shirt, Main Bout, Dandolo, Ann's Love, Flight Gold and Blue Beam.

Royal Bay Gem, who is owned by Eugene Constantine Jr., won the Everglades Handicap at Hialeah in February, then finished second behind Straight Face in the Flamingo Handicap at Hialeah. He was injured slightly in the Fountain of Youth Handicap on March 11, but showed no signs of being an invalid Saturday.

Lugging 119 pounds, Royal Bay Gem sped the distance over a fast track in 1:47 flat and paid $7.00, $4.80 and $3.40.

Three Doped Aussie Race Meet

SYDNEY, Australia—(UP). The Australian Horse Racing Board said Saturday that three of the 14 winners at its four-day autumn meeting were doped to increase their speed.

The stewards said that Cuzzeau, heavily-backed winner of the Wentworth Handicap on April 4, was stimulated. On Wednesday they announced that Tarien, winner of last Saturday's handicap, and Cronin who captured the other main event that day, also were doped.

Tarien was coupled with Caroca in the big fall betting double and bookmakers paid out $1,120,000 when the latter won Monday's Sydney Cup.

Reighs Bull Cops Tanto Sprint Crown

SAN BRUNO, Calif.—(UP). Going into the lead shortly after the start, Reighs Bull, the 7 to 5 favorite, won the $15,000 added Peninsula Handicap at Tanforan Saturday.

The race decided the sprint championship of the meeting and the time of 1:10 and 3-5 for the six furlongs was 1-5 of a second off the track record.

Reighs Bull, packing high weight at 125 pounds and ridden by Johnny Longden, held off the fast-closing Gesticator to win by a neck. My Chief raced third, with Fleet Bird fourth.

The victory was worth $10,000 to Reighs Bull, owned by Tom Ross of Medford, Ore., and Asa Brunk of Berkeley.

The winner paid $4.90, $3.30 and $2.80. Gesticator, with Ray York up at 113 pounds, returned $10.30 and $8.40. My Chief, ridden by Pete Moreno at 107 pounds, paid $5.50.

Attendance was 18,918.

Golden Bear Nine Whips Santa Clara

BERKELEY, Calif.—(UP). California exploded into a sixth inning lead Saturday to win a 10-7 baseball game from Santa Clara College.

It took four Santa Clara pitchers to stop the Bears' big inning as Ray Greene, Cas Munoz, Don Gleason, and Tom Pollock each knocked in two runs.

Santa Clara's Dick Camilli, son of ex-major leaguer Dolph Camilli, was the day's leading hitter with three singles.

Nitehawks Continue Drills This Week

Long Beach Nitehawks continue sofball practice this week with drills slated Monday and Friday nights at 7:30 at Park Ave Field.

Fourteen players showed up for the first workout last week. Included in the list were eight Americans. The Hawks begin play May 8.

Pet Bully Nips Hill Gail In Keeneland Feature

KEENELAND, Ky.—(UP). Pet Bully, Mrs. Ada L. Rice's 5-year-old speedster, ruined Hill Gail's comeback bid by nosing out the 1952 Kentucky Derby winner in the $10,000 Phoenix Handicap at Keeneland Saturday.

Making his first start since his runaway victory in last year's Derby at nearby Churchill Downs, Hill Gail engaged Pet Bully in a thrilling duel over the entire six furlong distance. But Pet Bully, one of the nation's best sprinters, hung on gamely to gain the narrow verdict.

It was strictly a two-horse race. Seaward finished third, five lengths back of Hill Gail, while Free For Me was fourth, Pomace, Mail From Home and Mon-Pharo brought up the rear of the small field.

Hill Gail, who was ridden by Eddie Arcaro, was made the 2 to 5 favorite, while Pet Bully was the fourth choice at 7 to 1. The winner was clocked in 1:10 4-5 over a fast track and paid $16.40 for $2.

Hill Gail took off after Pet Bully shortly after the start and chased the midwest speedster to the final bend.

At that point, Hill Gail gained a momentary lead as Pet Bully drifted wide. But Pet Bully refused to quit and came on again to turn back the Calumet standard-bearer in a thrilling run for the wire.

What to Shoot?

By The Shutterbug

SOME FANS, with camera in hand, look hopelessly around and are at a loss as to what they could possibly photograph that would be interesting. They recognize certain family events that should be pictured, such as Susie's new outfit and baby's Sunday airing. But these are "record shots" mostly, of interest only to the family and relatives. How do they get pictures of wider significance?

Of course, if an escaped convict chanced to run down the street and paused briefly for a photo, or if a railroad train jumped its tracks and came to rest across the way, there'd be no hesitation.

Think of a topic that you could shoot anywhere, at any time in individual shots yet which would tie together as a series. People waiting for a bus, traffic cops, pushcart vendors, roof tops, television aerials, street cleaners, window shoppers—the list is endless.

If you give your pictures just a little twist or a personal touch they may wind up in a photo magazine or the civic historical society as well as in your album.

"LENS ON LOS ANGELES"

is the theme of a photographic exhibit of the Southern California Council of Camera Clubs in the Tower Gallery of the Los Angeles City Hall. Open to the public without charge, the exhibit may be viewed from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily except Saturdays and Sundays through April 24. More than 50 prints by photographer-members of 13 camera clubs in this area are represented.

LONG BEACH CAMERA GUILD will have a color slide competition at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. Winners at the recent black and white print competition: Lowell Weeks, Murray Shaner, Robert Hartman, E. M. Barlett and Bert Barber. Judge was Clem Inskeep of the Foothill Camera Club, secretary of the Southern California Council of Camera Clubs.

COMPTON CAMERA CLUB will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday at 1021 E. Compton Blvd., Compton. . . San Pedro Camera Club will meet at 8 p. m. Friday in Anderson Memorial Bldg., Eighth and Mesa Sts., San Pedro.

RECORD ALBUM

It's All for Jazz

By Elaine Hauck

'WAY DOWN YONDER in New Orleans, Sam Dekemel awes French Quarter tourists with his unusual talent of being able to play jazz on a World War 1 bugle. Since the bugle has no valves, Sam, a stout gent with leather lungs, said he had to learn how to "push out those sharps and flats." His bugle sounds like a trumpet.

Capitol has put two of Buglin' Sam's numbers on a single. One is "Bugle Call Rag," which shows off Sam's technique and "tone." Every jazz collector should own it, even though the flip side is poor.

Closely followed in popularity: 2, "Pretend," Nat King Cole; 3,

"I Believe," Frankie Laine; 4, "Tell Me You're Mine," the Gaylords; 5, "Til I Waltz Again With You," Teresa Brewer; 6, "Your Cheatin' Heart," Joni James; 7, "Tell Me a Story," Frankie Laine and Jimmy Boyd; 8, "Wild Horses," Perry Como; 9, "Song from Moulin Rouge," Percy Faith; and 10, "Side by Side," Kay Starr.

EXCITING RHYTHMS and folk tales are represented on new recordings at the Long Beach Public Library. Those of widest interest are "African Tribal Music and Dances" (Sonar Senghor and his troupe); "Dancers of Bali" (Gamelan Orchestra from the village of Pliatan, Bali); "Folk Tales from Indonesia" and "Folk Tales from West Africa" (Courlander narrator), and "International Musical Elstaddod" (Musical documentary of the international choral and folk dance festival held in Wales, July, 1952).

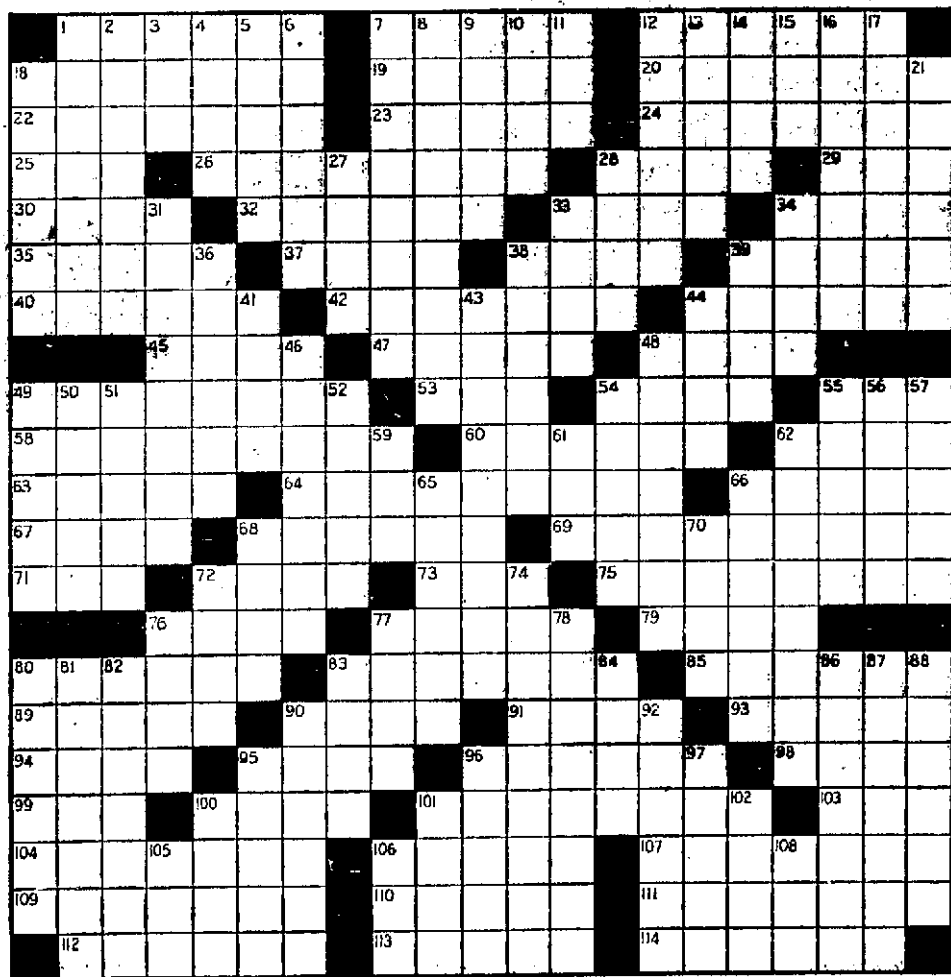

"The Early Birds" (left) took first prize in nature division of an Eastman salon for employees. "Top Purr Award of 1952" (right) also won a big prize.

BOOK REVIEWS

Shrapnel Plays No Favorites

By Ted Krec

FOR SHEER BRUTALITY, there never has been a book to match "Far From the Customary Skies" (Random House, $3.75) by a literary newcomer, youthful Warren Eyster.

The dust jacket proclaims it to be "a novel of men on a U. S. destroyer — as startling as an alarm at night — as vivid as a dream of home — as real as the murderous sea" and nothing could describe it better. Here is the great war as seen by the crew of the USS Dreher; here is how they lived and died, philosophically and brutally.

Eyster, himself a Navy veteran, has pulled no punches; he slaughters with abandon. But here again a tip of the hat for the author's realism. Bullets and shrapnel have no "favorite characters," either.

The work is episodic and gives each incident from the viewpoint of the various persons involved. The language is salty—but authentic — and there is no fault to find with Eyster's accuracy.

It is unfortunate, to this reader, anyway, that this splendid work had to follow the pace-setting "The Caine Mutiny," for many casual book shoppers may feel that it is just "another of those Navy stories." Nothing could be more unjust. Eyster has done a masterful job and while the plot revolves around the Navy, war and storms at sea, there the similarity to "The Caine Mutiny" ends. This novel goes far deeper into the souls of the crewmen—the officers are just a necessary evil — and presents a shocking composite of wickedness, loyalty, nostalgia, devotion to duty and self-preservation.

This book is not for children and neither is it for the timid. But if you like your stories authentic and "on the line," don't miss it. You'll be glad you're safe at home and not on the battlefield with the crew of the USS Dreher.

Art Circles

By Vera Williams
Independent-Press-Telegram Art Editor

LONG BEACH today welcomes a new show in the Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., and following a custom of some months, it is not one show but several.

First of a series of advanced technical design exhibitions planned at the Art Center is the current display of recent work by Pereira and Luckman, whose projects are interesting in terms of engineering, design and cost control. In the CBS Television City, for instance, exterior glass walls can be dismantled for expansion. Since the mobile studio lights produce great heat, an air conditioning system was accomplished by means of flexible canvas. In the Los Angeles Music Center a completely mechanized system for vertical handling of scenery reduces operating costs. A device, the helidon, which duplicates solar conditions at any latitude for any hour of any day, is used to orient a building or its site for optimum heat and light.

Brought together by the Museum of Modern Art, another exhibition covers the whole range of activities of the Olivetti Co., the leading Italian producer of business machines and demonstrate the importance of corporate influence on design in an industrial civilization.

With increased travel has come a new interest in the ancient arts of strange lands. Bali, in particular, fires the imagination. The Art Center is happy to present a selection of Balinese sculpture from the collection of Georg Szervey of of Soerabaja, Indonesia. The pieces, representing Hindu dieties and animals, are remarkable for their refined detail and delicate finish. They date from the 17th Century.

These shows will remain in the Art Center through May 17.

PHOTOGRAPHS by Clarence John Laughlin of New Orleans which were shown last year in Municipal Art Center now are displayed in Los Angeles County Museum, Exposition Park, Los Angeles.

DRAWINGS, paintings and photographs by Karl Seethaler of Long Beach are shown in Walter Johnson Contemporaries, 4234 Atlantic Ave.

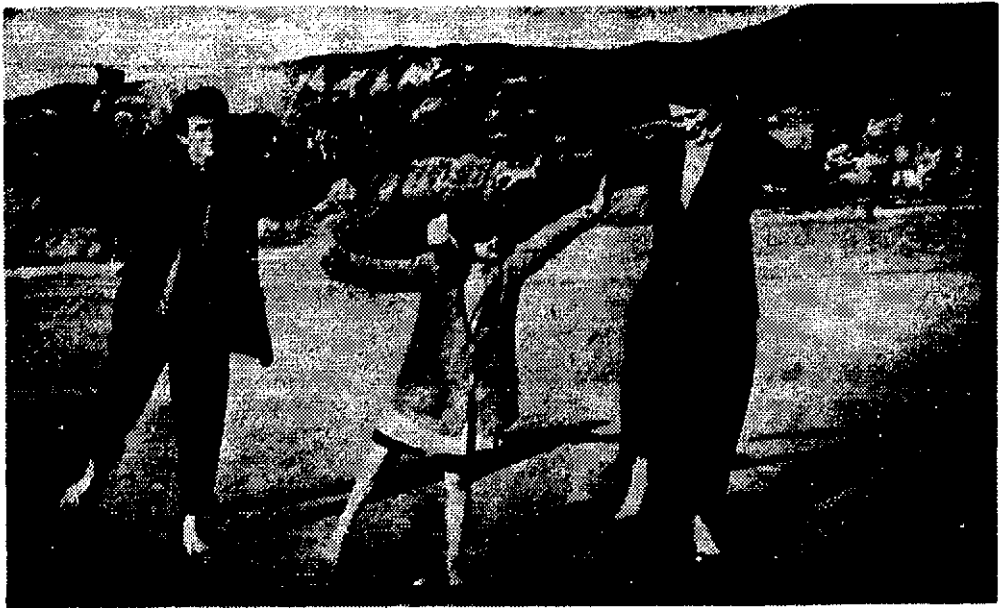

A BLACK and white exhibition, drawings by Phyllis Bailey, Lillian Miller, Stuart Linton and Leonard Kaplan and views of Rome by Giovanni Piranesi are shown in Arts and Frames Gallery, 217 Cleo St., Laguna Beach.

PAINTINGS by Melva Rue will be shown today from noon until 5 p. m. at 504 Coast Blvd. in Corona del Mar.

LAGUNA BEACH announces its annual Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters July 18 through Aug. 9.

PALOS VERDES Community Arts Association is presenting Francis deErdely in a one-man show as the April exhibit in the Art Gallery of Palos Verdes Library. The affair will be opened with a tea and reception for the artist from 3 to 5 p. m. today. The display consists mainly a pen and ink drawings with watercolor wash and brings out many contrasting moods and feelings. At present professor of painting at USC, deErdely formerly was visiting professor at the Rohal Academy of Fine Arts of the Hague.

ANNOUNCEMENTS are out for the Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters July 18 through Aug. 9 in Irvine Bowl at Laguna Beach. Masterpieces of art from Leonardo to Norman Rockwell will be recreated with living models in the Pageant of the Masters.

One of the extremely funny books of the spring, and a thoroughly absorbing biography, is "Dumbells and Carrot Strips: The Story of Bernarr Macfadden" (Holt, $3.95). The author is Mary Macfadden, who divorced "the Father of Physical Culture" after helping him to make millions, and Emile Gauvreau, who was editor of Macfadden's New York newspaper venture, "The Daily Graphic." In photo, Bernarr and Mary are shown on the beach with a daughter.

Joy Lives on a Tenant Farm

By Lew Allison

WARMTH, LOVE, and genuine joy in a living hard-won are elements not often found in a single bundle of fiction. When they are, the result is pure delight. Such is "Home, Ham and Hominy" (Caxton Printers, Ltd., $4), which unfolds the lives of Pappy and boys and Mammy and the girls on their Tennessee tenant farm. Here, indeed, is the grand stuff that takes the reader back to his own home and family, whether he was reared on a rocky farm or in teeming Brooklyn.

Pappy and Mammy are wonderful characters, beautifully portrayed in simple terms, and their family is endowed with the strength, dignity and abundance of those high human qualities found in so many people of their kind.

Subtlety is the keynote of this first novel by Anita Littrell. A wide vein of quiet humor runs throughout; drama is all the more real for the subdued tone of its telling. Pappy's dunking on a night fishing trip, his mad scramble out of a drying well when a fake stick of dynamite is dropped by boys pretending to attempt a "shoot," the way Clyde gets his Pappy and a turtle together in a tender meeting on a turtle hunt—a dozen other incidents produce laughter.

A tragic report of a soldier son, Christmas Eve with only the hope of steying the wolf at the door for Christmas dinner, and other crises heighten the emotional quality.

New Books at the Library

"Prince of Players," by Eleanor Ruggles, a colorful story of a genius of the American stage, Edwin Booth, has arrived at the Public Library. Other arrivals: Another biography: "Peace Through Strength," by Bernard Baruch.

History and travel: "The White House in Picture and Story," by Joseph Leeming, and "English Travellers Abroad, 1064-1667," by John W. Stoye.

Literature: "Out of the Blue," by John Crosby.

Other nonfiction: "The Book of Kells"; "Modern Photoengraving," by Louis Flader; "Successful Prize Contests," by Max Kaufman; "Mr. Wizard's Science," by Don Herbert; "Science Magic," by Kenneth M. Swezey, and "Duck Boats: Blinds: Decoys," by Raymond R. Camp.

Fiction: "Foundation and Empire," by Isaac Asimov; "The

Hopis Still Cling to Age-Old Beliefs

Like a visit to the colorful villages and tiny stone houses of this proud, self-sufficient tribe is a fascinating new book, "The Hopis: Portrait of a Desert People" (University of Oklahoma Press, $5). Author Walter Collins O'Kane has visited the villages on the Three Mesas many times, during which he came to understand the views and customs of the Hopis inherited from their ancestors; and in his "portrait" he deals mostly with the oldest living generation and the age-old ways and beliefs to which they still cling. The many Southern Californians who visit the northern Arizona desert where the Hopis are found will find the book particularly absorbing.

Saroyan Returns

William Saroyan is back, this time with a novel, "The Laughing Matter" (Doubleday, $3.50). But there's little laughter in it, except the title, for it deals with the infidelity of the wife of a California college professor and the impact of her act as she and her husband, for the sake of their children, try to "bring meaning to the mischief of the pathetic matter, soothe or silence the moaning or laughter of it." Here, again, in a story that might happen to the people next door, is demonstrated the power of Saroyan's simple style, the earthiness of his characters, and a situation that becomes terrifyingly tense as it moves along.—F. T. K.

What Is a Jew?

More than 100 specific questions most often asked by people of all faiths about Jewish beliefs and culture are answered in "What Is a Jew?" (World, $2.50). Author is Rabbi Morris N. Kertzer, director of inter-religious activities at the American Jewish Committee, New York.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

It's a long hue and cry from the small carry-all trailers that most of us know to the palatial homes on wheels 40 or more feet in length being exhibited at the Sportsmen's Show at the Pan-Pacific Auditorium in Los Angeles.

If you plan to visit the show this week, by all means see the super-duper Mid-States palace that even carries its own private swimming pool. It is equipped with collapsible sun-deck and its own motor-driven unit.

This terrific trailer, if it can be called that, resembles two Pullmans hooked together. In passing from the front to the rear unit you have the feeling that you are in a train, not a highway vehicle.

It may have been built for show purposes only, but it gives an idea of what has been occurring in the trailer industry. There are others almost as large and as comfortable as the average home—more comfortable than some of the apple boxes we saw in war time.

We have seen a lot of shows for the outdoors men, but this tremendous exhibition of equipment, ranging from fishing lines to $25,000 boats, tops 'em all. The trailers command a lot of interest and well they should when it is considered that the trailer coach business has grown to almost a $500,000,000 volume each year.

Ocean Slow But Bass Fishing—Oh!

Outside of the yellowtail run at San Diego and the barracuda catches south of Newport, the ocean boats are getting little except bottom catches. Such is the story every spring when the boat owners and skippers take a beating financially until the big runs start.

It's different this year at the fresh-water lakes where the bass and crappie are hitting. Just what caused it is uncertain, but we do know from talking to many fishermen that the lakes are yielding the best catches in years. Maybe it's the weather.

The outing bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California reports that its scouts listed these totals for three San Diego County lakes for the week:

San Vicente—605 fishermen, 250 bass, 12 crappie and 10,623 bluegill.

Lake Hodges—1105 fishermen, 417 bass, 10,414 crappie, 659 catfish and 1330 bluegill.

Lower Otay—448 fishermen, 26 bass, 368 crappie, 561 catfish and 1052 bluegill.

Totals at Henshaw and Wohlford were not listed but fishing was described as excellent. And all reports from Lakes Mead, Mojave and Havasu on the Colorado River were very good.

Personals From the Tackle Box

Jerry Coughlan, Essex Falls, N. J., one of the entrants in the Metropolitan Miami Tournament, caught a tarpon weighing 154 pounds 12 ounces on small bait-casting equipment (14-pound-test line) and has an excellent chance of repeating for the fifth year his win in the Miami event.

Operators at the Huntington Beach Pier announce that they will start their boats the first week end in May. They have added a new boat, the Sun Fish, this season, with runs at 6:30 a. m. and 12:30 p. m.

Catalina expects to feed 2000 visitors at its annual free community fish bake May 2. Two hundred volunteers have agreed to take over the chore and a half-dozen boats will provide more than a ton of fish for the event.

Don't point your sights toward Santa Barbara County's new reservoir, Cachuma, this season. The California Fish and Game Commission has decided to close the newly formed body of water until the beginning of trout season in 1954. By that time the fish should be of better size. The closing was ordered after the commissioners listened to recommendations by the Santa Barbara Board of Supervisors and sportsmen's groups. Three cheers for the Santa Barbara sportsmen!

Condors Still Evading Traps

The California condor is proving to be a wary bird, indeed, for a naturalist trying to capture a pair of the rare giants for the San Diego zoo.

Mrs. Belle Benchley, zoo director, says the attempt now may be postponed until summer for fear of disturbing the condors during their nesting season. There are only an estimated 50 left.

Ornithologist Louis Wayne Walker began the attempt to capture a pair in January. He hoped to hide in a pit, surrounded with carlin bait, and catch the birds by hand. They are considered too strong to be caught in traps such as are used for eagles.

The hunt scene is in the rugged coastal mountain range near Fillmore, Ventura County, Calif., the birds' last known habitat.

Mrs. Benchley said Walker reported condors have been all around him, but so far have been too wary to be caught.

LBCC Alumni Group Meets Monday Night

Meeting of the Long Beach City College Alumni Athletic Council will be held Monday night at 8 in the home of Secretary George Marmion, 3934 Brayton Ave.

Activities of the group in the coming year will be the main topic of the meeting, according to Marmion.

Fur, Fin and Campfire

PORK RIND IS ONE OF THE MOST EFFECTIVE OF ALL BASS LURES. IT CAN BE USED IN HEAVY WEEDS WHERE OTHER LURES CANNOT PENETRATE. YOU CAN BUY IT IN TACKLE STORES OR, TO MAKE YOUR OWN, SOAK A STRIP OF FAT SALT PORK IN A STRONG SOLUTION OF FORMALDEHYDE FOR TWO WEEKS. THEN CUT TO ANY DESIRED SHAPE. USE A LARGE WEEDESS HOOK.

PITY THE POOR FISH. SMALL FISH, SUCH AS STREAM TROUT, CAN BE QUICKLY PUT OUT OF THEIR MISERY BY PUTTING THE THUMB IN THE GILLS AND BENDING THE HEAD BACK, BREAKING THE BACKBONE. FOR LARGER FISH, GIVE A HARD BLOW ON THE HEAD WITH ANY SUITABLE WEAPON.

DIFFERENT SPECIES OF FISH HAVE DIFFERENT WAYS OF STRIKING. A STUDY OF THEIR HABITS WILL AID YOU IN CATCHING MORE FISH.

IF YOU FORGET YOUR LANDING NET, YOU CAN BOAT A FISH BY PLAYING IT TO WITHIN REACH AND GRASPING ITS LOWER JAW WITH YOUR THUMB, INSIDE AND YOUR FINGER UNDER ITS JAW. THIS GRIP PARALYZES THE FISH.

Aud Cards Mat Tourney

A tremendous wrestling show is in store for local wrestling fans Thursday night at Municipal Auditorium, according to word received from Harry Rubin, promoter of the weekly grunt and groan events.

The Aud will be the stage for a colossal one night tournament for the club championship, which will bring together many of the great names in wrestling.

Nine famous matmen will compete in this action-packed contest, and will wrestle to a fall or referee's decision with a 15-minute time limit, through a process of elimination, until one victorious man is left. He will meet the Brute from Abruzzi, Baron Michele Leone, at a date to be announced later.

The roster will feature such mat stars as Ali Pasha, the Turkish heavyweight champ, who only last week won a grudge match from Auditorium announcer Dave Levin.

Sailor Freddie Blassie will return along with Sock-eye MacDonald, the Black Panther, Pat Meenan, Tony Morelli and strongman Pope Pasquale.

Sprint Cars Race at Carrell

URA sprint car races are slated for this afternoon at Carrell Speedway with more than 40 of the West's top cars and drivers competing.

Qualifying will start shortly after noon, with the Trophy Dash opening the racing card at 2:30 p. m.

Favorites include Colby Scrogins, Johnny Morehouse, Don Radbruch, Bud Kelleher, Jack Flaherty and Marvin Faw.

Schutte Named San Diego Coach

George Schutte, 28, has been named head football coach at San Diego Junior College of the Metropolitan Conference, it was announced Saturday.

Schutte, a former SC tackle, served as assistant grid coach at San Diego Hoover after graduating from Troy. He left Hoover two years ago to join the FBI and since then has served as an investigator in Denver and Detroit. Schutte's older brother, Bill, has been head coach at San Diego State College since 1946.

Top Stars in Bowl Ring

The first non-televised amateur boxing card to be held at Wilmington Bowl in months is scheduled Monday night when Promoter Ernie Steffen, backed by the Southern California trainers' coaches and managers association comes up with an all-star card featuring the top amateur talent in this section.

Two of the most spectacular winners on last week's program—light-heavyweights Bob McLane and Bill Day—a Korean war hero, a Golden Gloves champion and a kayo punching ring clown, will share the limelight in the closing events of the evening.

All bouts will be four rounds or less, with the first one slated to start at 8:30 p. m.

McLane, a Glendale youngster with a fighting heart and fiery punches to match, meets Harvey (The Clown) Taylor of Long Beach in the main event. Taylor is a stablemate of Marvin Smith. He is managed by Earl Beebe of Dominguez. Art Martell, veteran trainer and manager, handles McLane and Day.

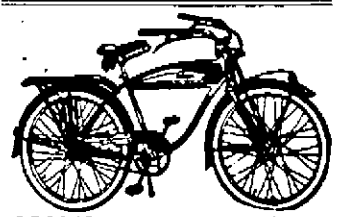

War hero Allen Shields meets Huntington Beach's Golden Gloves novice class lightweight champion, Tony Reyes in the semi; Day tackles Don Moore and Fred West opposes Eddie Finley in the top prelim. They are middleweights.

In every State of the 48 . . . TRUCK USERS BUY MORE CHEVROLET TRUCKS than any other make!

No matter the size or type of truck you need—what better proof could there be that a Chevrolet truck is your best buy!

MORE CHEVROLET TRUCKS IN USE THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

Recently published official registration figures for the last full year show that truck users in every single State bought more Chevrolets than any other make!

And so far this year, for the twelfth straight truck production year, Chevrolet is again ahead of all others—well on the way to extending that leadership to even more impressive proportions.

It is difficult to imagine more convincing proof of Chevrolet's superiority, for such clear-cut and overwhelming preference can lead to but one conclusion:

Chevrolet trucks must be better, must enjoy solid advantages over other trucks. Such preference must rest on a firm foundation of good, sound value. And, of course, it does—as owners of Chevrolet trucks can testify.

dation of good, sound value. And, of course, it does—as owners of Chevrolet trucks can testify.

Chevrolet trucks are widely known for their ability to hold hauling costs down. They are known for their power, their stamina, for their exceptional gas and oil economy, as well as their low-cost upkeep. And on these same counts, you can expect 1953 Chevrolet trucks to be even more outstanding.

So before you buy any truck, see how much more Chevrolet trucks offer you. Stop in and see us soon. (Continuation of standard equipment and trim illustrated is dependent on availability of material.)

What to Shoot?

By The Shutterbug

SOME FANS, with camera in hand, look hopelessly around and are at a loss as to what they could possibly photograph that would be interesting. They recognize certain family events that should be pictured, such as Susie's new outfit and baby's Sunday airing. But these are "record shots" mostly, of interest only to the family and relatives. How do they get pictures of wider significance?

Of course, if an escaped convict changed to run down the street and paused briefly for a photo, or if a railroad train jumped its tracks and came to rest across the way, there'd be no hesitation.

Think of a topic that you could shoot anywhere, at any time in individual shots yet which would tie together as a series. People waiting for a bus, traffic cops, pushcart vendors, roof tops, television aerials, street cleaners, window shoppers—the list is endless.

If you give your pictures just a little twist or a personal touch they may wind up in a photo magazine or the civic historical society as well as in your album.

"LENS ON LOS ANGELES"

is the theme of a photographic exhibit of the Southern California Council of Camera Clubs in the Tower Gallery of the Los Angeles City Hall. Open to the public without charge, the exhibit may be viewed from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily except Saturdays and Sundays through April 24. More than 50 prints by photographer-members of 13 camera clubs in this area are represented.

LONG BEACH CAMERA GUILD will have a color slide competition at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. Winners at the recent black and white print competition: Lowell Weeks, Murray Shaner, Robert Hartman, E. M. Barlett and Bert Barber. Judge was Clem Inskeep of the Foothill Camera Club, secretary of the Southern California Council of Camera Clubs.

COMPTON CAMERA CLUB will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday at 1021 E. Compton Blvd., Compton. . . San Pedro Camera Club will meet at 8 p. m. Friday in Anderson Memorial Bldg., Eighth and Mesa Sts., San Pedro.

RECORD ALBUM

It's All for Jazz

By Elaine Hauck

'WAY DOWN YONDER in New Orleans, Sam Dekemel awes French Quarter tourists with his unusual talent of being able to play jazz on a World War 1 bugle. Since the bugle has no valves, Sam, a stout gent with leather lungs, said he had to learn how to "push out those sharps and flats." His bugle sounds like a trumpet.

Capitol has put two of Buglin' Sam's numbers on a single. One is "Bugle Call Rag," which shows off Sam's technique and "tone." Every jazz collector should own it, even though the flip side is poor.

Closely followed in popularity: 2, "Pretend," Nat King Cole; 3,

"I Believe," Frankie Laine; 4, "Tell Me You're Mine," the Gaylords; 5, "Til I Waltz Again With You," Teresa Brewer; 6, "Your Cheatin' Heart," Joni James; 7, "Tell Me a Story," Frankie Laine and Jimmy Boyd; 8, "Wild Horses," Perry Como; 9, "Song from Moulin Rouge," Percy Faith; and 10, "Side by Side," Kay Starr.

EXOTIC RHYTHMS and folk tales are represented on new recordings at the Long Beach Public Library. Those of widest interest are "African Tribal Music and Dances" (Sonar Senghor and his troupe); "Dancers of Bali" (Gamelan Orchestra from the village of Pliatan, Bali); "Folk Tales from Indonesia" and "Folk Tales from West Africa" (Courlander narrator), and "International Musical Eisteddfod" (Musical documentary of the international choral and folk dance festival held in Wales, July, 1952).

Americans are discovering the one wine everybody likes!

Spaghetti served with Vino da Tavola is a new flavor treat. It's wine like you've never tasted. Mellow! Rich! Smooth! An all purpose wine that's a joy to connoisseurs and beginners alike.

Tuna's tastier with Guild Vino da Tavola, too. You get a different taste experience when you serve this pure grape wine. If you feel that ordinary table wines are too sour, try mellow, smooth Vino da Tavola.

With meat? Everything from baked ham to barbecued hot dogs tastes better with Guild Vino da Tavola. Folks who never liked dinner wines before enjoy the brilliance and friendly flavor of this distinctive wine.

Get the best! Bring home Guild Vino da Tavola, the original red checked label wine made only by Wine Growers Guild. It's the one great wine that goes good with all food. One wine with universal taste appeal. So rich and mellow it was judged the finest red table wine at the 1952 California State Fair. Bottled in all sizes.

Brother's Death Darkens Reunion

Five daughters of a Colorado pioneer family met in Long Beach the first time all ever had been together. But at the joyous reunion word was received of the death of a brother.

The five women were gathered at the home of Mrs. Tony Sawday, 100 Mira Mar Ave., when they received word of the death of their brother, Perry Michelsen of Norwood, Colo.

The older girls had left home before the younger one was born and during the intervening nearly 50 years they never got together. Those here for the reunion were Mrs. Laura Hendricks, Vancouver, Wash.; Mrs. Margaret O'Neill, Rosemead, Calif.; Mrs. Reva Hardy, Denver, Colo.; Mrs. Anne Ruth Hood, Rosemead, and Mrs. Sawday.

Motorama in LA Shows Top Designs

General Motor's Motorama of 1953, which opened Saturday at the Shrine Convention Hall, "will bring together the highest concentration of the automotive industry's top engineering minds ever assembled in Los Angeles," according to C. A. Chayne, General Motors vice president in charge of engineering.

"Right now," Chayne added, "we of GM's engineering staff are looking forward to the use of lighter-weight alloys in engine and body manufacture."

"Engines (and one should speak of auto engines, not motors) are getting lighter in proportion to their horsepower, due to the upping of the compression ratio."

"But the actual weight of the vehicle can only be lightened, of course, by using lighter metals which will give more miles to the gallon and, consequently, the economy everybody wants."

"As things stand today, I don't think plastic bodies are the answer to the problem. It's not practicable for mass production at this time because of the time required to cure the plastic and the additional man-hours needed to make the material."

Chayne also remarked on the "common beef" of drivers whose rear and front bumpers become entangled.

"Engineers, contrary to the opinions of angry motorists," he explained, "are aligning their models' bumpers within the same height-range from the ground."

"But the governing factors in most entanglements is the car's

Experts Check Super Jet

V. W. PIGGINS (right), Hudson Motor Car Co. engineer from Detroit, examines the Hudson Super Jet which has been entered by Storey-Ricketts in the Mobilgas Economy Run April 20-22 from Los Angeles to Sun Valley. Checking engine details with Piggins is Reeves Dutton, technical supervisor of the AAA regional contest board which will direct the 1200-mile event.

braking which lowers the front, and the passenger-weight in the car, which differentiates the alignment."

Arriving with Chayne for GM's auto show were:

D. E. Ahrens, vice president of Cadillac; L. F. Carlson, executive assistant to Oldsmobile general manager; J. L. Conlon, a General Motors general manager; H. E. Crawford, Pontiac general sales manager; and R. M. Critchfield, Pontiac vice president.

General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice arrived earlier.

The Motorama, which opened Saturday, will run through April 19 from 10 a. m. to 11 p. m. excepting on the two Sundays when the opening hour will be noon.

Admission is free.

Parking facilities near the show site have been improved by the addition of two and one-half blocks of off-street parking space with an entrance at Jefferson and Flower Sts., two blocks east of Convention Hall.

The experimental "dreamcars" are among the outstanding features of the show. In addition, there are 56,000 square feet of exhibits.

For entertainment GM is presenting its "Motormusings" and "Fashion Firsts" six times daily at the Motorama. Music will be provided by a 24-piece orchestra and a 14-voice chorus.

Joe Bourne, Former City Leader, Dies

Service for Joe Nye Bourne, 68, of 1327 Linden Ave., former secretary to Charles A. Windham, Long Beach city manager several decades ago, will be Monday at 10 a. m. at the Sawtelle Veterans Facility.

Bourne, who had returned to Long Beach shortly before the end of last year, died April 8 in the Veterans Administration Hospital, Los Angeles.

When Windham left Long Beach and became city manager of Hollywood, Fla., he sent for Bourne who again served as his secretary. For many years, Bourne was secretary of the Learned Societies in Washington, D. C.

He came to Long Beach from Denver, where he was associated with the University of Denver. He was born in Iowa and was an alumnus of Iowa University. During his prior residence here, he sang with St. Luke's Church Choir.

Identify Casualties

WASHINGTON — (AP) The Defense Dept. Saturday identified 116 Korean War casualties in a new list (No. 787) that included 22 killed, 82 wounded, three missing and nine injured.

World of Wheels

HILLMAN MINK SHOWN — Salient new features of the Hillman, now on display at Brewster Gray, 1111 American Ave., are a front end hood in a continental style, large bumpers and bumper guards and new safety features including flashing turn signals.

Engine high lights include an improved manifold, carburetor and cylinder head to provide greatly improved economy and performance.

Some of the many features for riding comfort are improved suspension with new type shock absorbers. A bench type, softer contour front seat, which reduces driving fatigue, has a divided folding back for easy access to the rear. The 1953 Hillman has draftless ventilator windows and a heater and fresh air conditioning system with twin intakes behind the radiator grill.

Instruments are neatly grouped on the dashboard for easier visibility. Heating and ventilating controls for accessibility plus a modernistic steering wheel with decorative horn button are other features.

An entirely new range of beautiful dual color schemes with contrasting upholstery colors is offered, the top being finished in darker tones or color.

WHY CHRYSLER CUT — Significance behind the price reductions of Chrysler Corporation passenger cars and trucks announced recently was explained Saturday by a local De Soto-Plymouth dealer.

Bob McClure, of McClure-Nowling, pointed out that removal of government price and materials controls has resulted in a substantial increase in production of De Soto automobiles, as well as other Chrysler Corporation vehicles.

"In the first two months of this year, De Soto production was up 27 per cent over the comparable 1952 period, and sales were up 50 per cent," he said. "This has resulted in lower costs to the factory and these savings are being passed along to our customers."

High volume, coupled with excellent public acceptance of 1953 De Soto and Plymouth automobiles, made the price reductions possible, he said, adding that the benefits to the public are even greater since the spring selling season for new cars is just beginning.

Charm Lecture Set at Library

"Accent on You," featuring a humorous skit and a lecture on personality development will be presented Tuesday at 8 p. m. at Burnett Branch Library, 560 E. Hill St. Mrs. Janice W. Murdock, fashion model and charm school instructor, will present the program.

The art of makeup, good grooming, poise, conversation and personality will be discussed by the speaker. She emphasizes the importance of personality as an expression of one's inner being.

Following her skit and lecture she will answer questions from the audience. The program is the second of a series of three arranged by Jean Taggart, branch librarian.

EINAR ERICKSSON

Magnetic Healer and Swedish Masseur

Some people are afflicted with open sores that will not heal. Here, Mr. Erickson shows a sore that finally healed after being open 27 years. Note the long scar.

Mr. Erickson has several hundred letters of testimonials and pictures showing the patients' condition before and after complete healing . . . cases such as blindness, arthritis, lameness and eczema.

A patient in Long Beach writes:

Gentlemen: "To anyone who is suffering due to a back injury or any other strain . . .

"In 1949 I had injured my back by handling large sheets of metal, which had a peculiar effect on my entire body. I had a disorder of my bowels, stomach, and my urinary organs. I was in complete misery for twenty-four hours. I called a doctor, who only made my condition worse. I was fortunate that Mr. Erickson was in Long Beach at that time. A little skeptical, I finally managed to reach his office. I practically crawled in on my hands and knees. After about 15 minutes treatment, all my disorders completely vanished, which I could hardly believe myself. I can prove my testimony by Mrs. John Anderson of 1505 Sixteenth Street, Long Beach, who took me to Mr. Erickson. I recommend Mr. Erickson to anyone suffering from any bodily disorders."

J. J. Sigpaneck, 2082 Fidler Avenue, Long Beach.

Mr. Erickson, who is licensed here in Long Beach, has over 35 years' experience as a healer and masseur, and has written references from highest authorities in Norway, witnessed by the Norwegian Consul in New York City.

'Hostess With Mostest' Clears Luxembourg Desk

LUXEMBOURG G—The leader and inspired Irving Berlin's cheering her at official functions. That never happened to any other diplomat accredited here.

Now it was obvious she was about wrenching herself away from the people of this little country she has learned to love. It's a natural affection. This reporter found the Luxembourgish upset and sorrowful about losing her.

She's a political realist and her good friend, Dwight Eisenhower, is a Republican. So Perle Mesta, Harry Truman's minister to Luxembourg since 1949, is starting the last week and ended on an American Airlines flagship for the U. S. Naval Training Center, Bainbridge, Md.

But, it is evident, she is leaving her heart here.

"If they are to send a political appointee here and not a career diplomat," she said reasonably, "a Republican should have it."

Mrs. Mesta sat at her desk overlooking the legation gardens for a farewell interview. A few years ago she was Washington's social to them. She figures she's entertained about 20,000 American boys since she came here Aug. 17, 1949.

Now Luxembourg is attracting tourists—American tourists with money to spend in a little country injured by war. No matter how you look at it, Perle Mesta has been a prime force in making people aware that Luxembourg is on the map. Madame Minister, with a humility and modesty she has newly come by, believes that Luxembourg has done more for her than she for it.

"I learned to listen," she confided. "Yes, I could listen before, but not as much as I do now. Rather than talk every time I think I have something to say, I've learned to keep my mouth shut. I listened, and I learned a lot that way."

Dr. Neal Bowman to Speak Here

Dr. Neal Bowman of New York City will appear as a featured speaker on the Realtors' Educational Sales Conference, according to Chester Jackson, local Realtor in charge of arrangements. Dr. Bowman is nationally known as an author of publications on advertising, sales and public relations. He is a sales adviser for the National Association of Manufacturers.

A caravan of 200 is expected to leave from the breakfast meeting Tuesday morning, April 28, to go to Montebello, where this all-day conference under the auspices of the California Real Estate Association will be held. All real estate licensees, through the Division of Real Estate, have been invited to attend. Tickets may be purchased by calling the Board of Realtors, 7-1844.

GARDEN GROVE'S $2,500,000 custom-built residential development, Mountain View Terrace, Inc., bounded by Euclid Ave., Nelson St. and Lampson and Chapman Aves., is offered by members of two nationally known construction families which date back to post-Civil War days in the industry. Left to right, above, they are (seated) Robert Netherby, president and treasurer, and George Munselle, executive vice president and secretary; (standing) Mrs. Marian Netherby; David Bixler and John Munselle, vice president.

Mountain View Terrace Builds in Garden Grove

Two nationally prominent construction families, each with three generations of varied, building background dating from the post-Civil War period, have combined their engineering knowhow in a unique $2,500,000 residential expansion program in Garden Grove. The Mountain View Terrace, Inc., headed by Robert and Marian Netherby and George and John Munselle, announced today that it will build 143 three-bedroom, custom-style homes in a price range of $11,350 to $16,550 in a new second unit of Mountain View Terrace. David Bixler will be vice president in charge of sales.

Color consultant for the program is Netherby's wife, Marian, with an art background at Mills College and the California College of Arts & Crafts, and a practical background as color stylist on many residential communities in all price brackets. At Mountain View Terrace, to increase the maximum variation already achieved by 36 distinctive elevations and floor plans, plus custom alterations offered by a draftsman always on the job, Mrs. Netherby has introduced Bermuda and Hawaiian, as well as the traditional Ranch and French Provincial decors.

George and John Munselle, whose family started in the building game just after the Civil War, also, are vice presidents of Mountain View Terrace. All the homes will be replete with luxury features commonly found in custom-built homes. A draftsman will be on duty full-time to help any prospective buyer make changes and re-arrange present plans to satisfy individual requirements. A look at Unit No. 1, now completed and 100 per cent sold and occupied, will convince the prospective buyer that Mountain View Terrace stands out for individuality, as against tract sameness, the developers declared.

Presidents to Entertain

The past presidents of the Long Beach Chapter of NOLMA will put on the April 14 program to show the membership "how it was done in the old days." They have built their presentation around the theme, "Shortcuts and Gadgets," and have secured for demonstration purposes many very interesting gadgets that are on the market today but are not well known to office management.

Past presidents of Long Beach chapter are Ed DeFreitas, Procter and Gamble; Irv Baechtold, American Latex Products; Don Wilson, Golden State Co.; Monroe Hubbell, Long Beach City College and Vito Romans, California Compensation Insurance Co.

Nominations for and election of officers and directors for the 1953-54 year will play an important part in the meeting. The past presidents of the chapter, under its constitution, also serve as the nominating committee.

The meeting will be held in the Lafayette Hotel Supper Room and will start at 6:30 p. m. Barney Bailey, president, will preside and Lloyd Stanley, vice president, will serve as program chairman.

Low Terms Offered at Newest Tract

Representatives of Palm Springs Desert Highlands Estates, with offices at 7260 Beverly Blvd., today announced that large, full-sized, level-homesites with all utilities in, and paid for may be purchased for as low as $95 down towards the full price of $995, on low monthly terms.

These lots, with fire hydrants, power, phones, etc., are a few short blocks from the world-famous Racquet Club.

The property, adjacent to the proposed site of the $10,000,000 Palm Springs aerial tramway up to Mt. San Jacinto, is close to schools, churches of all denominations, stores and the new Palm Springs recreational center.

'Non-Vet' Unit Draws Big Throng

More than 37,000 people have visited the exhibit of eight furnished model homes in Lakewood Plaza's "Non-Vet" unit since it was opened in mid-December. It was announced yesterday by officials of the Alden Construction Co., the developers.

The new unit is located north of Spring St. and a half-mile east of Bellflower Blvd. in the Lakewood district.

Each of the model homes is a different architectural style, and each is furnished in keeping with the home's style. Furnishings are by the Aaron Schultz furniture stores of Long Beach. The model dwellings are open for inspection every day of the week from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

There are 16 different elevations available, based on a number of different floor plans. Every home has three bedrooms or two bedrooms and den. All are being sold at the one price of $9495.

Because financing is through the FHA, non-veterans are given the same terms as veterans. Down payment is low, and monthly payments are $48.91 for principal, interest and FHA mortgage insurance.

Every living room has a wall of windows overlooking the rear garden. In many styles, the living room also has two walls paneled completely in ash or Philippine mahogany. The kitchen, described as "oversized," has a Waste King garbage pulverizer, coved and self-edged Westinghouse Micarta sink tops, and large built breakfast nook.

VARIED STYLES and functional, attractive interiors are typical of the new Happy Homes community at Elaine Ave. and Artesia Blvd. in Artesia, reflected by the above exterior. They are two-bedroom dwellings and priced at $7495.

Hills Opens New Personnel Agency

Leo A. and Maxine Hill announce the opening of Select Personnel Agency in the Insurance Exchange Bldg., at 205 E. Broadway.

The Hills are widely known here as they have been employed in this area for the past two years for a local agency. Hill was employed in the capacity of manager.

Prior to coming to California, Leo and Maxine owned their own agency in Missouri. They have been in the employment agency field for the past eight years.

Bill Barbee Named to National Institute

Barbara Moss, executive director of the Board of Realtors announces the appointment of Bill Barbee as local representative of the National Institute of Real Estate Brokers. One of the main duties of this representative is to encourage panel discussions on brokerage problems at the local board level.

This type of a program will acquaint the local real estate broker with what is new in the way of advertising, financing, taxation as it affects realty transactions, and other ideas that can be adapted to his own office.

Persistency Leader

H. J. Wulfsberg Jr., Long Beach life underwriter, associated with the H. D. Leslie Agency of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co. of Minneapolis, qualified for all four of his firm's leadership clubs in 1952. He was a volume, premium, net gain and persistency leader, ranking among the upper 10 per cent of the firm's national sales organization.

Happy Homes Nearing Sellout

Ed Krist, the veteran Southland builder whose Happy Homes have been his trademark for the past 30 years, yesterday announced that his current development of two-bedroom dwellings in Artesia at Elaine Ave. and Artesia Blvd. is nearing the sellout mark.

In three decades of budget-priced residential construction, covering more than 6000 homes, Krist has always adhered to his original policy of design and features for functional family living.

Economy of company operation is considered by the builder to be a vital factor in enabling him to offer maximum construction within the price range. It is the practice of Krist's firm to build only within a radius of six and one-half miles from the office, thus facilitating construction and service to home buyers.

As noted by Krist, several members of his staff have been with Happy Homes since he first entered the home-building field, and other factor credited by him for a high degree of efficiency in bringing his developments to the public.

Chapman Manor Has Practical Living Value

They say that the most important parts of a home are the kitchen and bath. That's why Chapman Manor Homes, with down payments as low as $855 offer so much value for practical living.

Spacious Chapman Manor kitchens have built-in electric Thermador ranges and ovens, handy double sinks, and garbage disposals. Chapman Manor baths offer Pullman lavatories and stall showers. Four bedroom homes, priced at $10,995, have two baths.

New Merchandise Center

A LAVISH NEW S & H Green Stamp merchandise center has been established in Butler Bros. Lakewood store at 5252 Lakewood Blvd. Customers holding green stamps can redeem them for merchandise.

Modern, Provincial Decor

MODERN DESIGN of this Lans-Dale Farm Estate provides contrast to the provincial motif of other three-bedroom, two-bath homes going on the market today in the new Santa Ana development on the west side of Bristol St., two blocks west of Flower St. and just north of 17th St. Barker Bros., Santa Ana, reflects the modern-provincial decor in its furnishing of "The Farmdale," typical of the dwellings priced from $13,405 with forced-air heat, wood-burning fireplaces and Kaiser built-in, automatic dishwashers among their many features.

Farm Estates Opens New Unit

A striking new treatment in modern decor with provincial background will be introduced today by Lans-Dale Farm Estates to the Santa Ana home market in "The Farmdale," model dwelling furnished by Barker Bros. Santa Ana.

Formal opening of the new community's first unit will launch 172 three-bedroom, two-bath homes on the west side of Bristol St., two blocks west of Flower St. and just north of 17th St. in Santa Ana. This represents the largest number of building permits ever issued at one time in that city.

Enriched by such features as forced-air heating with automatic control, New Freedom gas kitchens with Kaiser built-in automatic dishwashers, wood-burning fireplaces and stall showers, Lans-Dale Farm Estates are priced from $13,405.

Veterans may purchase the residences on down payments as low as $505, with monthly terms of $78.78 for principal and interest. Liberal terms are also in effect for non-veterans.

Informal California living is the theme of this new development, as projected in the 15 highly individualized elevations of rustic nature and as dramatically captured by the Barker Bros. interior decorators.

Situated at the corner of Bristol and Elm Sts., and open daily from 11 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., "The Farmdale" reveals furnishings designed to provide a happy marriage for young moderns in living room-dining area treatment of provincial prints and tweed textures of modern upholstered pieces. Provincial accessories and wrought iron also neatly complement the modern Cordovan-finish wood pieces.

Low slung modern and more flowing lines of French provincial make an equally at-home background for the antique decorative, French and Italian paintings.

It's in the master bedroom that formal decor emerges in rich colored mahogany, with provincial coming in full for the second bedroom and the den showing Pacific modern to advantage in the rustic setting.

Beauty Salon Opened Here by Kenneth Kane

Opening of a new beauty salon at 4340 Atlantic Ave. was announced yesterday by Kenneth Kane, prominent young Long Beach hair stylist.

Fitted with the latest in beauty equipment, the ultra-modern shop is decorated in pink, cocoa and coral. Dryer and booth chairs are chrome. An unusual feature is the nursery room, where small children may play, read or watch television while waiting for their mothers.

Kane, born and educated in Long Beach, has been associated with his brother, Harold Kane, for the past six years. He is a member of the Long Beach Hairdressers' Guild. He will be assisted by Ruby Yellis and Barbara Mickey, well known stylists.

Career Over Forty? Ask the Grandmother Who Has One!

By RUTH REECE

"Smile and the world smiles with you, but if you can laugh, that is better yet," believes Fanny MacEnroe, a Long Beach woman who is known in Southern California for her hilarious, human interest impersonations and dramatic book reviews.

Her talks cover practically every subject, in a bewildering sort of way, and in between the nonsense and infectious fun is injected a simple faith which one finds refreshing from present day tensions and worries.

"The world needs more humor," says Mrs. MacEnroe who believes if you have a sense of humor and an abiding faith, nothing can defeat you. Humor and faith are needed, too, she thinks, to save us from becoming a nation of neurotics and unhappy people. "Ever notice the worried, tense looks on the faces of so many people you meet on Pine Avenue? We all need to laugh more."

Known professionally as a humorist and book reviewer, Fanny MacEnroe is proof enough that any woman over 40 may have an inspiring career and also be an efficient wife and mother. In private life she is the wife of Thomas Howard MacEnroe, the mother of three grown sons, and is also a doting grandmother, but yet has found time to follow her chosen profession. She calls her work on the lecture platform her hobby, but if it ever became necessary for her to earn her own living she would have her hobby to fall back upon.

Her advice to every woman is to acquire some fascinating interest which supplements her career as a housewife. It will become more interesting as one grows older and may serve as a link to a career outside the home, if necessary.

"I find my audiences of women eager for books or lectures that will help them, individually, to strengthen their waning faith," Mrs. MacEnroe said. "People used to be embarrassed to talk about religion, but that has changed. There is definite yearning for some revival of religious faith which will give spiritual meaning to our lives." There seems to be a dearth of good humorous books, she pointed out, but among the ten best sellers are the new version of the Bible and Dr. Norman Vincent Peale's "The Power of Positive Thinking," a so-called religious volume.

Mrs. MacEnroe always has been interested in the theater, from the time she arranged costumes and shows among her playmates in the neighborhood where she lived, with herself in the leading roles. She holds degrees from Fargo College, N. D., and Emerson College of Oratory in Boston and has a master's degree from Northwestern University in speech and dramatics.

She lived in Boston after her marriage and it was while enacting character parts in a North Shore repertoire company on winter circuit that she decided to branch out for herself. She started by doing dramatic scenes from new books, but noticing that her audiences favored the more humorous characterizations she began poking fun at herself in some original skits, to the keen delight of her listeners who apparently had had similar experiences.

The first time she appeared before a Long Beach audience she recalls, it was at a luncheon where the centerpiece in front of her was one of those high, ornate affairs of many flowers in a slender vase. As

Entertain Friends at Buffet Friday

Entertaining at a buffet dinner party Friday evening for close friends were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth S. Wing. The hosts showed pictures of their recent trip to Europe during the evening. Invited guests were Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Avery, Joseph Fellows Jr., Frank Richey, Douglas Newcomb, E. T. Reedy, Lynn Hosom, Matthew Simpson, and from out-of-town, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hodges of Beverly Hills and Mr. and Mrs. A. Kleinbauer of Pacific Palisades.

Many Friends Bid Bon Voyage as Pierces Leave for Europe

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pierce of 21 La Linda Dr., who will sail from New York, April 28, for several months abroad, friends of the popular couple arranged a buffet dinner last evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Roscoe Howell, 3845 Lime Ave.

Delightful arrangements of spring flowers were used in the play room and living room where guests were seated at quartet tables. An arrangement of stock in orchid shades flanked by matching candles centered the lovely buffet table. Milton Arthur, on behalf of the group, presented a gift to the honored couple and bridge and canasta were enjoyed during the evening.

The Pierces are keenly anticipating a visit with their son, Lt. Col. Charles H. Pierce, his wife and children, Bob and Jean. Col. Pierce is on the staff of the Twelfth Air Force now stationed in Germany. The travelers also will tour points of interest in France, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium and The Netherlands and later in the summer will motor through Scotland, Ireland, England and Wales. On August 6, according to present plans, they will enplane at Glasgow for New York.

Guests bidding them bon voyage after a festive evening were Messrs. and Mmes. Milton B. Arthur, Harold Beckley, Charles Cahoon, J. W. Charleville, Howard Conn, John W. Craven, Sam Davis, R. Lee Graham, Russell Hodges, George Hove, Fred Hüscher, Walter Hunsaker, Raymond J. Kirkpatrick, George A. Lackey, King Light, Orson Lowe, Leo H. Lynes, Fred Matteson, L. A. Mayes, W. A. Minnick, Henry McKay, Llewellyn Phillips, Orio M. Rolo, Foster G. Strong, George A. Swift, J. Paul Walker, Lewis Van Copeland, Sidney T. Exley Jr., Lathan H. Brightman, Lawrence A. Collins Sr., Phillip J. Brady, Earl Burns Miller, John W. Persons, Logan Goodknight, J. Stowe Carney, LaVern H. Brinkman and John K. Hunter.

Parks Home Party Scene

The home of Mrs. Ben K. Parks at 5280 El Roble St. was the setting yesterday afternoon for a tea and china shower complimenting Mrs. Jack Roger, whose marriage has just been announced. Hostess for the attractive event was Miss JoAnn Parks, assisted by her mother, The bride, the former Ruth Ann Durnell, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Frank L. Durnell, was a school friend and sorority sister of the hostess at UCLA. A group gift of china was presented to the honoree.

For the occasion, the tea table was centered with an arrangement of peach blossoms and white stock. Mrs. Jack Roger Sr., mother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Durnell poured. Guests were Misses Anne De-Freese, Nancy Ridgeway, Binky Orr, Pat Denny, Eloise Moore, Linda Fisher, Shirley Swigert, Joan Welch Sharon Hilleary, Barbara Lauer, Jackie Kinney, Ann Hazelhurst, Ann Bishop, Carmen Perez, Miss Eloise Roquet of Anaheim; Mmes. Max Good of Hollywood; Mmes. Robert Linz, Don Ealy, Suzanne Marichal Taylor, Sam Smith, Wendell Gowedy, William Strickland and Marilyn Salters.

Mrs. Malone to Entertain

An Assistance League tradition every spring is the party the outgoing president gives for her board and committee members. Mrs. A. C. Malone, who will relinquish the gavel to Mrs. Ansel J. Olson April 27, will entertain the retiring staff Thursday at a brunch in Assistance League Clubhouse.

Pastel flowers will be used in decorating, and quartet tables will be graced by white organdy cloths over pastel table covers and centered with petite violet bouquets. Attending will be Mmes. Ward G. DeWitt, Arthur B. Green, George B. Hanson, Gerald Houts, William N. Deatherage, Dwight McFadyen, William H. Mead, Theodore Miles, Olson, Freeland C. Putnam, John Rowe, Marjorie Wise Sawyer, Mark L. Taylor, Fred E. Tucker Jr., George W. Van Dyke, Clayton S. Hunt, Copeland Green, Robert W. McClain, Sidney T. Exley Jr., Lathan H. Brightman, Lawrence A. Collins Sr., Phillip J. Brady, Earl Burns Miller, John W. Persons, Logan Goodknight, J. Stowe Carney, LaVern H. Brinkman and John K. Hunter.

Concert Guests

Hosts at dinner and the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra concert tonight at Municipal Auditorium will be Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Root of Palos Verdes. Their guests will be Mr. and Mrs. William A. Thompson Jr. of Palos Verdes and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schaefer of Rolling Hills. The party will have dinner at Virginia Country Club.

Sail to Hawaii

Mrs. H. L. Viets and Mrs. Ethel Richards, both of Long Beach, left on the Lurline Wednesday for their first trip to Hawaii. While in Honolulu, they will stay at the Edgewater Hotel. After viewing the important points of interest, plus trips to the other islands, the pair will return May 2.

Pi Phi Luncheon

Southern California Area Council of Pi Beta Phi will meet for luncheon at the Pasadena Huntington Hotel at noon next Saturday to honor their original founders. Hostesses will be Mrs. Glen Pratt, president of Long Beach Alumnae, and Mrs. John Pittblado.

Mmes. Gilkey, Clinton to Give Breakfast; Lockes Entertain Rotarians at Cocktails

By BETTY CAREY
Independent Women's Editor

It certainly behooves the 150 guests who have been invited to Pat Gilkey's and Margie Clinton's spring breakfast at the Assistance League Clubhouse on Wednesday to flip open the old bridge and canasta rule books and bone up a bit, because the awards will be something to inspire spirited competition. Pat's gifts will be little gems gleaned from her travels and will bear seals from Milan, Africa and Copenhagen. Not to be outdone a whit Margie set forth with three friends for a day of antiquing and they made some amazingly lucky finds.

Assisting the two hostesses will be Janie Brown, Barbara Corcoran, Bernice Sweningsen, Ina Harris, Merle Clarke and Etta Meyer.

Roses from her garden were combined with the bright hues of daffodils, iris and stock by Flora Bell (Mrs. Winchester) Stacy when she entertained at a bridge luncheon midweek in her Cedar Ave. home.

Friends assembling were Bess Green, Virginia Benedict, Sally Robbins, Bernice Donovan, Mildred Beckstrand, Eric Miller, Virginia Avery, Mildred Wing, Stella Campbell, Doris Brinkman, Mildred Halbert, Carol Richey, Irma Leebick, Frances Woolfin and Joyce Berry.

We'll wager that the single word most repeated in the Don and Marian Locke household this past year has been a resounding "Rotary." Don having been the busy president of that many-faceted organization. To wind up his year the Lockes have sent out 100 invitations to officers and chairmen of the outgoing and incoming boards and their wives for a cocktail party at their home, 277 Argonne Ave., next Friday eve. Incoming President Herb Davies and his wife, Ann, will be honored guests.

The Lockes' pretty daughter, Barbara, is planning a trip, by the way, and leaves April 22 to fly back to New York to spend a week with her fiancé, Bill Morrissey III, and his mother, Mrs. William G. Morrissey Jr. Plans are brewing for many a prenuptial fete for Barbara, beginning in May.

As is their semiannual custom, Blanche and Jim Bickel hosted at a party for members of the Long Beach Philharmonic and their conductor, Robert Resta, following a rehearsal last Thursday. They all trekked over to the Servicemen's Club for refreshments and much musicianly chit-chat. Blanche is president of the Philharmonic Association for several years, and is one of its staunchest supporters.

Jane (Ahlsvede) and Irvin La Grange have returned to Bakersfield following their two-month stay in Long Beach. And speaking of leavetakings, Jean and Clyde Dunlap embark April 18 for Europe and the coronation.

Word from Camilla and Perry Austin tells of their inspiring experiences spending Easter in Bethlehem. Other travel news involves Tiny Lucas, who flies over to Honolulu at month's end to join Norman for a couple of weeks of lazy island sojourning. Norm has been away a month, his ports of call including Anchorage and Fairbanks, Alaska, as well as Tokyo, Hong Kong and Manila. They'll return home together.

There's quite a bit of soft southern drawl out at Ann and Tom McCarty's Los Altos home, where Ann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Pickard of Chattanooga, Tenn., are houseguests for several weeks. Enjoying their cute grandchildren is at the top of the list of their entertainment.

On Easter afternoon small Teresa Lobdell arrived to brighten the menage of Nancy (Lower) and Bob Lobdell over in Hermosa Beach, and Marion Heedwohl is bustling back and forth between here and there in true grandmotherly fashion.

Stanford Alumni Slate Dance

First event of the club season being planned by Stanford Club of Long Beach will be a dinner dance May 1 at Wilton Hotel.

Already making arrangements for the fete is the activities committee which includes Mrs. James Kresl, chairman; Mrs. John Clarke, Miss Bette Cree, Mrs. W. Milton McGrew, Don C. Wallace Jr., A. A. Carrey and Wadieh S. Shibley.

Guest of honor at the dance will be Joseph J. Burris, president of the Stanford Alumni Association. Music will be provided by Carl Vidano and the Merry-makers.

Alumni should make reservations with Mrs. Kresl, 3924 Pine Ave.

Unique Homes on Display

Interest is mounting in the fourth annual Peninsula Homes Tour, April 25 and 26th, from noon to 5 p. m. The tour, sponsored by the advisory council, is for the benefit of Palos Verde College situated in Rolling Hills.

Four outstanding homes have been chosen for this year's tour. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Roland G. Swaffield, at 2 Crest Road, is a striking example of spacious country living. The Portuguese Bend home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Reist offers a conservative modern designed for comfortable living for a family with young children. As efficient, as graceful, as beautiful as the lines of a yacht is the award winning, modern home of the Arch Eklades. Presenting the unique experience of a view of the Pacific to the east, this home, a masterpiece of shipwright's craft, is modern architecture at its best.

Entirely different from the other three is the beach home of the Eli Hedley's. Built of driftwood and native stone and utilizing every treasure that the sea has cast up, this home, echoes the warmth and personalities of its occupants, and promises the newcomer a thrilling experience.

Tickets in the form of brochures containing interesting facts about each house, suggested by the owners, will be on sale at the Plaza and the days of the tour, at each house, at the Gatehouse of the Portuguese Bend Club. Mrs. John B. McDonald is chairman of the tour.

Coffee Hour Slated at Cree Home

A coffee hour is slated Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock by Long Beach alumnae of Scripps College to honor prospective Scripps students, their mothers, and young women now attending the college from the Long Beach Palos Verdes Estates, San Pedro, Lynwood and Compton areas.

Setting for the fete will be the home of Miss Bette Cree of 4458 Pacific Ave.

Pouring will be Mrs. Howard S. Jeans, chapter chairman; Mrs. Walter von KleinSmid and Mrs. Chester Yunker.

Dr. Richard Armour, Scripps professor of literature, will give comments on the college and show pictures of the campus.

Students attending will be Misses Barbara Ann Yunker, Shirley von KleinSmid, Pat Belcher, Mary Jane Ferris, Dawn Gardner, Diane Houts, Barbara Parks, Barbara Kimmie, Polly Ann Garverick, Canale Clark, Olive Mull, Janet Reynolds, Judith MacKinnon, Terry McAuliffe, Audre Mendenhall, Christine Richards and Julie Yetter.

Hostesses will be Mmes. Harlan S. Moore, Orville Hastings, Bert Paul, Llewellyn Bixby Jr., Lauren Conley, E. W. Thompson, Howard C. Woods, Joseph P. Kesler, Misses Goldie Harcus and Helen Newcomb, and from Palos Verdes, Mmes. Boris Woolley, A. S. Hoak and Carlton Paul.

College officers who will be guests include, Nancy Shroyer, student body president; Nancy Mayer, president-elect; Miss Marion Winne, assistant to the president, and Elizabeth Zilles, alumnae secretary.

Singing for Fun

Another Musical to Brighten Stage

By ELAINE LAMPROS

The dividing line between the professional and the amateur is often very thin, and when members of Singers Workshop gather their talents for a production the boundary, as far as quality is concerned, is practically erased. Visible results of their efforts may be seen next Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings when they open their ninth production, "Music in the Air" by Jerome Kern in the concert hall of Municipal Auditorium.

Between the nucleus and finished production though lies a lot of hard work, practice and problems. For in a show, such as the current vehicle, cast members must be actors as well as singers. Henri Scanlon, guiding force behind the workshop and in charge of all stage production, explained that "Music in the Air" is a combination of musical comedy, drama, and light opera—really a musical adventure. The plot is so good it could be presented alone as a play. To aid the performers, most of whom are non-professional, he added, "We have our own body movement class to train the cast to act as well as sing."

Only six members of the workshop are interested in singing as a career while others, as Scanlon, who is employed at J. J. Mottells, devote their spare time.

Many persons in the audience probably wonder how the shows are selected and financed. To answer the first question, Scanlon said, "We took a poll of the audience at the last performance and the results influenced us in choosing the show." The money situation is easily explained by looking ahead to the next presentation. No one in the cast receives a salary except the professional orchestra, and profits are used to finance the next undertaking of the group. On one of the first large productions, "Roberta," members of the cast backed the show with their own money.

Since the production is made up of nonprofessionals many dancers and singers are selected to swell the ranks of the 60 workshop members after the show gets under way. Family members often join the show. Scanlon noted that the current musical boasts of 15 children and a Dutch bear, played by William Van Veen, husband of Anna, a singer who came here from Holland.

During the three months preparation time, the cast is busy at rehearsals which lengthen from one to two nights a week as opening night draws near and helping create the sets.

C. Blaine Ellefson, who has worked with Fred Waring, is in charge of music direction. Among the songs featured in this musical, which ran 380 performances on Broadway, are "The Song Is You," "Why Was I Born?," "All the Things You Are" and "I've Told Every Little Star." Scanlon, who was in the original show, believes Pat Zieg and Harvey Wagner who play the two leads; Tanya Marloff, an Hungarian opera singer, and Bruno Mahler, a playwright, respectively, will do as good a job as the two original stars, John Charles Thomas and Ira Petina.

Other main characters in the play, laid in Germany and Switzerland, are Betty Kimber, as Sieglinde Lessing and Troy English as Karl Rader, the play's other romantic duo, and Arthur Carrah, as Dr. Walter L. Lessing, music master and father of Sieglinde.

Typical of the professional effects awaiting theatergoers will be one scene which will be played in the orchestra pit and in the house. "It runs the emotions from slapstick comedy to drama," Scanlon said and added that "Every bit of dialogue is set to music."

Tickets for the musical, which is being presented on the west coast for the first time since 1942, may be obtained beginning today at the box office at Municipal Auditorium.

REMEMBER all the headlines about war brides arriving by the thousands in the U. S. after World War II? By now chances are you have passed by a war bride at a supermarket or met one at a PTA meeting and never realized she wasn't a native-born American housewife. Representative of these completely Americanized wives are Mrs. John Halden, 3676 Lomina Ave., formerly of England, who is president of the Long Beach Chapter of Cosmopolitan Associates, a social club for war brides, and other members, from left, Mrs. Dan L. Cummings, Germany; Mrs. Doyle Whipple, Australia; Mrs. Clay Benton, Ireland; Mrs. Gene Whitter, Scotland; Mrs. Benton and Mrs. Whitter leave tomorrow from New York for the British Isles to attend the coronation ceremonies.

Among Career Women

Vivian Showalter Leads Margaret Ives B&PW; Hospital Party, Narcotics Talk, Among Events

By ANNE GILCHRIST

The usual description, "regular business meeting and election of officers," has a routine sound far, far removed from the actual excitement and color of such an occasion.

No exception was election of new officers by Margaret Ives Business and Professional Women when they held "regular business meeting" last Monday.

After ballots were counted, these new officers were enthusiastically greeted: Vivian Showalter (Veterans' Hospital), president; Maud McNeil (Dept. of Motor Vehicles), 1st vice-president; Laura Jane Walters (executive secretary, U. S. Navy Relief), 2nd vice-president; Ellen McConnell (teacher, Wilmington), 3rd vice-president; Nettie Evans (Probation Dept.), recording secretary; Zazell Becker (rancher), corresponding secretary; Clare Christie (Douglas Aircraft), treasurer.

Another announcement of great interest to the membership was that on May 3 their outgoing president, Marguerite Dougherty, will be installed, along with other new officers, as secretary-treasurer of the Harbor Section of B.&P.W. Installation will take place at a tea to be held at the YWCA in Torrance.

Friday night Quota Club had an "adoption" party for Ward C at Long Beach General Hospital and the affair heralded a series of such parties and courtesies for the women patients of that ward who will be assisted in every way possible by members of Quota.

Six members were hostess at this first party and brought cake and ice cream for all, as well as attractive gifts for 10 of the patients who have had birthdays since the first of the year. Hostesses for the evening were co-chairmen of the project, Dr. Sylvia Kahlstrom and June Giddings, as well as President Marguerite Wood, Katherine Wiand, Geneva Parker, and Fanny MacEnroe.

Officer Fred Goode of the Long Beach Police Dept. Narcotics Detail, was introduced by President Madeleine Ferguson at regular dinner meeting of the Queen Beach Chapter of National Secretaries Tuesday night at the Coast Inn. There followed an intensely interesting hour for the secretaries as Officer Goode talked, showed motion pictures, still pictures, and implements of drug addiction.

Long Beach National Business and Professional Women will have a dinner meeting Monday at the Willmore Coffee Shop at 6:30. Speaker for the evening will be R. E. Oliver, professor at City College Business and Technology Division.

Dental Assistants will hold regular dinner meeting tomorrow night at the Fireside in San Pedro beginning at 7 p. m. The Fireside is located at 600 S. Gaffey.

Speaker for the evening will be Lou Andrietta of the Ney Gold Co. He will talk on gold inlay technique. President Rose McIlvaine will be in charge.

Three DAR Groups to Make Good Citizenship Awards

Three chapters of the Daughters of the American Revolution have scheduled important meetings Tuesday, when good citizenship pins will be awarded.

The annual luncheon of Long Beach Chapter honoring the good citizenship winners chosen from the high school girls of the area will be held at noon Tuesday at the Lafayette Hotel. Selected by the students and faculty members of their respective schools and finally by the good citizenship committee of the state, the winners are Miss Shirley Bockman of Jordan High School and Miss Teresa Blando of Banning High School, Wilmington.

Miss Clara McPherson will present the awards, and Miss Laura Moore, regent, will preside. Reports will be made by Miss Moore and Mrs. James Radcliff, vice regent, concerning the state conference which they attended as official delegates of the chapter. Luncheon reservations may be made with Mmes. Martin Cronin or Glen Taylor.

Several honored guests will attend a meeting of Gaviota Chapter Tuesday at Municipal Art Center when Miss Edith Mattoon, chairman of the good citizenship pilgrimage committee, will present a good citizenship pin to Marilyn Vickers, winning candidate. Mrs. Jean Leach Brown, chairman of the DAR Manual, will introduce two newly naturalized citizens for recognition of outstanding work. Guest speaker will be an exchange student from the Philippine Islands who will be presented by the program chairman, Mrs. H. P. Dunlop. The regent, Mrs. Arthur S. Phillips, will preside. Tea hostess will be Mrs. E. O. Anderson.

Los Cerritos chapter will meet for luncheon Tuesday at the Lafayette Hotel, when good citizenship awards will be presented by Mrs. L. W. O'Brien, chairman, to the winners from local high schools.

Speaker will be Neal Clark, a member of the Gavel Club. Mrs. Robert S. MacGregor, regent, will preside.

RESIDING AT 2021 Appleton St. following their marriage at Little Church of the West, Las Vegas, Nev., are Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Enault (Ellynne Duncan). The bride has been a registered nurse in the office of Dr. V. DeMott Sedgwick for many years. A romantic note is that the pair met 20 years ago when both were on a tour of the Dutch East Indies. The bridegroom, formerly of Long Beach, is director of Orange County Fruit Growers Exchange and past master of Garden Grove Masonic Lodge. Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Fox of Long Beach, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, were the couple's only attendants at the wedding which was performed by Rev. Albert C. Melton.

Rear Adm. Gehres to Speak at GOP Luncheon Wednesday

By RUTH REECE
Press-Telegram Club Editor

A number of interesting speakers have been scheduled for this week's club calendar, including Rear Admiral Leslie E. Gehres, USN (ret.), a veteran of 32 years' service, and a member of the "High Hats," the Navy's famed squadron of precision and stunt fliers and a contributor to the development of naval aviation techniques.

The officer will be the afternoon speaker at a meeting of the Long Beach Council of Republican Women Wednesday in the Marine Room of the Wilton Hotel. This will mark the first session of the council with the new date and meeting place.

In 1944 at his own request, Gehres reverted to the rank of captain in order to take command of the carrier, "USS Franklin." His exploits as skipper of the vessel were commemorated in the motion picture, "Task Force."

Mrs. Logan H. Goodknight will preside and the program will be presented by Mrs. J. R. Grizzle. At the morning session at 11 o'clock, speaker will be Miss Evelyn Whitlow, Los Angeles attorney, whose subject will be "The Treaty Clause in the United States Constitution." Junior Auxiliary to the council will meet in the Aviation room of the Wilton Hotel at 11 a. m. with luncheon in the Sky Room. Members will join the general assembly at 1 p. m. for the afternoon meeting. Luncheon reservations are to be made with Mrs. J. Allen Sprague. Mrs. Donald C. Spring, chairman, will preside.

Annette Kellerman, internationally famous aquatic performer and star of screen and stage whose life story recently was filmed with Esther Williams in the role of Miss Kellerman, will be honored guest at the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Auxiliary hobby luncheon at 11:30 a. m. Thursday in the South American Room of Town Hall.

Mrs. William E. Escobar, general chairman for the event, will present Ralph Stewart of Stewart's Ceramics of Laguna Beach and Mrs. N. E. Pillet, hobby expert of Pasadena. The latter will tell her views of "What a Hobby Means to You." Special guests will be Dr. Zina Symeonides, Kenny technician, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Robertson, Mrs. Paul Pennick, and Iver A. Anderson, executive director of the Kenny Foundation who will speak on the Sister Kenny Memorial Annex to the El Monte Polio Hospital which serves the Long Beach area.

Among Auxiliary members who will be exhibiting hobbies are: Mrs. Violet Berg, leathercraft; Mrs. Erwin F. Schmitt, weaving; Mrs. Lee Carr, knitting; Mrs. Harold F. Baker, children's clothes; Mrs. T. C. Turnham, hats; Sigmon, woodcarving; Mrs. Charles Koller, aprons; Mrs. J. W. Rainey, leather tooling; Mrs. W. W. Webber, decorative arts; Mrs. Eva G. de Robinson, Spanish art; Mrs. Anthony Escobar, trophies; and Mrs. Vee Escobar, porcelain ceramics. Mrs. Philip M. Thompson, president of the Long Beach Auxiliary, will exhibit ceramic slippers, the emblem of Sister Kenny's work, "That More May Walk."

The Sister Kenny motion picture film will be shown. Bridge and canasta will follow the luncheon, and door awards will be distributed. Reservations may be made with Mmes. Thompson, Gertrude Winslow, or Eugene O. Hoiabird. Mrs. Harold F. Baker is in charge of decorations; Mrs. Fred R. Schwarz, tickets; and Mrs. Frank Ellsworth, hostesses.

Nomination of new officers will high light a meeting of North Long Beach Women's Club Wednesday, following a 11 a. m. brunch in Houghton Park clubhouse. Mrs. Vinton Pease will preside. The program chairman, Mrs. Earl F. Heise, will present as speaker, Fred M. Judson, whose topic will be "It's a Wonderful Life."

Mrs. Alice Hawkins, chairman of Group Seven, and her committee, will be hostesses for the day.

Madeline Heller will be hostess for a luncheon at 1 p. m. Tuesday at the Greenbrier Inn in Garden Grove for members of the Guild of Women Composers. Gladys Comstock Smith will preside. Plans will be made for the guild's reciprocity concert.

Alamitos Bay Garden Club is announcing its annual spring party at the Balboa Bay Club for Thursday, with the president, Mrs. Leslie M. Plimpton, in charge. Following luncheon, a fashion show featuring patio and sports attire will be presented by the club. Bridge and canasta will conclude the afternoon.

Mrs. Emmert Sink ways and means chairman, heads the committee in charge. She is being assisted by Mmes. Ray Copeland, George Hart Jr., Charles Oliver, Lewis Reese, Clifford Reunan, and Monroe Weill.

West Long Beach Exchange will meet at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the home of Mrs. Henry Hahn, 108 Roswell Ave. Miss Gertrude Eakin, executive secretary of the YWCA, will speak on "Your Neighbor and Mine."

"A Trip to the Holy Land" will be described by Dr. A. J. Casner when Allied Arts International meets at 8 p. m. Thursday in Municipal Art Center. He will show pictures of the trip. Soloist will be Philip Sirignano, with Lillian Eubank as accompanist.

Story League will meet at 1:30 p. m. Monday in the home of Mrs. Earl Heise, 6516 California Ave. Seasonal stories will be told by members.

Everybody -- but EVERYBODY in Downey Is Travel-Bound

By DONNA RAY HALE

Everyone--yes, just everyone--in Downey was traveling this week, or so it seemed. If a person had not already been somewhere, he was planning to go and such wonderful places as there were on these itineraries.

Just back from a six-week sojourn in the Hawaiian Islands are Mrs. Emma J. Myers and her sister, Mrs. Ada B. Rose, who had a perfectly delightful time seeing all the sights, attending luaus, and touring gardens. When they had been there two weeks, they were joined by their brothers, Varney and Frank Jerome.

They were house guests of Mrs. Mary Yap and her family for awhile, later taking a house of their own for the duration of their visit. Mrs. Yap had been a guest of the sisters here.

They visited Hilo and motored around the island to Kona. It was Mrs. Myers' first trip over and she was fascinated by the beautiful flowers and plants. The sisters came home with quite a collection of the exotic flora, especially orchids and many varieties of ti plants, which are put to so many uses in the Islands.

Those they brought have leaves of green and many other colors. Many were gifts of friends who knew that they were plant fanciers. They made the trip to Hawaii via air and returned on the Lurline.

By the time this goes to press, Gabriel Ispidi (known to Downeyites as "Uncle Gabriel") is well on his way on a long anticipated journey to his native Italy, which he has not visited since 1930.

He left Monday by train for New York to embark on the S. S. Constitution for Genoa, where he will be met by Enzo Nelli, brother of George Nelli of Downey. He will be entertained by Nelli and his family. He plans to visit Florence, his birthplace, and tour all parts of Italy during several months abroad.

Call of the wide open spaces was heeded by Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wheeler and their sons, David and Michael, who chose a snug cabin in Montezuma Valley for an Easter vacation of fishing and hunting for Indian relics, pastimes enjoyed by all members of the family.

Caesar Mattei is back in Downey after a trip to that city of marvelous cuisine and old world French atmosphere. New Orleans, where he accompanied the Al Malakiah Shrine 45-piece band as a saxophonist. En route the band stopped at El Paso, Texas, and Juarez, Mexico, for short engagements. Mattei is bandmaster and musical instructor at Downey High.

Enjoying the sights of Las Vegas, Nev., for the week end are Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Brevig. The occasion is her birthday.

This young lady is "going places" but not in the sense of our other travelers, because Miss Jackie Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Homer Jones of Downey is making an outstanding record for herself on the USC campus, where she has just been elected president of her social sorority, Alpha Omicron Pi. She also can look forward to a journey to Memphis, Tenn., this summer where the alumnae will send her to the annual sorority convention.

Her list of successes began at Downey High School, where she was in many dramatic productions and served as business manager of the school annual. When she entered S.C. where she now is a sophomore, she served on the freshman and sophomore councils, was secretary for Associated Women Students, poster chairman for the YWCA, and is a Spur.

As a freshman, she received an award as "outstanding pledge" and has just acquired the annual silver bracelet at the Alpha Omicron Pi alumnae breakfast as outstanding AOPi college student.

Social life is not the only interest of this young woman, who is hard at work at the serious business of becoming an occupational therapist. And, just to make the picture complete, she is "pinned" to Squire secretary, Joseph Allen Thomas, Theta Chi.

MARRIED in Greenwich Wedding Chapel were the former Lucille Ethel Sires, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sires of Norwalk, and Clarence M. Pearson, son of Mrs. Lorene Pearson of Whittier, by Rev. George Jenkins. The bride wore ice blue taffeta and net and carried a white orchid on a Bible. The pair will reside in East Whittier.

Invitations Out to Ball

The familiar seal of St. Francis Hospital Guild will appear on invitations soon to be arriving in Southland mailboxes announcing the annual Spring Ball. It will be Saturday, May 9 at the Clock Country Club, 14000 Telegraph Rd.

Special table decorations are being created for the affair with awards to be presented to the most unique and artistic.

Hostess for tea, complimenting the planning committee was Lynwood resident, Mrs. Herman Yaffee, 3701 Palm Ave.

Members and guests bidden to attend were Mrs. Nelo Norman, president of the guild; Mrs. H. R. McMeekin, co-chairman with Mrs. Yaffee for the ball; Mrs. B. J. Little, Mrs. Victor Hardin, Mrs. Richard Rauck, Mrs. June Cougeon, Mrs. Neva Bell Trager, Mrs. Peggy Pender, Mrs. Pat Sprague, Mrs. W. A. Williams, Mrs. Joseph Huard, Mrs. Helen Bruley, Mrs. Esther Lipschultz, Mrs. J. E. Madden and Mrs. Estes M. Tartar.

Advance reservations may be directed to Mrs. Yaffee.

Norwalk Notes

Seabridges Hosts in New Desert Home

By ELEANOR ZIMMERMAN

Lee and Bertha Seabridge have returned from their new desert home just completed at Martinez Lake, 35 miles north of Yuma, Ariz. Lee, with the help of friends, has been building for two years, and at long last has the outside coat of paint gleaming in the sun!

Among the visitors who enjoyed the super-abundance of bass, catfish, bluegill, to say nothing of the sunshine and desert blooms, were Mr. and Mrs. Willis Millard, Mrs. Ruth Leeson, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Finch, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Seabridge, all of Norwalk. Also, Mrs. Walter Jacoby, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jacoby and Vincent Schulte, all of Norwalk. Mr. Richard Reeves of Huntington Beach and Mrs. Fay Boone of Long Beach.

Our favorite feminine figure this week is a brown-eyed beauty of 18 summers, Miss Harry Dell Logsdon, a senior at Excelsior High. Her claim to fame stems from the recent award of a two-year college scholarship from the Norwalk Business and Professional Women.

Harry Dell is the eldest of five children of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Logsdon. Born in Arizona, she has received all of her schooling in Norwalk. She has served on the ways and means committee of CSF at Excelsior, is taking a business course and hopes to become an executive secretary. Her choice of a school, Long Beach City College.

Harry Dell is employed week ends and summers at a local hardware store, where she now knows the nuts from the bolts! We take a personal pride in this well-deserved award because HD and her sister, Hube, have been our favorite baby sitters for the last five years!

Baby pictures and dirty faces are admittance requirements for the "kid" party to be given to-night by the Couples' Class of Bethany Congregational Church. Promising an evening of hilarity are hosts: Bryan and Vivian Shelton, Cliff and Tink Smith, and Dave and Peggy Pettilo.

A 10-horse carousel and a professional clown promise a big fifth birthday celebration today for Roderick Medigovich, the son of Roy and Ruby. A carousel cake and favors will further carry out the circus theme for the lucky 24 kiddos.

on the guest list. And then Tuesday, which is actually the birth date, Roderick will play host to his classmates at Southern California Military Academy with the carousel again in action and more goodies in store.

Jackie Ballard, observing his first birthday, turned the tables on parents, Bob and Sally, by presenting them with his first steps. Already buttons, crayons and pills are being relegated to the top shelves in the cupboard.

Hanford and Shirley Rants are making their hobby of attending TV shows that pay off. Recent "loot" acquired by stunts and correct answers include an electric shaver, electric blanket, lingerie, hats and gowns for milady. Jim and Helton Luper have been going along for the laughs.

Lorraine Lewis, outgoing president of the Nettie L. Waite PTA, was hostess to the unit executive board at a potluck luncheon in her La Mirada home on Wednesday.

Toni and Gene Dugan and their young daughter are visiting from Seattle and the Air Force in the home of Gene's parents, "Pop" and Alma Dugan.

Stan and Vi Wright of Downey were welcome guests at the Toastmasters' ladies' night meeting Monday, and the genial Scotsman installed new officers for a six-month term. Special tribute was paid Barney Flansburg, founder of the local club, who was absent following a recent operation. 'Tis true that Barney and Grace, who have been attending installations for seven years, were missed in the hospitality corner.

Sally McComb and Eleanor Baker are heading the local residential Cancer Society drive to be held this Tuesday from noon to nine. Volunteer section chairmen include LaVerne Wilson, Thelma Clark, Marge Hunter, Blanche Holmes, Alma De Spain, Cecile Grieshaber, Hazel Brown, D. McKown, Helen Redman, Lela Geiser, Fairy Ott, Doreen Hudson, Jackie Mullins, Irma Lautrup, Helen Bradford, Barbara Frazee, Gretchen Gusenhoven and Helen Flanders.

Also honored on his birthday was Vernon Rimmer, whose mother, Mrs. Maude Julene, hosted a dinner party for him. Enjoying the happy occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Rimmer and Beverly of Rivera, Mrs. Julene's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Costner of Rivera, Mrs. Julene's sisters, Gertrude S. Hart and Lora Z. O'Dell of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Axel Lundgren, Los Angeles, parents of Mrs. Rimmer, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorne, of Eagle Rock and Chauncey Law of Los Angeles.

Members of the cast of the Garden Grove High senior class play, "Arsenic and Old Lace" by John Kesselring, presented Thursday and Friday evening in the Fitz auditorium were the guests of Ronal Perrot at a party in their honor at his home. Attending the event were Pat Eastman, Phala Jo Thomas/Bob Rylance, Gary Davidson, Russell Mertens, Pat Orr, Patty Broch, Howard Blackman, Jack Wilson, Roland Lindstrom, Richard Vinzant, Cliff O'Hern, Bill Boswell, Ray Dewitt, Peg Whigby, Martha Davis, Pat Richtmeyer, Shirley Rice, Roger Aten and Bob Schlicht.

The guests enjoyed dancing to phonograph records and refreshments were served to the group. Celebrating her 14th birthday with a party in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Davis, was their daughter Margaret. Assisting at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Hokanson.

Also honored on his birthday was Vernon Rimmer, whose mother, Mrs. Maude Julene, hosted a dinner party for him. ## Double Wedding Sets Social Pace for Bellflower-Artesia

By GERTRUDE STOFFELS

Diverse activities in the Bellflower-Artesia area included a lovely garden wedding in which two sisters, Miss Ruth Aileen Harvey and Miss Rebecca Rose Harvey, became the brides of twin brothers, Richard and John Scharn, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scharn, Bellflower.

The brides are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Harvey of Denver, Colo. The four young persons met while attending Pasadena College, where the twins are studying in preparation for entering the ministry.

Four hundred guests attended the outdoor ceremony, which took place on the lawn of the Nazarene Church in Downey, where single ring vows were simultaneously recited between Richard and Rebecca and John and Ruth amid a picturesque setting of white lilies, candelabra and a white cross enclosed within a white picket fence. Officiating and jointly pronouncing them man and wife were Rev. James Jackson, brother-in-law of the bridegrooms, and Rev. Leroy Daniels.

Attired in identical gowns of white satin tulle, the brides were given in marriage by their father. Completing their wedding attire were fingertip-length veils. Each carried a bouquet of white orchids and baby lilies.

Bridal attendants, also wearing identical gowns of white marquisette over pastel shades of yellow, lavender and aqua, were Miss Viola Brown, maid of honor for Ruth, whose bridesmaids were Miss Erlene Williams and Miss Helen Silbaugh. Rebecca's attendants were Miss Beth Bond, maid of honor; Miss Neveva Jones and Miss Gordon Payne, bridesmaids. Flower girl and junior bridesmaid, respectively, were Miss Suzanne Carol and Miss Norma Mae De Board. Serving as best man for John was Michael Polino.

Richard's best man was Clint Ingram. Ushers were Monte Davis, Paul Mille, Paul Bodine and Joseph Wright. Junior usher and ring bearer, respectively, were Jimmy and Jerry Jackson, nephews of the bridegrooms. Performing duties of candle-lighting and ushering mothers of the bridal foursome were Charles Harvey Jr. and Roy Smith.

Mrs. Norma De Board, sister of the bridegrooms, and Fred Harvey, brother of the brides, served as vocalists. The ceremony was followed by a reception in the social hall of the church.

Choosing opposite directions for their wedding trips, Richard and his bride will travel north to San Francisco, while John and his new bride have chosen to go to San Diego. The newlyweds will live in Pasadena until the young husbands will receive their master's degree in the fall of this year.

When 11 Artesia girls started out for a day in Hollywood accompanied by two mothers, they were pleasantly surprised when they were given gifts and invitations during their tour of radio and television studios. One of the girls, Janet Lyman, was honored when she was chosen by Jack McElroy to open his TV show, during which she was presented with a box of candy.

They also received invitations to attend a hayride, horseback ride and a picnic at Sunset Ranch. On the Jack Owens radio cast two of the girls, Alyce Milroy and Janet Lyman, and one of the mothers, Mrs. Nova Chapin, each received a beautiful corsage from the star of the show, who also honored them by crooning a song to them.

Other places visited by the group were the Art Linkletter show, Bill Stula's parlor party and Grauman's Chinese Theater. Others participating in the tour were Virginia Chapin, Jane Milroy, Cara Lee Hudson, Louanne Burk, Jackie Rootlieb, Leola Sharp, Chaeleen and Sandra Berg, Mary Gilchrist and Mrs. Helen Berg.

Community concertgoers who attended the closing night of the season's concert series Monday evening at the John Simms Park auditorium received a rare treat in the presentation by the Community Concert Association of Camilla Wicks, an outstanding violinist who has been acclaimed a phenomenon in European countries.

Pretty usherettes who were on hand to assist in seating those who attended the affair were the following members of the Theta Rho girls: Yvonne Harper, Louise Harper, Linda Edwards, Vonnice Hauser, Sue Neibold, Velma Neal and Mary Ellen Oliver.

Dinners, Birthdays, Showers Concern Garden Grove Folk

By CARMELA CLARK

Easter dinners with families and friends spotlight the Garden Grove social calendar of the past week.

Guests at the Roger Howell home in Imperial Acres Sunday for the traditional ham dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Tim Armstrong, Bowen Howell, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Howell of Long Beach and Mrs. Helen Howell, who is visiting here from Wyoming.

The Wink Cades' guests were Ophra's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Briggs of Long Beach, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sanders and children John and Janet of San Bernardino, Mrs. Zulla Spangler, San Bernardino, and her mother, Mrs. Mary Coon, of Muscatine, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolen M. Minson were hosts at dinner for Dr. and Mrs. Charles Williams Temple, Santa Ana, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Blackburn and children Donnie and Sue of Riverside.

Other social events included showers honoring approaching stork visits. Mrs. Eugen Albrecht was honored guest at a shower in the home of Mrs. Ruby Henderson. Assisting Mrs. Henderson were Mrs. Arthur Swezey and Mrs. Bruce Akin.

A table centered with pink and white flowers served as a buffet table for the refreshments.

Bidden to the event were Mrs. Dee Michales, Willa Mae Holcomb, Virginia Stout, Elaine Martin, Fern Thorne, Dorothy Abbott, Marie Goff, Zelma Yapp, Bernice Cook, all of Garden Grove; Mrs. Ernest Rutul, Stanton; Mrs. Lella Easton, Santa Ana; Mrs. Nell Abramson, Long Beach; Mrs. Vern Newton and Miss Nan Keegan, Anaheim.

The home of Mrs. Helen Christensen was the scene of a shower honoring Mrs. Cecil Warner. Hostess was Mrs. Conway Nellson.

The table was centered with a large stork and baby bootie favors were filled with candy and nuts.

Attending were Goldie Sadler,

Easy Dessert

Here's a "baked" new coconut crust that's made in your refrigerator. It's a fudge-like chocolate version that's out of this world. Melt 2 squares unsweetened chocolate and 2 tablespoons butter in the top of a double boiler. Combine 2 tablespoons milk or water with ½ cup sifted confectioner's sugar and add to the chocolate mixture, stirring well. Add 1½ cups shredded coconut, and mix well. Spread mixture in bottom and sides of greased 9-inch pie pan. Chill. To serve, fill with ice cream or your favorite chilled pudding filling.

Gay Garnish

A little grated orange or lemon rind goes well as a garnish to some cream soups.

Club Begins Cancer Drive

Seven sections of the Woman's Civic Club of Garden Grove start their annual door-to-door canvass for the National Cancer Crusade to raise funds to support the American Cancer Society's program of research service and education.

Garden Grove has been divided into seven areas, each one will be covered by one section of the club. The entire crusade is being sponsored by the Woman's Civic Club in the Garden Grove area.

Mrs. Howard Johnson and Mrs. Robert F. Knoll head the arts and crafts section. Mrs. C. Walter Rodenmayer and Mrs. C. Donald MacGregor, the social section, Mrs. L. L. Trout the garden section and Mrs. Roscoe Glockley will head the contract bridge section.

Heading the booklovers section is Mrs. Lewis Andrews, with Mrs. John Murray and Mrs. Lee Roy joining to handle the area assigned to the junior matrons section. The music and drama section, headed by Mrs. Whitley and Mrs. J. M. Whitley will canvass a certain area while Mrs. Helen McArdle of the Garden Grove Florists will represent the Orange County Florists' Association.

April 18. This day, the sale of corsages and boutonnieres throughout will benefit the crusade.

Do you have a wobegone walk or do you seem to face up to life?
A shuffling, spiritless walk, with your head drooping and your knees like water, can make worthless the time and money you've invested in clothes because the figure you bought them for isn't there any more. All your best beauty points are wasted when you don't move gracefully.
To get yourself into line, concentrate on your rib cage. Stand with feet together and take several deep, slow breaths, until you feel your waistline pulled up out of your stomach.
Then walk off with feet pointing straight ahead, moving your legs from the hips, and your chin at a right angle to your body. Pick up your foot very definitely before you set it down again to avoid any tendency to drag. Let your feet strike the ground very lightly, heels first.
As you walk, feel your head is touching the sky or that you are displaying a badge of honor on your chest or balancing a pail of water on your head. Any trick of this kind when borne in mind will do wonders to help you walk beautifully.

Come Spring, Socialites Frolic

Hope Tuesday is a sparkling day because there's going to be a sparkling party at the Virginia Country Club. It's the day the Assistance League provisionals have selected on which to entertain league president Irene Malone, incoming president Doris Olson, their sponsors, provision instructor Maggie McFadyen, and committee chairmen Florence Griffen, Christine Morgan and Frances Buffum.

The nine lovely hostesses at luncheon and for an afternoon of cards will be Polly Chace, Eleanor Davis, Margaret Davis, Artie Furrer, Winnifred Morris, Virginia Murray, Elva Fritchard, Elaine Smith and Jane Houts. Yep, There'll be cheery yellow iris, fuzzy pussy willows and fun and merry laughter come Tuesday.

Turning back the calendar to the days of '49 will be members and guests of the Mounted Police next Saturday night as they cavort to country rhythms in cottons and jeans at the clubhouse. Preceding the cavorting there'll be a barbecue with all the delicious smells and flavors a barbecue can mean. Chairmen of the shindig are Billie and Harry Smith and assisting them will be Millie and Frank Vessels Jr., Marvella and Bob McNulty, Betty and Jim Worsham, Glnny and Ollie Brown and June and Fred Taylor. If we know "Curley" Burr he'll be right there, too, helping get that meat done to a smoke-langed perfection.

The Easter Bunny really outdid himself for Dorothy and Fred Wise and brought them a baby daughter last Sunday morning at 7 a. m. over there at Seaside. Named Nancy Katherine, the young miss and her mother were due home yesterday to meet almost-3-year-old brother, Freddie.

Tom Glassford, he of the merry eye and the glib tongue, is in town this week end from current home in Denver. He's here on one of his periodical business trips which don't happen anywhere near often enough.

Myrtle and Harry Hachmeister are in a merry whirl these days entertaining Myrtle's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hall, here on their annual visit from Pittsburgh, Pa. Do you think it's the sunshine, the flowers in bloom, or the blue Pacific that is impressing the Halls? Nope. It's seeing granddaughter Cindy which makes this seem like a real garden spot to them!

Did you know that Ann Lemmon is here visiting from Augusta, Ga., where she has been staying with daughter Dottie Watkins and her family. She'll be here for another month or so, we imagine.

A gathering of the clan and a big celebration took place at Virginia and Charles Dickie's home yesterday afternoon as relatives gathered in honor of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Dickie's 40th wedding anniversary. Aunts and uncles, grandchildren, nieces and nephews—they were all there to beam their approval as Mr. and Mrs. Dickie held hands just like they did on another April day so long ago in Santa Maria, Calif.!

Tess Huesel will swing wide the big door of her lovely home at 4147 Country Club Dr. next Friday morning to welcome all her Red Cross colonels and area chairmen for a coffee hour and planning session. Tess, who is chairman of the Home Gifts Division, and her hard-working crew, will set up some plans for next year's drive.

"Cinco de Mayo was never like this," chortled friends of Mildred Brayton, who settled down to a gourmet's idea of Mexican food the other day. Among those socially conscientious ladies who turned to chlorophyll after dinner (Mildred uses lots of garlic) were Ada Suydam, Doris Olson, Bernice Howard, Virginia Mitchell, Mary Tullis, Marjory Van Dyke, Etta Arthur, Carol Scott and Bertha Jacques.

Hear that Barbara and Volney McCutcheon and Pat and Jim Craig turned deserters over the Easter week end whence they went to join Marian and Stan Martin, who were esconced at Palm Desert.

There's been a lot of family reunion "to-dos" at Dot and Hal Howard's new Lakewood manse since Dot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Brooks arrived for a visit from Brockport, N. Y. The Brooks son and daughter-in-law, none other than Bill and Nancy, as well as their grandson, Jack Keller of Los Angeles, granddaughter Penny Cannon and her husband, Jack, and their first great-grandchild, young Stevie Cannon, have been among the get-togethers.

Spring vacation was a series of lazy days and sun drenched swimming pools for Mary and Jack Moss and daughter, Sandra. They returned last Sunday from a week's meanderings to Calexico, El Centro, etc.

Each year Frank and Peg Goss have an Easter egg hunt at their Brentwood home for all the children of all their friends, followed by a bountiful buffet dinner. Among other former Long Beach people there last Sunday was Lou Huston who, not to be outdone by chickens, brought a mammoth gaily-colored dinosaur egg which he had carefully molded from plaster of paris, shaping it in the top of a reflector lamp. And thus bachelor Lou won the title of "biggest kid of them all" and gained the right to be at the party! We might add that the years rest lightly on Mr. Huston but whether it's because he can still dream up things like dinosaur eggs or because he has remained a bachelor we wouldn't know!

By VIRGINIA NEWTON

Coast Guard Officers Wives Club will meet April 21 at noon at the Officers Club, Allen Center, for a luncheon gathering. Hostesses for the event will be Mrs. D. D. Shoemaker, Jr. and Mrs. E. B. Kopp.

Wives of active and retired Coast Guard officers in this area are urged to join this popular and fast growing club. Cards will follow the luncheon event.

Houseguests of Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. R. B. Childers and three children have been Mrs. Childers' parents and her brother and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Blair Lee Montgomery, senior and junior from Arlington, Va. While here on the west coast the visitors enjoyed several side trips to San Francisco and Las Vegas.

Upon opening two letters yesterday discovered old friends coming and going to Honolulu. Those coming home stateside after several years duty in the islands are our in-laws, Chief Bandmaster and Mrs. L. A. Dickey. After visiting friends and relatives here they will enjoy a motor trip back east to see relatives before returning to San Francisco for duty at Treasure Island.

Those packing their luggage for a trip to Hawaii are former residents, Comdr. and Mrs. Ervise S. Bills and three children who will leave in June from Coronado, where the doctor has been attached to the Navy Family Hospital. Upon reaching Honolulu Dr. Bills will report to the U. S. Army Hospital there for new duty.

Mrs. B. P. O'Hare entertained at a delightful luncheon and card party for her friend from Whitehall, Mont., Mrs. Joseph Labrie, and Mary Gabriel of this city.

Busy again showing their children a wonderful time were Mrs. Claude Fligg, Mrs. Frank Quinn and Mrs. G. W. McKnight. They bundled all their broods into the cars and drove off for a week of fun and camping out at Joshua Tree National Monument.

Speaking of accidents, it broke our hearts when your young cowboy Mark Thomas fell and broke his arm last week and the annual roundup of cowboys and cowgirls at his "ranch" had to be postponed to a later birthday party date. The cowpoke celebrated his third anniversary with a family birthday dinner last Wednesday.

Comdr. and Mrs. Robert Lynn and Mrs. Roger Gates and Debbie were dinner guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Gates of this city.

Sorry to hear that Comdr. E. G. Edgar, MC, USN is a patient in the Corona Naval Hospital.

Midwesterner Takes California in Stride

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

"Fair, firm and friendly" . . . been active civily in his few short months in Long Beach. He prefers cooking out-of-doors—even cooks steaks outdoors in midwestern winter snow . . . but says a charcoal steak is worth it. Today, though, he's removing from the oven a batch of his Chutney Appetizers.

A midwesterner by birth and education, our "chef," the son of a Methodist minister, was graduated in business administration from the University of Missouri. The following day he entered the employ of the J. C. Penney Co. (formerly his summer's source of remuneration), at Chillicothe, Mo. In the years intervening, he has managed stores in Iowa and Illinois, and has chalked up an enviable record of 15 years as district manager of those stores in Ohio, Missouri, Massachusetts and Indiana. A true executive, he has his own personal misfiling system . . . illustrates his sales talks with stories . . . invariably uses a blackboard and can write with either hand.

Having been dubbed "soft goods" by two of his hardware "hard goods" golfing buddies, the nickname has stuck. He swings left-handed, has successfully coped with a hole-in-one, and while a ball-pusher of dubious ability, he gets into enough trouble to keep a high handicap. Fishing, says he, is simple!

On his first deep sea venture, he snagged an elusive sail fish, which is now the stuffed and mounted reminder on display in his office. An avid cameraman, he takes plenty of time, and then some, before he "shoots" his subject; imprinted his tracks in the halls of "ole Missouri" as a trackman, and was such an outstanding baritone in the glee club that he won an enviable second place in a national college music contest. He won top honors as a Dad, too, by camping out six nights in 18 inches of snow to help his son win his Eagle Scout badge.

A Rotarian, Fay has also been active civily in his few short months in Long Beach. He prefers cooking out-of-doors—even cooks steaks outdoors in midwestern winter snow . . . but says a charcoal steak is worth it. Today, though, he's removing from the oven a batch of his Chutney Appetizers.

CHUTNEY APPETIZERS
1. Fry hickory smoked bacon until crisp. Drain on paper towel.
2. Spread Ritz crackers with peanut butter.
3. Put half teaspoon Crosse & Blackwell "Major Grey's" chutney on peanut butter.
4. Crumble bacon into small pieces. Sprinkle over chutney.
5. Place appetizers on broiler pan.
6. Broil until bacon sizzles.
7. Serve piping hot.
These appetizers may be prepared ahead and broiled just before serving.

Lose Extra Pounds for Spring Wardrobe

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Were you a little disgusted with yourself this Easter?

Had you planned to lose five or 10 pounds before then and then procrastinated and procrastinated?

If you were a little overweight and procrastinated you know what I mean! Instead of feeling like a glamor girl you felt a little more like a sack-tied with a string, and in your new Easter costume, too!

It is amazing what 10 or even five pounds too much can do to a figure!

Why then keep that silly five or 10 pounds when you can knuckle down and lose them in nine short days? I am here to help you. Here are Monday's menus.

BREAKFAST

One thin dry slice of whole-wheat toast.
One half grapefruit.
Coffee.

DINNER

Chilled orange juice.
Serving of baked or broiled chicken.

Character Building

Success Depends on Diligent Endeavor

By ANGELO PATRI

Boys and girls, this is your growing time, the time to grow strength of character, ability in some field of activity. Time to make friends, time to build yourselves into real personalities—the kind that will help you in the future.

Most boys and girls want to be successful. You know just what that means. You know the ones who work hard to get to be officers in your organizations, captains of the teams, number one on the honor rolls of all kinds. You know, too, the ones who, failing to gain praise and admiration sometimes take the wrong road and make all kinds of sad mistakes. Getting to be top man in any field calls for self-discipline. To succeed in anything in this world one pays its price. If you want top honors in school, you have to study hard, and if you are doing that you will not have much time to play. If you are going out for the team, you have to give up eating sweets and stick to the diet prescribed by the coach. If you would have the personality prize you have to earn it by service to others instead of to yourself. Wherever you go, whatever you get, you pay for in terms of character training.

There are two ways to that. Whenever you hold to what is good and right, and you will know which is which, in that field, you build power and strength for future needs. Whenever you take the wrong path, you subtract strength and weaken yourself for future tests—and tested in life's grilling fashion you certainly will be. You do not grow into a fine personality, earning the admiration and respect of your group, overnight. You do not gain in a few moments the skill that enables you to succeed in a tight spot. You build it little by little, a word here, an act there, a bit of self-discipline today, a generous action, a firm hold on duty day by day.

You will make mistakes; you will be misjudged, you will win friends and make enemies, of course, for you are human. But if you set a high goal you will make it if you work toward it. Not in accidental fashion, not in a day or a week, but through the years, you will build the power and the skill your heart desires. Earn it and it probably will come to you.

Druggists' Wives

Mrs. Rex Kaylor of 615 Terraine Ave., assisted by Mmes. Stanton Nichol, Clarence Wagner, George Schneider and J. E. Brockman will be hostesses for a coronation luncheon Tuesday noon for members and friends of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Long Beach Pharmaceutical Association.

Mothers Club

Gamma Phi Beta Mothers Club, Beta Alpha Chapter of USC, will meet Friday at 11:45 a. m. in the chapter house to view pictures of Hawaii.

GATHERING for a luncheon party at the home of Mrs. Robert Lynn, 3357 Falcon Ave., a few days ago were new officers of Nautical Club, including, from left, Mrs. A. H. Akemon, treasurer; Mrs. Lynn, president; Mrs. J. A. Foster, social secretary; Mrs. J. P. Green, secretary, and Mrs. R. T. Blackburn, vice president. The group made plans for the club's spring and summer agenda, which will include a picnic and an evening party. (Staff photo.)

Install Bea Ann Hancock Queen of Merret Temple

At the March meeting of Merret Temple, Daughters of the Nile, Mrs. Bea Ann Hancock, wife of Noble Fred J. Hancock, was re-elected queen. Installation of the new officers was a recent event.

Mrs. Hancock has played an active part in Daughters of the Nile, having been a member of Mokattam Temple in Los Angeles for many years prior to becoming queen of the newly instituted and constituted Merret Temple last October. She will direct her attention to the sewing groups, who sew garments, embroider linens, make toys and scrap books for the Shriner's Hospital for Crippled Children. Benefit luncheons and card parties will be held during the coming year. From these parties funds are raised to purchase materials for sewing.

Merret Temple also will strive to make a larger contribution to the convalescent relief fund of the Supreme Temple, whose jurisdiction includes all of the United States, Canada and Hawaii. This fund is used to buy artificial limbs, braces and corrective shoes for children when they are released from the hospitals and during continued convalescence.

Other officers installed were Lillian Courtinour, Gladys Burnham, Gussie Crouse, Alta Blair and Mayme Winterberg. The appointive officers installed were Ivy Poist, Marie LeRossignol, Winnie Mae Dean, Hettie Jackson, Marie Patterson, Alice Skaanes, Grace Dougan, Hazel Brown, Annie Staples, Ora Bennet, Nettie Robinson and Irene Rugg. Installing officers were past queens Betty Backus, Pearl Williams and supreme past queen Cora L. Evans.

DBE to Meet

Daughters of the British Empire, Lord Kitchener Chapter, will hold its chapter party, luncheon and food sale at 12:30 p. m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. W. S. Stevens, 2522 Lime Ave.

Alpha Phi Alumnae

Mrs. W. G. Paul Jr. will be hostess at 7:30 p. m. Monday in her home, 4527 Galeano St., to Alpha Phi Alumnae. She will be assisted by Mrs. Bert Masters.

Garden Club

Los Altos Garden Club will have a card party April 30 at the Los Altos Community Church. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Anne White. Women in the area are invited.

Vacationer

Among the early spring vacationers at Gen IV Hot Springs have been Mr. and Mrs. J. Porter of Long Beach.

Jan Rubini, Violinist, to Give Ebell Program

Jan Rubini, world famous violin virtuoso, composer and conductor, will present the program for Ebell Club tomorrow at the clubhouse. A distinguished artist, he has played for the royal families of Europe and has concertized the world over. Now guest artist on numerous TV shows, he will be accompanied by Channon Gelsin, pianist, and in some of his numbers by his young son, Michel. Mrs. Wilbur Lee Candy will preside.

Group Q, Mrs. Robert L. Sanderson, chairman, will serve the luncheon.

The following departments and groups of Ebell will meet this week:

Nature, 10 a. m. Monday, Room 1, "Landscaping," Mrs. A. L. Murray.

California history and landmarks, 11 a. m. Monday, auditorium, "Romance of Banning House," Mrs. Gerald Kyrthe.

Musical Show in Rehearsal

Members of Clipper Club of First Presbyterian Church are in the midst of final plans and rehearsals for their fourth annual benefit musical to be presented April 17, 18, and 19 in the church social hall.

All three watches are collaborating in the production of this major fund-raising project which is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cingman. The two-hour show will be emceed by Dr. Reuben Field Pieters. The production features singing, dancing, comedy, and six olio acts, including a marionette can-can dance.

The show is being presented an additional night this year for the benefit of the Mariners Clubs of Southern California. Entire proceeds from the first night will be donated to this group for the completion of a children's building at the Presbyterian Conference Grounds at Pacific Palisades. Proceeds from the remaining two performances will be added to the Clipper Club church building fund.

All performances are open to the public and a free nursery will be provided for small children.

Installation for Tri-Delta Alliance

Mrs. E. B. Braden will welcome the Long Beach Alliance of Delta Delta Delta Tuesday evening in her home, 32 La Linda Dr., when new officers will be installed. Assisting her will be Mmes. Edgar Marzotte, Frank Cooksen and M. W. McNutt. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Cooksen, 3659 Albury St.

New members introduced at a previous meeting in the home of Mrs. O. T. Ellis were Mmes. Harold Hough, D. L. Leach, J. R. Rivas and Tilden Brooks.

Clothes for Busy Women at May Co.

"Fashions for Industry," created by Tina Leser, will be previewed on April 13 at the May Co. Lakewood, with movie actress Alexis Smith making a personal appearance. She'll explain the utility and design of the garments and how they were created specifically to meet the requirements of the busy working woman. The well-known fashion authority, Miss Fay Hammond, also will be in attendance.

The clothes will be shown informally in the Active Sportswear Dept. from 6:30 to 9 p. m. Monday night. These fashions, featured in the April 13 issue of Life Magazine, are intended to reach women working in industrial plants and factories and will stress the importance of clothes that meet the needs of busy women, as well as clothes that will combine safety with fashion, good looks and value.

Dr. Jameson to Address Churchwomen

Women's Association of First Presbyterian Church will present Carol Jameson, M. D., from the Vellore Christian Medical College, now coeducational, founded in 1918 by Dr. Ida S. Scudder when she went to South India as a missionary, Thursday.

This college is supported by 40 mission boards in North America, Britain, Australia, Denmark and India. Dr. Jameson was called back to America by the death of her mother, but she will return to India this month.

Another interesting speaker Thursday will be Mrs. George A. Brown of the Congregational Church, who has just returned from a visit to the Near East and who will tell of the conditions in Syria, Lebanon, Cairo and Israel. She visited the Beirut College for Women, where her brother and his wife are both teachers. This four-year college is the only institution of college grade for women in all the Arab world.

Luncheon will be served at 12:30.

IT'S APPLE BLOSSOM TIME for the Long Beach Women's Casting Club which has chosen this theme for its annual trophy awards and installation luncheon Saturday at Lakewood Country Club. Planning the decorations for the event are (left to right) Mrs. C. J. Corbell, decorations chairman; Mrs. E. M. Willams and Mrs. R. H. Williams. Trophies and pins will be awarded to those casting the highest averages for the club year. Mrs. Williams will install the new officers, Mrs. Williams, president; Mmes. J. O. Gregg and G. R. Ray, vice presidents; Mrs. J. W. Reed, treasurer; Mrs. Lewis Clark, secretary, and Mrs. R. R. Bishop, captain.—(Staff photo.)

FORMALLY announcing the betrothal of their daughter, Eileen, to James C. Hook Jr. are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Warren of 1536 E. 16th St. Miss Warren was graduated from Poly High and attended LBCC. Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hook Sr. of Richland, Mo., attended Missouri State before serving with the Navy. No date has been set for the vow exchange.

PLANNING to be married next August are Miss Patricia Anne King and Robert G. Raines of 6059 Rose Ave., son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther T. Raines. Their engagement is announced by the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. James Andrew King of 125 Granada Ave. She is a graduate of St. Anthony's High School and her fiancé of Poly High. Both attended LBCC.

Wilson Grads Repeat Vows

Double rings united the former Miss Joan Whitecotton and Robert Lee French when they repeated marriage vows in Greenwich Wedding Chapel. Dr. Reuben L. Anderson officiated at the ceremony and Roy Skaggs gave the bride in marriage.

Attending the couple were Miss Barbara Jarvis, maid of honor; Connie Black and Betty Fleming, bridesmaids; John F. Beerkie, best man; Harlen Dobyns and Bill Tickell, ushers.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Brown of 3602 Senasac St. and J. G. Whitecotton of St. Louis, Mo., was attractively gowned in white embroidered nylon tulle over taffeta and the bouffant skirt was hooped. A crown of lace held her veil and she carried an orchid on a white ribbon.

A 100 guests attended the wedding and reception in the chapel. The pair honeymooned

Bridge Champ Insures Game

"A champion as a rule overlooks no opportunity to insure his contract," remarked John C. Stabilein of Seattle in a recent issue of the Bridge World Magazine. Stabilein, one of the best bridge analysts in the country, then proved his point with the hand shown today.

"West carefully considered the bidding before making his opening lead," Stabilein pointed out. "West decided there was no virtue in a spade lead, so he led the eight of clubs. If declarer had two clubs, West could give his partner a ruff when he got in with the ace of hearts."

The actual declarer could see this danger very clearly. At the second trick he took the ace of diamonds, cashed the ace of South had spotted the danger and had acted promptly to remove the threat.

Half Your Brain Is a Spare!

By Newt Todd

HALF your brain is a spare! This great medical discovery is bringing miraculous relief to persons made speechless by apoplectic strokes and head injuries. The training of the unused areas of the brain is slow, but success with veterans gives hope for thousands walled in by aphasia . . . the medical term for speech loss.

Long Beach's own sprawling, sun-baked Veterans Administration Hospital was the first to establish an Aphasia or Speech Clinic, and at present, still operates the largest facilities of this type in the United States. It has become the center of the most ambitious, intensive battle ever waged against aphasia.

Aphasia has nothing to do with garden-variety stuttering or stammering. After a brain injury a victim of aphasia may be able to talk, or he may be able to read, or he may be able to write. He may fail to understand the words he hears. He may lose the power to add or subtract numbers, or to recollect colors, or to remember a familiar tune. He may have any one of these symptoms, or many of them in combination, or possibly all of them.

One aphasic may be able to speak—at least he can utter words—but they're the wrong words, not the ones he intended to pronounce. He may think, I am hungry, but he'll say, "I am happy."

There are aphasics who suddenly lose one language, but retain another. A New Mexico infantryman, for example, could speak both Spanish and English until the moment he was hit in the head by a bullet; thereafter he could speak only English. Many victims can say words, but no sentences.

Salvaging men from the pitiful effects of aphasia is the aim of therapists at the Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital. Here, Therapists Daniel Boone and Marion Ruff are teaching an aphasic patient to tell the time and to read.

Many are unable to utter the simplest words—"cat," or "dog," or "man"—but they can turn out a string of appropriate profanity which would do credit to a mule driver.

There are five major types of aphasia: The motor type in which the nerve fibers of the brain are gone; paraphasia, the mixing of sentences so that they are unintelligible; anomia, inability to name objects; agnosia, inability to understand the spoken language, and agraphia, inability to write or use written symbols.

THE LOCAL CLINIC is under the direction of Aileen Agranowitz and her staff consisting of Daniel Boone, Marion Ruff, Gloria Seacat and Arthur Terr, speech therapists. Dr. E. V. Edwards, one of the outstanding hospital administrators in the country, manages the hospital.

"When a patient is brought in who has completely lost the powers of speech, we immediately embark upon a campaign to restore these communications," Mrs. Agranowitz points out. "We teach him to speak, first showing him how to move his tongue, lips and jaw; it takes six frustrating months sometimes before he can even pronounce the vowels.

"We teach him to write and to understand spoken words. We teach him to read, beginning with first-and second-grade primary school textbooks. At the same time we strengthen his paralyzed muscles with exercises and massage, and bulwark also his paralyzed self-confidence."

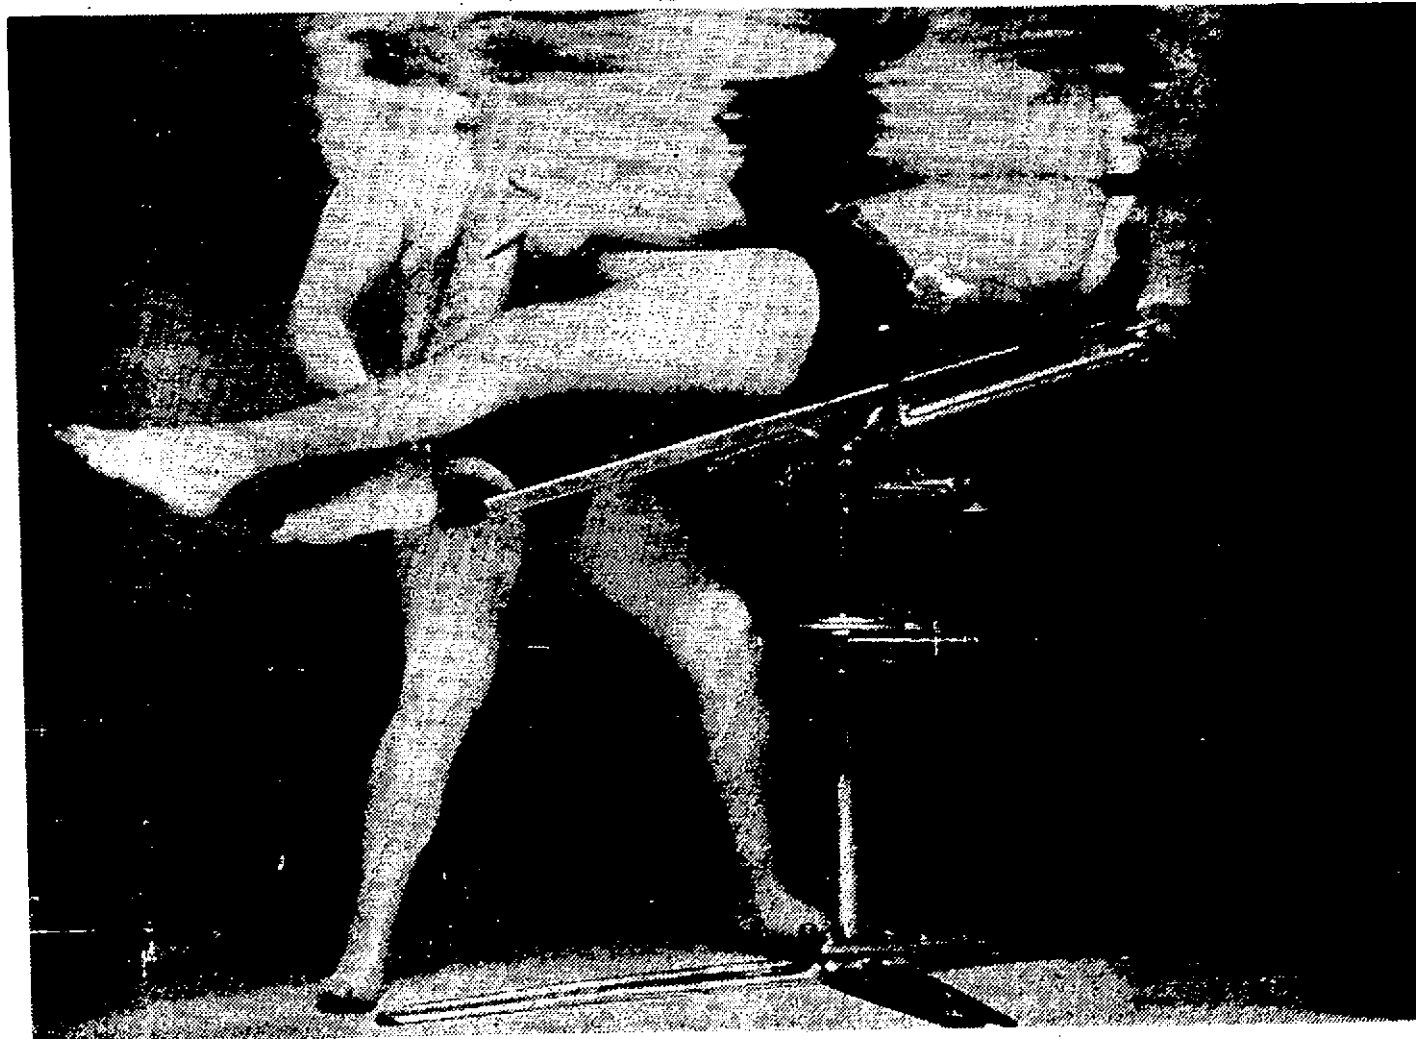

According to Mrs. Agranowitz, the usual minimum time spent on aphasia victims at the VA hospital is six months and the maximum time two years. One-third of the aphasia cases fully recover under treatment and the greater portion of the balance have partial recovery or show a marked improvement.

To doctors, there is nothing particularly new about these cases. One authority says, "Aphasia" has been known as long as man has had a brain which could be damaged by a blood clot, a hemorrhage, an infection, a tumor, an arrow, a bullet or an atomic bomb."

For generations, physicians had been examining victims of aphasia and telling shocked families that a sanatorium would be the logical place to send their loved one for the remainder of his days. Sometimes he was branded as a lunatic and packed off to an insane asylum. More often he was kept at home and became a burden to his family.

AS RECENTLY as World War II, soldiers made speechless by head wounds were given

LONG BEACH'S CONTRIBUTION TO BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL

Should We Take On the Yanks?

THINK we should challenge Casey Stengel and his world champion (four years a-runnin') New York Yankees with this all-Long Beach lineup, now that baseball season becomes a reality this week . . . ?

Pitcher—Bob Lemon, Cleveland Indians.

Catcher—Louis Berberet, Kansas City Blues.

First base—Chuck Stevens, Hollywood Stars.

Second base—Rocky Bridges, Cincinnati Reds.

Shortstop—Dick Cole, Pittsburgh Pirates.

Third base—Vern Stephens, Chicago White Sox.

Right field—Jack Graham, Baltimore Orioles.

Bench—Jack Salvesson, San Diego, pitcher; Harry Minor, Ottawa, catcher-outfielder; Eddie Bockman, Sacramento, second and third base, shortstop; Johnny McKeown, Charleston, outfield.

Strictly local, the crew . . . all home town talent. Include Bill McCawley, San Francisco outfielder; Fletcher Robbe, Portland outfielder; Mel Queen, Hollywood pitcher, and Herman Besse, Los Angeles pitcher — all residents of this city — and you wouldn't need much to round out a sound club.

MAYBE, in the light of this priceless ivory, Long Beach

By Dick Zehms
Press-Telegram Sports Editor.

should apply for a major league franchise, or membership in an AAA or AA league, since all of these men fall in the top three classifications of organized baseball. They're the cream of Long Beach's big professional baseball colony, which numbers well over 50 players when you deal in the secondary minor leagues.

There is no spacious grass field ball park here to attract major league clubs in spring exhibitions, only the "skin" diamond of the creaking old Recreation Park enclosure. Yet somewhere along the line this grandstand, vintage 1925 or thereabouts, must have inspired these pros to follow the diamond trail.

Most of them served their period of basic training under Mike Romero and Bob Hughes in local American Legion baseball, and under Lyle Kinnear, Al Johnson, Cliff Meyer and Rocky Kemp in their high school days at Poly, Wilson, Jordan and St. Anthony's. A few wore the uniforms of Long Beach City College before they signed their first contracts.

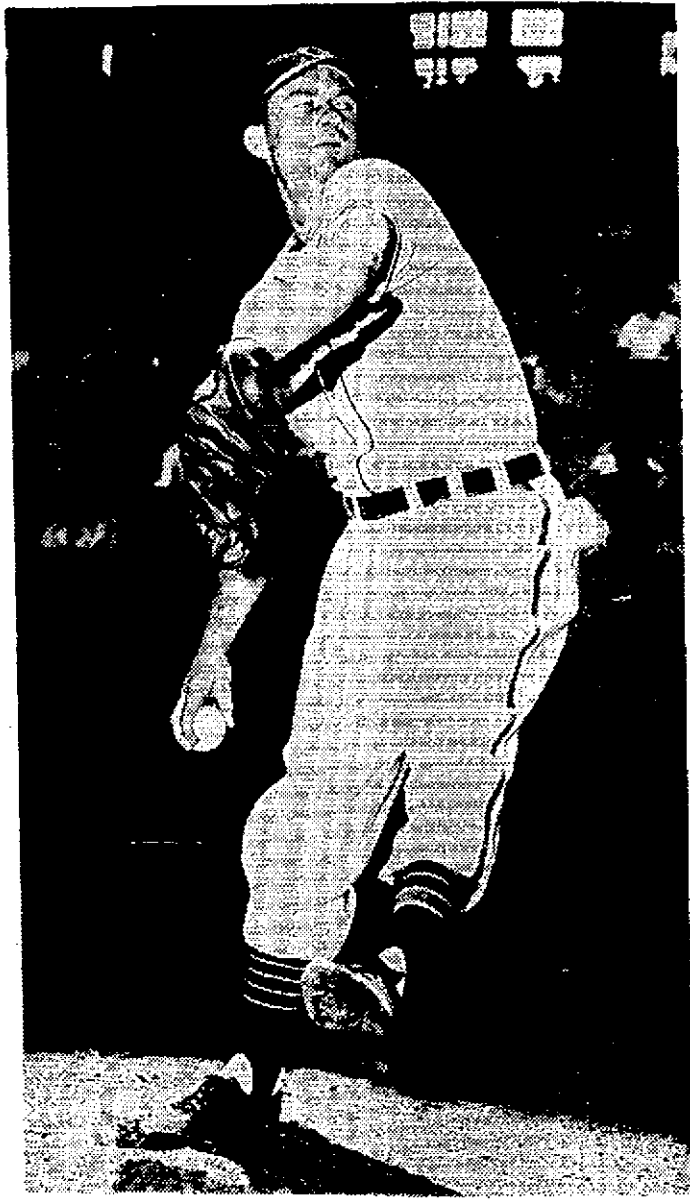

Four — Wilson, Berberet, Minor and McKeown — are just returning to the trade after completing two years of duty with the armed forces. They're all youngsters strictly on the way up, but may need a year of seasoning to find themselves after soldiering for 730 days.

WILSON SEEMS DESTINED for stardom as a slugging outfielder. Berberet, a $21,000 bonus beauty inked by the New York Yankees, may one day inherit the tools of the catching trade from the fabled Yogi Berra. McKeown and Minor are young men of promise, especially when it comes to taking a toe hold at the plate.

This city's five major leaguers are master craftsmen in their own right. Lemon, the American League's highest salaried pitcher at a reputed $45,000, is an 11-year major leaguer, by o. b. standards. Stephens, one of the American League's finest shortstops for a decade, is moving into his 12th season of duty in the big time. Around the Windy City, 'tis rumored that the pennant hopes of the Pale Hose will ride squarely on the muscular shoulders of Vernon Decatur II. Twice in his long and storied career Stephens has been involved in gigantic baseball deals. And he even had a flirtation with the Mexican League in the dim, dark past. . . . Or is this irrelevant and immaterial?

This is Wilson's first chance to stick up there. For Cole, it's trip No. 2. In the past he has toured the National League with the St. Louis Cardinals and Pi-

Happiest Place in Town

—Photos by Joe Risinger

Sunset Club for the Aged, operated by Volunteers of America, is attended by 65 to 95 elderly persons daily who want to forget and cease to be lonely.

By Vera Williams

IT STARTED last November with a Chesterfield, a couple of chairs—and an idea. It now is about the happiest place in town, where six afternoons a week lonely elder citizens of the city meet to forget for a while that they are lonely. They play cards, they sing, they knit, they visit. Stopping in at the Sunset

Club for the Aged, operated by the Volunteers of America at 342 E. First St., one first is impressed by the happiness of the place. There is a happy hum of conversation, a comfortable slapping of cards on the table. Soon someone sits at the piano and strikes the chords of "Old Rugged Cross" or "Rock of Ages" and they gather around and sing. Soon the hymns change to "Down by the Old Mill Stream," or "Let Me Call You Sweetheart." Soon the couples are waltzing or dancing the schottische. Some day they think perhaps they will have a square dance, but so far they have not got around to it. The afternoon closes with coffee or tea and cookies. And it all is free. Says Maj. O. P. Strickland, executive director of the Volunteers, "I have been in Volunteers work for 30 years, and this is the happiest, the most satisfying work I ever have done." Says Mrs. Strickland, assistant director, who also is a major in the Volunteers: "The people here have so much fun. . . . There are so many lonely people in the world." The Stricklands say between 65 and 95 elderly persons enter the club doors every afternoon. The peak was 130. Hours are 1 to 5 p. m. Mondays through Saturdays, closed, of course, on Sundays. Walls of the building, which used to be a storeroom, are painted a pleasant shade of green. There are easy chairs, couches, lamps, and pictures on the wall. There are 19 card tables, and usually all are in use. THE CLUB has a library of 150 books, about 200 National Geographics, and the current magazines. All may be borrowed. Persons may visit three times, and then they are expected to join the Sunset Club, which has no dues, no obligations and three simple rules: "No smoking, no drinking, no political or religious arguments." Members must be at least 60 years of age, and must be lonely in order to qualify for the club. Among the most frequent visitors are the William Daughtrys. Mrs. Daughtry, 80, has arthritis, and her husband, 81, pushes her in her wheelchair to the club from their home, 423 W. Seventh St. "People always are impressed by the fact that everything—including the refreshments—is free," says Mrs. Marcellene Rigdon, hostess. Contributions may be dropped into a little kettle on the desk. Otherwise, expenses are borne by the Volunteers, the work financed by clothing, shoes, newspapers, furniture and even household fats given the Volunteers for salvage.

It's time for refreshments at Sunset Club, and Mrs. O. P. Strickland serves coffee or tea and cookies.

Male Weakness

Born of nostalgia for "the good old days" when gas-lit barber shops were Saturday night settings for informal vocalizing, the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., has revived this male weakness. Long Beach is a hotbed of the society. Here will be held the society's Far Western District regional preliminary contest at 8:15 p. m. Saturday, April 25, in Municipal Auditorium. Long Beach Chapter of the society is the host organization and is bidding for the international contest, an affair always set up three years in advance, in 1956. SPEBSQSA contest always attract a crowd and the Long Beach event will be no exception. Shown are some of the competitors. Cover shows Long Beach Tune Dusters (left to right), Eddie Deal, baritone Mark Hanna, lead; Elliott Kirby, tenor, and Russ Cunningham, bass.

Mail Order Auto Buggy

By Marion Seddon

NORWALK
EVER SEE a 1907 Sears, Roebuck auto buggy?
Dr. C. R. Paxman, 11945 Olive St., has one.

Although he does not use his 46-year-old auto buggy to make professional calls, he sometimes drives it to staff meetings in Downey.

Originally, the 14-horsepower, two-cylinder car was purchased through a Sears, Roebuck catalog. It is steered by a "tiller" and has hard rubber tires. Equipped with a built-in cutout, buggy springs, twin mufflers, kerosene lamps, a chain drive, and using a forced-feed oiling system, the auto is a surprising combination of the obsolete and the very modern.

"The average speed is 15 miles per hour," says Dr. Paxman, "but it can do 24 miles if really turned loose."

The doctor purchased his car last November. Several months later he and his wife joined the Horseless Carriage Club, an international organization whose membership is sprinkled with celebrities such as James Melton and Edgar Bergen. This year, in response to a request from the Horseless Carriage Club, special license plates are being issued to all cars 35 years old or older.

The Paxman daughters, Marys, 12, and Janice, 9, enjoy "dressing up" for rides in the gas buggy. From their grandmother, Mrs. Eleanor Garwood, who lives next door, they borrow costumes to match or nearly match the age of the car.

"We have lots of fun with our 'nearly half-century-old' car," says Mrs. Paxman enthusiastically. "It looks like a buggy that has been deserted by its horse. And, just like a horse-drawn carriage, it loses speed going up hill, especially when it is carrying several people."

To get the auto into a garage, the top has to be taken down, since modern garage doors are not built for 8-foot-high gas buggies.

rates. Then, because of a fine season with Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League in 1952, he was given another chance to play with the big, big boys. Bridges went to Cincinnati from Brooklyn this spring after riding the Dodger bench for two years. A neat operator with a glove, he is expected to make the grade as a second baseman now that he will have the opportunity to play regularly.

For the rest, it's down hill. Players like Stevens, Mapes, Graham, Salvesson and Bockman have taken their cuts at major league curves in years gone by. Still, they're good enough to go the route in AAA and AA ball, so they're far from over the hill.

IF LEMON can win 20 games for the fourth time in five years, if Stephens can hit 25 home runs and drive home 130 more with a .290 batting average, if Bridges can operate at a .275 b. a. clip, if Cole can hit .265 while handling all the traffic due to come his way off the offerings of the alleged Pirate pitching staff, and if Wilson can answer the call from Paul Richards with a .285 batting average and 10 or more home runs, then Long Beach will have a fine year in the major leagues.

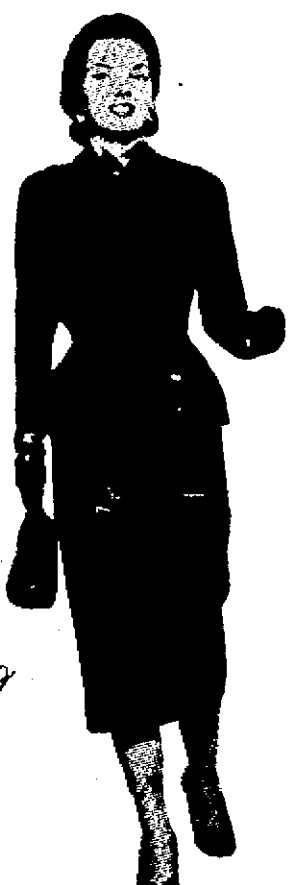

Meanwhile, there will be a cheer for Kansas City, Hollywood, Toronto, Baltimore, San Diego, Ottawa, Sacramento and Charleston if "our boys do their stuff."

And say, if the Yankees and Stengel make things too tough on this all-Long Beach club, we could bring our own umpire even though John (Beans) Reardon is retired. He's Frank (Dink) Gabler, former New York Giant pitcher who will call 'em as he sees 'em in the California League this season!

Half the Brain's a Spare

on permission to beg in government trains.

The theory was that once the brain was wrecked, it stayed that way. When brain cells were destroyed, they stayed destroyed.

However, early pioneers in the study of aphasia, found that everything depends on the undamaged side of the brain. In the typical aphasia victim this hemisphere has been roosting up in his head virtually unused and untrained while the other side has had a lifetime of experience and education.

If the untrained side of the brain is healthy, and if the patient has the determination to work, the auxiliary centers can generally be educated to take over. But if the patient's brain is weakened by infection or disease, or if he is too tired, too depressed or too old, then education often is impossible.

How is the unused portion of the brain educated? Various methods have proved workable. The speech therapy rooms and the ward are equipped with magnetic tape and sound recorder-reproducers of the one-minute recording variety. Magnetic wire sound recorders are used for the longer retraining sessions where an hour or more of recording duration is required. An acetate disc high fidelity recorder is used in making sample recordings of each patient's speech once each month.

Large mirrors mounted on the wall just in front of the patient's therapy desk enable the veteran to view himself and his speech therapist while seated at the desk for writing. This permits the patient who has in-co-ordination of movements to imitate visually the articulatory patterns of the therapist.

Blackboards are attached to the walls of each therapy room. This equipment, as elsewhere, expedites group work. It is also a good starting situation for training the large muscles of the left arm of patients training for lefthanded writing, which nearly all of these patients must learn.

ELEMENTARY grade, high school and college textbooks are available for speech, reading and writing practice in both the therapy rooms and in the ward. These books have been selected with special emphasis on numerous colored pictures to illustrate the text. This has been done to enrich the visual imagery associated with the ideas, symbols and words being studied.

Thick rugs, absorbent ceilings, walls and doors, arm boards for writing, and comfortable furniture relax patients, promote co-ordination and conserves their energies because of their tendency to rapid fatigue. Movies, music, all types of puzzles, and various recorded sounds also play a big part in the therapy treatments.

These Long Beach therapists have been able to work their magic on hundreds of young veterans paralyzed from head wounds, primarily because of three men—a Swedish doctor, a Danish-born physician and a patient young Iowa speech expert who didn't like to see such victims go through life as "vegetables."

The Swedish doctor, the late Salomon Eberhard Henschen, began his major research on aphasia in 1917. Then along came Swedish-born Johannes Maagaard Nielsen, who became interested in the subject in 1930. They formed the first aphasia clinic in 1946 at the Veterans Administration's Birmingham Hospital near Los Angeles, which was later moved to its present site adjacent to Long Beach. The clinic was placed under the direction of Dr. Donald Schultz, a 37-year-old psychologist and expert on speech. Dr. Nielsen was named national consultant on aphasia to the VA, as was Dr. Edwin Cole of Harvard.

"Unfortunately, there are no civilian facilities at the present time solely for the care of aphasics," Mrs. Agranowitz said. "The three clinics, which are located in California, Massachusetts and Minnesota are open to veterans only."

"There is a great need for clinics for the nation's 400,000 civilian aphasia sufferers, and it is our hope that the pioneer work being done at Long Beach Va Hospital will point the way to the establishment of such institutions for these sufferers."

WHAT'S YOUR HOBBY?

Let Midas Touch It!

By
Jule Armin

THERE'S something new and easy for those Long Beach folk who seek a modern idea in decorating a home: Let Midas touch it!

King Midas of mythology touched things and they turned to gold. Today's home owner can use an almost equally magical and simple touch to achieve novel effects. With a snip of the scissors, a dash of water and a minimum of skill, Presto! 23-karat gold leaf designs are permanently applied to china, glass, metal or wood. Whether it is a dish, tray or piece of furniture to be decorated or just put a name or address on the front door, the procedure is essentially the same with this new art product.

Old-time methods of using gold leaf requires more skill, knowledge and equipment than the average person has or can afford to acquire. Today's product, gold leaf on a removable backing, is as easily handled as a paper doll. Golden Touch (23-karat gold foil) and Mirror's

With almost magical ease, sparkling designs of gold leaf can be applied with a new product useful in home decor.

Touch (simulated silver) can be purchased inexpensively by the square inch in most art stores.

To use it, trace desired design directly onto the white backing or lay out the foil, gold side up, cover it with pencil carbon, top it with the design and trace onto the gold surface with a medium sharp pencil (a needle-point pencil might cut through). When using initials or numbers the second method is safer since tracing on the back of the gold would automatically reverse the letters and numbers.

Peek under one corner before lifting the design to be sure details have been copied accurately. Then place the gold sheet on a smooth cutting surface and, with a sharp pointed knife or stencil cutter, carefully cut out the design, keeping edges smooth and clean.

SOAK the cut-out gold design in a pan of cold water for about ten seconds. If design is in more than one part, cut and transfer one part at a time. Lay the wet gold foil face down on newspaper for a few moments to let the water penetrate and soften the adhesive which holds the gold to the backing. Test a corner to see when it is fully loosened.

Thoroughly clean the surface where gold is to be applied. A film of soap or detergent would spoil results. Firmly "spot stick" the loosened corner and gently slide out the paper backing. Then fit the rest of the design firmly into place. The gold film will neither tear nor wrinkle when handled with normal care. Small design parts are easily picked up with tweezers.

WHEN design is placed exactly as you wish, cover it with absorbent paper and squeegee off any excess water with a sponge or piece of cardboard. Then weld design edges firmly to the background by pressing them out and down with the bowl of a spoon.

Let the decorated object set over night; then, if desired, the gold can be shaded or highlighted with oils, enamels or lacquers. Umber and sienna mixed with varnish can be used to shade the gold for an antique look. Synthetic lacquers slightly lift the gold, blending it with their own color, creating an effect very like the "floating colors" of Early American tray and chair stencils.

If the article decorated will receive much wear or will need frequent washing it should be given one or more coats of clear varnish. Dishes thus treated can then be fired in a home kitchen oven at 250 degrees for about half an hour.

Gold leaf with adhesive backing has been applied here to a music cabinet.

A picture frame takes on golden new beauty. Shading gold creates novelty.

He's a Know-It-All

When the films want a know-it-all actor for a know-nothing role, Eddie Mayehoff is their boy. Eddie's latest is over-eager MP in "Off Limits," Bob Hope-Mickey Rooney hit.

By Art Wilde

FIND A MAN who makes positive statements on any subject regardless of how sketchy his information might be and you've got the exact prototype of Eddie Mayehoff's screen character.

Mayehoff, an unusual sort of actor fellow who insists he enjoys the way he has been typed in movies, spent the better part of what he calls his "earnest years" searching for the right "type." Since the Mayehoff profile is definitely not suited for handsome leading man roles and yet not sinister enough for villainous parts, it became apparent quite early in his career that he must confine himself to real character portrayals. The character also must be a universal sort of Joe because in this way Mayehoff will be assured a steady income.

Eddie must have hit on the right character for his first screen role in the Hal Wallis production "That's My Boy." As soon as that Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis starrer was released fan mail writers started sharpening their pencils to clog the mails with approbation. A second Hal Wallis production followed called "The Stooge" and now Eddie's alter ego graces the new Bob Hope-Mickey Rooney service comedy for Paramount, "Off Limits."

"ALL THROUGH history," says Mayehoff, "there have been actual people to draw a character study from that fits 'me' to a T. Even in the great Caesar's day a 'Mayehoff' by the name of Cassius surveyed the situation, spoke authoritatively to a group of people and then loused up the Roman Empire."

"There are other examples of 'Mayehoffism' down through the ages," continued the actor. "Take the guy, for instance, who stood up at the court of Ferdinand and Isabella in Spain and delivered an impassioned address centered around the theme that the world was square. He sounded so convincing that everyone thought Columbus was nuts."

"To be a 'Mayehoff' doesn't necessarily require you to be masculine. Marie Antoinette charmed a whole country with her queenly grace until she dropped that unfortunate crack about eating cake. Up to then her courtiers hung on every word that escaped her lips like she was talking horse sense."

EDDIE stresses that most "Mayehoffs" are not great figures of history. There are millions of them in the world today, he says, and asks that we search ourselves for a little of the pompous, the rule memorizer, the self-righteous and the pedantic.

"Most 'Mayehoffs,'" says Eddie, "are basically pretty good people. They just like to hear the sound of their own voice speaking on important issues. If you can take the armchair general with a grain of salt, you actually can get a good laugh out of his pontificating. That's what I'm trying to do on the screen—create that kind of a character and at the same time supply the salt."

This delightful, casual carpet of all-wool is as attractive with that every-which-way look as when just vacuumed.

By Nancy Welsh

INNOVATIONS in carpet fashions — and there are many—may be seen this week when Long Beach merchants join in participation of Carpet Fashion Bazaar, an event national in scope which continues 10 days to April 23.

Throughout the event, stores will have special displays showing exciting new colors in carpets, longer wearing "miracle" materials, easier to care for weaves and a wide selection of beautiful patterns.

During the entire 10-day period, stores will also stress the important fact that better than ever values are available in carpeting.

The 1953 carpet fashions are double-featured — they have beauty, plus ability to take hard use.

New fibers and combinations of fibers, together with new weaving and manufacturing techniques, insure homemakers of better-than-ever appearance, performance and service from floor coverings.

THE FIBERS may be heavy duty sheep's wool from the world's mountain regions, versatile cotton, or man-made "miracle" fibers engineered especially for use in carpeting. A twist may be given to some yarns, a clip to others, or a loop here and there. Combined with Mother Nature's favorite colors, the result is a 1953 collection of infinite variety — for every taste as well as every budget.

Carpet colors are from nature's palette this year — designed to bring the outdoors indoors. Earth tones from golden sand through coppery tans to warm wood and bark tones and on to deep bitter chocolate hues lead the parade. Moss and olive greens of grass and foliage appear in solid color carpeting as well as in patterns. New and refreshing, too, is a pale shade called sea foam, lettuce leaf, or apple jade.

Gold, once considered a decorator's color, is fast becoming popular, because of its versatility and quieting effect, this year with pale tones such as pearl or cloud and deep hues like charcoal and gunmetal.

ACCENT COLORS have been inspired by this year's coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. English scarlet and ruby, crown emerald and a clear blue that calls to mind the sash of the Order of the Garter high light new carpets. Turquoise, similar to the soft Sandringham blue that the Queen and Princess Margaret have favored from childhood is shown in solid color floor coverings.

Identical vases with that magical Bristol overlay are owned by Mrs. E. J. Wightman of Cooper Arms.

Magical Satin Glass

By Ruth Reece

DURING the 16th Century the art of glass blowing was brought to perfection in European countries. The Venetians especially evolved new and artistic styles, which exemplified the craftsmanship of artisans of that period. Satin glass was one of the loveliest of all. The glass was blown into molds and while still hot, a coating of transparent color was applied. Another additional transparent crystal plating was then spread over the surface, after which the final covering of an acid vapor was added which made a satinlike finish; hence the term, satin glass, which has been used for all acid-finished products but not peach blow.

Mrs. E. J. Wightman of Cooper Arms, whose fine collection of glass and other art objects is much admired, has two of the finest pieces of peach blow anywhere. They are identical vases (illustrated) and have the Bristol overlay. Bristol is a magic word to the collector. Everyone wants his opaque glass to be Bristol, which was made at Bristol, England, as early as 1745. Mrs. Wightman's vases are hand-done enamel, with pontil marks. The basic color is cream, shading into exquisite hues of rose and pink, while the peach blossoms in the decorative pattern are pink with shadings of yellow and gold. Originally brought from England, Mrs. Wightman purchased them in Vancouver, B. C.

WHILE ON A VACATION, Mr. and Mrs. Wightman visited several authentic antique shops in the east, and when in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., they learned that Eric Ryan, a famous and very exclusive antique dealer in Hyde Park had on consignment some rare treasures which had come from the home of the late Mrs. James K. Roosevelt, mother of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt; also a few objects d'art from the home of J. C. Carey Sr., one of the founders of Tuxedo Park, in which the Hyde Park estate is located.

Through influential friends the Wightmans were invited to see the articles and purchased the collector's items. One is a Roudolstadt Cupid flower holder of French bisque and porcelain (illustrated). It stands about nine inches high and is of a delicate pink coloring shading to pale yellow. This was from the Carey collection.

The other item is a Colebrookdale vase of 17th Century hard porcelain with hand-applied flowers. They consist of pink carnations with a single large pink rose. This came from the Roosevelt home. Both have been acclaimed by experts to be very fine and beautiful pieces of 17th Century art. The Carey vase is believed to have been made shortly after 1600 in Germany.

Roudolstadt Cupid flower holder of French bisque and porcelain also is owned by Mrs. Wightman.

face interest without a definite pattern. There are a range of texture weaves such as a rugged tweedy look or a casual wind-blown air. Ribbed effects that wear well under the heaviest traffic and nubs or staccato dashes of color add a new look. A salt and pepper weave that resembles herringbone is smart in black and white, brown and natural, or moss green and natural.

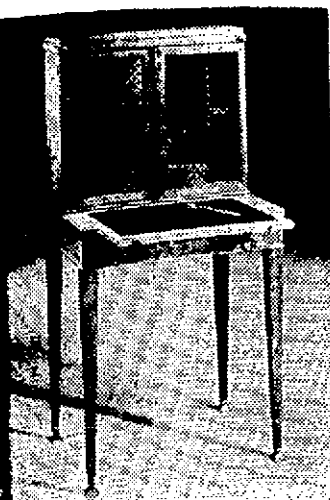

Different colors have been braided into the long, shaggy tufts of one carpet to create the effect of a field of heather, the colorful desert or a jonquil-dotted meadow. In one new floor-covering, loops of various heights and sizes made of tightly twisted boucle yarns call to mind masses of clouds, but the carpet is sturdy as can be.

FOR THOSE who like patterns, there are many, ranging from fresh-as-spring florals and scrolls and leaf motifs to contemporary versions of the ancient Greek Key design and interesting abstracts. In many of the florals, twist yarns — yarns that are made of strands in different hues — or vinyl plastic yarns have been used to give a look of texture and in some cases even of carving.

Throughout the area, retailers are featuring the dramatic new carpets in colorful window displays and interior exhibits. Awards will be made by the Southern Floor Covering Club to the retailer having the outstanding window display in three classifications: Downtown stores, furniture stores and specialty shops.

Desk Does Double Duty

Nineteenth Century classic "lady's desk" is inlaid with gold - tooled leather.

NOWADAYS, one need not confine the using of one's desk to those sporadic periods when one pays the monthly bills, or when one answers the note from Aunt Jenny. A desk can be an often-used article of furniture — and for many more purposes than the conventional ones.

A desk can double as a dining table, designer Edward Wormley proved when he created a slender desk measuring 30 inches in width and 60 inches in length. Two side leaves when raised extend the piece to 88 inches — a perfect length for seating six or eight guests. The back of the desk even boasts a recessed space for books and accessories.

Another desk recently created by the same designer has a section which pulls out from the width to also create a table surface for permitting guests to dine in comfort.

ONE MANUFACTURER who produces fine French reproductions, has revamped an old French Provincial desk into a modern piece of many uses. Atop a conventional French Provincial unit with center section desk and side cabinets is a superstructure which has a center section of open bookshelves. At either side of the open bookshelves is a row of four deep drawers which can be pressed into service for even phonograph record storage.

Still another company has reproduced a 19th Century classic secretary with writing bed topped with gridded front doors concealing shelves for small ornaments (illustrated).

One concern shows a modern interpretation of a French Provincial piece that serves many uses in any room in the house. The small piece, actually a vanity-desk, has an open bookcase in front of the unit.

Distinctive is a new plank-top Macassar ebony desk. The ebony is contrasted with brass shields set in the side, and with the brass used for a stretcher.

Wrought iron is increasingly used for distinctive desks that serve many needs. Typical is a wrought iron, glass and marble desk which features trough-type bookends as part of the structure of the desk.

Completely different in appearance is one hanging-frame desk. The desk, which may be used in either living room or bedroom, has a particularly airy look because of the suspension of both the drawer space and the writing unit.

Casa Lois, beautiful Spanish style home of Mr. and Mrs. Miles W. Blaine of Palos Verdes, has undergone change to meet wishes of owners and give it rural Mexican atmosphere.

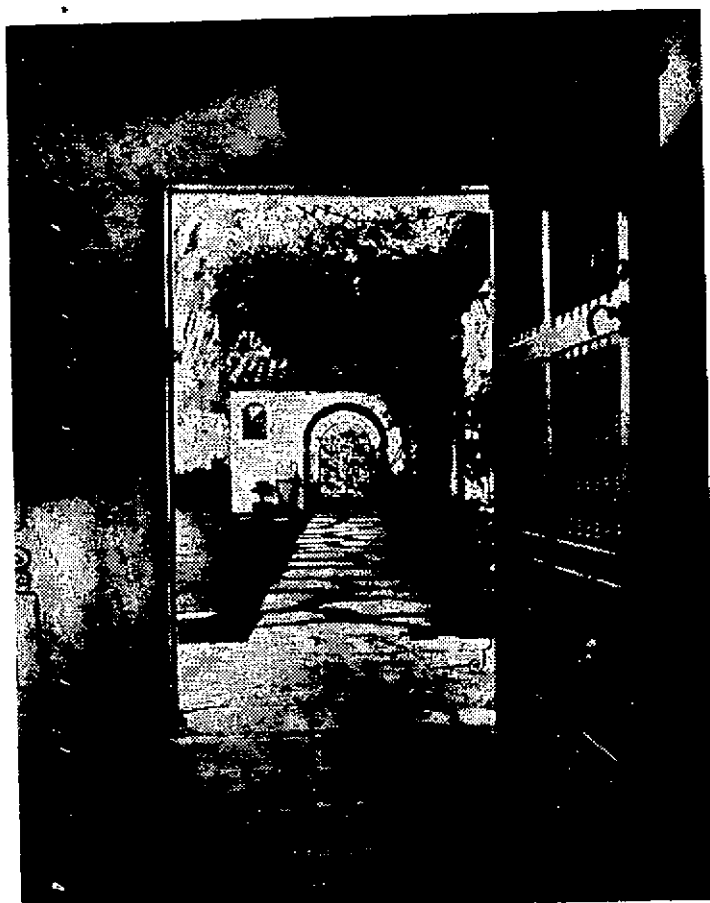

Tile-floored patio is definitely of Mexican flavor and a delightful place to relax. Gardens of the Blaine property hold many items to intrigue the visitor making a tour of the place.

Point of interest in the Blaines' living room is an antique majolica bowl and lavabo on an oak plank, hung above the piano. Flooring is handmade tile with imported tile baseboard.

Reminiscent of Gatehouse and hand-wrought iron gate guard approach to the Blaine home, as seen here down a flagstone walk.

By Margaret Pitcairn Strachan

REDOING their home to achieve as much of a rural Mexican theme as possible, Mr. and Mrs. Miles W. Blaine, 652 Via Del Monte, Palos Verdes Estates, seem to have accomplished almost the paramount in interest, charm and comfort.

The house is of Spanish-style architecture and was built under the direction of Kirtland Cutter, Long Beach architect. It was chosen for the highest award for design and execution of work by the American Institute of Architecture in Southern California in competition with residences of from eight to 15 rooms completed in Southern California in 1928 and 1929.

"The main point of interest in the living room is the antique majolica bowl and lavabo set attached to an oak plank which we have hung over the piano," Mrs. Blaine said. "We are using ewe and walnut only for the woods in the furniture.

The 19 by 35 foot living room has a handmade tile floor and the baseboard is of imported tiles. For draperies Mrs. Blaine selected German reed roller curtains without a valance and interwoven with chenille, as being most appropriate for the windows. The beams in the ceiling are tremendous and all hand-hewn.

The large davenport is upholstered in a material using green, red, blue and gold shades. One love seat is done in blue and two chairs in red with a blue flower design.

ALTHOUGH MRS. BLAINE believes her lavabo set is the center of interest in the room, eyes are also instinctively drawn to the huge painting of "The Beef-Eater" which hangs above the tremendous fireplace. The figure of the old

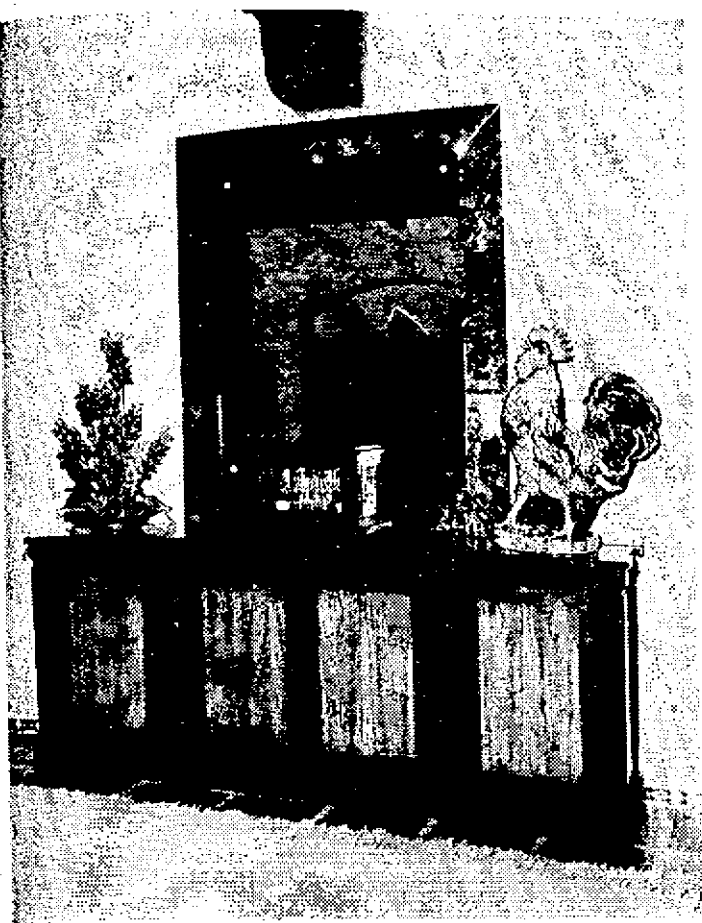

Red and green is the decorative scheme in the library. A Mexican glass lamp with red shade, copper articles sparkle.

Rural Mexico

Sunday, April 12, 1953

Another point of interest is the Blaines' living room in this antique cadenza surmounted by a handsome mirror.

Englishman guarding the Tower of London is striking.

And the antique credenza with its marble top which stands against one wall, with an antique mirror over it, also is a handsome piece. Upon this Mrs. Blaine has placed a tall French rooster of porcelain.

Interesting lamps have been used in the living room—one is an old Venetian lamp of amber and wrought iron. Others are made from rare Tibetan jars of pewter. And a grandfather's clock which came down from the James Buchanan family has its place in this room also.

The Mexican theme of the house is as strong outside as it is in. The gardens were originally made in Mexican fashion, with one garden situated within another. Here are more interesting pieces than a visitor could see in one afternoon—an orchard of Mexican fruit trees, replicas of the four seasons done in marble, a bird bath with a lifelike frog, old Mexican pots, giant bird of paradise plants, a formal garden, a flagstone walk, a statue of old Spanish friars in a wall niche, an old Mexican mirror near the entrance, a Della Robbia plaque, an ingie in the patio with a tile floor, the stucco walls ornamented by a boladero and whip with Mexican silver handles (brought from Mexico by Mr. Blaine), a 1934 bull fight picture, an old olla of red clay, an old Mexican table, Navajo rugs—and on, and on!

THE BLAINES CALL their home Casa Lois (Lois being Mrs. Blaine's first name) and the name is in wrought-iron at the entrance to the property. There is a gate house and the gate itself was designed and made by hand for the house. A picture of Don Quixote and his donkey is done in tile by the entrance. A pair of turquoise-colored vases from France give a perfect touch of color.

If the flagstone path is followed around the house, the Chinese cocktail room on the lower level is reached. This room is done in black and red, with a black bar and black bar stools. A round coffee table is a set of beautifully carved Chinese tables. A Chinese hand-carved cabinet contains unusual pieces of art work brought from China by Mr. Blaine. Other pieces are about the room—an opium lamp, a water pipe, elephant tusks, a Chinese reed organ.

Parts from a Chinese bed decorate the room also—these are of gold leaf and are over the doorways, over the mantel and over the hearth. The lamps are from Korea and Chinese actors' masks have been electrified so that the eyes shine.

Also on this lower level of the house there is a recreation room and a large amount of storage space, a maid's room and bath. The house has five bathrooms and five gas furnaces.

THE LIBRARY is another attractive part of the house, with green walls, a greenavenport and carpet, built-in bookshelves and many bright

He's Hitting the Ball

WHEN Warner Bros.' first three-dimensional feature-length film, "House of Wax," starring Vincent Price and Phyllis Kirk, has its premiere in Los Angeles next Thursday, residents of this area may point with pride to a young man in the cast named Reggie Rymal.

Rymal, who lives at 5513 Castana, Lakewood, with his wife, Freddie, and 2-year-old son, Royal, plays the part of the wax museum "barker" clad in top hat and tails and sporting an elegant mustache of the period of 1900. In enacting his role in this horror thriller, Rymal uses a plain ordinary paddleball as a come-on gimmick.

Rymal started what is perhaps one of the most unusual careers in show business as a yo-yo demonstrator in Toronto, Canada, at the age of 15.

Most people are fortunate if they are able to make contact with the paddle once after sending the ball into space. Rymal has such perfect control he can operate several at once and has worked up a headline act that has appeared with Eddie Cantor on the Colgate Comedy Hour, the Spade Cooley Show, Bandstand Review, Art Baker's "You Asked for It," Desi Arnaz and his orchestra and many others.

His act is notable for its quickness of pace—both in the manipulation of the paddles and the glib commentary which accompanies it. The rhythmic pat-pat-pat of the ball as it is sent whooshing past a cafe patron's ear or flicks ashes from his cigaret is done with a superb light comedy touch. He climaxes his novelty routine by operating three paddles at one time, finally plopping three balls into his mouth at once for a laughable bubble-gum effect.

By Helen Smith

Besides filling engagements, Rymal has made many, many benefit appearances.

Rymal, in evaluating his career in show business, sums it all up with the remark, "It's really a lazy man's job—just hitting a little ball that comes back to you of its own accord."

A mural of African landscape catches the eye of a visitor to the office of Roy E. Weatherby, Downey big game hunter, who is off for the wilds again with gun, camera on another safari.

Big Game Hunter

DOWNEY

By Donna Ray Hale

EQUIPPED with gun and camera, Roy E. Weatherby, big game hunter, who resides at 7549 E. Fourth Pl., is off on another African safari.

After business trips to Norway and Germany, Weatherby headed for Nairobi and will hunt big game in Tanganyika, Kenya Colony, and Uganda. His party included Joseph Shaw of Los Angeles, and Col. Robert L. Scott Jr., author of "God Is My Co-Pilot." Colonel Scott was to meet them in Paris. Stops are scheduled in Athens, Rome and Cairo.

While in Africa, they will visit Zanzibar before Weatherby and Shaw return to Cairo en route to India, where they will hunt tiger and other animals native to the country in Gwalior, several hundred miles south of Delhi. Weatherby also will take motion pictures, including cities, towns and other scenes in the countries visited as well as hunting pictures. The film made on his last African safari four years ago has been shown throughout the country to raise funds for charities. A diary of his travels will be syndicated.

THIS WILL MARK Weatherby's second African safari and he has hunted in British Columbia, Alaska, Yukon Territory and for all types of game over the North American continent. He uses guns of his own manufacture and tests out his theories on these treks.

A native of Kansas, Weatherby's interest in guns dates from the age of 6 years, when he sold garden seeds to acquire his first air rifle, graduating to a .22-calibre gun at the age of 11. When the family moved to Florida in his youth, he hunted alligator in the Everglades.

Weatherby saw military service in World War II and when he left the armed forces in 1945 his hobby was gun making. He had written controversial articles in sports magazines that greater velocity and not larger bullets was responsible for increased killing power. He decided to put his theories to work and started a one-man shop in his garage. Today he has a $200,000 factory and sporting goods store in South Gate with big game hunting maharajas, film stars, and thousands of ordinary sportsmen as customers. He employs more than 40 persons.

WEATHERBY directs operations from an office adorned with trophies of his hunting prowess. A mural scene from the African veldt covers one wall. Of all the trophies—lions, gazelles, Cape buffalo, moose and many others—that may be seen on the walls of his office, show rooms, and his den at home, only the tigers were not brought down by him, and he expects to bring some home this trip. His kills of elephant, lion and buffalo with a single shot from his .300-caliber Weatherby Magnum astonished veteran hunters on his last safari. They were accustomed to double-barreled English .40 and .50-caliber rifles. Weatherby firmly believes that tomorrow's rifle will be one of high velocity.

Weatherby makes his home here with his wife, Camilla, and children, Diane, 9, Connie, 4, and Roy Edward Jr., 15 months.

HOW'S YOUR GARDEN GROWING?

Long Beach's best-known gardeners read Southland's garden pages religiously. They have come to know that experts write this news of planting and culture of plants that grow best in this area. Turn to the garden pages now.

Hourglass Figure

There's a new kind of suspension in swimwear from California that would make bridge builders blush with envy. It relates to the newest look in beachwear you'll see on the Long Beach strand come summer—the hourglass figure. Shades of grandmother's smelling salts! If there aren't stays to make tomorrow's curves out of today's angles—and what's more, this amazing sorcery is accomplished in silks and satins that were never so aquatic! This rounded, curved look is achieved by "sculpturing" yards of flat fabrics into a three-dimensional mold with the bosom high and rounded, the torso long, and hips slim and willowy—smoothed down or provocatively emphasized. The sleek, lean lines of the sculptured swimsuits are cued by decisive drapery at the bustline and hips.

Black and white plaid forms camisole top of "Brigadoon" by Catalina, with fabulous fit in camouflage bra styling. Charcoal grey heatherstone lastex makes the boyish shorts with turnback cuffs and self-belt. Note camisole may be worn inside or outside shorts.

The hourglass! "Champs Elysee" from Kay Carter's "Queen's Jewels" collection for Caltex. Ballerina dressmaker, maximum flattery for maximum figures. The pinafore is printed cotton.

For sun or sea . . . Caltex glamour suit of Italian hand-crocheted straw banding, its cape a dramatic circle. Another striking Kay Carter design.

With a Chinese Flavor

Mrs. Choy's Shrimp Egg Foo Young:

- ½ lb. fresh shrimp (cut in small pieces)
- ½ cup chopped ham
- ¼ cup fresh peas (cooked)
- 4 large eggs
- 1 green onion (chopped fine)
- Salt, pepper and oil.

Beat eggs slightly in mixing bowl with 2 teaspoons peanut oil and ¼ teaspoon salt.

Heat 2 teaspoons peanut oil in frying pan. Add ham and shrimp, stirring constantly until shrimp are cooked. Add peas, green onion, dash of pepper, and salt to taste. Mix ingredients together in bowl with beaten eggs.

Then heat one tablespoon peanut oil in clean frying pan. Pour in 2 tablespoons at a time of mixed ingredients and egg. Cook over low heat until slightly brown on one side. Turn carefully and cook until brown on the other side. Serves 4 to 5 persons.

By Mildred K. Flanary

Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

SOME LIKE it hot, some like it cold. Chinese food that is. Regardless of temperature, everybody applauds the knack the Chinese have for subtly combining colors, textures, and flavor to perfection in cooking. Chinese dishes seem to impart a sense of well-being in the eating, too, perhaps because there is such an aura of health in all those vegetables they use. And they taste wonderful!

But we don't have to stand on the sidelines to admire, for even the most simple of recipes snacks of Chinese ingenuity. And anybody can make them.

Mrs. Frank Choy, 1934 Atlantic Ave., has retained all the gracious charm of her ancestral land and the food blending ability of the Chinese woman, as well. Today we pass along the recipe for Shrimp Egg Foo Young which is presented separately for clipping convenience.

You'll want to try the following, too.

Fried Rice

- 4 cups cooked long grain rice (cold)
- 1 cup chopped ham
- 2 tablespoons peanut oil
- 2 eggs slightly beaten
- 1 green onion chopped fine
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 or 3 teaspoons soybean sauce

Heat oil in frying pan. Add ham and rice, stirring frequently and cook about 5 minutes. Add salt, dash of pepper. Keep stirring constantly until rice is thoroughly heated through. Pour in eggs gradually, add green onion and soybean sauce mixed well. Fry few more minutes. Serves 4 to 5 persons.

Pork and Apple Chop Suey

- 1 lb. boneless pork
- ¼ cup fat
- 3 medium onions, sliced

1½ cups water
1 No. 2 can bean sprouts
2 cups slivered celery
2 tart apples, thinly sliced
Soy sauce to taste
3 tablespoons cornstarch
Cut pork in narrow strips about 2 inches long. Brown in hot fat; remove. Add onions; brown lightly. Return pork to frying pan; add water and liquid from bean sprouts. Cover; simmer 30 minutes. Add celery and apples; cook 10 minutes longer. Add soy sauce if desired. Dissolve cornstarch in a little cold water; add; stir constantly until thickened. Add bean sprouts; bring to boiling point. Serve with rice. Makes 6 servings.

Chinese Salad Bowl

- 1 (1½ cup) package pre-cooked rice
- 2 cups cooked green peas
- 1 can water chestnuts
- 1 can bean sprouts
- 1 head Chinese cabbage or escarole
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- ½ cup sour cream
- 1 teaspoon celery seed
- 1 cup roast pork cut in thin strips

Cook rice according to directions on package. Chill; place in salad bowl. Add peas. Drain water chestnuts; slice; add. Drain bean sprouts; add. Tear cabbage or escarole leaves into small pieces; add. Combine mayonnaise, sour cream and celery seed; beat well; pour into salad bowl. Toss until all ingredients are well-mixed. Scatter strips of pork on top. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Here's a quick luncheon or supper dish in the Chinese manner, worth keeping a can of boneless chicken on hand for.

Delicious combination of shrimp, ham, eggs and vegetables is Egg Foo Young, being prepared above by Mrs. F. Choy.

Or use your leftover bits of chicken or turkey.

Oriental Chicken Almond

- 2 medium onions, sliced thin
- 2 stalks celery, cut in 1" pieces
- 1 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 3 tbsps. butter
- 1½ cups diced cooked chicken or turkey
- 1 bouillon cube in 1 cup water
- 2 tbsps. cornstarch
- 1 tbsps. soy sauce
- ½ cup chopped toasted almonds
- ¼ cup rice, cooked

Prepare vegetables and saute in hot butter until almost tender. Add chicken and heat well. Dissolve bouillon cube in water and blend in cornstarch and soy sauce. Add to chicken and cook only until thickened. Stir in almonds and serve over fluffy rice. Serves 4.

Another luncheon or supper dish, this one sweet and simple, is made like this: Pouch eggs, allowing two for each hungry mouth. Place on a glass serving dish and cover with chopped creamed onions. Sprinkle with grated cheese and slip under the broiler to brown.

Kitchen Tip:

Mrs. Choy's Kitchen Tip: When using dried garden herbs in your salad, try soaking them in a little vinegar before adding them to your salad.

When you see "well-rooted" manure recommended in articles on gardening, says garden expert Joe Littlefield, that means Red Star Steer Manure. It is thoroughly aged and free from weed seeds. Dig it liberally into flower beds and vegetable gardens. Spread it as a mulch on new and renovated lawns. New dichondra lawns grow together faster when you do this.

FEED DICHONDRA lawns Red Star Dichondra-Gro. Made for dichondra; contains castor bean meal.

Bountiful Asters

By A. C. MacLeod

A floral bonanza, asters reward gardeners with a bountiful crop of blooms.

FOR A FLORAL BONANZA that is like getting 1000 per cent interest on your money, set out some aster plants now. These old-time favorites, the Bedding Plant Advisory Board points out, bloom so bountifully they are well worth a little special attention to secure good results.

To reduce aster troubles to a minimum, choose a sunny garden plot where there have been no asters, tomatoes or strawberries grown for the past two years. As a further precaution, fumigate the soil or sterilize it with kettles of boiling-hot water, to destroy any spores of verticillium wilt and aster yellows. Spray the plants regularly with a combination contact and stomach poison insecticide. These basic steps will open the way to full enjoyment of your aster bed.

Asters are grand for bedding, and just as useful for cut flowers. They are one of the top flowers grown commercially for cutting. Some of the little known varieties are Sunshine, a large showy single; Chinese Rainbow, a long-lasting cutting variety that has bright single blossoms of small size; Pompon, a very small button-flowered variety with excellent cutting qualities.

Good companion plants for an aster bed are hollyhocks or delphinium for the background and the tall ageratum Blue Perfection, tall phlox or Tom Thumb zinnia for a high edging. For a low border try lobelia, ageratum or dwarf begonia. But be sure to leave the robust asters ample room to grow and prosper.

Insecticide Has Many Purposes

One of the new liquid multi-purpose insecticides being marketed this spring contains lindane, malathion and DDD (dichloro diphenyl dichloroethane), a mixture which should control most of the garden's worst insects.

Lindane is effective on many problem insects (aphis, flea beetle, cucumber beetle, sod webworm, leaf miner, flies, mosquito, to name a few). Malathion will kill red spider mites, mealy bugs, crawler scale and definitely aids in this control of aphids and white flies. DDD, a close relative of DDT and lindane, complements lindane's action. It is used to control caterpillars and beetles. This three-way combination can be mixed with liquid lime sulphur fungicide to make a combination insect-disease spray.

FREE!

Prove it to yourself! Bring this announcement promptly and receive absolutely FREE a fine get-acquainted bottle of genuine Widow Farmer's TRIO-CIDE (1 bottle per family, please!)

Convince yourself you can control all THREE out of one bottle.

Mildew is a fungus, Scale and aphids are insects, but vastly unlike.

Formerly these three required two or three kinds of spray. Now Widow Farmer's TRIO-CIDE gets all THREE.

Copper-coat your roses with it at once against ravages of mildew spores floating in the air. Note how it leaves foliage "shiny clean," works in any sprayer. Note the acceptable odor, also how "easy" it is on your sprayer. Then in a couple days notice the aphids—DEAD IN THEIR TRACKS, UNABLE TO TURN LOOSE!

Watch worms, weevils, beetles or flies wriggle and die—also this is primarily a copper-oil spray for fungi like BRIGHT LEAF GULL, or BROWN ROT on fruit trees, or MILDW, BLACK SPOT or RUST on roses, etc. Save time and labor. Keep insects killed down right while you are "COPPERING" against fungus spores! Apply year 'round, dormant or during/leaf. When dormant use STRONGER. Okeh on all trees, including APRICOT.

TRIO-CIDE fills a long felt need for the small gardener who SHOULDN'T HAVE TO PURCHASE; A DRUG STORE OR CHEMICAL PLANT in order to raise a few things on his place!

OFFER EXPIRES SUNDAY
APRIL 19, 2:00 P. M.

VALUABLE DOOR PRIZES

New Alyssum Wins Medal

By Walter Finch

BENEFITTING gardeners throughout North America, All-America Selections in the horticultural world bring dependable endorsement to approved flower and vegetable varieties to market after trials in widely dispersed growing areas.

New selections will perform as recommended, in the opinion of seed industry experts because, in the case of flowers, tests have been conducted for two years in 18 climatic and geographic sections of the U. S. and southern Canada.

Here is news of 1953 flower developments.

The easiest grown annual flower comes out for 1953 with its first new variety in 12 years—Royal Carpet alyssum. It is violet or royal purple in color and spreads flat over the ground to win the cherished

All-America Selections for 1953. Royal Carpet alyssum (left above) makes a solid sheet of violet only two inches high; Comanche petunia (right) is rich scarlet, long-blooming.

Silver Medal of All-America Selections.

For ground covers, low edging to beds and borders, for rock and wall gardens, Royal Carpet alyssum brings us a flat sheet of sweet, refreshing violet bloom. One can hardly see any foliage. The plants are covered with bloom and only two inches tall when full grown. Unless crowded, each plant spreads to 10 or 12 inches across.

Carpet of Snow is another of the same type of plant, except with white flowers. Violet Gem is of the same color, growing six or seven inches tall, but showing more green foliage and not such a solid sheet of color as the new Royal Carpet alyssum. It is striking and effective. Seeds may be sown right in permanent sunny locations at this time of year. Thin plants to six or eight inches apart. Royal Carpet should be in effective bloom within two months. Later plantings may be made until August or grown over through the winter if climate stays mild.

MOST widely grown flower is the petunia. And, now it's red, a rich scarlet red to bloom from spring until killing frosts. It's always in flower, on vigorous, bushy plants. Comanche is its fiery Indian name, a first generation hybrid which always comes true. Comanche petunia wins the Bronze Medal and only other award for new seed introductions of 1953. First comments were that here is a much better red petunia than the Gold Medal winner of 1950, Fire Chief. But Comanche fails to get a gold or platinum medal because Fire Chief was the first red petunia. Comanche petunia grows to about 15 inches tall and as wide unless crowded in the bed. Its hybrid vigor makes it stand erect and to hold its many bold, plain petal flowers above the foliage in effective display. It is for widest planting use in bedding, low borders, row planting along walks or drives, in clumps for corners and niches, for pots and plant boxes. Comanche makes lasting cut flowers for arrangements. Petunia seeds are very small so should be barely covered or merely pressed into the soil surface, watered from beneath or with a fine spray not to dislocate the tiny seeds until they get a start. Seedlings may be pricked out with a pen knife and set an inch or two apart in another flat or pan, in small pots or in hotbed or coldframe when the first true leaves are formed.

At this time of year they may be transplanted to final location.

Tips on Gardening

GARDENING tips for the week. . . . A light cultivation after watering proves helpful in producing a soil mulch. Do not work the soil when it is wet; wait a few days until it appears friable. A soil mulch aids in conserving moisture.

Bare lawn areas should be re-seeded now. It is advisable to sow grass seeds in spring before the approach of hot weather. High temperatures make it difficult to keep the seed bed uniformly moist and thus seedlings die rapidly during the summer.

As the weather warms up bugs and pests will become more active . . . just like your plants. So step up your pest control program. Spraying about once every 10 or 14 days should provide a good margin of control.

Favorite Zinnia

FEW PLANTS will stand up through burning summer heat waves better than our old garden favorite, the zinnia. Each year sees steady improvements in this grand flower family, which endears itself to us by its diverse color range and multitude of forms.

According to the Bedding Plant Advisory Board, zinnia plant mixtures generally available in flats contain practically all shades of the rainbow with the exception of the true blues. And the sizes offered range from Tom Thumbs up to the Giant Dahlia Flowered type growing three feet high with multitudes of saucer-sized flower heads.

Plant your zinnias in the sun and in a level bed. Irrigation is preferred to overhead sprinkling. Especially in the late afternoon, sprinkling encourages mildew. Fertilize heavily. Pinch out the first bud to encourage lateral growth, and spray regularly for aphids.

Zinnias combine well with many warm weather plants but, due to their striking color range, they seem to show to best advantage in straight mass plantings. The dwarf forms are excellent for edging a bed of taller varieties. Yellow marigolds, blue delphinium and ageratum and such good white petunias as Snowstorm blend in well with zinnias and share the same cultural requirements.

Reminiscent of Old Mexico

pieces of copper. Red draperies are used and a Mexican lamp of glass with a red shade enlivens interest.

Tile used in the living room also is found in the dining room and entrance hall floors. Mrs. Blaine uses a refectory type of table in the dining room and she has a huge hutch cabinet. Draperies are of gold and the rug is hooked. The chairs are upholstered in rose.

Deep casement windows throughout the house look out on the view afforded by the ocean and the Palos Verdes hillsides. The house perches on the side of a cliff.

No matter what spot a visitor might stop to look about, he would find something to attract him in the Blaine home. Perhaps it would be the built-in cabinet in the living room, which was done by an 11-year-old Italian boy from a single piece of wood and which now contains a collection of ivory carvings of the Eight Immortals, daguerreotypes, a Chelsea sugar and creamer, and other interesting pieces. Or perhaps it would be the unusual coffee table in front of the davenport which is made of ewe. Again it might be the blue lavabo set on the wall which makes one realize that Old Mexico might have been rural, but it had beautiful things!

You need just two sprays — ISOTOX Garden Spray and ORTHORIX Spray to give your garden full protection against most insects and plant diseases. And they mix. Put them together in your ORTHO Sprayette which attaches to your garden hose and spray both at the same time. It's easy as watering!

Get Rid of Snails This Easy Way—Kill hungry snails and slugs with BUG-GETA Pellets before they eat your precious young plants. Simply scatter 'em around your garden. A few minutes—a few handfuls per week does the trick. Economical, too.

THE PET PARADE

Athlete of Dog World

By Bill Conway

The Doberman Pinscher shown here, Haley's Assault, is a fine example of breed. Jack Haley, San Diego, owns him.

PLANNED development of the Doberman Pinscher dates back only about 70 years yet this breed is now regarded by authorities as one of the most intelligent of dogs.

The breed was brought to perfection in Germany and to the Germans must go the credit for bringing this breed to its present high regard. It is very possible that the war-minded Germans purposely developed the dog for the work in which he won his greatest fame; that is, as a war dog.

Normally affectionate the Doberman Pinscher can be trained to pull down a fleeing criminal if necessary. He appears to absorb readily the careful training he gets before he is prepared for guard duty.

The dog is lithe and extremely active and possesses amazing strength for his weight which is 65 to 75 pounds. He is, in fact, the perpetually conditioned athlete of the canine world.

The Doberman Pinscher breed originated from the studied crosses of the black and tan terrier, the Rottweiler, the smooth Doberman and the Pinscher. Selective breeding was carried on in Germany and faithfully followed in the United States after the dog was introduced here shortly after the turn of the century.

ACCORDING to standards approved by the American Kennel Club the male Doberman Pinscher should measure 25 to 28 inches in height at the shoulder. Females are slightly smaller. The dog is compactly built, presenting an appearance of alertness and natural intelligence. His coat should be smooth, lying close to the body. Black, brown or blue are desired colors, with rust colored markings on paws, chest, throat and muzzle, above each eye and below the tail.

BOOK REVIEWS

Shrapnel Plays No Favorites

By Ted Krec

FOR SHEER BRUTALITY, there never has been a book to match "Far From the Customary Skies" (Random House, $3.75) by a literary newcomer, youthful Warren Eyster.

The dust jacket proclaims it to be "a novel of men on a U. S. destroyer — as startling as an alarm at night — as vivid as a dream of home — as real as the murderous sea" and nothing could describe it better. Here is the great war as seen by the crew of the USS Dreher; here is how they lived and died, philosophically and brutally.

Eyster, himself a Navy veteran, has pulled no punches; he slaughters with abandon. But here again a tip of the hat for the author's realism. Bullets and shrapnel have no "favorite characters," either.

The work is episodic and gives each incident from the viewpoint of the various persons involved. The language is salty—but authentic—and there is no fault to find with Eyster's accuracy.

It is unfortunate, to this reader, anyway, that this splendid work had to follow the pace-setting "The Caine Mutiny," for many casual book shoppers may feel that it is just "another of those Navy stories." Nothing could be more unjust. Eyster has done a masterful job and while the plot revolves around the Navy, war and storms at sea, there the similarity to "The Caine Mutiny" ends. This novel goes far deeper into the souls of the crewmen—the officers are just a necessary evil—and presents a shocking composite of wickedness, loyalty, nostalgia, devotion to duty and self-preservation.

This book is not for children and neither is it for the timid. But if you like your stories authentic and "on the line," don't miss it. You'll be glad you're safe at home and not on the battleline with the crew of the USS Dreher.

One of the extremely funny books of the spring, and a thoroughly absorbing biography, is "Dumbells and Carrot Strips: The Story of Bernarr Macfadden" (Holt, $3.95). The author is Mary Macfadden, who divorced "the Father of Physical Culture" after helping him to make millions, and Emile Gauvreau, who was editor of Macfadden's New York newspaper venture, "The Daily Graphic." In photo, Bernarr and Mary are shown on the beach with a daughter.

Joy Lives on a Tenant Farm

By Lew Allison

WARMTH, LOVE, and genuine joy in a living hard-won are elements not often found in a single bundle of fiction. When they are, the result is pure delight. Such is "Home, Ham and Hominy" (Caxton Printers, Ltd., $4), which unfolds the lives of Pappy and boys and Mammy, and the girls on their Tennessee tenant farm. Here, indeed, is the grand stuff that takes the reader back to his own home and family, whether he was reared on a rocky farm or in teeming Brooklyn.

Pappy and Mammy are wonderful characters, beautifully portrayed in simple terms, and their family is endowed with the strength, dignity and abundance of those high human qualities found in so many people of their kind.

Subtlety is the keynote of this first novel by Anita Littrell. A wide vein of quiet humor runs throughout; drama is all the more real for the subdued tone of its telling. Pappy's dunking on a night fishing trip, his mad scramble out of a drying well when a fake stick of dynamite is dropped by boys pretending to attempt a "shoot," the way Clyde gets his Pappy and a turtle together in a tender meeting on a turtle hunt—a dozen other incidents produce laughter.

A tragic report of a soldier son, Christmas Eve with only the hope of stewing the wolf at the door for Christmas dinner, and other crises heighten the emotional quality.

New Books at the Library

"Prince of Players," by Eleanor Ruggles, a colorful story of a genius of the American stage, Edwin Booth, has arrived at the Public Library. Other arrivals: Another biography: "Peace Through Strength," by Bernard Baruch.

History and travel: "The White House in Picture and Story," by Joseph Leeming, and "English Travelers Abroad, 1664-1667," by John W. Stoye.

Literature: "Out of the Blue," by John Crosby.

Fine arts: "Paper Sculpture," by Tadeusz Lipski; "Leonardo Da Vinci, a Biography," by Elizabeth Ripley, and "Michelangelo," by Giovanni Papini.

Other nonfiction: "The Book of Kells," "Modern Photogravure," by Louis Flader; "Successful Prize Contests," by Max Kaufman; "Mr. Wizard's Science," by Don Herbert; "Science Magic," by Kenneth M. Swezey, and "Duck Boats: Blinds: Decoys," by Raymond R. Camp.

Fiction: "Foundation and Empire," by Isaac Asimov; "The

Hopis Still Cling to Age-Old Beliefs

Like a visit to the colorful villages and tiny stone houses of this proud, self-sufficient tribe is a fascinating new book, "The Hopis: Portrait of a Desert People" (University of Oklahoma Press, $5). Author Walter Collins O'Kane has visited the villages on the Three Mesas many times, during which he came to understand the views and customs of the Hopis inherited from their ancestors; and in his "portrait" he deals mostly with the oldest living generation and the age-old ways and beliefs to which they still cling. The many Southern Californians who visit the northern Arizona desert where the Hopis are found will find the book particularly absorbing.

Art Circles

By Vera Williams

Independent-Press-Telegram Art Editor

LONG BEACH today welcomes a new show in the Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., and following a custom of some months, it is not one show but several.

First of a series of advanced technical design exhibitions planned at the Art Center is the current display of recent work by Pereira and Luckman, whose projects are interesting in terms of engineering, design and cost control. In the CBS Television City, for instance, exterior glass walls can be dismantled for expansion. Since the mobile studio lights produce great heat, an air conditioning system was accomplished by means of flexible canvas. In the Los Angeles Music Center a completely mechanized system for vertical handling of scenery reduces operating costs. A device, the helidon, which duplicates solar conditions at any latitude for any hour of any day, is used to orient a building or its site for optimum heat and light.

Brought together by the Museum of Modern Art, another exhibition covers the whole range of activities of the Olivetti Co., the leading Italian producer of business machines and demonstrate the importance of corporate influence on design in an industrial civilization.

With increased travel has come a new interest in the ancient arts of strange lands. Bali, in particular, fires the imagination. The Art Center is happy to present a selection of Balinese sculpture from the collection of Georg Szervet of Soerabaja, Indonesia. The pieces, representing Hindu deities and animals, are remarkable for their refined detail and delicate finish. They date from the 17th Century.

These shows will remain in the Art Center through May 17.

PHOTOGRAPHS by Clarence John Laughlin of New Orleans which were shown last year in 30 Municipal Art Center now are displayed in Los Angeles County Museum, Exposition Park, Los Angeles.

DRAWINGS, paintings and photographs by Karl Seethaler of Long Beach are shown in Walter Johnson Contemporaries, 4234 Atlantic Ave

A BLACK and white exhibition, drawings by Phyllis Bailey, Lillian Miller, Stuart Linton and Leonard Kaplan and views of Rome by Giovanni Piranesi are shown in Arts and Frances Gallery, 217 Cleo St., Laguna Beach.

PAINTINGS by Melva Rue will be shown today from noon until 5 p. m. at 504 Coast Blvd. in Corona del Mar.

LAGUNA BEACH announces its annual Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters July 18 through Aug. 9.

PALOS VERDES Community Arts Association is presenting Francis deErdely in a one-man show as the April exhibit in the Art Gallery of Palos Verdes Library. The affair will be opened with a tea and reception for the artist from 3 to 5 p. m. today.

The display consists mainly a pen and ink drawings with watercolor wash and brings out many contrasting moods and feelings. At present professor of painting at USC, deErdely formerly was visiting professor at the Royal Academy of Fine Arts of the Hague.

ANNOUNCEMENTS are out for the Festival of Arts and Pageant of the Masters July 18 through Aug. 9 in Irvine Bowl at Laguna Beach. Masterpieces of art from Leonardo to Norman Rockwell will be recreated with living models in the Pageant of the Masters.

What to Shoot?

By The Shutterbug

SOME FANS, with camera in hand, look hopelessly around and are at a loss as to what they could possibly photograph that would be interesting. They recognize certain family events that should be pictured, such as Susie's new outfit and baby's Sunday airing. But these are "record shots" mostly, of interest only to the family and relatives. How do they get pictures of wider significance?

Of course, if an escaped convict chanced to run down the street and paused briefly for a photo, or if a railroad train jumped its tracks and came to rest across the way, there'd be no hesitation.

Think of a topic that you could shoot anywhere, at any time in individual shots yet which would tie together as a series. People waiting for a bus, traffic cops, pushcart vendors, roof tops, television aerials, street cleaners, window shoppers—the list is endless.

If you give your pictures just a little twist or a personal touch they may wind up in a photo magazine or the civic historical society as well as in your album.

"LENS ON LOS ANGELES"

is the theme of a photographic exhibit of the Southern California Council of Camera Clubs in the Tower Gallery of the Los Angeles City Hall. Open to the public without charge, the exhibit may be viewed from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily except Saturdays and Sundays through April 24. More than 50 prints by photographer-members of 13 camera clubs in this area are represented.

LONG BEACH CAMERA GUILD will have a color slide competition at 8 p. m. Wednesday in Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd. Winners at the recent black and white print competition: Lowell Weeks, Murray Shaner, Robert Hartman, E. M. Barlett and Bert Barber. Judge was Clem Inskeep of the Foothill Camera Club, secretary of the Southern California Council of Camera Clubs.

COMPTON CAMERA CLUB will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday at 1621 E. Compton Blvd., Compton. . . San Pedro Camera Club will meet at 8 p. m. Friday in Anderson Memorial Bldg., Eighth and Mesa Sts., San Pedro.

It's All for Jazz

By Elaine Hauck

"WAY DOWN YONDER in New Orleans, Sam Dekemel awes French Quarter tourists with his unusual talent of being able to play jazz on a World War 1 bugle. Since the bugle has no valves, Sam, a stout gent with leather lungs, said he had to learn how to "push out those sharps and flats." His bugle sounds like a trumpet.

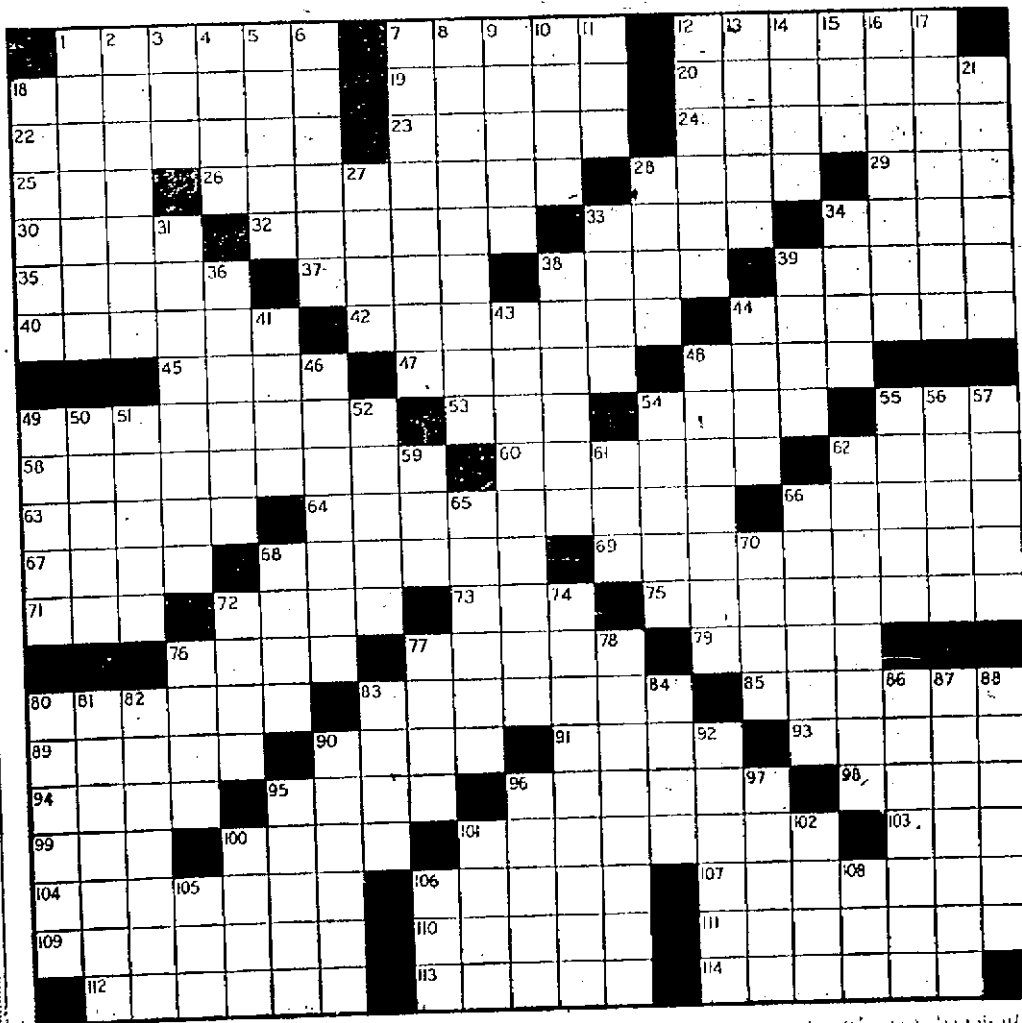

Capitol has put two of Buglin' Sam's numbers on a single. One is "Bugle Call Rag," which shows off Sam's technique and "tone." Every jazz collector should own it, even though the flip side is poor.

Closely followed in popularity: 2, "Pretend," Nat King Cole; 3,

"I Believe," Frankie Laine; 4, "Tell Me You're Mine," the Gaylords; 5, "Til I Waltz Again With You," Teresa Brewer; 6, "Your Cheatin' Heart," Joni James; 7, "Tell Me a Story," Frankie Laine and Jimmy Boyd; 8, "Wild Horses," Perry Como; 9, "Song from Moulin Rouge," Percy Faith; and 10, "Side by Side," Kay Starr.

IS THIS KISSING —OR KILLING?

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.

A HOWLING northeaster recently tossed these two cowfish onto the beach here. Their lips were locked together as if they'd been sharing a last, tender kiss.

The idea of these little (10-inch) fish with their fierce, horned heads meeting such a romantic end caught the fancy of photographer Myron E. Scott. So he propped them up in the light and took the startling picture above.

Unfortunately, cowfish, which get their name from the horns, are not known as a particularly loving lot.

It took inquiry at New York's Museum of Natural History to find out what welded these two together in the storm. The expert opinion: one of them sank his teeth into the other while fighting over a bit of food.

PREACHER GOCKEL & TV actress: Everyday words for everyday people . . .

He Lost His Voice

ST. LOUIS, Mo.
ON A bright Easter Sunday 25 years ago, a young Lutheran minister stepped proudly into the pulpit of his church in Evansville, Ind. After years of study and struggling in a small-town pastorate, the Rev. Herman Gockel had arrived.

His new congregation was big. And it had been growing during his first year in the pulpit. The Rev. Mr. Gockel confidently started to preach. It was the kind of sermon that had been crowding the pews with new faces.

• Then, half-way through the sermon, his voice gave out. He tried to go on, but he couldn't speak. His throat throbbed painfully. Sensing the growing embarrassment of his congregation, he dismissed them.

• But the sore throat didn't go away. Week after week, he tried to preach. Each time his voice failed him.

Advised to Quit

Then for months he sought medical aid. Finally, he was advised to give up the ministry. With his wife and two small children, he returned to his mother's home in Cleveland. There he was nursemaid while his wife went to work as a secretary.

But the Rev. Mr. Gockel didn't give up. He used the opportunity to try out an idea: putting religion into everyday words for everyday people.

• Soon he had a new kind of ministry. Through columns, books and hymns he has reached millions of people. Now, as religious director for the TV program, "This Is the Life," he commutes by air between his St. Louis home and Hollywood.

• Here are the nation's most famous pitchers. They threw once a year—to open the season 1910: First president to pitch a baseball was William Howard Taft.

1913: Woodrow Wilson came closest to Eisenhower. He played semi-pro ball, coached at college.

This Monday, Ike

The president (first ex-"pro" ballplayer to be Chief Executive) will

Abilene High School, 1909

Point halted his sports career in 1912. President's brother, Edgar, is last man on right, first row. Ike later turned "pro."

WASHINGTON, D. C.

IT WAS furthest from their minds, but 34,000,000 U.S. voters last November picked the pitcher for tomorrow's baseball season opener.

For millions of fans know that only a major emergency could have kept President DWIGHT EISENHOWER, a husky right-hander who used to play himself, from tossing out the first ball. Ike is, in fact, the only president who ever played pro baseball.

Here's the story:

While summer-vacationing from the U. S. Military Academy in 1911, Eisenhower played in the Central Kansas League under the name of D. Wilson and batted .355 in nine games.

A football injury halted Ike's baseball career in 1912. Playing for the Army, he twisted his knee as he plunged into the Tufts line. He never again played football or baseball. Still, he maintained his devotion to baseball. On his return from Europe in 1945, Ike told those planning his reception, "The one thing I want to see again is a big league baseball game."

► Eisenhower's interest in baseball follows the custom of White House residents. Every president since WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT has been an opening-day pitcher. In 1910, TOM NOYES, then owner of the Washington club, invited President Taft to the first game of the season.

"I'll come," the President said. "But you must let me buy my own seats."

Taft came—and began the tradition of presidential tossers.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT made the most pitching appearances—eight. But he did not attend a game during the war years.

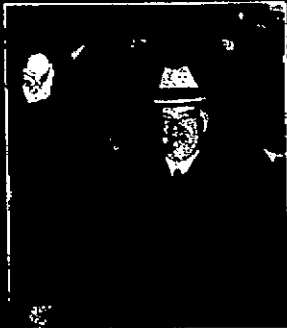

"He wanted to come," explains the present Washington team owner, CLARK GRIFFITH. "But war pressure was too great."

The Secret Service didn't want Roosevelt to attend any games, but felt that an order from his old friend Griffith would carry more weight

1948. Harry Truman revived custom.

start the 1953 season — and carry on an honored old sports tradition than their own ultimatum. They appealed to Griff, and he told Roosevelt not to go.

"Are you giving orders to the President of the United States?" asked Roosevelt.

"Yes, Mr. President," Griff said firmly.

The last published photo of FDR showed Griffith handing him a season pass.

► "I feel like a baseball team going into the ninth inning with only eight men to play the game," Roosevelt told Griffith that afternoon. Within 10 days, Roosevelt was dead.

His successor, HARRY TRUMAN—in Griffith's opinion—threw better than any other President. Truman, who made seven appearances, was the only ambidextrous hurler.

Who Started It?

THE FIRST pitcher of them all must have been GEORGE WASHINGTON, who (according to the story) threw the silver dollar across the Rappahannock River. And legend has it that ABRAHAM LINCOLN was playing baseball when the Republicans told him he had been nominated for the presidency.

JAMES A. GARFIELD was one of the first and most ardent White House fans. He attended the opening game in Washington on April 16, 1881, when the Washington club (then in the Eastern League) beat Providence, 3 to 2.

Garfield gave a $20 goldpiece to Manager MIKE SCANLON to present to his pitcher, JACK LYNCH. Garfield also procured federal jobs for young men who could play well enough to make the Washington team.

► President CHESTER A. ARTHUR was another baseball follower. Manager FRANK BANCROFT brought his Cleveland team to the White House for a visit on April 3, 1883. The President complimented them on their appearance and said, "Good ballplayers make good citizens."

Since then, many baseball men have visited the White House. An early New York team paid its respects to President BENJAMIN HARRISON. Though the origin of the famous nickname "Giants" is uncertain, one version is that Harrison coined the name. He is supposed to have turned to New York Manager JIM MUTRIE and said of his players, "They are all giants, aren't they?"

Happiest moment in the life of a White House fan came when CALVIN COOLIDGE welcomed the World Champion Senators at a special reception in 1924. However, the real baseball follower in the Coolidge household was MRS. COOLIDGE.

Once, when the President and his party left a Washington game early, Mrs. Coolidge stayed on. She sent a Secret Service man to owner Griffith, asking that he visit her box.

"Maybe you can explain the game to her," the Secret Service man suggested.

► When Griffith saw Mrs. Coolidge he knew that any explanation was not necessary. She was intent on the game and keeping score with the aplomb of a veteran sports writer. "I learned when I was official scorer at Vassar," she told him.

Though none of the other presidents could boast of Eisenhower's professional background in baseball, several of them had close contact with the game. WARREN G. HARDING was a part owner of the Marion club in the Ohio State League. His special protege was WILBUR COOPER, who became a pitcher for Pittsburgh.

William H. Taft's brother was a backer of the Chicago Cubs for many years. And the President himself was a substitute pitcher for the Mt. Auburn team in Cincinnati in the 1860's. One day before a championship game, Mt. Auburn's star hurler was called home because of his father's death. Taft had to pitch. He was knocked from the box.

"I'm through with baseball," Taft told his manager after the debacle. "I'll try something else where I can make a success."

Later, Mr. Taft made use of baseball. As the first U. S. Governor of the Philippines in 1901, he was dismayed by the head-hunting still going on there. He introduced baseball, hoping it would prove a more peaceful substitute.

Although WOODROW WILSON never used baseball to calm the League of Nations, he was almost as avid a fan as Taft.

Mr. Wilson had been Princeton University baseball coach and also played semi-pro at Staunton, Va. Even after he was ill, he attended the games in Washington. Wilson's chauffeur would park the official limousine near the right field line, where an extra player was stationed to catch any potentially damaging foul balls.

Protecting the President

SUCH precautions are fundamental compared to the elaborate methods which will insure President Eisenhower a safe and enjoyable afternoon at the 1953 opener.

Three hundred special police and 50 Secret Service men will guard the President. For days before the game, they will carefully inspect his route to and from Griffith Stadium and give the stands a thorough going-over.

► Such to-do would amaze GROVER CLEVELAND, the only chief executive who didn't share the nation's enthusiasm for baseball.

One manager, MIKE SCANLON of the Washington club and ADRIAN (POP) ANSON, manager of the Chicago White Stockings, invited Cleveland to a ballgame.

"What do you imagine the American people would think of me," he asked them, "if I wasted my time going to a ballgame?"

Now, it's different. The tradition of presidential attendance at baseball games might prod Mr. Eisenhower into asking, "What do you imagine the American people would think of me if I didn't go to a ballgame?" ■

MIRACLE POWER

Cuts Oil Usage 33%

Increases Compression 13%

Many lubrication "aids" claim to help engines. Here's proof that Miracle Power improves lubrication. Wetmore Hodges & Associates, independent research laboratory, ran a comparative breakdown test of two truck engines, each hauling salt and gravel (38 tons gross vehicle weight). The engine not using Miracle Power broke down at 33,703 miles. The engine using Miracle Power was still operating efficiently.

Results: Miracle Power saved 33% on oil, gave 13% greater compression, 56% more spark plug life, 49% less cylinder wear, 15% less ring wear, double fuel pump life!

Why? Because Miracle Power is a secret blend of super lubricating agents including colloidal synthetic graphite in suspension. Used in gas and oil, Miracle Power clings to metal, holds oil longer, lubricates even when oil burns off due to excess engine temperatures.

Stops DRY STARTING Damage
... Treats the Engine, Not the Oil!

During stops, oil drains off vital engine parts and it takes up to five minutes to pump it back after starting. Meantime, dry metal grinds against dry metal. Result: wear... lost power... repairs. Use Miracle Power to protect engines with a breathlike lubricating film. It is not a purge or detergent—it treats the engine, not the oil.

Officials of the Provident Loan Society fitted out the "loanmobile" at a cost of $20,000. They say it's the first time any loan company has taken to the road to find customers.

The idea is to reach people in the outlying districts. The loanmobile parks at a different spot each day—and waits for business. Inside, it looks like a regular loan office.

Does it pay? Provident reports business is developing "slowly." To get a loan, you have to exchange jewels or other valuables.

ARE LAXATIVES MAKING YOUR "CONDITION" WORSE?

This natural way to regularity is helping more Americans than any medicinal laxative on the market!

FOREWORD: Too often, attempts to treat constipation cause serious mis-treatment of the digestive system. Long-continued overdosing, with products intended only for overnight laxative relief, can lead to serious lifelong suffering. Since constipation is probably the most widespread of all human maladies, you owe it to yourself to read the following statement.

(signed) KELLOGG COMPANY
Battle Creek, Michigan

Since the turn of the century, this nation's health progress has been nothing short of remarkable.

Twenty years or more have been added to the average American life-expectancy at birth.

Death rates from specific diseases such as pneumonia and tuberculosis, have been cut—some almost to the vanishing point.

The general level of nutrition has risen year after year. What is hard to understand is how—despite all this enormous health progress—a seemingly simple ailment like Constipation could be so widespread that according to competent medical authorities, at least 70% of our total population, from time to time, suffer from constipation in one form or another.

Is the prevalence of constipation—occasional, common or chronic—due to lack of medical research, progress and knowledge on the subject? Far from it.

On the contrary, nature and the medical profession—separately and together—have provided man with a vast array of remedies, treatment and even prevention.

But by and large, constipation is not a "ready-made" condition that strikes without warning; it is a progressive ailment.

—AND THE PROGRESS OF CONSTIPATION, FROM OCCASIONAL TO COMMON TO CHRONIC, IS HASTENED TO A WIDELY UNREALIZED EXTENT BY THE WAY THE DIGESTIVE SYSTEM IS ABUSED WITH PURGATIVES TOO HARSH IN IMMEDIATE EFFECT TO HAVE A SOUND CORRECTIVE RESULT.

When continual abuse is accompanied by not enough exercise, tension of modern living, and today's steady diet of processed food lacking in natural bulk... then it is little wonder that some degree of constipation, sooner or later, is almost inevitable.

Few people indeed are ever aware what damage can take place inside them, when without medical guidance—without even reading the directions on the label—they choose a laxative at random and take "big doses" willy-nilly.

This continual overdosing, instead of the careful therapeutic dose designed only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage, can exert upon the delicate digestive system a strain nature never intended. The fact that thousands unknowingly abuse themselves for years in this manner, without apparent harm, merely demonstrates that the human digestive system can stand unbelievable abuse.

Sooner or later the vicious "laxative habit" takes hold. And before they realize it, their condition has progressed so far that even daily laxative or purgative dosing can no longer bring satisfactory, comfortable relief.

These men and women tried to substitute harsh purgative "forcing action," for the natural regularity which sensible daily habits and sufficient bulk in the diet could probably have maintained... if only they had "let nature take its course."

Let us see what happens inside the digestive system, when it is churned up by unnatural purgative over-dosing.

1. Most purgative compounds, designed for fast overnight relief, must depend on: (a) mechanical action which loads the lower intestine (colon) with a flood of water; or (b) "irritant" action which, with certain chemical ingredients, prods bowel walls into muscular contraction.
2. Obviously, these compounds draw off water from the system and rush it through the intestines; thus also drawing off fluids and juices needed for normal digestion, and vitamins and minerals from the food you have eaten.
3. The chemical action of these compounds, when they reach the colon, often further irritates an already over-sensitive intestinal tract. It tightens and becomes tense.
4. RESULT: An upset stomach, a small intestine containing little nourishment to feed the body, and a colon which often needs another purgative dose—and another—and another—to prod it into renewed muscular action.

IN SHORT: YOU INFLICT UPON YOUR DIGESTIVE SYSTEM UNNATURAL PUNISHMENT WHICH LEAVES A TRAIL OF DIGESTIVE HAVOC, INSTEAD OF THE CORRECTIVE RESULTS HOPED FOR.

With these facts before you, is it possible to doubt that continual overdosing can so weaken your digestive function that finally, "the remedy is worse than the disease"?

If you feel you have to take a laxative occasionally, be sure you take it wisely—in an accurate, recommended dose.

BUT THERE IS A WAY TO AVOID DRUG-TYPE LAXATIVES ALTOGETHER, AND PLACE YOUR MAIN DEPENDENCE ON NATURE.

It is a medically established fact that nature has provided, in the natural foods men were intended to eat, all the elements necessary for lifelong avoidance of common constipation.

In many of these natural foods—such as certain vegetables, fruits and grains—nature grew, AND GROWS TODAY, abundant natural fibrous bulk which normally and naturally aids the rhythmic process of elimination.

And in no other natural food is this natural bulk so ideally found as in the vitamin-rich, mineral-rich outer layers of the whole wheat kernel, known generally as bran.

Whole-wheat bran is nature's "food instead of a medicine"... a veritable storehouse of such essential nutritional elements as iron, calcium, phosphorus, vitamin A, Thiamine, riboflavin and niacin.

—whole bran when properly processed and shredded yields smooth bulk the digestive system can handle unimpaired.

—AND MOST IMPORTANT TO CONSTIPATION SUFFERERS: THE COMPLETE, WHOLE BRAN, WITH NOTHING TAKEN AWAY TO LESSEN ITS EFFECTIVENESS, IS KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN—THE NATURAL LAXATIVE CEREAL.

Let us tell you how Kellogg's All-Bran works inside your body. And we leave it to you to compare its action with the unnatural "forcing action" which takes place when you overdose your digestive system in the way previously described.

1. Kellogg's All-Bran has no significant laxative action in the stomach or small intestine, thus it does not significantly change the normal digestive sequence. Only in the colon, where laxative action is needed, does laxative action take place.
2. Kellogg's All-Bran is eaten with milk, thus it draws from the system no needed water and digestive juices. It has no harsh action, thus it does not rush vitamins or minerals past the small intestine too quickly for absorption.
3. Kellogg's All-Bran is rich in vitamins and minerals, thus it actually assures the presence of these elements in the small intestine for proper absorption.
4. Kellogg's All-Bran is shredded to fine, soft consistency, thus it supplies bulk which neither irritates nor inflames the normal colon. It helps—as nature itself intended—to supply the proper consistency for unforced, normal elimination.

THERE IS NO CHURNING, NO STOMACH UPSET, NO AFTER-EFFECT, EXCEPT THE FEELING OF SATISFACTION AND FULFILLMENT WHICH COMES WITH NORMAL, NATURAL ELIMINATION.

KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN IS SAFE FOR THE NORMAL DIGESTIVE TRACT.

YOU DO NOT COURT THE DISASTER OF PROGRESSIVE CONSTIPATION WHEN YOU EAT ONE OUNCE OF KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN DAILY, AND DRINK PLENTY OF WATER.

Kellogg's All-Bran is not a habit-forming "drug-type" laxative but a delicious NATURAL laxative cereal.

It is sold as a cereal. Bought at cereal prices. Served as a cereal. Eaten as a cereal. Enjoyed like a cereal, with a crunchy, toasty, nut-like flavor like a cereal. Digested like a cereal. Many prefer it, on taste and eating qualities alone, to any other cereal on the market.

Kellogg's All-Bran is ALL BRAN. No "part-bran" cereal—in the amounts you usually eat for breakfast—can give you the benefits of All-Bran.

No exaggerated claims are made for the laxative qualities of All-Bran. The name Kellogg's on the package, a symbol of healthful foods throughout the world, speaks for itself.

But the thousands of unsolicited testimonial letters which pour in—and the fact that it is today the largest-selling laxative cereal in the world, with over four hundred million servings per year consumed by the American public—indicate that it lives up to the fine things said about it.

Kellogg's All-Bran is no "overnight cure" for constipation. There is no such cure. All-Bran must be eaten regularly to obtain the natural and lasting relief you are looking for.

Kellogg's makes it easy for you to prove that to yourself. Just eat All-Bran every morning for 10 days. Then, if you're not completely satisfied, send the empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Michigan—and get double your money back.

READ HOW OTHER SUFFERERS FROM CONSTIPATION (due to lack of bulk in the diet) HAVE BENEFITED:

"I spent half my life looking for a cure for constipation. After 35 years I began eating Kellogg's All-Bran daily. I haven't been bothered with constipation since."

—Mrs. Margaret Topham
300 W. Shephard St., Saginaw 3, Mich.

"I wish I had all the money I've spent on laxatives. I used them for 20 years. Finally I got around to trying Kellogg's All-Bran. I haven't needed a laxative since."

"I'M JUST LISTENING"

Red rave leaves Briton unmoved

IN THE UNITED NATIONS Assembly, Henry Cabot Lodge, chief U.S. delegate, had made a speech. He'd accused the Russians of supplying North Koreans with arms.

Now, Russia's Andrei Vishinsky was replying. He admitted the accusation—in part—but was hotly claiming Russia wanted peace. The Assembly was in an uproar.

Caldest of the delegates was the man in the middle—Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb—who was sitting between Lodge and Vishinsky. While Vishinsky raved, Sir Gladwyn sat hand to head with an "I've-heard-it-all-before" expression.

5. "The United States has intensified the barbarous air raids over Korea . . . for the purpose of bombing, strafing and killing." (Jebb scribbles. Lodge, aghast, turns to others.)

1. Speech finished, Lodge (left) sits. Vishinsky (right) signals he wants to talk. Jebb? See below.

2. "Soviet Russia has never concealed the fact that it sold armaments to its ally, China." (Jebb seems bored.)

3. . . . "The idea concocted by Americans to use Asian soldiers as cannon fodder" (Jebb's hearing an old story.)

4. "It is well known that Russia took the initiative in armistice negotiations." (Jebb's still not impressed.)

6. "The Soviet Union continues to sell armaments to China . . . this is quite natural." (Jebb can't believe his ears.)

7. "Not only do we want the war to come to an end. We propose it." (Jebb leans back wearily.)

8. Lodge, Jebb grin as Vishinsky starts all over again ▶

ADVENTURE

Woman-like, she takes a final look at her hair as her chains are tightened . . . Two huskies on diving board push her over . . . This is the big splash Sarah made. (Now see picture below.)

© "The Accused," Hallmark Hall of Fame (NBC-TV).

THE PICTURES on these pages show Winston Churchill's daughter, Sarah, thrown into a pool in New York. The reason: to prove she isn't a witch. The actress-daughter of Britain's Prime Minister was playing the part of a girl in a TV story about the Salem, Mass., witch-hunts.

In 1640, Salem witch-suspects were thrown into water. If they really were witches, they sank—or so people thought.

But if they were innocent, the inquisitors believed, they floated. Miss Churchill floated.

AMONG THOSE INTERVIEWED

8 OUT OF 10 SAID "CAVALIERS ARE Milder!"

Compare Cavaliers with any cigarette! See if you don't agree with thousands of smokers from coast to coast! 8 out of 10 interviewed said Cavaliers are milder!

It can happen! One cigarette now combines great mildness with plenty of fine flavor...king-size Cavalier! So mild that when thousands of smokers compared king-size Cavaliers with the brands they had been smoking, at least 8 out of 10 said Cavaliers are milder! Cavaliers were compared with all the other leading brands, perhaps the brand you now smoke! If you want greater mildness along with more, fine flavor...try king-size Cavaliers today!

Cavaliers are king-size, but priced no higher than leading regular-size brands.

MOTHPROOF AS YOU WASH

• Pour in a few spoonfuls of a new solution as you wash, and your woollens will come out mothproof as well as clean. U. S. Dept. of Agriculture tests with the formula show it does a complete mothproofing job. Blankets, sweaters, other washable woollens treated this way are protected against larvae of moths and carpet beetles for a year. You can use the solution in washing machine or tub, with soap and water, or as a rinse. BONDED CHEMICALS, 689 S. Main, Lima, Ohio.

WORKS WHEN YOU'RE AWAY

• A new timing switch turns your electric appliances on. AND also turns them off automatically at any time you designate. You can plug the little, portable timer in anywhere to operate radio, cooker, refrigerator, air conditioner, lamps, small signs, etc. Vacation time, it helps deter burglars by giving your home a lived-in look. It turns on lamps and the radio at night and shuts them off after an hour or so. $13.95. TORK CLOCK COMPANY, 1 Grove St., Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

FOR YOUR WINDOWS

• Here's something new in window decoration: cord-woven draperies. They're made of twisted cellulose fibers woven together with cotton warp threads spaced 1½" apart. Fibers are plastic-treated, waterproof, and "damp-cleanable." The draperies come ready-to-hang with self-pleating, draw-string tapes. You can cut them to any length, eliminating need for special orders. They come in colors which don't run when accidentally rained on. $6 up per pair, according to size. COLUMBIA MILLS, 101 Park Ave., New York 17, N. Y.

BEAUTY WHILE YOU WORK: These new latex gloves protect your hands. They soften and smoothe them, too, make claims, by coxing natural oils to skin surfaces. COOKIES that frost themselves. Here's a new kitchen trick that will save you time.

HAVANA WAFERS

- |  |                                       |
|--|---------------------------------------|
| 1/4 cup shortening                       | 1 3/4 cups sifted cake flour          |
| 1/2 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed | 2 tsp. baking powder                  |
| 1 egg, well beaten                       | 1/2 teaspoon salt                     |
| 1 tablespoon cream                       | 1 8 1/2-oz. pkg. chocolate rum wafers |
| 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla                  | Whole walnut meats                    |

Cream shortening and sugar together; beat until light and fluffy. Add egg, cream and vanilla; beat well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt; add; mix well. Shape into mound; wrap in waxed paper; chill. Roll out 1/4-inch thick on board lightly "floured" with confectioners' sugar. Dip 2-inch round or scalloped cookie cutter in confectioners' sugar each time before cutting cookie. Place on lightly greased baking sheet. Place chocolate rum wafer on each cookie; press down lightly. Top each with whole walnut meat. Bake in moderate oven, 375°F., about 8 minutes or until delicately browned. Remove from oven; with spoon press walnut meats into softened chocolate. Remove from cookie sheet. Cool. Makes 3 dozen cookies.

Why Can't You Sleep?

New medical findings revealed! You may actually be starved for needed "sleep food."

RECENT MEDICAL STUDIES indicate that a vital substance in your bloodstream may have a lot to do with how well you sleep. This vital substance is known medically as blood sugar. It is an important source of nourishment for the brain.

At bedtime and especially during the long nighttime hours, your supply of blood sugar may become seriously lowered. Thus, your brain and nervous system are affected. You may feel too nervous to go to sleep... too restless to sleep well. You are "starved" for blood sugar—your body's vital "sleep food."

How you can help your body get needed "sleep food"

Drugs or sleeping pills can't supply "sleep food." And sweet, sugary foods and drinks provide only a quick jet of sugar that is too quickly burned up. But here is a way—a delicious, drugless way—to help your body get needed "sleep food." This sleep-aid is a POSTUM "NIGHTCAP"—a delicious drink made with Instant Postum and hot milk, taken shortly before retiring.

Your Postum "Nightcap" is good-tasting and safe—contains no drugs to harm you. Moreover, your Postum milk drink gives you easily digested nourishment that is slowly converted into blood sugar. Thus, it helps assure the slow, steady flow of vital "sleep food" to your brain. That's why a Postum "Nightcap" helps you get refreshing sleep—the kind that leaves you rested, looking and feeling like new!

So safe, so easy—try it!

Every night before you retire, fix yourself a Postum "Nightcap." It's easy—add a rounded teaspoon of Instant Postum to a cup of hot milk, and stir. Try this for just 10 days. Then see if you aren't sleeping better—feeling fresher—looking like a new person! Get Instant Postum now, and start the 10-day test tonight!

Are Postum "Nightcaps" really effective?

Doctors have always known that a warm milk drink is an effective aid to sleep. The recent blood sugar studies offer additional reason why. As your own doctor can tell you, the Postum "Nightcap" is ideal: a warm, relaxing drink that tastes good... and Postum contains no caffeine, no drugs of any kind.

Postum is an ideal mealtime beverage, too. No caffeine—no drugs—no chance for "coffee nerves."

She Got

After 55 years of happiness, Papa

THE HAPPY COUPLE

Arm in arm, Sophie and Henry Hensel face the future. Both born in Germany, they were married in the U.S. His ads please friends.

a Wife's BEST Gift

HENRY gets a special anniversary kiss. One paper insisted on running ad free on page 1.

ROCHELLE PARK, N. J.
NEIGHBORS of Sophie and Henry Hensel here chuckled recently over an ad in the local paper.

In it, Mr. Hensel enthusiastically thanked his wife "for 55 years of wedded happiness." (See above left).

"A TREASURE"

"I am proud to announce the possession of a jewel, my wife, Sophie Hensel, for the last 40 years, since March 1, 1898. My sons, daughters, sons-in-law, daughters-in-law and grandchildren share in the possession of this jewel."

Then, just five years ago, the ad appeared again. People here got to looking forward to these tender—and public—expressions of regard—possibly the most affectionate greetings in the history of U.S. marriage.

How did it all start?

"One night back in 1937," says Papa Hensel, now 75, "my wife and I were at a party. The women were talking about all the fine presents they'd received from their husbands."

The 'Different' Present

"ALL AT once I heard Sophie say, 'My husband has never given me a present!'"

"Well, now, she was right! I never had—and I'll tell you why. To me, a bought gift is man-made—not really you. So I give Sophie the money and let her buy what she wants."

"Anyway, after this party, I said to Sophie: 'Liebchen, six months from today is our 40th anniversary. I am going to give you a present that will be different from anything you ever heard of.'"

• "But when I said that I didn't have the faintest idea of what the present would be. Just five days before the anniversary I had an inspiration. I wrote the ad, and phoned it to the paper."

• "Well, Sophie was really surprised. And she liked it a lot better than any ordinary present. So I've kept doing it."

But when Mrs. Hensel saw the 55th anniversary ad—which appeared in two papers,—all she could say was, "Oh, Henry, not again!" And then she kissed him!

EXCLUSIVE
REPORT

I Saw Your Prisoner Sons

How do they spend their time? What do they eat? What do they wear?

And why are some of them singled out for the shameful task of spreading lies about their country?

Here is the first eye-witness report. It appeared recently in the Chinese Nationalist magazine, "Newsdom," in Hong Kong. The writer is described as a former Chinese Red soldier.

BY YEH MIN

HONG KONG.

THE SO-CALLED War Prisoner's Administration is a very special organization.

It is headed by Russians, Chinese and Koreans. The director is a Russian colonel. There is also a Russian secretary general known as the One-Eyed Dragon, because he has only one eye.

● All the prisoner camps are in North Korea. The three largest have about 2,000 prisoners each. General Dean was detained four months at one of these—the No. 1 camp in Pyongyang, containing mostly Americans. Then he was moved to Sakchu. Where he is now I have no idea.

● I was sent to a camp at Sunchon for investigation work. It was near a supply center and railway station (a common location for POW camps, so that Allied planes won't bomb the area). There were about 400 prisoners, approximately a third of whom were American.

At every war prisoner camp there are about 20 to 100 Communist staff workers. All of them are Chinese and Korean cadres.

Living conditions in the camps are not as good as the Communist propaganda says.

At Sunchon, all the buildings were built by the prisoners themselves. The roofs were made of tree branches covered with straw. The walls were made of mud. Each room had one very small window and held 8 to 12 prisoners. The room was dark.

There was no furniture. On the floor, the prisoners put down about five inches of straw, and spread blankets over it. They called it a "joint bed," because they would all lie on it together.

● Each prisoner had a shirt and a pair of trousers from an old Red Army uniform. In winter, they were given padded cotton uniforms, a pair of old Army shoes, a pair of cotton socks, an old Army cap, one handkerchief and two gray Army blankets.

● In every room, there was a wooden bucket, used by all occupants for washing. Another bucket served as a toilet.

● There was no heat. In winter each room was given a broken iron pot for a stove, and the prisoners were allowed to light a fire only for a short time in the morning and again briefly at night. The smoky open fires made tears come to the prisoners' eyes and made them cough a lot.

Meat Twice a Month

THE PRISONERS were given two meals a day and ordinarily no water was served. Their main food was kaoliang (a grain), rice, noodles, some vegetables and barley. Twice a month they got a little meat.

Prisoners rose at 6 a.m. After half an hour's exercise they took up their first political lesson. Then they had a discussion meeting among themselves until time for their first meal at 10 a.m.

After breakfast, they were divided up. Some groups were sent out to do "productive labor;" some to do "collective study;" and some to "discussion meetings."

They returned at 5 p.m. for supper. After supper came games, group meetings and, at 8 p.m., bed-time.

● Some prisoners have been sent to work in mines in Northeast China. Others have been put to work building harbors in Russia.

Before being admitted to a camp, every war prisoner wrote a confession.

These people

LT. KENNETH L. ENOCH

YOUNGSTOWN, O. — EH'S STORY won't surprise anybody here in Lt. Kenneth L. Enoch's home town.

The people who knew Ken Enoch (see pictures, right) didn't know much about what happens inside Communist prisons.

But, when they heard of Ken's confession, they agreed on one thing: "The Reds made him do it."

As they remembered him, Ken Enoch was too smart, too full of fun, to fall for Communists propaganda.

CAPTURED GI's are shown in clothes that Yeh describes in story.

confessions. If they were not satisfactory, the prisoner was sent to the war prisoner administration. There he was questioned until all secrets were known.

In February, 1952, our investigation section was ordered to find some evidence to support charges of American germ warfare. We worked busily at it for a month, but we could not find out which prisoner was alleged to have spread the germs.

The Dragon Was Nervous

THE RUSSIAN One-Eyed Dragon was so nervous that his eye was always red. He kept urging us to find an American on whom a germ warfare story could be "framed."

Finally we fixed on two airmen, Quinn and Enoch (Lts. John Quinn of Altadena, Calif., and Kenneth Enoch of Youngstown, O.) in the No. 8 camp at Kang-dong. It was our duty to frame a story for them.

- We heard the history of the two airmen. When they were giving it, we would insert some questions relating to germ warfare. They were at a loss to answer our questions. They did not know what we were trying to get at. Finally, we told them the whole story and asked them to admit it was correct.

- By means of threats and deception, we got them to yield to us.
- That is how they came to give their statement on germ warfare on May 5. The same procedure was applied to two others.

These four prisoners are now being well treated in Mukden, in the hostel of the Northeast Military Headquarters. I have since heard that Quinn is in a hospital.

know Ken Enoch was forced to lie

MOTHER

Mrs. Helen D. Enoch: "Around home, Ken was a good boy, the kind who kept his thoughts to himself. I don't know how the Reds got anything out of him; I couldn't."

PRINCIPAL

C. W. Ricksecker, principal of Chaney High School: "Ken was one of our best boys. He ended up third in a class of 82 and was elected to the National Honor Society."

TEACHER

Mrs. Verna Riftenberick, Chaney High School Latin teacher: "I can tell you Ken had character—or he never would have made eight A's in my Latin courses. I wish he'd won the Latin medal."

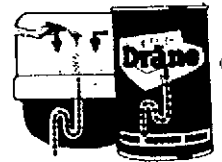

FRIENDS

Peggy Brown and Doris Reinhard, secretaries at Ohio Edison Co. where Ken worked: "Ken was never alone, always with a crowd. He was happy go lucky. He always kidded you."

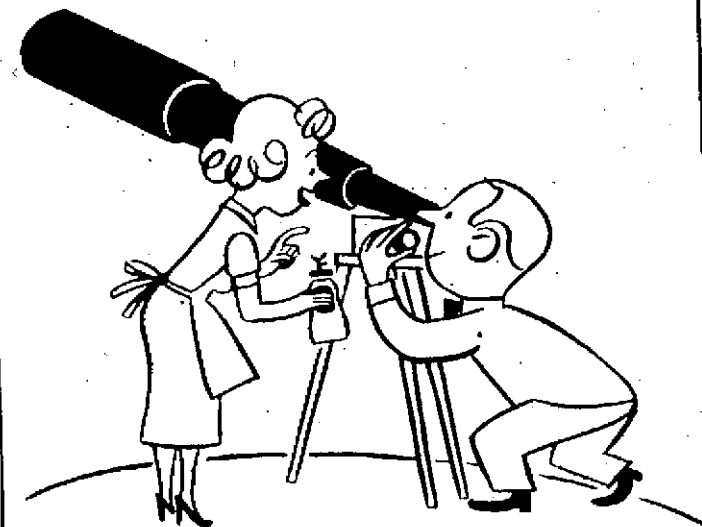

"Paint or no paint, I just remembered I didn't put Drano in the drains this week!"

Even a freshly painted kitchen isn't necessarily clean. Not when dangerous sewer germs lurk in every drain. No liquid disinfectant can budge the muck they breed in. It takes Drano to unclog drains and keep them running free and clear. Use Drano once a week—every week. Won't harm septic tanks. Makes them work better. Get Drano today at your grocery or hardware store. Also available in Canada.

"You can see twice as far since we cleaned the lens with Windex Spray"

The brightest star in cleaners is Windex Spray! It's the quickest, easiest way to make windows and mirrors simply sparkle! Whish! Spray it on! Swish! Wipe it off lightly! Windex Spray leaves no messy dust to clean afterwards, like some cleaners. Saves time! Saves work! Costs far less than a penny per window. Even more economical in the big 20-oz. size. Also available in Canada.

JUST ONE BRUSHING WITH COLGATE Chlorophyll Toothpaste DESTROYS BAD BREATH

MORE EFFECTIVELY!

Clinical Tests Prove It Works

More Thoroughly, for a Longer Time
Than A Non-Chlorophyll Toothpaste!

In "Osmoscope" tests with actual cases, (men and women who had unpleasant breath), Colgate Chlorophyll* Toothpaste was proved to act more thoroughly, and give longer-lasting protection. Even at the end of four hours, it was proved to give far greater reduction of bad breath!

RIDS MOUTH OF DECAY BACTERIA!

Just one brushing with Colgate Chlorophyll Toothpaste cleans your mouth of a high percentage of bacteria. Remember: bacteria and acids are a chief cause of tooth decay. Every time you brush with Colgate Chlorophyll Toothpaste you reduce these destructive acids!

COMMON GUM TROUBLE REDUCED TWICE AS FAST!

Clinical tests (now published in a dental journal!) with 589 children show that chlorophyll toothpaste can reduce gingivitis twice as fast as a white toothpaste! Even severe cases were quickly improved! Here is scientific proof that regular brushing with Colgate Chlorophyll Toothpaste can help your children have a better chance for sound, healthy gums!

*Contains water-soluble chlorophylline

YOU CAN PROVE IT YOURSELF!

No Other Toothpaste

HAS MORE ACTIVE CHLOROPHYLL

And You Can Be Sure Colgate's Is in Effective, Soluble Form!

Here is the proof! When equal amounts of Brand "A", Brand "B" and Colgate Chlorophyll Toothpaste are mixed with water, the solution with Colgate turns a darker, richer green, thus proving it contains more soluble chlorophyll than either brand. And while the chlorophyll in other brands may settle to the bottom, you won't see this happen with Colgate Chlorophyll Toothpaste. The water remains a clear, dark green, even for days, showing that the chlorophyll is completely dissolved—ready to help you against bad breath and common gum disorders!

Make Sure You Get The Full Benefits of a Chlorophyll Toothpaste...with this New, Exclusive Colgate Formula!

MISS MELINDA MARX, 6, poses with her dad—a man named Groucho.

LATE LAUGHS...

... from Ethel Merman, Groucho & Co.

ETHEL MERMAN took her little daughter Ethel to a press preview of the Fox movie in which she emerges as one of the most vital personalities on the silver screen—"Call Me Madam."

When the lights went up IRVING BERLIN, who wrote the music, embraced Miss Merman, and such luminaries as ELLA LOGAN, JACK PEARL, MAGGI MCNELLIS and EVA GABOR congratulated them.

"How did you like the picture?" we asked the Merman heiress. "Fine, fine," she gushed, "DONNIE O'CONNOR was wonderful, GEORGE SANDERS sang nice, MR. BILLIE DEWOLF was good..."

"What about a certain Miss Merman?" we interrupted. "Oh I thought you meant the stars," was the reply. "Ethel's no star, she's my Mommy!"...

Once a newspaperman wrote that HARPO MARX was the brains of the family, a comment to which brother GROUCHO took exception. "To begin with," he wrote, "there are no brains in the Marx family. If there were any they certainly wouldn't belong to Harpo. I went to school with him and I know. It wasn't a question of burning down the schoolhouse to get Harpo out of the second grade, because he never got to the second grade!"

This department seldom goes in for verse, but with spring here, we like reader Larry Gore's effort:

What is so gay as a bright Sabbath Day and a lovely auto drive. The world is fresh, the air is clean, the earth is green, alive.

Out of the house at 8 in the morn'; away from the daily grind. With 60,000 cars in front and twice as many behind.

Bumper to bumper and hood to tail—motoring into the sun. Farewell to old, familiar sights. Away to worlds of fun.

For 10 pleasant hours we zoom along, we're home at 6 o'clock. Isn't it grand on Sabbath Day, driving around the block? #1/*?

When BEA LILLIE used her title, Lady Peel, she visited a beauty shop in Kansas City. While she was having her hair dried, the wife of a meat tycoon said audibly, "I wish that actress would hurry." Later, Lady Peel emerged, smiled at the cashier and remarked, "Awright, deah—tell that butcher's wife to come in."

UP A TREE

Three boys are marooned . . .

PARIS.

THIS could be going on in any vacant lot in the world. On his way home from school, a Parisian lad couldn't resist the temptation to leave his chums "up a tree." He yanked the bedstead out from under them. The boy in the tree (right) seems to be wondering what the trunk will do to bare knees.

ONLY LINIT makes a thin fluid starch that gets deep down into fabrics ... coats each fibre evenly ... That's why your iron glides so smoothly, easily!

Why LINIT starch gives FASTER, EASIER IRONING!

Amazing "Deep-Starching" action does it!

Gives like-new look to cottons, restores wonderful beauty-finish, too!

"NO COOKING... READY IN LESS THAN A MINUTE!"

Clothes stay cleaner

The protective finish given by Linit Starch resists soiling ... helps to keep cottons fresh and dainty. Dresses and blouses look as crisp and pretty as the day you bought them! Linit® Starch helps to seal the surface against dirt so that the next washing is easier.

How deep-starching works

You don't want a starch that's lazy ... one that does just a surface job, a thick starch that coats only the top of the fabric. Protect all the fabric with deep-starching Linit...its thin fluid mixture gets down into (not onto) the fabric ... coats each fibre smoothly, evenly.

Iron with ease

It's simply amazing how much easier ironing is when you starch with Linit. No thick-and-thin starchy patches, but a smooth even finish ... no unsightly white spots. Your iron simply flies!

Take it EASY!
Make it EASY!

"For easier ironing... and a beauty-finish"

END SCUFFED-UP FLOORS

Every polish job you do with Hard Gloss Glo-Coat stays bright longer—doesn't get a scuffed-up look!

No need to polish floors so often!

Cleaning is easier too!

Hard Gloss Glo-Coat is a great new Johnson's Wax discovery. It gives all floors a harder, brighter shine!

Which means better-looking floors with far less work!

The shine is so super-hard it doesn't get a scuffed-up look. Not even after weeks of wear. Floors don't need polishing nearly so often.

A Hard Gloss Glo-Coat polish also resists soiling. Dirt doesn't grind in. Spills don't soak in. A quick damp-mopping removes grime but leaves the shine.

Get Johnson's wonderful new Hard Gloss Glo-Coat tomorrow!

FREE—Illustrated 20-page booklet, "The Easy Way to Care for Modern Floors." Full of practical work-saving tips. Write Margaret Scott, Box PA1, Johnson's Wax Consumer Service, Racine, Wis.

When you wipe up spilled things, you don't wipe away a Hard Gloss Glo-Coat shine!

BABY CARE —FOR FREE

MADRID, Spain.

OVER IN the swank Palace Hotel here there's a spic-and-span nursery—but it's closed to the hotel's swank paying guests.

- To get your baby into the nursery, you have to be a chambermaid.
- Mothers bring their youngsters when they report for work at 8 a.m. Registered nurses take the kids, feed them from the hotel kitchen, bathe them, make sure they take naps.
- During the day, mothers can look in on their youngsters. And at night they take them home.

AT 8 A.M., a mother (left) hands her baby to a nurse. Each child has own bed. On wall above it are carefully kept health charts.

On "difficult days" Tampax is your best friend

Tampax lets you go your way as usual — now what better friend could you have?

Keep your social engagements! Take your shower or bath! This improvement in monthly sanitary protection allows you to indulge in all your customary activities. For Tampax, unlike other methods, is worn internally, and frees you of bulky outside pads and the annoyance of pins and belts, chafing, and worrisome odors. No edges to show through new, slim fashions, either. Tampax is made of pure, white surgical cotton, molded into compact, absorbent cylinders—each with its own dainty throwaway applicator. Once in place, you cannot feel the Tampax! Easy to insert and dispose of—simple to carry, for a month's supply fits right in your purse. Buy Tampax at drug and notion counters in 3 absorbencies: Regular, Super, Junior. Tampax Incorporated, Palmer, Mass.

WHO WILL BE BEST DRESSED?

Two people will wear 60,000 pearls at the Coronation in June. Who are they? Read next Sunday's PARADE to get the answer.

MOTHERS (all hotel employees) wait in outer room for a daily visit with their children, for which they get time off.

... while Mom works, they play

MOST DAYS, there are 17 children in the "Sala de Ninos." They range in age from 40 days to 3 years. Older children must stay home.

• Does it work?

Certainly, says hotel manager Alfonso Font, who thought up the idea. In Spain, it seems, if an employer hires an employee and keeps him (or her) for more than 15 days, it takes a court order to fire him. So it pays to hire—and keep—good workers.

• That's where the free service for kids comes in. "I'm not so crazy," says Senor Font. "The best chambermaids in town come to me."

CHECKUP: Dr. Pedro Pardo examines each child twice a week free. The nursery takes full care of any ill children.

It's wonderful the way Chewing-Gum Laxative

acts chiefly to REMOVE WASTE -NOT GOOD FOOD

• Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the modern chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here is why FEEN-A-MINT's action is so wonderfully different!

Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "flushing" action too soon... right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out.

But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes mostly waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, tired, run-down feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel your "peppy," energetic self—full of life! Get FEEN-A-MINT! No increase in price—still 25¢, 50¢ or only 10¢.

New FAB WASHES WHITER

NOTHING WHITENS LIKE FAB! You'll actually find that Fab washes most of your clothes whiter without a bleach—whiter than any soap, whiter than any washing product known with a bleach in the wash water.

IF YOU ADD A BLEACH TO FAB for your few stained, extra-soiled clothes, they'll come whiter, too—far whiter than with any other product and a bleach. For new Fab's exclusive whitening action is not affected by bleach.

WHAT'S MORE—FAB OUTCLEANS any soap! Washes out dirt, leaves no dulling soap scum.

SAVE WORK! SAVE HANDS! Fab immediately loosens dirt and keeps it floating in the wash water. No soaking is needed! No dulling soap scum to rinse out—even in hardest water. And Fab is wonderfully mild to hands!

TIMELY TIPS by LITTLE LULU

5 Helpful Ways to Save

Peek your best china in paper bags, after using. Foils dust, saves re-washing for next dinner party. For extra protection, wrap in soft, strong Kleenex tissues. Extra soft (a special process!) -- Kleenex saves scratches, breakage, china.

No trouble shelling peas! Dunked in boiling water, pods pop open, rise to top; peas settle at bottom. Trouble-saving Kleenex pops up, too. The only tissue that meets you halfway -- serves just one (not a handful!)

Shoes soaked? To prevent stiffening, try saddle soap; leave soap on 'til shoes dry. If you take cold, let sturdy Kleenex take each chilly sneeze. And see how this tissue comforts tender noses! (Sneezing, so free from lint!)

Keep your letters "sneezeproof" -- seal with colorless nail polish; can't be steamed open! But Kleenex can "unsneezeproof" makeup -- gently, quickly. Saves your face! Absorbent, with just-right softness, strength, this tissue's crumble-proof!
